GREEN FRUIT—There is a continued improvement in the sale of this class of goods. Even apples, if good stock, are bringing better prices. Shippers have been much encouraged by late returns from the English market. Lemons keep very low. In fruit oranges show best demand. Californias and Valencias show little change. The sale of Floridas is small; in fact, it is hard to get the real thing. Cranberries continue very dull and low. In bananas the movement is still small. Lettuce sells quite freely. We quote: Lemons, $2.55 to $3; Valencia oranges, $3 to $3.50 per case; California oranges, $4 to $5; Florida oranges, $4 to $6; apples, $1 to $2.50 per bbl.; cranberries, Cape Cod, $3 to $5 per bbl.; bog cranberries, native, $2 to $4; pines, $1.50 per doz.; bananas, $2 to $2.50.

DRIED FRUIT—There is a better business doing. Prices are held firm and the outlook is good in all lines, except dried apples, in which there is no business; evaporated apples, in which quality is much poorer than usual, and California prunes, which although in limited sale show better demand. As regards prunes there seems less demand than usual. Values are higher, that is, the French and Bosnia. Dates are light stock and held firm. The seeded muscatels which are now here in cartons, 36 in a box, are having a good sale. They interfere with the sale of raisin seeders. Onions are light stock but equal to demand. They hold firm at the advance of 75c. over the price during the winter. We quote: Valencia raisins, 5 to 6c.; layers, 6½ to 7c.; California 3-crown L.M., 7½ to 7¾c.; 4-crown, 8¾ to 9c.; London layers, $1.75 to $2; currants, cases, 4¾ to 5c.; bbls., 4¼ to 4½c.; cartoons, cleaned, 7½ to 7¾c.; bulk, cleaned, 6 to 6½c.; prunes, 5½ to 6c.; California, 6 to 10c.; dates, 4½ to 5c.; dried apples, 3 to 3½c.; evaporated apples, 4½ to 5c.; onions, $2.50 to $3.

DAIRY PRODUCE — Cheese begins to strengthen in price, having advanced one-half to a cent during the last two weeks. Price here had been lower than at outside points owing to light demand, but stocks being very light the improved movement has caused the advance. Cheese men look forward to a much better year this year than last. Butter dull. Ontario butter offered very low. Market dull except for best quality. Eggs have fair sale but prices are easy. We quote: Dairy butter, 16 to 18c.; creamery, tubs, 19 to 20c.; prints, 20 to 22c. Cheese, 10½ to 11c. Eggs, 15 to 16c.

SUGAR—Prices continue firmer, and there are fair sales reported. The uncertainness of tariff changes is felt in this market, and some are buying quite largely. Refineries will not sell ahead. We quote: Granulated, 4 to 4⅛c.; yellows, 3⅜ to 3¾c.; Paris lump, 5¼ to 6c.; powdered, 5¾ to 6c.

MOLASSES—At present the outlook is for low molasses, and much smaller importations than last season, particularly Barbadoes, which, while three years ago it was the favorite and almost the only molasses here, is now (owing to falling off in quality) hard to sell, Porto Rico and New Orleans taking its place. There is still quite a quantity of Porto Rico and Barbadoes here, and new Barbadoes is expected very soon. While the stock of New Orleans is light, a quantity arrives each week. We quote: Barbadoes, 25 to 27c.; Porto Rico, 27 to 30c.; New Orleans, bbls., 26 to 28c.; Antigua, 25 to 26c.; syrup, 36 to 38c.

FISH—There is a fairly steady demand, chiefly now for pickled and dry. Lent is causing some stir, but not the difference it did a few years ago. Quite a demand for boneless fish from the west has been noticed. Smoked herring have been scarce here this week, and prices are held firm. In frozen fish there has been but quiet business, and the season is about over. Lobsters are very scarce, the smaller ones are being used by the canneries, and it pays better to sell the large ones in other markets. We quote: Large cod, $3.25 to $3.50; medium, $2.75 to $3; pollock, $1.20 to $1.25; bay her-

Making it Pay

Is the great object of all business. The more permanent the business, the greater chances there are of success. The way to build up a successful business is to sell the very best goods obtainable. If your business is already an assured success, all the more reason why you should do so. It is the only way by which you will keep it there. In selling "KENT" Tomatoes you are sure of selling the best put up. Every can is filled solid with fresh ripe Tomatoes. Every can is guaranteed perfect. If you sell "KENT" Tomatoes you will not only hold your own trade, but will also draw others to you.

OUR STANDPOINT

In pushing our biscuits we admit there are already excellent brands on the market. We nevertheless have solid practical reasons for considering that are better, and this view is being convincingly confirmed by daily extensive and extending demands—the true touchstone of merit.

The Manufacturer, R. E. Jamieson, Ottawa

ring, $1.35 to $1.40 per half-bbl.; smoked, 5 to 6c.; shad, half-bbl., $5 to $5.50; boneless, 2½ to 8c.; frozen herring, 60 to 70c. per 100; bloaters, 50 to 60c. per box; kippered, 90 to $1 per box; Barrington herring, $3 to $3.25 per bbl.; Shelburne, $3.50 per bbl. Frozen cod, 2 to 2¼c. per lb.; pollock, 1 to ¼c.

PROVISIONS — There is little change. Lard is being offered by some houses west very low, while others hold firmly to their price, there being a range of from ½ to ¾c. The low price of pure has affected the sale of compound—always a limited sale here. Pork keeps low and beef shows little or no change. Smoked meats show a rather better sale. We quote: Clear pork, $13 to $14; mess, $12 to $13; plate beef, $11 to $12; hams, 10 to 11c.; rolls, 7 to 8c.; pure lard, tubs, 6¾ to 7c.; compound, 6¼ to 6¾c.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL—In flour, the easy feeling continues and tends to check demand, which otherwise, at this season, would be quite large. In oatmeal, as in flour, the tendency is downward. There is but a fair sale. Cornmeal still has a large sale at the extreme low price quoted. Beans, of which the stock held here is quite large, seem to have touched bottom; at least, some large western shippers refused offers at a price they accepted last week. Of late practically no prime beans have been sold here. Feed and hay show a light sale. Carleton County hay continues to find a better price in the American market than here, but Carleton County oats are low. We quote as follows: Manitoba flour, $4.35 to $5.40; best Ontario, $4.80 to $4.90; medium, $4.35 to $4.40; oatmeal, $3.15 to $3.25; cornmeal, $1.80 to $1.90. middlings, $14 to $15; bran, $13.50 to $14; oats, 32 to 35c.; hay, $11 to $12; barley, $3.10 to $3.25; round peas, $1.10; split peas, $3.10 to $3.25; beans, hand-picked, 90 to $1; prime, 85 to 90c.; yellow eye beans, $1.25 to $1.50.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

It is said Mr. Arthur Everett is to be appraiser in the place of the late Mr. David Hall.

A find of gold and silver is reported near St. John, at Spruce Lake. It is said a test of ore shows a yield of $50 per ton.

Custom receipts for February exceed those of the same month last year, the figures being $3,466 and $71,743 respectively.

Lent has brought to John Sealey an increased demand for all kinds of fish for the west, particularly boneless fish, for which grade he has a large sale.

An effort is being made in Woodstock, Carleton, to establish a canning factory there. The Board of Trade has taken hold of the matter, and, from the present outlook. it is thought the effort will succeed.

Mr. J. K. McCargar and Mr. F. W. Brenton, the well-known cheese manufacturers of Belleville, passed through St. John this week bound for England. They feel confident of a good season's business during the coming year.

While the larger quantity of apples from the Annapolis valley are shipped to the English market via Halifax quite a few come this way, about 1,000 barrels passing through this week. It is said there are still left for shipment in the valley upwards of 50,000 barrels.

The cargo of the steamer Damara, which steamer was injured coming out of London, is to be forwarded at once by another steamer. The cargo, which consisted largely of tea, received little, if any, damage. That there may be no delay in shipping the outward cargo for this steamer from St. John, the Furness people are sending out the steamer Cundall. She is due about March 10.

The yearly report of the People's Bank of New Brunswick at Fredericton is one very satisfactory to the stockholders. After paying a dividend of 8 per cent. the statement showed a surplus of $10,000. The following officers were elected: President, Hon. A. F. Randolph; vice-president, A. H.

HAVE YOUR OWN WAY.

MAN is not merely the architect of his own fortune, but he must lay the bricks himself. Bayard Taylor, at 23, wrote : "I will become the sculptor of my own mind's statue." His biography shows how often the chisel and hammer were in his hands to shape himself into his ideal. "I have seen none, known none, of the celebrities of my time," said Samuel Cox. "All my energy was directed to one end, to improve myself."

"Man exists for culture," says Goethe ; "not for what he can accomplish, but for what can be accomplished in him."

Labor is the only legal tender in the world to true success. The gods sell everything for that, nothing without it. You will never find success "marked down." The door to the temple of success is never left open. Every one who enters makes his own door, which closes behind him to all others.

Circumstances have rarely favored great men. They have fought their way to triumph over the road of difficulty and through all sorts of opposition. A lowly beginning and a humble origin are no bar to a great career. The farmers' boys fill many of the greatest places in legislatures, in syndicates, at the bar, in pulpits, in Congress, to-day. Boys of lowly origin have made many of the greatest discoveries, are presidents of our banks, of our colleges, of our universities. Our poor boys and girls have written many of our greatest books, and have filled the highest places as teachers and journalists. Ask almost any great man in our large cities where he was born, and he will tell you it was on a farm or in a small country village. Nearly all of the great capitalists of the city came from the country. "'Tis better to be lowly born."

MEXICAN ORANGES.

The yield of oranges in Mexico, says a consular report, varies very much—soil, climate, proper irrigation, pruning and cultivation being important factors in determining the extent of the crops. In Atlixco, Yautepec and Tacambaro the trees average 860 oranges each, but in Atotonilco, Montemorelos and Hermosillo the average yield is from 1,700 to 2,200 oranges per year, producing one crop a year. With the advantages of climate and soil, the tree in Mexico should yield from 5,000 to 8,000 oranges.

IN CREDIT MATTERS NEVER GIVE WINGS TO RUMORS.

Damaging truths are bad enough, says a contemporary. Damaging untruths—or truths perniciously exaggerated or purposely colored—are worse still. In these times, when business confidence is none too firmly established, it ill becomes any man to endanger by word or insinuation the confidence that may exist between creditor and debtor. Many a bank has gone down in consequence of a run excited by false alarm; and the shores of commercial history are strewn with the wrecks of countless firms whose downfall was brought about by the sudden commercial demands of suspicious creditors.

Business is built on credit.

Credit is built on confidence.

There is no surer way of undermining a man's business than by giving credence to and circulating rumors about him. The man who stealthily applies the torch to a building is no more despicable than he who applies the firebrand of distrust to the reputation of a business establishment. It is with this thought that we say that those men who indiscriminately disseminate uncorroborated rumors are guilty of an act for which there should be a fitting punishment.

John Sloan & Co. are receiving a shipment of pork and beans in tomato sauce, which they are offering at $1 per dozen 1-lb. flat tins.

The Eby, Blain Co., Ltd., are introducing a pure wheat farina. It is put up in cases of 2 dozen and can be retailed at 10c. per 1-lb. package.

Shipments of Japan Gunpowder and Pekoe Japans are in stock this week with The Davidson & Hay, Ltd. who are offering these teas at tempting prices.

The Toronto Coffee and Spice Mills are making arrangements whereby purchasers of certain quantities of their spices will be given a light driving wagon, manufactured by Gray & Co., of Chatham. See their advertisement next week for particulars.

H. P. Eckardt & Co. are making a specialty of all kinds of fish for the Lent trade, flitched codfish being an exceptionally good seller at present.

The F. F. Dalley Co. state that they have placed several large orders for spring delivery for "English Army" blacking, and they expect to take a good many more before navigation opens.

"We are making a special drive this week on California evaporated fruit in bags, consisting of peaches, apricots, egg plums and prunes; be sure and get our prices," so say the Eby, Blain Co., Ltd.

LATE ADVERTISEMENTS.

[The following items arrived too late for insertion in the regular advertising space. Reading notices inserted in this column at 5c. per word.]

Japan teas, medium and high grades, are selling well with W. H. Gillard & Co., who have stocked up heavily with a carefully-selected range in anticipation of the duty being imposed.

The Davidson & Hay, Ltd.: "Repeat orders are coming right along for our 'Tea Cup' Japan tea."

T. A. Lytle & Co., manufacturers of vinegar, pickles, jams, jellies, etc., report a good season's trade in all lines.

The Eby, Blain Co., Ltd., report that their special brand of "Anchor" salmon is meeting with general favor, and that they are getting many repeat orders.

Robert Greig & Co's "Crown" flavoring extracts are as popular in the far west as is the case nearer home. Some heavy shipments have recently been made to Manitoba and Coast points.

A FINE CASH REGISTER.

THE Capital cash register, which is advertised in this issue, is certainly one of the best put on the market. The machine is a most ingenious one, being a printing press, a dating machine, a numbering device, a typewriter, a paper cutter, a cashier, a book-keeper and a complete business systemizer all in one, and something that will last a lifetime. It is very handsomely gotten up, having an ornamental brass case, finished in gold, silver, bronze and nickel. It has four vertical keys, and is operated by having a crank at the right hand side. Any amount from 1c. to $99.99 can be registered, or, if desired, special keys can be placed on the fourth bank, and these can be registered with the regular cash keys.

HOW TO BOOM SPICES.

The following lines were written by a boy of 16, who is employed in the office of a prominent spice importing firm, and who is equally likely to be heard of in future years as the engineer of some speculative boom in spices, or as a rhyming humorist, says an exchange. These rhymes need no apology, but it is fair to their author to say that they were dashed off very hurriedly, and were subjected to no subsequent revision.

In the peerless land of Egypt, several thousand years ago,
There lived an old astrologer, who name was Skinnemo.
To the palace of Rameses journeyed Skinnemo one day;
He gained an audience with the king, and said the following say:
"Oh, Pharaoh, mighty Pharaoh, I have spices here to sell.
I have cloves and mace and ginger; to buy them you'd do wel."
He hemmed and hawed and bargained till the king, with guileless face,
Bought a thousand tons of ginger and a thousand tons of mace,
And the same of cloves and pepper, while he thought: "Well, by-and bye
I will make a handsome profit; there are none so wise as I."
In the storehouse of Rameses all the spices were soon laid;
But there were no fools to buy them, so, of course, there they stayed.
But Rameses, nothing daunted (he had been there oft before),
Gathered all his royal army and sent them on to war.
The mortality was dreadful; soldiers died off by the score,
And such demand for spices had never been seen before.
They were needed for embalming all the mummified remains,
And the king, Rameses, chuckled as he counted o'er his gains
Oh, importer, if on spices you lose, why sit you down and cry
And groan about the business, or stop to wail and sigh?
You cannot work Rameses' game, but this much you can do;
There are too many brokers. Why not kill off a few?

—A Tennyson Davis.

VALENCIA RAISIN CROP.

A Denia circular just received gives an exhaustive review of the movement of the 1896 crop of Valencia raisins, with comparisons with former years. The first shipments were made on August 17, 1896. England received during the season 259,759 cwts.; the United States, 53,094; Canada, 30,632; the Baltic ports, 70,656; France, 16,000; different places in Spain, 3,300; Germany and other countries, 13,000. leaving in the farmers' hands on Feb. 1 5,000 cwts. out of the total crop of 451,941 cwts. While the receipts of Valencia raisins in this country were somewhat larger than last year, they were decidedly smaller than for those of any previous season since 1876, when the total importation amounted to but 76,316 cwts.

A shrewd grocer in St. Louis, has hit upon a novel way of increasing his trade. He sends a female agent to the houses of his patrons to take the morning orders, and she suggests lots of nice and expensive things that just hit the fancy of customers.

IN an excellent paper by W. H. Taylor, published in a recent issue of The Lawyer and Credit Man, a journal devoted to credit interests, this counsel is given :

Merchants do not use enough lead pencils. I would quadruple and quintuple the number of lead pencils in existence, and I would furnish every merchant in the country, big and little, with writing pads to make figures on and to practice on, until they would get in the habit of figuring everything out. When a man comes to me to do any business, I like to see him come with a lead pencil in his hand, and I like to have him ask for a piece of paper, and after he puts his proposition down, I almost want to see him make a diagram of it, as we used to at school, to see just how it will work out. If a man starting in business desires to open up an account with you, he will tell you he has, say, $10,000 capital, and that he is going to pay one or two or three thousand dollars a year rent, and that he is going to make a large quantity of money, and the chances are ninety-nine out of a hundred that he has never figured out just how he is going to make the money, but he just feels in his bones that he is going to make the money. Often credit men, seeing that the man has apparently ample capital, do not figure this man's future out. At the end of two years, the man fails, because the natural leaks in his business and his expenses have overwhelmed him, but if the credit man had taken the time he would have sat down with that man and figured the thing out in advance and would have seen that there wasn't any possibility of that man succeeding any longer than his capital was used as putty to fill the holes caused by his expenses.

Suppose a man comes to you and says he wants to buy goods on credit; you say to him, "Well, how much can you sell?" He always puts it high enough. "All right, put that down. How much profit can you make?" He always makes that high enough. Find out whether he thinks the profit is on the basis of the selling price or cost of the goods. You will always find that it is really on the cost, but he thinks it is going to be on the selling price. Figure it out either way and put that down, and then you have the gross amount that he can make. Now, then, add up the items of which he tells you his expenses will be, and then deduct the one from the other, but be sure you don't let him fool you or himself on the item of expense. When he tells you he is going to live on $30 or $40 a month, when you know that nobody else in his circumstances does, don't believe him, but be sure you get it reasonably correct, and then figure a little something for interest that he is going to pay for borrowed money during the year—he never thinks of that—and be sure to take something out for depreciation in value of the goods at the end of the year—you will find out that he never figures in advance that his goods are going to depreciate at the end of the season, and see if you can't determine for yourself that that man, if he is a beginner, is or is not going to be a good and safe risk. You will find that nine times out of ten, if you will take his own figures for it, you can see that without knowing it he has demonstrated to you in advance the impossibility of his succeeding.

MANITOBA MARKETS.

WINNIPEG, March 4, 1897.

EVERYTHING here continues quiet. The weather for the past week has been exceptionally severe for the season, and this, of course, hampers trade. Trains have been delayed by snow, and there is a general holding off for fine weather. March has certainly come in like a lion, and it is to be hoped its departure will be correspondingly lamb-like.

FISH—With the advent of Lent there is an increased demand for fish, and dealers are buying in considerable quantities. There is no marked increase in price, with the exception of haddies, which now stand at 8c. Fresh fish are as plentiful as ever.

CANNED GOODS—These stocks are especially good values, as prices in the east have risen considerably since these stocks were purchased. The stocks are large, well assorted and of good quality, and the demand and prices are alike steady. There is no change in price from last week.

SUGAR—Sugar holds steady at the advance of ⅛c. reported last week, but there are practically no sales at present.

TEAS—Merchants are increasing stocks in anticipation of the duty, but prices at present remain unchanged. One of the marked features of the Winnipeg tea market is the change in the kinds of tea sold. Three years ago the demand was almost entirely for China and Japan teas. Now China tea has almost disappeared from the market and Ceylon and Indian teas are steadily growing in demand throughout the province.

COFFEE—The situation is very little changed. English quotations show that Rio has declined somewhat since last week. Java and Mocha still stand at 29c.

DRIED FRUITS—Same as last week. Valencia raisins are not even quoted, there being none in the market. Currants have not risen in price, though an advance is still anticipated.

CALIFORNIA EVAPORATED FRUITS—Show absolutely no change from last week.

FRESH FRUIT—The supply of apples is still large and the quality superior for the season of the year. There has been an advance in the price of Spies from $2.75 to $3 and $3.50 per bbl., but a fair quality of Seeks and Canadian Reds are still to be bought at $2.50. Oranges are a little slow, but are coming in steadily. The demand is almost altogether for California fruit. Seedlings sell at from $3 to $3.50, Navels at $4 and extra quality at $4.50. Cranberries are plentiful, both frozen and unfrozen. The frozen fruit is selling at from $4.50 to $5. There is no great demand for this fruit owing to the supply and price of apples.

EGGS—Supply is very much below the demand, owing to the cold weather. The trade are selling at 20c., but as high as 22c. has been realized. The price is not likely to advance, however, as with the first few mild days the supply will increase with a rush.

BUTTER—Supply and demand about equal for a first-class article, which is selling for 14 to 16c. per lb. The butter market is firm, and the supply and quality have both been very fair throughout the entire winter. Creameries do not open here until the end of May, so the supply is likely to decrease rather than increase for a time.

CHEESE—The supply is plentiful, the quality good, and the price 8 to 10c. per lb. The local demand is small.

POULTRY—The supply of fresh poultry is extremely limited. Prices are: Chicken, 6 to 7c.; ducks, 8 to 9c.; geese, 9 to 10c.; turkeys, 9 to 10c. There is still a considerable quantity of frozen stock on hand.

HALIFAX TRADE GOSSIP.

BENT, BRIGHTLY & PAGE, who opened a general commission business in Seeton & Mitchell's old stand on Water street a few months ago, and who were recently incorporated by the Local Parliament, have about purchased the extensive business of A. Gunn & Co., millers and dealers in feedstuffs. Gunn & Co. have been in business for some years and have built up a large trade.

Hubley, Teas & Co., retail grocers, Barrington street, have assigned to Thomas Spry. Their liabilities are over $20,000. The preferences are: Thomas Spry, $6,895; B. F. Hubley, $336; Alex. Bond, $1,770; W. H. Isnar, $100. The firm offered to compromise at 30c. on the dollar. Most of the Halifax creditors were agreed, but the outside creditors would not. W. H. Teas, of the same firm, doing a confectionery business as a side line, has assigned to Alex. Bond. The firm carried on a large business and had one of the best retail stores in the city. The failure is a bad one.

Three hundred and two puncheons and 36 tierces of molasses were received from Pouce, P.R., last week. There is no change in the local market.

Large shipments of apples continue to the English market. The steamer St. John City took 15,000 barrels to London on Saturday last, and the Mongolian 750 barrels.

Cold storage is now in sight for Halifax. The Local Legislature has granted a bonus to the Atlantic Cold Storage Co. of $2,000 per year for six years. This company will erect a warehouse in this city and will receive partial tax exemptions from the city for ten years. J. A. Leaman & Co., wholesale and retail dealers, are likely to erect cold storage for their own accommodation. They import more fish, meat and poultry from Ontario than all the other dealers in the city combined. A company is being formed to erect cold storage at Yarmouth for the benefit of the fresh fish trade.

There is no change in the local sugar market from that reported last week. The indications for a good spring's trade continue.

The fish market is brighter on account of the demand for the Lenten season. Prices are without change. Howard Smith, of N. & M. Smith, our largest fish dealers, is in Montreal this week looking after business.

This being the dull season in the green fruit business, C. W. Outhit has gone on a trip to Florida. He will be away till the 1st of May.

A COLD DAY IN WINNIPEG.

"Brrr!" said the man from Potato Creek, crowding up to the stove. "Purty cold."

"Yas," said the grocer, "it is purty frosty for the time of year. I see it went 25 below in Helena, which, I think it a good thing that the town has them last two syllables in its name, or it would be about as hard to believe as some of them yarns of old Ananias over there."

The man with the ginger beard looked up and said: "Who you callin' ole Ananias? Any one of ye ever ketch me in a lie?"

"No," said the grocer, "I guess you never was ketched in a lie yit. Any one that kin lie as fast ez you kin ain't liable to git ketched."

"But, speakin' of th' cold weather," said the man with the ginger beard, "I guess it was about as cold in Winnipeg in the fall of '65 as I ever see it, er anybody else."

"How cold was it?" asked the man from Potato Creek.

"Wal, ez fur ez degrees below zero goes, I can't tell you nothin' about that," said the man with the ginger beard, "fer they wuzn't no thermometors long enough fer to measure it, but I do know that when we wanted to git water to drink the ice was froze so hard that we had to heat it red hot 'fore it would begin to melt. — Indianapolis Journal.

Honest Brooms Brushes

From the start to the finish Boeckh's Brooms and Brushes have, at every point in their making, the watchful care of experienced workmen. These employees are brought up to know their business thoroughly. Many of them have been in our factory since they were old enough to work at a trade. Even if the raw materials that are used are right, inexperienced workmen may yet turn out poor brooms and brushes. Can we say more than "you may have your money back if you want it?" 127 page book, illustrated—Free.

MERCHANTS WHO ARE MAKING MONEY

Are those who pay attention to the details of their business—who simplify the transactions that take place between their clerks and their customers—who know that when a dollar's worth of goods go over their counter they will receive a dollar in return for them; these are the successful men, and their success has been attained by system. Now our business partly consists of selling Cash Registers; the rest is in producing a Register that will give to the user a system whereby all details of his business will be looked after—transactions between customers and clerks will be made easy and simple—it will be utterly impossible for goods to go out without having a record of it. Do you want some more information or particulars on this subject? They will cost you nothing and we will give them cheerfully. Send us your name and we will send you one of our handsome circulars, explaining our Cash and Credit Register. . . . . .

TWO WAYS OF CHEAP BUYING.

THERE are two ways of buying cheaply, says Grocery World. One grocer will buy damaged goods, goods that are represented to him as being "just as good" as ever, although costing but a fraction of the full price. He will always sacrifice quality for price, fondly hugging the delusion that his customers don't know the difference. He looks upon his customers as idiots, who don't know good things when they see them, and who can be fooled year in and year out by second-grade goods.

The other way of buying cheap is by watching the markets. Nobody can forecast these to a certainty, but there are times when everything points almost absolutely to certain fluctuations. The wise grocer who watches these conditions, and learns to apply them in the light of what they have produced in similar cases before, can frequently save a great deal of money. That is buying cheap. Another modification of the same way is by snapping up every good thing offered him. There comes to every wholesaler the time when money is more valuable to him than goods, even though the money represents but a fraction of the value of the goods. These occasions are big with increased profits to the retailer who recognizes the opportunity and embraces it. This is also buying cheap.

The end of the first way is bankruptcy and collapse, but that of the second way is prosperity. Which way are you heading?

CALIFORNIA FRUIT CROP.

The N. Y. Journal of Commerce says that, according to letters received from California, the outlook for the present crop is promising. There have been ample rains, more, in fact, than for many past seasons; according to report. The latest rains were accompanied by cold weather, which, it is said, retarded budding, but this is held to be favorable to a good crop, and unless there is a repetition of the spring frosts, which did so much damage last year, it is believed that the output of both deciduous and citrus fruits will be large.

HAS NO PLACE IN ADVERTISING.

Obscurity has no place in advertising, says C. A. Bates, of New York. The nearer you can get to bed-rock common sense the better. The poet has to think as much of sound as he does of sense, and he frequently sacrifices sense for the sake of sound. He takes sixteen four-line verses to tell something that could be told in four words. He weaves wreaths and garlands all about his thoughts and disguises them so you have to look for them with a search-light. That sort of language won't do in advertising. There is no possible way of making advertising too plain. The plainest kind of plain language doesn't seem to be strong enough to penetrate the intelligence of a great many advertisement readers. A Chicago advertising manager said to me once: "When we advertise a certain clock, we put a picture of that clock right in the ad.; then there can't be any mistake." One would suppose that was pretty near plain enough, but I have no doubt many people came to the store expecting to get something entirely different from the thing that was advertised.

Rigaud Mountain Maple Syrup

Is made from the most modern equipped bush in Canada.
The Seigniory of Rigaud has a Maple Bush of over 100,000 trees noted for its uniform production of delicious syrup and sugar.
Its annual production is the largest of any bush in Canada.

We are placing on the market a new brand of Maple Syrup, to be known as the "Rigaud Mountain Maple Syrup."

No expense has been spared in fitting up the bush with the latest Evaporators and Appliances to insure cleanliness and rapid evaporation, qualities essential to the production of good and lasting syrup.

To protect consumers against adulterated syrup and insure our goods reaching them intact, we are placing lead seals with the initials R M M S on each tin. Every tin also bears the season's date.

For the convenience of consumers, orders will be received for Syrup and Sugar until 15th March instant, as the output is limited.

Neatly put up in ½, 1, 3 and 5 gallon cans.

The above Syrup will be used by the leading clubs, hotels and restaurants, and mentioned on their menu cards.

WESTERN ASSURANCE CO.

FORTY-SIXTH ANNUAL MEETING OF SHAREHOLDERS.

THE annual meeting of shareholders of the above company was held at its offices in this city on Thursday, 25th ult. The Hon. Geo. A. Cox, president, occupied the chair, and Mr. C. C. Foster, having been appointed to act as secretary to the meeting, read the following annual report :

In presenting the annual report of the business of the company for the year ending Dec. 31, 1896, the directors have pleasure in stating that, while there has been a falling off in the premium receipts, the revenue account shows a profit on the year's transactions of $119,708.43. Out of this two half-yearly dividends, at the rate of 10 per cent. per annum, have been declared ; $5,752 38 has been written off for depreciation in securities and the balance added to reserve fund, which now amounts to $1,086,908.21.

Owing to the reduction in the volume of business transacted, the amount necessary to provide for running off the liability on unexpired policies is $23,804.88 less than at the close of 1895. After making provision for this and all other liabilities, the net surplus has been increased to $316,-252.34.

The directors have pleasure in acknowledging the efficient services of the officers and agents of the company during the past year.

SUMMARY OF FINANCIAL STATEMENT.

Total cash income.....	$2,336,727 95
Total expenditure, including appropriation for losses under adjustment.....	2,217,019 52
Balance	$ 119,708 43
Dividends on stock.....	$ 100,000 00
Total assets	2,324,427 18
Reserve fund.....	$1,086,908 21
Cash capital.....	1,000,000 00
Subscribed capital.....	1,000,000 00
Security to policy holders..	$3,086,908 21

The annual report of the directors having been read, the president, in moving its adoption, stated that he was pleased to be able to say that the year had not been marked by any serious individual losses such as he had had to refer to at the last annual meeting. The business of the company had been carried on upon the same lines as had been followed in the past, and the results, as shown in the statements submitted, were, he thought, upon the whole, as favorable as the most sanguine shareholder could have anticipated, bearing in mind the prevailing condition of general business throughout the continent during the year 1896. The comparatively small falling off in the premium income of the company was such as might naturally have been looked for under the circumstances. An amount of $5,752.38 had been written off for depreciation in securities, which was necessary to bring them to their market value at the close of the year, and which must be regarded as a very moderate shrinkage on total assets of upwards of $2,250,000. Briefly speaking, he said that the figures in the report submitted showed that while the company had done a somewhat reduced volume of business, there had been a fair margin of profit on the year's transactions —as shown in the revenue account—and, after paying the usual dividend of 10 per cent., and making allowance for depreciation in securities, there was an increase in the reserve fund of $14,000, while a gain of close upon $38,000 was shown in the net surplus, after making full provision to cover the liability on outstanding risks. These results, he thought, might be taken, without further comment from him, as satisfactory proof that the business was on a sound footing, and that the officers and agents of the company were conducting its affairs with due regard to the interests of shareholders, and at the same time maintaining for the Western the position it has long held in the estimation of the insuring public.

The vice-president, Mr. J. J. Kenny, seconded the adoption of the report, which was carried unanimously.

The election of directors for the ensuing year was then proceeded with, and resulted in the unanimous re-election of the following gentlemen, viz. Hon. George A. Cox, Hon. S. C. Wood, Messrs. Robt. Beaty, G. R. R. Cockburn, George McMurrich, H. N. Baird, W. R. Brock, J. K. Osborne and J. J. Kenny.

At a meeting of the Board of Directors, held subsequently, Hon. George A. Cox was re-elected president, and Mr. J J. Kenny vice-president for the ensuing year.

NEWFOUNDLAND LOBSTER PACK.

The Trade Review, of St. Johns, Nfld., says in its last issue : " Lobster packers, from all one can learn, are going more largely than ever into the trade next season, and many new men will try their hand at the business. No one doubts now that the ground all round the island is being overfished, and if some restrictions are not put upon the catchers the lobster in Newfoundland will soon be as extinct as the auk. The uniform close time system does not apply to the varying coastal conditions of this country, and the sooner it is substituted for a uniform length of time (the starting point to be decided by the packers within their own districts) the better."

EVERYBODY KNOWS US.

THERE are few men engaged in any trade or calling of a prominent character that are not widely known, writes Fred Woodrow in an exchange. Printers' ink is responsible for the crowd. It carries a name beyond city, country, and state limits. It crosses oceans and continents, and without regard to climate or language, pedigree or fortune, scatters the name of John Brown, and the pumps or the engines he manufactures, wherever a mail bag can travel, or a trade journal find its way. It is a great thing for business, and it pays all around. Without it half the mills in the world would have to close down, and busy hands and brains have nothing to do. If the merits of a cooking stove, or the reputation of a circular saw, had to make their way in boots, somebody would be short in mail orders, or praying for business that never comes. As it is, a wisely placed advertisement can make the postman perspire, and the shipping clerk smile. It is doing this every day, and even in dull times, it can furnish music on one string of the violin, when all the others are broken. It is true that ringing a bell cannot always sell dry goods or pig iron, but it may let somebody know both are still to be had, and just where to find them. If there is anything of special merit in quality or prices to attract the hesitating buyer or the nimble shilling, he is as likely to know as little about it as a brown bear or a Hottentot, if he is not informed thereof. The missing ad. is a missing sale, in nine cases out of ten. There are exceptions, of course, as two tails would be on a rat and five legs on a kitten. Here and there a business is to be found that, in a limited circle, can swing around the peg and ask for nothing better. It has no need of a tin horn, a bill poster, or a newspaper notice. It has its regular customers. They have their roost, as the turkey on an apple tree, and as the ox that knoweth his master's crib, they need no invitation to the commissary department. Now, while this is true in some cases, it is as pure a piece of folly as ever came into the head of an ass or a man, for the general run of manufacturers or merchants, to expect the cow to walk up to the milking pail. The average Jersey is not so familiar. Trade, as a rule, has to be sought after. It will not come at a whistle. It has to be picked up, as are acorns and strawberries. The spindle has to hum and the loom to labor, before the cambric or cloth can be had. If water runs down a hill, business has to climb up. If you want fish for a fry you must catch them, for none are likely to leap into a pan. In these days of energy, wide-awakedness and competition, while one man sits under a tree for an apple to fall, twenty others are climbing up with their baskets. Nor is this restlessness limited to men who have goods to sell; the buyers are, if anything, more eager for what is new in bargains and goods. They swarm, as a bee does from the blossoms on a cherry tree to the clover in the meadows. Nor do they go at this business blindfolded or uninformed. They know the banks where the violets grow. They scan the papers, and are as thoroughly posted as a mail carrier is as to the number of Mr. Brown's habitation. This is not a passing whim or a fad, but a modern condition of business. It has to be so accepted, understood, and handled. Advertising is here to stay, and so are the people it influences. Nor will it do to forget the fact, nor to let the fact forget you. To excuse neglect on the plea that results are not immediately visible, is to throw away an egg because the chicken takes its own time in walking out of the shell. Nor is it a wise or a paying policy to neglect advertising on the oft-repeated excuse, "Everybody knows us." The memory of the general public in this matter is a poor peg on which to hang business success.

The Question is

Are you satisfied with the quality of the Starch you are selling? Are your customers satisfied with the quality of the Starch they are buying? If not, perhaps a trial of our goods would create a better feeling on both sides of the counter.

No woman will use poor Starch in preference to good Starch. That's the reason why a trial always leads to constant use of

THE "DIAMOND" OIL BLACKING

TRADE OIL MARK

Is specially prepared for the people, recommending itself. It has been acknowledged for years the best kind, as it preserves and imparts to leather a brilliant jet black polish. It has numerous imitators, but continues to outshine them all. Ask for the original, and see you get it.

To all places over 100 miles from our mills we will give carload rates to help the buyer pay freight charges.

Every pound of our cereals that we can get into the hands of consumers is the best advertisment we can possibly have. So we offer more and better inducements for the smaller grocer to buy them.

We want to make new friends. Our mutual interests—our profits—are to benefit if we can know each other better and better.

From Manufacturer to Retailer Direct

We Help Pay Freight

"Pan-Dried" Rolled Oats deserve their great popularity. The demand for them is increasing right along. They have distinct points of merit in their flavor and their healthfulness.

Another strong point is their freedom from hulls. They sell on their merits. You don't have to urge a customer to buy a second time.

The sense of taste keeps them coming for them regularly. Taste counts. Flavor counts. Our sales prove all this beyond question.

Satisfaction

It is not YOUR idea to less than wholly satisfy your customers. Neither is it our idea to do less than this by you. We do more than that for we claim to be able to satisfy the most particular Bacon customer you have. "Rose Brand" Bacon will do this. We make the statement earnestly. There is no loop-hole for doubt—absolutely none. The flavor of "Rose Brand" Bacon is very rich and delicate. It is a mild, lean, and sweet Bacon. It is made only from young hogs. One word tells the story of the particular Bacon buyer who buys "Rose Brand" and that is—"satisfaction."

HOW PRESERVES ARE MADE.*

THE sale of jams and other preserves forms a very large proportion of the weekly sales of the grocer, and, therefore, it will be appropriate and interesting to follow their manufacture by the aid of the lantern and photographs, and to illustrate the care with which they are prepared. In times past, a considerable percentage of jams were adulterated by the addition of vegetable pulp, and samples manufactured from inferior fruit were by no means uncommon. To-day, however, a vast improvement is evident in the quality and purity of preserves, and it is only on rare occasions that samples are discovered which have been adulterated. Generally the jams of British firms are pure and carefully manufactured, and great strides have been made in their manufacturing processes, securing the retention to a greater degree of the natural flavor of the fresh fruit. Jam is universally looked upon as merely a stimulant to the palate, rendering certain flavorless foods more agreeable, and to aid the appetite by making bread more acceptable to the sense of taste. But this view does not indicate the full food value of jam. Jam is prepared from fresh fruit and sugar, and these substances are important items in the diet. Fruit may be regarded as consisting of water, sugar, albumin, fat, fruit acids, salts and cellulose, the water largely predominating. The sugar present is in a most assimilable condition, being ready for absorption by the blood. We may neglect for the present the small percentages of albumin and fat, but the fruit acid and cellulose are very valuable food stuffs. The chief fruit acids are malic, citric, and tartaric, and they perform important functions in the body. In the first place they are antiscorbutic, counteracting the tendency to scurvy, and they further purify the blood by keeping water and other waste bodies in solution, facilitating their excretions by the kidneys. A certain proportion of these acids are neutralized during the manufacturing processes, but sufficient remain to make jam a desirable article in this respect. Fruits, too, contain natural phosphates in an available form, and thus help to supply bones, teeth and brain-forming material. The cellulose in fruit forms the indigestible portion, but it must not be regarded as useless on that account. A definite proportion of indigestible matter is essential to good digestion to give the necessary foundation bulk and to provide a safe and gentle stimulant to the bowels. Cane sugar, with which the fruit is associated in jam, is also a true food. It is converted by certain digestive juices into glucose, and in that condition is absorbed by the blood. Sugar has a most important connection with the liberation of energy in the muscles. The older view of physiologists that lean meat and other proteids were the sole sources of muscular energy has been largely modified, and it is now conceded that sugar and other carbo-hydrates are intimately concerned in muscular contraction. Jam, then, quite apart from its palatable qualities, is a good food and contributes its quota to the nourishment of the body.

The popular idea that jam is detrimental to the teeth and stomach is quite wrong. Sugar, the constituent to which this property has been ascribed, is not in itself harmful to the teeth. Bad teeth are generally due to a want of cleanliness, and sugar has obtained its bad character on account of its proneness to fermentation. In the fermentation lactic and other bodies are produced, which, if allowed to remain in contact with the teeth, exercise a harmful action, but if the teeth are properly cleaned, no sugar will remain in contact with the teeth for a sufficient period to ferment, and therefore it cannot have any corroding effect on the enamel. In certain jams there is a tendency for the sugar to granulate, and in order to counteract this, a very small proportion of grape sugar or glucose is added to prevent this condition. Much misconception has arisen on this point among the trade and the public. There can be no objeciion to this addition of grape sugar if properly prepared from the starch. Inferior glucose contains a slight impurity due to the presence of sulphates, but the jam makers would not be likely to use it for the sufficient reason that it would spoil the flavor and reduce the value of the goods. The best varieties of glucose is a true food, and as a matter of fact more assimilable than cane sugar. I do not, of course, advocate the excessive use of grape sugar for this purpose. but certainly defend the custom of the manufacturers to prevent the granulation and consequent spoiling of the jam.

The complete operations in jam-making may be summarized very briefly under the following heads: 1, preliminary preparation of fruit; 2, boiling; 3, filling; 4, finishing. The preliminary preparation of the fruit includes the picking out of damaged specimens and the removal of stalks and other extraneous matter. The prepared fruit is now ready for the boiling pans. The boiling pans are usually made of copper, the heating arrangements being a steam jacket. The purest cane sugar is employed, the proportions ranging according to the kind of fruit. The mixture is boiled until done, and then poured into suitable receptacles for the next operation. In one factory the boiled jam is poured through tubes to large vessels on the floor below, from whence it is taken as required for filling out. The jam is now poured into pots by hand, and the surface covered with prepared paper to prevent the formation of mould. The pans are now ready for the final operations of labelling and covering, which are deftly and neatly performed by girls. A very large proportion of the new season's fruit is not, however, manufactured immediately into jam. It is boiled in suitable jars, securely corked and sealed, and stored in suitable rooms. This "pulp" is used as required to supply the steady demand, and if properly prepared, keeps good for a long period. Of late years many manufacturers have supplied jams mixed with small quantities of gelatine, which gives firmness and coherency to the mass.

Many grocers prepare a large proportion of the jam they require on their own premises. The plant necessary is not large or expensive, and the grocer has the satisfaction of being fully assured of its high quality and purity. Marmalade is prepared from oranges and sugar, and differs slightly in properties from jam. The orange is richer than the jam fruits in citric acid, and contains in addition certain flavoring bodies and essential oils in the peel. Marmalade, therefore, suits those palates which are not fond of sweet foods, and in addition acts as a tonic to the stomach. No doubt these tonic properties account for the universal custom of taking marmalade at breakfast. The first operation in the marmalade factory is sorting and cleaning the fruit. The oranges are then cut in halves by special machines and the halves pulped. In the latter operation the half orange is pressed against a dome-shaped revolving rasper which completely and cleanly removes the inside, the juice falling into the receptacle below, while the skins are thrown into a box. The skins in the meantime are cut into fine strips and boiled in water. The object of boiling is to remove the acrid bitter bodies of the peel which would spoil the flavor of the marmalade. The pulp and a proportion of the boiled peel are now mixed with cane sugar and boiled in steam jacket pans. The marmalade is filled out and the jars finished in a similar manner to the jam pots. Many manufacturers now prepare a kind of marmalade free from peel which is replaced by a little gelatine and to those who do nor care for the somewhat bitter flavor of the peel, the new varieties should prove attractive. In the process of making candied peels the lemons are first cut in halves and the pulp pressed out without injury to the peel. The skins are then preserved in brine for about six weeks, after which they are ready for boiling. After boiling, the skins are soaked in cold water to extract the salt and steeped in cold syrup until thoroughly impregnated with sugar. Hot syrup of a certain consistency and temperature is then poured over the peels, and after draining and reboiling, the peels are then ready for the market.

Preserved ginger is prepared from the imported variety in the following way: The ginger arrives in this country in small tubs. The pieces of ginger are first drained and reboiled in syrup. They are finally crystallized by allowing them to stand in syrup of a certain consistency when fine crystals of sugar soon form on the surface. When the crystallizing action is complete the ginger is drained and is ready for packing. I have now briefly placed before you the main facts connected with the manufacture of preserves, and hope that the knowledge gained to-night will tend to clear away many popular errors regarding jams and help you to appreciate the great advance which has been made during recent years in jam boiling, and the care bestowed in modern factories in the manufacture of our popular preserves.

A TRAVELER'S YARN.

This story is told by a commercial traveler of one of the railways in Scotland, which is said to be still a little shaky: "We were bounding along," he said, "at the rate of about seven miles an hour, and the whole train was shaking terribly. I expected every minute to see my bones protruding through my skin. Passengers were rolling from one end of the carriage to the other. I held on firmly to the arms of my seat. Presently we settled down a bit quieter—at least I could keep my hat on, and my teeth didn't chatter. There was a quiet looking man opposite me. I looked up with a ghastly smile, wishing to appear cheerful, and said: 'We are going a little smoother, I see.' 'Yes,' said he, 'we're off the track now.'"—The Amusing Journal.

THE SPLIT WAFERS.

A MAN who stands high in the mercantile community related to me the following little incident of his early life, says a writer in the N. Y. Ledger.

At the age of 16 I entered the store of Silas Sturdevant as a clerk. One day, shortly after my instalment into the office, I was employed in sealing and superscribing a lot of business circulars—several hundred of them. That was long before the day of gluten, and I used small red wafers for securing the missives. While I was thus busy Mr. Sturdevant came into the counting-room; and when I observed that he was watching me I worked the best I could, hoping to get a word of approbation. By-and-by he spoke to me:

"Young man, don't you think half a wafer would secure one of those circulars just as well as a whole one?"

I looked up, probably exhibiting as much disgust as surprise.

"If you split your wafers," he added, "you will accomplish all you desire, and at the same time make a saving of just one half."

He turned away; and while I was thinking what a mean old wafer splitter he was, a lady entered who had been appointed one of a committee to obtain subscriptions towards building an orphan asylum. One public-spirited man had given the land, and now they wished to raise two hundred thousand dollars, if possible, for the buildings and necessary endowments. Mr. Sturdevant said he had already been consulted on the subject.

"Yes," thought I, "and I guess that's all it will amount to!"

But he took the paper and wrote his name, and then he said:

"I will give five thousand dollars."

I could hardly believe my ears.

At that moment the merchant arose to a stature of grandeur before me, and in my heart I blessed him; for even then I knew that the lesson of the split wafers, with its sequel, was to be the initial of my future success.

[This department has become so popular that many more notices than there is space for are received every week. In future only important items of information will be inserted. Contributors are requested to send news only, not puffs of goods they handle, or the arrival of standard goods that everyone has in stock, or that they are offering goods at close figures, or that they have had an unusually large sale this season.]

SEVERAL invoices of Indian teas direct from Calcutta to Hamilton are to hand this week with Lucas, Steele & Bristol.

T. A. Lytle & Co. report a good trade just now in jams, jellies and marmalade.

Meadow Sweet cheese, 10 and 25c. size, is in stock with the Davidson & Hay, Ltd.

D. Gunn, Bros. & Co. report a good demand for their special cut and cure shoulder picnic ham.

The Davidson & Hay, Ltd., are quoting special prices this week on fancy and evaporated peaches and apricots.

A Young Hyson of exceptional quality is being offered by W. H. Gillard & Co. to retail at half a dollar. This is real value, the firm state.

H. Walker & Son, of Guelph, are just unloading car California Washington navels and car budded seedlings, reported to be of extra fine quality.

Warren Bros. & Co. have arriving this week a shipment of Demerara centrifugal sugar. It is of desirable quality and will be offered at a special price.

"It is needless for us to enumerate the kinds of fish we carry during Lenten season," say Lucas, Steele & Bristol. "Our assortment is always large."

During the coming season Frank Magor & Co., Montreal, will carry a full line of the toilet soaps manufactured by Messrs. J. C. & J. Field, Ltd., London, Eng.

The Eby, Blain Co., Ltd., report the arrival of several shipments of Ceylon teas in chests and half chests, which they claim are the best value they have ever offered.

Frank Magor & Co., Montreal, are introducing the olive oil put up by S. Rae & Co., Leghorn. This brand has been for many years a prime favorite in the American market.

The Eby, Blain Co., Ltd., are making a special push this week on all kinds of fish for Lenten trade, consisting of salmon trout, boneless codfish, Labrador herrings, pure cod and shredded codfish.

John Sloan & Co. report that their sales of "Kincora" package tea last week exceeded those of any previous week since this tea was put upon the market in October last. "Kincora" is put up in one and half pound packages, black and mixed.

W. H. Gillard & Co. are now prepared to fill orders for their "Seville" orange marmalade, which had such a large and merited sale last season. This marmalade is carefully put up under the personal supervision of a practical man, and made from nothing but the finest selected Seville oranges and extra standard granulated sugar.

MUNCHING GROCERS.

A DISCUSSION in an exchange reminds the writer that in some grocers' stores the younger clerks always appear to be munching something, and it has occurred to us that the habit must be expensive for the bosses. It is argued by some authorities that the best plan for the grocer is to give a new clerk full scope in sampling the stock, and that in two or three months the latter would become surfeited and never more care to devour his employer's goods. This might be true in some cases, but there is so much variety in the stock of the average grocer that an ordinary youth of robust appetite might never grow tired of the practice. Then, there are the fellows with capacious stomachs constructed upon the plan of the camel, and others of the scraggy type, each with a private tapeworm of his own; it would never do to let such as these have free eating at the expense of the stock, or the profits would surely suffer. Don't muzzle the ox that treadeth out the corn, but let the hollow varieties of clerk browse on the laundry soap and the candles, or refresh themselves with the coal oil and bluing, and keep a watchful eye on the fine crackers and fruits, the maple sugar, chocolate and other articles that are likely to tempt them.—Merchants' Review.

LATE ADVERTISEMENTS.

[The following items arrived too late for insertion in the regular advertising space. Reading notices inserted in this column at 5c. per word.]

THE sale of "Circle" brand tea has exceeded all expectations. Repeat orders are the order of the day. The odorless air-tight package is leading all others.

The Eby, Blain Co., Ltd., say: "Our 'Crushed' Java and Mocha coffee (XTR) is becoming more popular every day. Our sales have more than doubled themselves."

The Davidson & Hay, Ltd.: "We have a full range of Indian and Ceylon teas in stock; in fact, our stock of teas is complete and well selected in every line, and buyers would do well to see some of our values before placing their orders."

The Eby, Blain Co., Ltd., report that the sales of their "Kolona" Ceylon are increasing far beyond expectations. It is meeting with great favor from the Maritime provinces to British Columbia.

"Yes," say Lucas, Steele & Bristol, "it is true we are investing heavily in molasses. Price is away down, duty is a small one, and we look for an increase in both. We are now offering our 'Bargain' brand at the lowest figure we ever sold at."

A PROBLEM IN OATMEAL.

Editor GROCER,—Can you explain this conundrum? The oatmeal millers give my customers 12 lbs. oatmeal in trade for a bushel of oats, which at market price of oats to-day is 1¼c. a pound. They charge me $1.40 for 5 bag lots, or over 1½c. a pound. Are my brother storekeepers buying oats at 16c. per bushel and trading them for meal, or are they paying ¼c. too much for it?

Yours truly,

THE PORT OF ST. JOHN, N.B.

THE St. John, N.B., correspondent of The Maritime Merchant says: "Up to the end of last week, 26 winter port steamers had cleared from this port. Ten of them went to Liverpool, seven to London, five to Glasgow, two to Dublin and two to Belfast. One for Glasgow, one for Dublin and one for London were then in port, loading. Of the 26 cargoes, the largest was valued at $166,000, the smallest at $13,000. The average value for the whole 26 was about $90,000, which gives a total value of $2,340,000. Of this total at least a third would be in American goods, such as flour from Minneapolis, meats and lard from Chicago, wheat, bran, feed, flaxseed, oatmeal, steel rods, several hundreds of cattle, and some other goods. Freight continues to pile up rapidly, and all the tracks at the C.P.R. terminus and all its sidings between here and Megantic are crowded with laden cars. Considering all the circumstances, the port has been able to handle this through business very well this winter, aud there has been much less cause for complaint than had been feared when the extension of the harbor works met with such a severe check last fall. The labor question has caused no friction this winter, and there is altogether great cause for satisfaction with the manner in which the harbor authorities, the railway and steamship people have worked together."

DECEITFUL MERCHANTS.

"Do you run this butcher shop?" he demanded, as he walked in and began pounding on the meat block with his fists, relates The New York Journal.

"That's my gait," replied the butcher.

"And what kind of a man do you call yourself?"

"What do you mean, sir?"

"I mean," shouted the man, as he pounded some more—"I mean that you are not a square man!"

"For instance?" queried the butcher.

"For instance, you left a so-called ham hanging out-door last night and deceived my partner. It was only a base imitation, sir, and he didn't find out until he had carried it two miles. Is that a square deal or is it not?"

"So your partner took it?"

"He did, sir."

"How did it happen that you didn't steal it yourself?"

"Because, sir—because the grocer next door left a barrel of apples outdoors, and I shouldered it and walked home to find that he had headed up a barrel of oyster shells to throw me down! I'm on my way to tell him what I think of his low-down trickery, and just stopped to say that if you put up any more jobs on the public I'll heave paving stones through your windows!"

FRENCH SUGAR BOUNTY.

THE following is a special report from Mr. George Dureau, editor of Journal des Fabricants de Sucre, prepared for Willett & Gray's Sugar Statistical, under date of Paris, Feb. 17 :

The present legislation in France is as follows : The beet sugar manufacturers may choose before Nov. 1st of each year one of the two following systems :

"First. System of running account. The beets are weighed by entry in the factory by the Government officials. For each hundred Kg. beets the account of the manufacturer is charged with 7.75 Kg. refined sugar. On from 7.76 to 10.50 Kg. refined sugar per 100 Kg. beets the manufacturer has the benefit of the reduced duty, being 30 francs per 100 Kg. refined sugar (the normal duty is 60 francs). If a manufacturer, for instance, obtains an output of 10 per cent., his premium or his bonus is 10—7.75 Kg.= 2.25 Kg. and 2.25 x 30—100=frs. 0.675, being fr. 6.75 per 1,000 Kg. beets. On 10.50 per cent. and upward the manufacturer has the benefit of only one-half of the surplus ; for instance, for an output of 12 per cent. his bonus is frs. 6.75, as mentioned before, and (12 10.50=1.50) 1.50—2=0.75 of surplus at 30 francs per 100 Kg., makes 0.75 x 30—100=frs. 0.225 or frs. 2.25 per 1,000 Kg. beets. In this case the total bonus is frs. 6.75 and 2.25=frs. 9 per 1,000 Kg. beets,

"Second. System of fixed percentage of waste. In case the manufacturer about Nov. 1 fears that he will not have an output of at least 9 to 11 per cent. in refined on account of the quality of the beets,

"It is his interest to choose this plan : In this case the Government guarantees him a fixed premium in the shape of a waste of 15 per cent, on the manufacturing. That is to say that on each 100 Kg. manufactured sugar, the manufacturer has the benefit of the reduced duty on 15 Kg., making a bonus of 15 x 30 — 100=4.50 francs per 100 Kg. manufactured sugar. The new law, which has just been passed by the Chamber of Deputies, and which is at present before the Senate does not modify in any way the present regimen of the sugar factories as herein before mentioned. It allows premiums to the export of raw and refined sugar (the latter has no bonus under the present system). The premiums just approved by the Chamber are fixed at frs. 3.50 per 100 Kg. for raw sugar and frs. 4.50 for refined and candied sugar in loaves or in lumps. frs. 4 for refined sugar, granulated or in small crystals. Until the 1st of September, 1897, only half of these premiums will be allowed on account of the advanced season.

"To provide for these premiums, there will be established a tax of frs. 4 per 100 Kg. sugar going into the refineries and of frs. 1 per 100 Kg raw sugar, not going into the refineries. These two taxes will evidently be charged to the consumers, and will augment the normal tariff of consumption tax from 60 to 65 francs. According to the preceding, the sugar manufacturer, who has, as a bonus of manufacturing, say 6 francs per 100 Kg. crystalized white sugar, will have under the new law a bonus of 6+4 = 10 francs. This is, grosso modo, the present and future situation."

IS YOUR STORE UP TO DATE?

A RUT, Webster says, is a furrow worn by a wheel. Would it not be well to add "commonly made by man for the purpose of hindering his progress?" remarks The Shoe Budget. Ruts are bad ; and (more is the pity) so many people seem to find comfort in them that they follow them throughout an entire career. If we are to attain our end, make our task successful, we must leave the ruts, not stick to them. It seems to be a weakness of the average man to get into ruts easily and stick to them tenaciously. Herein lies one of the greatest reasons why the average man is not successful, for it is proverbial that nine out of every ten fall.

It is an easy matter to get into a rut and very difficult to vacate it. We must be conscious of the rut before we can leave it. In many instances what is to-day a rut was, when adopted, a perfect method ; but the times and conditions have changed, and the method, instead of progressing and changing as well, kept on in its methodical uniform way and became a rut. And thus, seeing everything moving as it has been wont to move in a way we know was right when we started, we fail to alter it.

This is an era of up-to-date methods, and movements of ten or twenty years ago are out-of-date ruts. If we stick to them we are lost. Ten years ago, if you hadn't on hand just what your customer wanted, he'd take the nearest you had ; to-day he'll get just what he wants from your neighbor. Any kind of a store would do a dozen years ago ; to-day it must be well furnished, well kept, and inhabited by bright, courteous salesmen, or the best class of patrons will not enter it. Ten years ago a simple announcement in a local paper was all the advertising a retailer felt called upon to do ; to-day he takes more space, spends time writing advertisements that are attractive and that will sell goods, and in every way possible endeavors to make the advertising end of his business remunerative. The up-to-date retailer does this. He knows a rut when he sees it and avoids it every time. A short time ago a large manufacturer who feared the presence of ruts, also his inability to distinguish them, invited a friend to inspect his factory. The friend had little knowledge of the business and only that interest which the well-trained mind takes in any subject. But as the manufacturer explained his various methods the friend was quick to see faults and offer suggestions. The manufacturer now claims that this interview pointed out to him ruts the elimination of which has saved him $100 a week. Perhaps you can't see the ruts you're running in. Ask some friend—the one who won't lie to please you—how your store looks, how it compares with other stores, how you can improve, and he will probably point out a rut or two that avoiding will make money for you.

A TALE WITH A SEQUEL.

A SPRINGFIELD, Mass., grocer, Geo. Edwards, cured a woman of buying goods on credit the other day ; the woman came into his store and wanted to get some groceries, saying that she would pay for them in a few days. She wouldn't give her name or her place of residence, and the grocer hesitated for a time, but finally let her have them. When she had gone, however, Mr. Edwards became suspicious. It was found that she had a similar bill with another clerk in the store, so he determined to find out where she lived. He accordingly told the errand boy to follow her, and bring back the number of her house, and the boy started out. The woman soon discovered the game, and determined to elude him. She turned up one street and down another, then zig-zag and back again, and finally took a street car. But all to no avail ; the boy kept the trail with the unerring instinct of a hound. Finally, having led him as far as Andrew street, she became desperate. Waiting for him to come near, she suddenly turned around, threw the groceries in his face and walked off in triumph.

But, alas ! this isn't all the story. As our Springfield correspondent tells it.

"A companion suggested to the boy that he might get money from the woman on the blackmail plan. The story goes that the woman paid him $2, 60c. of which he gave to the originator of the scheme. The boy's employer heard of the transaction and made him return the money. On his return from this errand he was discharged. The boy lost the 60c. which he gave to his chum and his position by the transaction. In fact, there was no profit to any of those concerned except to the recipient of the 60c."—N.E. Grocer.

THE LATEST GERMAN IDEAS.

Berlin Correspondent Stationery Trades Journal.

MOUSE grey note paper is still very fashionable, and sheets as well as envelopes appear as if they had had to suffer an attack from that little gnawing pest, the mice, for one corner of each looks as if it had been nibbled. The so-called ombre paper bids fair to become a general favorite this season. The sheets are mostly square and tinted with shaded colors. If, for instance, the left-hand top corner appears in deepest scarlet this grows gradually fainter towards the right-hand bottom corner, where only a very pale yellow is to be seen. Thus, dark blue changes into turquoise blue, mauve into pink, and so on.

Envelopes are no longer used by fashionable people, who write their letters on large sheets of imitation hand-made paper, which they fold and stick or seal in the old-fashioned way of 50 years ago. There is, however, a new envelope in the market, the two opposite flaps of which are loose, and end into two inter-locking parts It is claimed that this secures them against being fraudulently opened, but arrangements of this kind have been quite the rage for some time, and might lead one to think that we were living in an age of epidemical indiscretion, against which everybody has to be continually on his guard. According to the latest rules, name cards, pure and simple, are no longer to be used at stylish German dinner parties. In future every gentleman invited will be handed a little folded letter card, with an imitation seal, in which he will find the name of the lady whom he is requested to conduct to the dinner table.

Very few interesting new things, which have no connection with note paper and envelopes, have of late appeared, but this is nothing unusual immediately after Christmas, and in another month or two a fresh start will be made. A very pretty novelty which stationers are sure to find a salable article, consists of a most amusing painting book for children. The painting is to be done with a brush and ordinary water on white paper within the printed outlines of some objects in the book, and it will be no little surprise to the young ones, when they, nevertheless, see a coloured picture appear under their brush. The paper, is of course, prepared in a special way. Paper clips of an improved pattern are continually appearing in the market, but there is, as a rule, very little novelty to be detected in them. This cannot very well be said of a new appliance of this class, although the object in itself is quite an old acquaintance of ours, as we have hitherto been used to it as a key ring. But now it is called a paper clip, since one of the ends over which we would slip the keys has been make to stick up a little, just as if our old friend were turning up its nose at its old companions, the keys. The idea, however simple, is a capital one, though some people will not own it, and a friend of mine said he might just as well take off his boot, place it on the papers on his writing desk and henceforward call his "phiteesis" paper weights. Of course he can do so if he likes, but he would not get his idea patented, not even in England, which means a lot. Such a steel ring is most suitable for the purpose mentioned, and in the smaller sizes can even be used for keeping papers together which we do not wish to be perforated by pins or other fasteners, and which we have to carry about in our pockets.

A very handy arrangement for keeping copying sheets moist and always ready for use has just been patented in all countries. It consists of a square hermetically closing box, with a false sieve bottom, on the top of which the copying sheets of blotting paper are placed. The lower part is then filled with water, which must reach the sieve bottom, from whence it will be drawn up by the blotting paper. Should the latter ever be found too wet, a few dry sheets placed between will soon prove an effective remedy, or, if too dry, the box is to be turned upside down for a minute or so.

THE VICTORIA BRIDGE.

AFTER having done duty for nearly 40 years, the celebrated Victoria bridge at Montreal is considered to afford insufficient accommodation for the increasing traffic, and a movement is on foot to replace Stephenson's tubular structure with truss spans for a double line of rails, with provisions for a tramway and footpath on each side. It appears that not only do the inhabitants of St. Lambert desire more frequent and quicker accommodation than that furnished by the present train service, but there is also a pressing need for improving the railroad connections from the south in order to avoid the delays which are now experienced, consequent upon the use of the present single line of bridge. On account of these demands, and because it has been represented to the Grand Trunk Railway Co. that the proposed work in replacing the present structure with a new bridge was one of sufficient importance to warrant both provincial and national aid, the company has intimated to the authorities its willingness to provide the necessary facilities if the latter are willing to grant such aid. The Victoria bridge, we may add, was designed by Robert Stephenson. It is 9,144 feet long, and is built of iron on the same tubular principle as are the bridges over the Conway in the Menai Straits. The total length of the tubes is 6,592 feet, and the height above the river to the bottom of the centre span is 60 feet. There are 24 spans varying from 242 to 247 feet each in length, with one in the centre of 330 feet. The grade of the tubes from each end toward the centre is 1 in 130, and the weight of the tubes is 9,044 tons. The piers are built of solid masonry, and the total amount of masonry in the piers and abutments is 100,000 cubic yards. The tube through which the track is laid is 22 feet high and 16 feet wide. The first stone of the bridge was laid on July 20, 1854, and the bridge was opened for traffic on Dec. 17, 1859.—Railway Review.

TO A BEGINNER IN BUSINESS.

A word to the young man preparing to open a store of his own: When you get ready to tell the public what you are going to do, tell the public what you are going to do. Use plenty of advertising space to tell your story well and thoroughly, but tell it simply. Don't whoop. Don't turn verbal flip-flaps. Don't make a jumping-jack of the English language. Don't tear your hair and froth at the mouth.

Just get down to business and tell people, in short, simple words, all about your new store and your new goods. Act like a solid business man, not like a fly-by-night fakir. The man who merely jumps up and down might as well stand still. "Soft and fair goes far in a day."

Work up a good solid business by solid business methods. Coax, and wheedle and suggest, and argue—don't try to yank trade in by the hair. As Bill Nye once sagely observed: "When you want to kiss a girl, don't grab for it. Take your time—it's there."

THOS. DOHERTY & CO.

The insolvent tea business of Thos. Doherty & Co., Montreal, details in connection with which have already appeared, is to be wound up. It is understood that the second offer of 35c. on the dollar was not satisfactory to the creditors in some of its provisions, so the estate is to be liquidated, Mr. Thos. Doherty making a formal abandonment last Monday.

QUEER SUBSTITUTE FOR TEA.

There is a queer substitute for tea called "yerba mate," which is produced largely in Argentina, Uruguay and Paraguay. It is obtained from a plant known to botanists as Ilex Paraguayensis. The flavor of it is bitter and pleasant, and it is believed that before long considerable quantities of it will be consumed in the United States. Foreigners residing in the countries mentioned become very fond of it, preferring it to ordinary tea. In South America it is drunk from little gourds, which are beautifully carved and mounted in silver. For drinking it little tubes of silver are employed.

TORONTO RETAIL GROCERS.

SICKNESS prevented the attendance of President J. S. Bond at the regular meeting of the Toronto Retail Grocers' Association on Monday night, and Vice-President W. H. Marmion occupied the chair in his stead. Owing to the inclemency of the weather the attendance was small.

A communication was received from the Merchants' Association, Ottawa, in regard to the law exempting the salaries of civil servants from attachment for debt. Readers of THE CANADIAN GROCER will remember that the business men of Ottawa decided some weeks ago to memorialize the Federal Government to so amend the law that the peculiar privileges enjoyed by civil servants in regard to exemption of salaries from attachment for debt should no longer obtain. The communication received by the Toronto association on Monday night was a call for the co-operation of that organization in securing the desired reforms.

Sympathy was expressed with the movement, and a committee was appointed to lend practical aid.

The question of a statutory Saturday half holiday was discussed, and the consensus of opinion was not favorable as far as the provisioning trades were concerned.

The committee having in charge the recent smoking concert reported a deficit of $25.

A NOTABLE FACT.

It is a notable fact, say Willett & Gray, that the price of beet sugar on the London Sugar Exchange this week fell to 8s. 8¼d., which was below the lowest price quoted during this or the preceding campaign year, and within 2¼d. of the lowest price ever known of beet sugar. The circumstance leading to this decline was largely due to the increased receipts of the Cuba sugar crop, which continue to grow larger with each succeeding week and are now considerably ahead of last year to same date. Too much importance may be attached to these receipts, for the reason that the estates which can grind at all are pushing ahead with all the vigor possible and will complete the grinding of all their cane within a very short period, after which it is quite likely the receipts will fall as rapidly as they have risen.

"Cow" brand bi-carbonate soda in ½ and 1-lb. packages is being introduced on the Toronto market by Mr. E. Fielding, who has been appointed agent.

PERSONAL MENTION.

President Bond, of the Toronto Retail Grocers' Association, is confined to his bed with la grippe.

Mr. P. C. Larkin, of the "Salada" Tea Company, left yesterday for a visit to the "Salada" agencies in Buffalo, Pittsburg, Scranton and Wilkesbarre.

Mr. Joseph H. Devany, who for the past ten years has been a member of the Eby, Blain Co.'s traveling staff, is severing his connection with that firm.

Mr. C. E. Colson, Crosse & Blackwell's agent, and Mr. J. H. Magor, Keen, Robinson & Co.'s agent, are taking spring orders in Toronto and the west this week.

Sir Frank Smith, formerly one of Toronto's well-known wholesale grocers, has been elected president of the Dominion Bank and Mr. E. B. Osler has been advanced to the vice-presidency.

CHANGE IN A CHATHAM FIRM.

Mr. Kitchen, who has been a member of the firm of Heyward & Kitchen, wholesale and retail grocers, Chatham, Ont., for the past six years, has retired. The business is being continued by Mr. G. S. Heyward.

The business of manufacturing chewing gum, prize packages and pop corn is being continued by I. D. Bradshaw, of Toronto.

IT IS OF NATIONAL IMPORTANCE.

A GOOD many people who are inclined to treat lightly the importance of a railway through the Crow's Nest Pass are fond of asserting that it is only a local road and that therefore the citizens of Eastern Canada ought not to interest themselves in the matter.

It is quite true that, in its narrow sense, the proposed road is a local road, but that does not warrant the business men of Ontario and Quebec being uninterested in its construction.

The road will be primarily local, but not altogether. It will be local just as any one link in a chain is independent of the other links, just as the balance wheel is independent of the other wheels in a watch.

In its broadest sense the Crow's Nest Pass Railway cannot be a local road. It must be a part of the railway system of the country. It must be linked to other lines.

At present between the wholesale merchants and manufacturers in Eastern Canada and the retail merchants and consumers in Southern British Columbia there is a great gulf fixed.

A railway through the Crow's Nest Pass would bridge that gulf and make possible what is now in some respects impossible. Hence, in its broad sense the road could not be termed a local one.

On the contrary, it is, more properly speaking, a link—and an important one at that—in the great railway system that is the highway for the transportation of goods from the east to the promising gold fields in the Kootenay country.

In the meantime, while the missing link is absent, United States merchants, and not Canadian, are monopolizing the trade in that part of the Dominion.

It is through provincial glasses that those are looking who can see nothing but localism in the construction of the Crow's Nest Pass Railway.

The chief of Canada's drawbacks is provincialism. It has crept into commercial matters. It has crept into religious matters. Let us away with it. The construction of the Crow's Nest Pass road is a national undertaking. Let us, as true Canadians, acknowledge it as such.

Three or four years ago William McKinley was a bankrupt; now he is President of the United States.

LOW OFFERS ON RIO COFFEE.

LOW offers made recently on Rio coffee in Montreal have attracted some attention in the trade.

These offers are apt to be misleading to the general run of buyers, for they are not a fair criterion of the average market price.

It is understood that certain goods have been offered to Montreal jobbing houses at 8½ to 9c., without finding a buyer, for the reason that the grade did not suit.

The fact that some of the latest advices to commission men in Montreal quote Rio coffee from 9 to 9¼c., cost and freight New York, shows clearly that the above-mentioned prices are unusual and due to special circumstances.

It would cost to-day fully 9½c. to lay down Rio in Montreal.

These low offers are a result of the decision to wind up the insolvent estate of Thos. Doherty & Co. This firm controlled a certain quantity of coffee as well as tea, and the liquidators, of course, have to do the best they can with the goods. Buyers are aware of this fact and act accordingly; but the quantity is not sufficient to seriously affect the ruling range of prices.

Another cause given by some of the theorists for the low offers was the coffee war in the States. The conditions of this battle, however, render it impossible that it would affect values on the goods in their raw condition. It is roasted and ground coffee that the fight is being waged on, not goods in the bean.

RECORD BREAKING IN FOREIGN TRADE.

CANADA'S foreign trade during the fiscal year 1896 was a record-breaking one.

In exports we never before reached the figures we then did, notwithstanding the low range of values. The total exports were valued at $121,013,852. This was 10.50 per cent. larger than in 1893, the previous record year.

Our aggregate trade with the United States was $103,022,434. This was another record-breaker, although only by .8 per cent.

The aggregate trade with China and Japan was nearly $40,000 larger than in any previous year.

Imports from the United States touched the highest point since Confederation by $352,148, the figures being $58,574,024 and $58,221,976 respectively.

The most remarkable feature of record-breaking, as far as percentage of increase is concerned, is in respect to our imports from Belgium. The record year up to the present was 1890. The imports then aggregated $721,332. Last year they reached the total of $920,758, or 27.60 per cent. larger than in 1890, and no less than 106 per cent. larger than in 1895.

Early closing will only come when merchants are prepared to close up their petty jealousies.

LARGE SALES OF TEA.

The tea market in Montreal continues strong and prices are firmly held, despite the fact that demand is limited. Commission men are at a loss to understand this in view of the generally admitted fact that stocks in jobbers' hands are not excessive.

During last week, however, it is understood that Morrow & Ewing put through some round lots of black Congous and Japans, aggregating 1,000 odd packages in all.

The basis on the first named ranged from 9 to 20c., according to grade, and on the Japans 16 to 20c.

BACK FROM SUNNY JAMAICA.

MR. W. H. Clemes, of Clemes Bros., and Mr. Howard Clemes, of D. Gunn, Bros. & Co., have returned from a flying trip to Jamaica. They enjoyed their excursion immensely, while their faces bear the marks of the combined influences of the sea air and the tropical climate.

On their voyage down they ran through a portion of that storm which nearly swamped the United States Navy, and on the way back they were immersed in a fog for forty-eight hours. THE CANADIAN GROCER learns that the captain of the steamer charged Mr. Walter Clemes with being a Jonah, and would have thrown him overboard had he seen a whale sporting about within hailing distance. Fortunately for Mr. Clemes and unfortunately for Mr. Whale, no leviathan appeared.

The stay of the Messrs. Clemes on the island was limited to five days, but they made the best of the time at their disposal. They landed at Port Antonio and took the train for Kingston, eighty miles distant, thus having the experience of riding over the line reputed to be the most zig-zag in the world. With Kingston as their headquarters, they took train and carriage for the interior of the country.

They were unable to visit the most famous of the island's fruit-growing localities, but they saw enough of Jamaica to impress them with its wonderful fruit-producing capabilities.

"It was delightful," said Mr. Walter Clemes, "in driving along the country roads to see cocoanuts, oranges, bananas, palms, etc., growing wild in abundance on either side, to say nothing of the luxuriant vegetation generally. Then the roads! They are delightful. We have got nothing like them in the vicinity of Toronto."

In reply to a question in reference to the recent attempt to introduce Jamaica fruit into England, Mr. Walter Clemes said: "The trouble is, they have not yet got on to the proper way of packing the fruit. For instance, a planter puts a lot of natives to work gathering oranges. He instructs them as to ways and means of doing so. While he has his eyes upon them it is all right. But when his back is turned it is all wrong, for immediately the boss is out of sight the natives will bring the fruit down by merely shaking the trees. If they are remonstrated with they say: 'Oh, well, get somebody else.' And as there is no one else but the native the planter is compelled to put up with it. The natives are perfectly independent. They can sleep in the open air, and in the morning when they wake can reach up their hand and gather their breakfast from the trees. Their wants are therefore necessarily few. A dollar will go a long way with them, and when they have earned one they have no desire to earn another until their pocket is again empty."

The Crow's Nest Pass Railway is a nest wherein many prejudices and selfish interests are being hatched.

DEPARTMENTAL STORE CHANGE.

SOME striking changes have taken place in Toronto commercial circles during the last twelve months. The latest is that of the departmental store firm of R. Walker & Sons.

This is one of the oldest firms in the "Queen City," being established 61 years ago by the late Robert Walker.

A couple of weeks ago it was announced that the firm would go into liquidation. But the firm has gone out of business much quicker than it was anticipated, for a few days ago W. A. Murray & Co., whose stock was damaged by fire the other day to the extent of $100,000, made a deal with R. Walker & Sons whereby they became the owners of the latter's business.

W. A. Murray & Co. took possession on Tuesday morning. The invoiced price of the stock was $185,000, and the figure paid was 65c. on the dollar. The purchase includes the dry goods, clothing and boot and shoe stocks. The boot and shoe and toy departments were not owned by R. Walker & Sons, being "farmed" out to other firms. W. A. Murray & Co.'s lease of the Walker building is merely a day-to-day one, and THE CANADIAN GROCER understands that its permanency depends upon their ability to find tenants for their own store, which is three stores turned into one.

The amount of insurance awarded W. A. Murray & Co. by the underwriters, it might be mentioned, was $95,022.

FORMED A DEPARTMENTAL STORE.

FOUR Gananoque business houses have decided to amalgamate and form a departmental store.

The four firms are: Britton & Donovan, general merchants; D. Darling, grocer; E. H. Ellis, hardware; and H. C. Taylor, dry goods.

The amalgamation goes into effect on May 1.

The style of the firm will be The Departmental Store Co., Ltd. In the application for incorporation, which appeared in the last issue of The Ontario Gazette, it was set forth that the company propose the carrying on of a general mercantile business, including (a) dry goods, fancy goods, notions, merchant tailoring, gents' furnishings, millinery, mantle and dressmaking; (b) groceries and patent medicines; (c) hardware, tinware; (d) furniture; (e) machinery, implements and vehicles.

The capital stock of the company is $75,000, in 750 shares of $100 each.

CURED MEAT SITUATION.

The condition of the provision market is more interesting than it has been for some time.

Prices of cured meats have been unsatisfactory for several months, not being enough, it is alleged, in some instances to reimburse the packer for his outlay.

Lately the English market has improved. Naturally this is being reflected on the home market, and within the last week or two there has been an advance practically all along the line, and still higher values are looked for.

The goods which are most wanted to supply the export demand are Wiltshire sides, and as this cut takes practically the whole side, the desirable light meats are becoming scarce.

Then, long clear is also becoming scarce. This is due to the fact that farmers have been specializing on light hogs, which produce the kind of meat wanted on the English market, while the price of the desired weight of hogs was more remunerative. To-day the price of light hogs, dressed, is from fifty cents to one dollar per hundred pounds above the figures ruling for heavy, fat hogs.

Then, a feature of the situation is the disinclination of the packers to cut up meat at the prices at which hogs are now ruling, having no guarantee that the present figures on the finished product will be maintained.

BRADSTREET'S NEW TORONTO OFFICES.

AS long as business is done the soul of it will be credit. And as long as credit exists ways and means of protecting the creditor will be necessary. Information is, and always will be, the chief safeguard. For a great many years the chief instruments for supplying this have been the mercantile agencies. Foremost among these is The Bradstreet Company, whose business not only now extends over the continent of America, but also over the whole world.

Mr. T. C. Irving, Superintendent.

The Ontario branch of this concern has its headquarters in Toronto, and the offices of this branch have, within the last few weeks, been removed to more commodious and convenient quarters in the McKinnon building, Jordan and Melinda streets.

The new offices are handsomely appointed and are well situated. The general office, included in which are the superintendent's office (13.6 x 17.9), travelers' room (9 x 9.3), book-keepers' room (6 x 9.6), occupies 80 x 31 feet. In addition to this there are three rooms adjoining the south end, two of which are cloak rooms for men and women respectively, while the third is known as the file room. The business office proper runs along Jordan street for the whole depth of eighty feet. In this room are eleven windows, eight facing Jordan and three facing Melinda street. The superintendent's private office also faces Melinda street and has two large windows. This latter office is separated from the business office by a partition of quarter oak and English plate glass. All the fittings about the premises are of quarter oak.

Located in the business office are the chief clerk, clerks, reporters, corresponding clerks, mail clerks, examining clerks, stenographers, typewriters, enquiry clerks, etc.

The offices are lit with gas and electric light. Three large vaults are ranged along the eastern wall.

Bradstreet's was established in Toronto over thirty years ago, the offices being opened by Mr. Charles F. Clark, who is now the president of the company. Its first offices were in the Bank of Toronto building, Church and Wellington streets. From there they were removed to the building now the site of the executive offices of the Imperial Bank, but then occupied by the Quebec Bank. The year 1872 found them in the Royal Canadian Bank building at 27 Wellington street west. From there they moved to the Fisken building at Scott and Front streets. Fifteen years ago the offices were removed to No. 36 Front street east, the old Consolidated Bank building, where they remained until three weeks ago, when they were removed to their present site in the McKinnon building.

The concern now known as The Bradstreet Company, whose executive offices are in New York, was established in 1849 under the style of J. M. Bradstreet & Son. Subsequently it was formed into a joint stock company under the style of The J. M. Bradstreet, Son & Co., and about twenty-five years ago it became The Bradstreet Company. The company's branches are now to be found in all the chief commercial countries the world over.

Mr. Chas. F. Clark, the president of the company, is well known in financial circles in the United States. Under his direction the Bradstreet agency has made marked progress.

Some idea of the extent and importance of the company may be gathered from the fact that last year it recorded 745,475 changes, let alone the multitude of written reports which are sent out giving the financial standing of various firms throughout the world. The last printed volume of the company contained no less than 1,164,271 firms doing business in 79,955 places.

The superintendent of the Ontario branch is Mr. Thomas C. Irving, who is one of the best-known men in Western Canada to-day. He was born in Scarboro' township in 1849, and his education was acquired in the rural schools and the Toronto Grammar School, now the Jarvis Street Collegiate Institute. After leaving the Grammar School he filled the position of assistant librarian of the Toronto Mechanics' Institute. For a time he was one of the trustees of the Collegiate Institute Board, and during the time he filled this trusteeship he was chairman of the Finance Committee. Mr. Irving entered the Toronto office of the company thirty years ago as a junior clerk, and he gradually worked his way up through various positions until about twelve years ago he was appointed superintendent.

ONLY TOO TRUE.

At a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Canadian Packers' Association held in Hamilton a few days ago, the article which appeared in THE CANADIAN GROCER of February 26, pointing out the inherent weakness of some of the packers, came in for a good deal of discussion.

"I say," remarked one member from the Niagara district, after reading the article to those present, "isn't that a blankity blank hard article? And the worst of it is, gentlemen, it is only too true."

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

TORONTO, March 11, 1897.

GROCERIES.

SCARCELY has a week in the wholesale grocery trade of Toronto been less interesting than that of the past week. The weather made dull what was already a quiet trade. In no one line was there any activity. During the last couple of days, however, there has been a slight recovery, a great many more orders coming in. Canned tomatoes and peas continue firm, but the demand is much about as before. Canned fish for the Lenten trade is beginning to move a little, but the demand is by no means active. Sugar is dull and the feeling as to price is unsettled. There are a few teas moving, but the volume of business in this respect is not nearly as large as it was a few weeks ago. Currants continue firm and in fairly good demand.

CANNED GOODS.

There is a demand on Lenten season account for canned fish, but the movement is by no means brisk, and no great activity in this particular line is anticipated. Tomatoes and peas continue to occupy a firm position, but very few transactions are, however, taking place. Canned fruits are quiet. We quote standard brands as follows: Tomatoes, 70 to 75c.; corn, 50 to 75c.; peas, 70 to 75c. for ordinary; sifted select, 80 to 95c.; extra sifted, $1.15 to $1.30; beans, 65 to 95c.; peaches, $2.50 to $3 for 3's, $1.65 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.50 to $1.80; strawberries, $1.65 to $1.95, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.70 to $1.90; cherries, $2 to $2.25; apples, 3's, 70 to 95c.; gallons, $1.65 to $2.25; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.50 to $1.55; cohoes, $1.15 to $1.25; canned mackerel, $1.20 to $1.30; lobsters, $2.25 to $2.40 for tall tins; flats, $2.85 to $2.90; ½-lb. flats, $1.60 to $1.65; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.20 to $1.30; 2's, $2.25 to $2.40; 6's, $7.75 to $8.25; 14's, $15 to $16.

COFFEES.

Good grades of Rio coffees are gradually getting scarcer, while the quality offering is getting worse. No improvement is now expected until the new crop arrives in July next. The demand is good for high-grade Brazilian coffees. We quote green in bags: Rio, 14 to 16c., according to grade; East Indian, 27 to 30c.; South American, 21 to 23c.; Santos, 19 to 22½c.; Java, 30 to 33c.; Mocha, 27½ to 30c.; Maracaibo, 18 to 20c.; Jamaica, 19 to 22c.

SYRUPS.

The syrup market appears to be receiving little or no attention. We quote: Dark, 23 to 25c.; medium, 28 to 35c.; bright, 32 to 42c.; corn syrup, 3 to 3¼c. per lb.

MOLASSES.

Advices from New Orleans indicate a slightly improved movement, but taking it all round, the molasses market is dull. We quote: New Orleans, barrels, 23 to 35c.; ditto, half-barrels, 25 to 37c.; ditto, fancy, 50 to 55c., in barrels and half-barrels; Barbadoes, 31 to 35c.; half-barrels, 33 to 35c.

SUGAR.

There have been a good many transactions in raw sugars in the outside markets during the past week, but prices in both London and New York have been irregular. Beets for next month's delivery declined ¼d. on Saturday in London, and in New York on Monday Nos. 8, 11, 12, 13 and 16 refined sugars declined 1-16c. per lb. and Nos. 9, 14 and 15 ⅛c. per lb., but without making much impression on the demand, which is light. On the Canadian market there has been no change in prices, but business is dull and the feeling naturally somewhat unsettled in sympathy with the condition of the outside markets. Wholesalers still quote granulated at 4 3-16 to 4¼c. for 5 barrels and over, and at 4¼ to 4 5-16c. for less than 5 barrels; 3½c. per lb. upwards for yellows; Demerara crystals, 4 to 4½c.

SPICES.

Spices continue firm, with Singapore pepper about ¼c. per lb. dearer in the primary markets. We quote: Pure Singapore black pepper, 10 to 12c.; pure white, 18 to 25c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 23 to 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed is now seldom heard. Sensible people appreciate the difference between the old and the new way of washing clothes. No more bending over the sickening fumes of the washtub and rubbing the clothes into rags.

SURPRISE SOAP has revolutionized all this, and has made a name for itself all over Canada. There's a constant demand for it because people know it and have confidence in it. You can't carry a safer article. It always sells and always gives satisfaction.

spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; do. best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 14 to 18c.; cassia, quoting 2½ to 3½c. for choice to fancy stock.

NUTS.

There have been some transactions in almonds during the past week, but in general trade is quiet in nuts. We quote: Brazil nuts, 11 to 12½c.; Valencia shelled almonds, 18 to 22c.; Tarragona almonds, 9½ to 11c.; peanuts, 10 to 12c. for roasted and 7 to 10c. for green; cocoanuts, $4.50 to $5 per sack; Grenoble walnuts, 12½c.; Marbot walnuts, 9½ to 11c.; Bordeax walnuts, 8 to 9c.: Sicily filberts, 10c. for sacks and 10½ to 11c. for small lots; Naples filberts, 11c.; pecans, 12 to 12½c.

RICE, TAPIOCA, ETC.

The demand is moderate for the lines enumerated below. We quote: Rice, Standard "B," 3¼ to 3½c.; imported Japan, 5¼ to 5¾c.; tapioca, 3¼ to 4½c.; sago, 3½c.

TEAS.

The movement in teas is gradually getting less, although there is still a nice trade being done for this time of the year. China teas are a little more active owing to the fact that there are more of those goods on the spot and available before the budget will be brought down. Latest mail advices from London state that the market for flavory low-grade Ceylons continues to advance. Ruling prices on the Toronto market to retailers are: Young Hyson, 18 to 21c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 14 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 15 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for high grades.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

Advices from Patras, while noting no further advance, note a continuance of firmness in prices there. Locally there is nothing new to note. We quote: Provincials, 4⅜ to 4½c. in bbls.; fine Filiatras, in bbls., 4½ to 4¾c.; do, half-bbls., 4½ to 4¾c.; Patras, 5 to 5¼c. in bbls., 5⅛ to 5¼c. in half-bbls., and 5⅛ to 5½c. in cases; Vostizzas, cases, 6 to 8c.

Valencia raisins are quiet and unchanged. We quote: Off-stalk, 5 to 5¼c.; fine off-stalk, 5¾ to 6c.; selected, 6¾ to 7c.; layers, 7 to 7½c.

California loose muscatel raisins are neglected. We quote: 3-crown, 7½c.; 4-crown, 8 to 8½c.

Malaga raisins are without change. We quote: Dehesa clusters, $3 to $4; Non Plus Ultra, $5 to $5.50; Imperial bunches, $4.50 to $5; Imperial Russian clusters, $4.50 to $5.

Figs continue dull. Wholesale quotations are: 10 oz., 7½c.; 10 lb., 9 to 10c.; 18 lb., 10 to 12c.; 28 lb., 11 to 13c.; taps, 3¾ to 4½c.; natural, 4½c. in bags, and 7c. in boxes.

Dates continue quiet. We quote: 5½ to 6c. for Hallowee and 5 to 5¼c. for Kadrowee.

California prunes are experiencing a slightly better demand, but supplies in this country are almost exhausted, and it is difficult to replenish them from the Coast at prices which will pay shippers. We quote: Bosnias, U's (110 to 113 half kilo), 6 to 6½c.; C's (85 to 90 half kilo), 7 to 7½c. per lb. California, 90 to 100's, 6½c. per lb.; 60 to 70's, 7½ to 8c.; 50 to 60's, 8 to 8½c.; 40 to 50's, 9½ to 10½c.; 30 to 40's, 11½ to 12½c.

A little better enquiry is reported for California evaporated fruits. Peaches are about cleaned out of the primary market, and the tendency is toward higher values. We quote: Peaches, 7 to 10½c. per lb., according to quality; apricots, 6½ to 15c.; pears, 5½ to 10½c.; egg plums, 5½ to 11c.; silver prunes, 8½ to 13½c.

GREEN FRUIT.

Buyers complain that they are unable to obtain small and medium sizes in California oranges, the size of the fruit being so large this season. Valencia oranges are dearer, and the large 420's are quoted one dollar per box higher. Lemons are in fair demand and firm in price. We quote: Oranges—Valencias, ordinary, 420's, $4 to $4.50 per case; large 420's, $6.50 to $7; 714's, $4 to $4.50 per case. California navels, $3.50 to $4. Lemons—Messinas, $2.25 to $2.50 per box for fancy, and $1.75 to $2 for choice; cocoanuts, $3.75 a sack and 60c. per doz.; apples, 75c. per bbl. for greenings and Baldwins, and $1.25 to $1.50 for Spies; onions, $1.50 per 80 lb. bag for Danvers; cranberries, Cape Cod, $5 to $7 per bbl. and $2.50 per case; Canadian cranberries, $4 to $5 per bbl.; bananas, $1.25 to $1.75.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—Choice large roll dairy butter is scarce, and ½ to 1c. per lb. more is being paid for it. Low-grade and medium is still coming forward faster than the market can absorb it. There is practically no choice dairy tub butter coming forward. Creamery butter is in good demand at steady prices. We quote: Dairy butter—Tubs, 11 to 13c. for good to choice; low-grade to medium, 7 to 8c.; pails and crocks, 11 to 12c.; large rolls, 12½ to 13½c. for good to choice, and 7 to 8c. for low-grade to medium; pound prints, 14c. Creamery—Tubs, 19 to 20c.; 1-lb. blocks, 20 to 21c., according to make.

CHEESE—Although the English market is a little lower than it was, there is no change on the local market, stocks being very light. The demand, however, is not active, on account of the high prices ruling. A few small lots of new fodder cheese have been on the market, but shipments are not regular yet. The idea for fodder cheese is 9 to 10c., and for ordinary September and October cheese 11 to 11½c.; choice qualities of late makes are held as high as 12c.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

BEANS—Business dull. Ordinary mixed lots are quoted by wholesalers at 40 to 50c. per bushel, and choice hand-picked at 75 to 80c.

DRIED APPLES—Dull. Choice are quoted by wholesalers at 2¼ to 2½c., and fancy at 3 to 3½c.

EVAPORATED APPLES — No demand. Wholesale quotations are: Quarters, 2¼c.; sliced, 3c.; best brands, 4c.

EGGS—Prices are lower on account of heavy receipts, while the consumption is not heavy. The idea as to price for fresh eggs is 11c., and at this figure values appear to be steady.

POULTRY—Receipts are light, and all coming forward are readily taken. Turkeys have sold as high as 10½c. per lb. during the past week. We quote: Chickens, 30 to 60c. per pair; turkeys, 9½ to 10½c. for bright stock; geese, 7 to 8c.; ducks, 60 to 70c.

POTATOES—There is no improvement. Good stock is quoted at 22c. in carload lots on track and small lots out of store at 30c. per bag.

MAPLE SYRUP—A little business is being done in last season's syrup at 70 to 80c. per gallon.

HONEY—Quiet. We quote: Comb, 80 to 90c. per dozen for dark and $1.50 to $1.75 for light; strained, 6 to 7c. per lb.

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN—Receipts of grain are light and prices rather lower. We quote: Wheat, 76c. for white and 74½c. for red, and 63 to 63½c. for goose; oats, 21 to 22½c.; peas, 40 to 41c.

FLOUR—Trade is quiet and prices lower. We quote in carloads on track, Toronto: Manitoba patents, $5; Manitoba strong bakers', $4.50; Ontario patents, $4.30 to $4.50; straight roller, $3.85 to $4, Toronto freights.

MILLFEED — Prices are higher. We quote: Bran, $9.50, and shorts, $10.

BREAKFAST FOODS—Trade is dull. We quote: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $2.80 in bags and $2.90 in bbls.; rolled wheat, $2.60 in 100-lb. bbls.; cornmeal, $2.30; split peas, $3 to $3.25; pot barley, $3 to $3.25.

FISH AND OYSTERS.

Although the Lenten season is now on, the demand is not typical of that season, business being dull, while stocks are heavy. We quote: Manitoba white fish, 5½ to 6c.; ditto in kegs, $4.50; frozen trout, 5½c.; ditto in kegs, $4.50; pickerel, 6c. per lb.; haddies, 6c. per lb.; Labrador herring, $4.50 to $5 per bbl. and $2.25 to $2.50 per half-bbl.; split herring, $4.50 per bbl. and $2.50 per half-bbl.; boneless fish, 3½ to 4c. per lb.; pure cod, 6½ to 6¾c. per lb.; ciscoes, $1.25 per 100; haddock, 5c. per lb.; steak cod, 6c. per lb.; frozen herring, 4c.; sea herring, $1 per 100; fresh water herring (heads off), $2.50 per keg; smelts, 6 to 9c. Oysters are quoted at $1.20 for standards, and $1.50 for selects.

PROVISIONS AND DRESSED HOGS.

Provisions continue to gather strength and the demand is fair. Dressed hogs are quoted at $4.75 to $5 for heavy weights and $6 to $6.50 for light weights.

DRY SALTED MEATS—Long clear bacon, 5¾ to 6c. for carload lots, and 6¼c. for small lots; backs, 7 to 7½c.

SMOKED MEATS—Breakfast bacon, 11c.; rolls, 7½ to 8c.; hams, large, 22 lbs. and over, 10 to 10½c.; medium, 15 to 20 lbs., 10c.; small hams, 11 to 11½c.; backs, 10 11c.; shoulder hams, 7c.; all meats out of pickle, 1c. less than above.

LARD—Pure Canadian, tierces, 6c.; tubs, 6¼c.; pails, 6½c.

BARREL PORK—Canadian heavy mess, $12.50; Canadian short-cut, $12.50 to $13; clear shoulder mess, $10.

SALT.

No change has taken place in prices, and the volume of business is much about the same as a week ago. We quote at Toronto: In carload lots, $1 per bbl. and 60c. per sack; in less than carload lots, $1.05 per bbl. and 65c. per sack. At the wells we quote: F.O.B. barrels, 70c.; sacks 50c. for points west of Toronto, and 45c. for Toronto and points east of Toronto.

SEEDS.

Trade continues dull and prices nominally unchanged. Alsike is quoted at $3 to $4 per bushel f o.b. at outside points for good to choice; timothy, $1 25 to $1.40 at outside points for machine threshed, and bright unhulled at $1.75 to $2; red clover, $4.40 to $4.80 for prime to choice.

PETROLEUM.

There is no change to note. We quote in 1 to 10 bbl. lots, imperial gallon, Toronto: Canadian, 15c.; carbon, safety, 17c.; Canadian water white, 17c.; American water white, 19c.; Pratt's astral, 18½c. in bulk.

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL.

HIDES—Continue firm, with cured quoted at 7¾ to 8c. Dealers pay 7c. for No. 1, 6c. for No. 2, and 5c. for No. 3.

CALFSKINS—Market is dull at 7 to 8c. for No. 1 and 5 to 6c for No. 2. Sheep and lambskins, $1 to $1.15.

WOOL—The market is dull and prices unchanged. Combing fleece nominal at 20 to 22c. and rejections 17c. Pulled supers are 20 to 21c., and extras at 22 to 23c.

MARKET NOTES.

Provisions are dearer.

Fresh eggs are down to 11c.

Large roll butter is scarce and ½ to 1c. per lb. dearer.

There has been a further decline in the price of glucose.

Advices from Italy report an advance in the price of olive oil.

Singapore pepper is ¼c. per lb. dearer in the London, England, market.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, March 11, 1897.

GROCERIES.

THERE has been no change of importance in any staple line of groceries during the current week. Business is confined strictly to immediate wants, and these appear to be moderate. Sugar continues steady, being unaffected by the easiness of outside markets. Syrups and molasses are dull and inclined to heaviness. There have been some good sized transactions in Japan and Congou teas from first to second hands, but as a rule the market is quiet. Coffees show no radical change although there have been some low offers made on Rio. Dried fruits continue quiet and featureless, while canned vegetables maintain the firm tendency noted lately. Fish, both pickled and fresh, are moving in a fair way.

SUGAR.

The local sugar market has been entirely without interesting feature since our last report. Values are unchanged and business continues extremely light, buyers showing no tendency to operate ahead of immediate wants, which do not appear to be very extensive at the moment. Advices from the outside have been of a rather unsettled character with a lower tendency, but the fact has had no influence locally. At the refinery granulated sold at 4 to 4⅛c, and yellows 3¼ to 3⅞c. In a small way we quote : Granulated 4⅛ to 4¼c., and yellows 3⅜ to 3⅞c.

SYRUPS.

The syrup market continues quiet. Canadian syrup in the wood sells at 1⅝ to 2¼c., as to grade, but these prices would be shaded in the case of a round lot.

MOLASSES.

There is no improvement in the molasses market. The trade expected a change for the better after the opening of Lent, but it has not materialized, and business is extremely quiet. There is no special news from the islands regarding Barbadoes, recent cables still quoting 9c. first cost or 14c. f.o.b. at the islands, but no desire is manifested by importers here to operate as far ahead as this. As noted, the spot movement is light at 27 to 27½c. for Porto Rico and 28c. for Barbadoes. Small jobbing lots of both grades are still quoted 30 to 31c

RICE.

There is no change in the situation of the rice market, business ruling quiet and prices unchanged. We quote : Crystal Japan, $5 to $5.25 ; standard B., $3.50 ; Patna, $4.50 to $5.25; Carolina, $6.75 to $7.75 ; choice Bermuda, $4, and Java kinds, $4.25.

SPICES.

There is a fair trade in spices, and the market maintains its firm tone, notably for pepper. We quote : Pure black pepper, 8 to 10c. ; pure white, 12 to 15c. ; pure Jamaica ginger, 20c.; cloves, 15c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; do., best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 10 to 14c.; nutmegs, 35 to 75c.

COFFEE.

There have been some low-priced offers made on Rio coffee, but in a general way values are steady and unchanged. Five-bag lots were as follows: Maracaibo, 17½ to 19c.; Santos, 15½ to 17c.; Rio, 15 to 16c.; Mocha, 24 to 26c., and Java, 22 to 27c.

TEAS.

There have been some round lots of Japans and Congous moved from first hands at firm figures since last report, but in a general way the demand is quiet. A marked scarcity of low-grade Japans continues a leading feature of the situation, and values are firm as a result. Blacks, at a range of 11 to 12c., find a good enquiry also. We quote. Young Hysons, 13 to 18c. for low grades, 25 to 28c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 12 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 15 to 21c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 16½ to 20c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for higher grades.

DRIED FRUIT.

There is no change in Valencia raisins. Business continues quiet and prices steady. We quote: Ordinary off-stalk, 5¼ to 5½c. fine, 5¾ to 6c.; and selected, 6¼ to 6½c., with layers, 6¾ to 7c.

The same remarks apply to California raisins, and advices from the Coast indicate no change, holders being very firm in their views. We quote: 2-crown, 6½ to 6¾c.; 3-crown, 7 to 7½c., and 4-crown, 8 to 8½c.

Sultana raisins are steady and quiet at 7 to 12c., as to grade.

There is no change in currants. Values are steady, though demand is light, while the news from primary markets is of a very firm tenor. We quote: Provincials, bbls., 4c.; half-bbls., 4¼c.; cases, 4⅜c.; half-cases, 4½c.; Filiatras, ditto; Patras, 5½ to 6c., and Vostizzas, 6½ to 8c.

Prunes move steadily in a jobbing way. We quote: French, 5 to 15c., as to grade; Austrian, 6 to 8c., and Californias, 10 to 11c. for 40 to 50's.; 9 to 10c. for 50 to 60's.; 8 to 9c. for 60 to 70's.; 7 to 8c. for 70 to 80's., and 6½c. for 90 to 100's.

There is no alteration in figs, prices ranging from 7 to 10c.

A few jobbing lots of dates move out at 5½ to 6c.

Evaporated fruits are steady but quiet. We quote: Evaporated peaches, 11 to 12c.; pears, 9½ to 12c.; apricots, 14 to 17c., and prunes, 8 to 12c., as to brand.

CANNED GOODS.

The canned goods market is unchanged, the firm disposition of tomatoes, corn and peas being sustained. We quote: Tomatoes, 75 to 85c.; corn, 75 to 90c.; peas, 80 to 90c.; beans, 70c. up; peaches, $2.75 to $3 for 3's, $1.75 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.40 to $2; strawberries, $1.80 to $2.45, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.90 to $2.20; cherries, $2.40 to $2.45; apples, 3's, 85 to 90c.; gallons, $1.55 to $1.65; pumpkins, 75 to 85c.; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.40 to $1.45; "Clover Leaf," $1.35; "Lion," $1.37½ to $1.40; Lowe Inlet, $1.30, in tall tins; cohoes, $1.20; canned mackerel, $1.25; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.20 to $1.25; 2's, $2.15 to $2.25; 6's, $6.75 to $7; 14's, $14 to $15; lobsters, $10 per case; French sardines, $10.25 to $11 extra brands; ordinary brands, $8 to $9; Canadian brands, $4.25.

FISH.

There has been a better volume of trade in fish during the current week owing to the seasonable weather that has prevailed. In pickled fish, however, the weak feeling has continued in B.C. and Labrador salmon and No. 2 green cod, owing to an overstocked market. Prices on B.C. salmon have declined sharply 50c. per bbl., and the latter 25 to 50c. Five and ten bbl. lots of salmon sold at $10.50, and small lots at $11, with half-bbls. at $6. Choice pickled herrings are scarce and firm at $4 per bbl., while No. 1 ordinary are selling at $3.25 to $3.50.

Fresh fish of all kinds moved fairly well. Manitoba pike and white fish continue to decline, however, under increased receipts, selling at 3c. Fresh salmon were firmer at 12c. and supplies of fresh herrings are almost exhausted, prices advancing 25c. per 100 to $1 to $1.75. On the other hand, tommy cods are plentiful and prices are 25c. per bbl. lower at 75c. to $1.

The only change in smoked fish has been a decline of 10 to 25c. per box in the price of kippered herrings.

Prepared fish are in moderate demand, boneless cod continuing slow but steady, at $3.75 to $4 per cwt.

GREEN FRUIT.

There has been a fair demand for green fruit during the past week. Lemons are active and firm at steady prices. Jamaica oranges are about finished for the season. Floridas are in limited supply, and Valencias meet a good demand. Californias sell at $3.25 to $3.50 per box for navels and $2.70 to $3.50 for seedlings. Bananas meet a fair enquiry, and cranberries are a regular glut on the market this week owing to extremely heavy receipts of inferior stock. We quote: California oranges, $2.70 to $4.50 per box; Florida oranges, $5 to $5.50 per box; Valencia oranges, $3 to $3.75 per box; lemons, $1.75 to $2.75 per box, and $7 to $9 per chest; cranberries, $1 to $4 per bbl.; Spanish onions, 85c. per crate; Malaga grapes, $7.50 to $8; bananas, $2.50 to $2.75; pineapples, 10 to 35c. each.

APPLES.

The apple market has ruled steady under diminishing stocks of acceptable fruit. Prices, therefore, are 25c. per bbl. higher than they were at $1.25 to $2, and under grades range down to 75c.

DRIED APPLES.

The dried apple market continues deadly dull, and there are free offers of car lots with few buyers. We quote : 3 to 3¼c., and evaporated, 4c.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The market has had another decline. We quote : New laid, 13 to 15c.; Montreal limed, 10½ to 11c.; and western limed and held fresh at 8 to 10c. per dozen.

BEANS—The demand for beans is slow, and prices are unchanged at 60 to 65c. in car lots, and at 70 to 80c. in a jobbing way.

POTATOES—The market for potatoes continues quiet at 35 to 40c. per bag in car lots, and at 45 to 50c. in a small way.

PROVISIONS.

There has been a firmer feeling in pork since last report and prices have advanced 50c. We quote : New packed Canadian pork, $11.50 to $12.50; old at $10.50 to $11 per bbl.; pure Canadian lard, in pails, at 5½ to 6c., and compound refined at 4½c. per lb.; hams, 9 to 11c., and bacon, 8½ to 9½c. per lb.

The receipts of dressed hogs were small, for which the demand is good, and prices for choice light rule firm at $5.75 to $6 per 100 lbs., in car lots, and $6.50 to $7 in a small way.

FLOUR, MEAL AND FEED.

There was no marked improvement in the demanp for flour, the call being principally for small lots to fill actual wants. We quote : Winter wheat patents, $4.40 to $4.65; straight rollers, $4 to $4.20; and in bags, $1.95 to $2. Manitoba spring wheat patents, $4.70 to $5.05; and strong bakers', $4.25 to $4.65.

A fairly active business continues to be done in feed, and the tone of the market is firm at $12 for Manitoba bran, and at $13 for shorts per ton, including bags.

Business in oatmeal continues exceedingly quiet and prices rule easy at $2.80 to $2.90 per barrel and at $1.40 to $1.45 per bag for rolled oats.

In baled hay business is still quiet, the demand only for small lots at $8.50 to $9 for No. 1, and at $7.50 to $8 for No. 2 per ton in car lots.

locally. There is further talk regarding fodder cheese, but the offerings so far have been inappreciable as a serious factor of supply. The cable was unchanged at the decline.

Business in butter is confined to the merest jobbing trade. Creamery moved out quietly to-day in small lots at 18½ to 19c., and roll dairy, 11 to 13c. The offerings of the latter are decreasing, and the occurrence is welcome to all holders of butter.

The exports of dairy produce last week were 1,059 cheese and 191 butter to Bristol, 1,058 cheese to London, and 126 butter to Liverpool.

MONTREAL NOTES.

Advices from Barbadoes still quote the first cost of molasses at 9 to 14c. f.o.b. at the islands.

Morrow & Ewing have placed some round lots of Japan and Congou teas lately at firm values.

There have been low offers of Rio coffee in round lots lately, but they are not a fair criterion to go by.

The expected Lenten improvement in the demand for molasses continues to disappoint holders of the staple on this market.

Pork has advanced rather sharply during the week, both new and old packed being held 50c. per bbl. higher than a week ago.

The Laing Packing and Provision Co. have issued a new price list. It will be mailed to any one who cares to apply to the company for it.

Advices from the Coast on California raisins continue firm, stating that stocks at primary markets are as limited as ever and that holders are firm in their views.

Heavy receipts have led to another decline of 50c. to $1 in pickled British Columbia and Labrador salmon and No. 2 green cod is 25 to 50c. lower from the same cause.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER.

ST. JOHN, N.B., March 11, 1897.

THERE is noticed a better movement in goods since the first of the month, but the weak state of the markets in many lines affects business considerably, and until the matter of duty is settled the feeling will be an uneasy one. Among some the proposed changes in the American tariff also affect their business. The lumbermen, however, who might be very much affected, are feeling easy in the matter, as many of them have already sold their season's cut to the dealers buying for the English market. This is true chiefly of our own mill-owners. A large number of Americans have mills here, which use American lumber, which is cut from the American side of the St. John River, and which under the former American duty was allowed into that market free. There is a chance that the new tariff may affect them. The making of lime is a large industry here, and the new year's business is now beginning.

OIL—The demand for burning oil is light, not only on account of the season, but because of the general feeling that the duty will be less. Many dealers in lubricating are advising buyers to hold their orders. These orders, which are usually taken now, are not filled till later, and buyers are advised to await the meeting of Parliament, as they can do so without any inconvenience to themselves, and the price will not at least be higher, and may be lower. We quote: Best American burning oil, 19½ to 20c.; Canadian, 18¼ to 19c.; prime, 16 to 17c.

SALT — The low price at which coarse salt has been offered has created a large demand, and the regular arrival of shipments by steamer during the winter has caused it to be distributed earlier in the season than usual. The fact that there is a better profit and much less trouble in selling from vessel's side has had the effect of causing importers to push sales while goods were landing. Market is easy. We quote: Coarse, 45 to 50c.; Liverpool factory-filled, 90c. to $1; Canadian fine, 90c. to $1 per bag.; 5-lb. bags, in bbls., $3 to $3.25; 10-lb. bags, in bbls., $2.85 to $3; butter and cheese salt, bulk, $2.60 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c. each; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c. each; cartoons, $2 per case of 2 doz

CANNED GOODS.—There has been a better demand during the week. This has been particularly noticed in regard to canned fish, such as salmon, haddies, clams, etc. Lobsters are very scarce; the few new which have arrived here, finding a bare market, were quickly sold. The outlook is for a continuation of the high prices which have ruled during the past season, or even higher prices. We quote haddies a little lower. Competition is tending to drive the price down. Tomatoes, peas and peaches hold firm. We quote as follows: Corn 65 to 70c.; peas, 75 to 90c.; tomatoes, 80 to 90c.; gallon apples, $1.80 to $2; corned beef, Canadian, $2.25 to $2.35; American, 2-lb tins, $2.40 to $2.50; 1-lb tins, $1.30 to $1.50; oysters, 2's, $2 to $2.20; 1's, $1.45 to $1.65; peaches, 3's, Canadian, $2.75 to $3; 2's, $1.90 to $2; pineapple, $2.25 to $3; salmon, $1.30 to $1.40; lobsters, $2.20 to $2.25; haddies, $1.15 to $1.25; clams, $5 for 4 doz; chowder, $2.60 to $2.75 for 2 doz.; scallops, $5.50 for 4 doz.; Digby chickens, $1 per doz.; kippered herring, $1.10 per doz.

DRIED FRUIT—There is but a quiet business. California loose muscatels are quoted rather lower on the Coast. This was not expected and it is thought there will soon be at least a return to the old prices. In California prunes the same lower tendency has been noticed and the same outlook is ahead—that of higher prices in the near future. Our people are not, however, large buyers; indeed, many of the wholesale grocers do not handle California prunes at all. Evaporated apples keep low. The quality is as a rule poor and buyers should be careful not to be led by low quotations to buy poor goods. Dried apples are a drug. With the exception of apples prices in dried fruit are held firm here. We quote: Valencias, 5 to 6c.; California L.M. 3-crown, 7½ to 7¾c.; London layers, $1.75 to $2; currants, cases, 4¾ to 5c.; bbls., 4¼ to 4½c.; cartoons, cleaned, 7½ to 7¾c.; bulk, cleaned, 6¼ to 6½c.; prunes, boxes, 5 to 10c.; dates, 4½ to 5c.; dried apples, 3 to 3½c.; evaporated apples, 5c.; onions, $3; cocoanuts, $4 to $4.50 per 100 lbs.; figs, 10 to 12c.; Sultana raisins, 6½ to 7c.; Valencias, layers, 6½ to 7c.; Malaga loose muscatels, 6 to 6½c.; 4-crown L. M. Californias, 8½ to 9c.; seeded muscatels, 1-lb. cartoons, 12 to 13c.

GREEN FRUIT—The mild weather is helping the fruit trade and an improved demand is noticed. Apples are off somewhat in the English market, but here good stock is higher and finds fair demand. The stock which some shippers want to send here, not being in condition to keep, is, like the bulk of the stock here, of little value. Oranges have a large sale, both Valencia and California. Bananas are finding a better demand. Lemons keep low, showing no change in value. Cranberries very dull. We quote: Messina lemons, $3 to $3.50; oranges, Valencia, $3.25 to $4; California oranges, $3.50 to $5; Florida oranges, $5.50 to $6; bananas, $1.75 to $2.25; apples, $1 to $1.50 per bbl.; cranberries, Cape Cod, $4 to $5.50 per bbl.; bog cranberries, native, $3 to $4.

SUGAR—There is some sugar being sold here, but refineries hold firm to prices and will not sell futures. Outside of having a stock in case of change in duty there is little object in wholesale houses buying, as outside demand is quiet. We quote:

OUR STANDPOINT

In pushing our biscuits we admit there are already excellent brands on the market. We nevertheless have solid practical reasons for considering that are better, and this view is being convincingly confirmed by daily extensive and extending demands—the true touchstone of merit.

The Manufacturer, R. E. Jamieson, Ottawa

Granulated, 4⅛ to 4¼c.; yellows, 3¼ to 3¾c. ; Paris lump, 5¾ to 6c.; powdered, 5½ to 6c.

MOLASSES—Trade keeps dull, with prospect, as already noted in THE CANADIAN GROCER, for low prices this spring. There is quite a stock of old still here, some of which is not desirable stock, and new is expected very soon. New Orleans continues to have a good sale. We quote : Barbadoes, 25 to 28c. ; Porto Rico, 28 to 30c.; New Orleans, bbls., 26 to 28c.; Antigua, 25 to 26c.; syrup, 36 to 38c.; Nevis, 25 to 26c.

DAIRY PRODUCE—Eggs are tending lower. There is a good demand, but retail dealers like to make a leader of eggs at this season and do everything in their power to break the market down, and they make the matter worse by selling them at retail at cost or less. Butter is dull and largely of poor quality. For best quality a fair sale and price is reported. Ontario butter is offered low. There is some sale for it in large rolls. Cheese is rather higher. They are scarce, but there is only a small demand. We quote: Dairy tubs, 14 to 17c.; creamery, 20 to 21c.; prints, 20 to 22c.; eggs, 13 to 15c.; cheese, 11 to 11½c.

FISH—The Lenten season makes a stir, but nothing very large. The chief sale is for pickled fish, of which there is little besides Bay and Grand Manan herring to be had. Seldom has large pickled fish been so scarce here as this season. In fresh fish quite a few frozen cod and pollock have been received, but very few herrings. From this out the weather is very much against frozen fish. Herring maintain their firmer price—that is, smoked herring. Some very nice dry fish are here and command a good price. Smelt are done and lobsters are very scarce. We quote as follows : Large cod, $3.25 to $3.50 ; medium, $2.75 to $3; pollock, $1.15 to $1.25; bay herring, $1.30 to $1.35 per half-bbl.; smoked, new, 7 to 8c.; shad, half-bbl, $4.50 to $5.50 ; boneless, 2½ to 8c.; bloaters, 50 to 65c. per box ; kippered, $1 per box; Barrington, $3.25 per bbl.; Shelburne, $3.50 per bbl. ; frozen herring, 65 to 70 per 100; smelt, 4 to 5c.; frozen cod, 2 to 2½c. per lb.; lobsters, 4 to 6c. each.

PROVISIONS — There is little, if any, change. While there is a fair demand for smoked meat and lard, pork and beef are dull. In lard there is a great range in price between Ontario dealers. We quote : Clear pork, $12.50 to $13.50 ; mess pork, $12 to $13 ; plate beef, $11 to $13 ; hams, 10 to 11c.; rolls, 7 to 7½c.; pure lard, 6¾ to 7c.; compound, 6¼ to 7c.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL—While dealers are holding off expecting lower prices in flour, and while prices are somewhat easier, there are not wanting features in the market to point to higher prices in the near future. Both oats and oatmeal are easier. In oats the quality is not as satisfactory as might be wished in many cases. Beans, while very low, seem at last to have touched bottom. Dealers here have large stocks. Feed is rather higher and scarce, but there is little demand. Cornmeal continues to move freely at the low price. We quote as follows : Manitoba flour, $5.40 to $5.50 ; best Ontario, $4.80 to $4.90 ; medium, $4.70 to $4.80 ; oatmeal, $3.25 to $3.30 ; cornmeal, $1.75 to $1.85 ; middlings, car lots, in bulk, $14 to $15; bran, do , do., $12.50 to $13.50; hand-picked beans, 90c. to $1; prime, 80 to 90c.; oats, 30 to 32c.; hay, $11 to $12 ; barley, $3 ; round peas, $1.15; split peas, $3.10 to $3.25; yellow eye beans, $1.50 ; buckwheat meal, $1.20 to $1.25 ; grey, $1.75 to $2.00.

All cases of canned lobsters must now have a Government stamp upon them. The sale of unlabelled cases will not be permitted. The object is to prevent the taking of lobsters during the close season.

There is considerable feeling here over a tax the Provincial Government talk of putting on travelers from outside points and on resident agents for outside houses. It is not at all favored by our business houses. Many merchants go so far as to say that if there must be a tax let it be a direct tax on the business houses here.

Mr. Graig, representing D. McDougall & Co., of Glasgow, called on THE GROCER this week. He reported a large business in Halifax, particularly in fire bricks, his orders being over twice as large as usual, owing to the opinion there that a duty would be put on. His St. John trade was satisfactory. While here he left an order for box shooks. His firm buys them principally in Norway. From St. John Mr. Graig goes to Bangor, Maine. He will be on this side till June.

Some of the Montreal wholesale houses are finding it difficult to fill orders, on account of sickness among their employes. One house reports that eight of their staff are on the sick list.

BROKERS ON THE MOVE.

THE beginning of March has witnessed quite a shuffle of quarters by grocery brokers in Toronto. And the peculiarity about it is that they have all settled down in one building, namely, the Gooderham building, the site of the old "Coffin block."

Messrs. Fred Dane and W. H. Halford have moved into the basement, the former from the Fisken and the latter from the Board of Trade building. Mr. Dane represents Hanson, Sons & Barter, tea merchants, London, Eng., and Mr. Halford is the representative of Peek Bros. & Winch, Ltd., tea merchants, of the same place, but in addition to that they will jointly look after the interests of Morrow, Ewing & Co. of Montreal, who control the business in Canada for the Japan Tea Firing Co., Ltd. and the Japan Tea Exporting Association.

Into the first floor of the same building have moved J. L. Watt & Scott, foreign fruits and tea brokers. They occupy two large rooms, one facing Front and the other Wellington street. This firm formerly occupied part of the Salada Tea Co.'s warehouse, who now need the whole premises for their own business.

Immediately above Watt & Scott, Mr. Wallace Anderson, representing the Acadia Sugar Refinery, has taken an office and will shortly move into it.

All the offices are handsomely appointed and well lighted.

TO ESTABLISH TEA STANDARDS.

The bill for the exclusion of impure and spurious teas, which passed the Senate on Friday of last week, was signed by President Cleveland on Tuesday. Preparations are already being made to secure a proper representation of the New York tea trade upon the Board of Experts, who will establish standards. The board is to be constituted of seven members, to be selected by the Secretary of the Treasury. A petition is now being circulated in the trade recommending the appointment of Thomas A. Phelan, of Geo. W. Lane & Co., and Joseph H. Lester, of Joseph H. Lester & Co., as members of the board. Mr. Phelan took an active part in the movement for new legislation.

The bill as finally passed, provides that the Board of Experts shall simply establish standards, and will not act as arbitrators as provided in the original bill, the settlement of disputes being left to the Board of General Appraisers.

The members of the board will receive $50 and expenses each for their services. The standards established will be subject to revision once a year.—N.Y. Journal of Commerce.

HAMILTON'S PURE FOOD SHOW.

THE arrangements to be made by the Retail Grocers' Association of Hamilton and the ladies of the School of Domestic Science for the holding of their Pure Food Exposition in the drill hall of that city, from the 5th to the 10th of April, are rapidly nearing completion. The committee tells us that they are receiving encouragement from manufacturers, and that almost everyone has taken an intense interest in the exhibition. It is the wish of the committee that Canadian food products particularly be well represented. It has been said, and with truth too, that some of the food expositions or shows in the United States have been of no value to the exhibitors. The reason for this has been that these different shows were gotten up by professional food show organizers who had no interest in the show whatever except the making of money for themselves. The committee of the Hamilton Retail Grocers' Association and the ladies of the School of Domestic Science wish the manufacturers and dealers to understand that their first endeavor will be to see that the exhibitors' interests are looked after.

In order to furnish attractions for the housekeepers who will attend the show the very best lecturer on the continent of America has been secured in the person of Mrs. S. T. Rorer, of Philadelphia, who will lecture and demonstrate every afternoon. In the evening band concerts and other musical entertainment will be given, and prominent speakers of the day will be asked to give addresses on Canadian food products and other subjects appropriate to the occasion. Exhibitors have the privilege of selling their goods direct to the housekeeper and placing directly before them the merits of their goods.

Further particulars of the Exposition can be secured by addressing F. R. Close, chairman of the committee.

CANARY SEED SITUATION.

THE following is from a resume of the canary seed situation, by Praschkauer & Co., Ltd., London: "The immediate cause of the Argentine Republic entering this field of enterprise appears to have been the high prices established during the years 1892 to 1893, when the value of canary seed ranged between 70s. and 80s. per qr. (646 lbs.). In the latter year, as a matter of experiment, some 1,000 qrs. were grown, and this was soon followed by the production of about 5,000 qrs. in the following year and as much as 30,000 to 40,000 qrs. in 1895. The prices then ranged from about 40s. to 50s. per qr. for a short time, and while a small portion of the Argentine producers had the advantage of realizing such prices, the bulk of the seed was thrown on an overstocked market, with such disastrous consequences that the prices dropped down to as low as 22s. to 23s. per qr. for La Plata and 27s. to 28s. for f.a.q. Turkish seed, and remained at these figures during the best part of last year. Considering that canary seed is only cultivated on a small acreage, and that its ingathering and disposal is much more expensive than that of the great food staples, it was found that it would only pay the farmers if they could realize for same a price considerably above that of wheat, and as soon as the Argentine farmers were impressed with the apparently permanent nature of these low figures they abandoned the production in just as striking a way as they had taken it up a few years previously. According to the latest reports the growing of canary seed has practically been abandoned, and there is nothing obtainable in that country except a very few odd lots, for which owners are looking for prices far above those realizable at present." The only country that so far has steadily kept on producing this seed, and which has from time immemorial been familiar with its cultivation, is Turkey. During the time when wheat ruled at very low figures Turkey has kept on growing this seed, being satisfied with getting for same a little over wheat price, but now that wheat is selling considerably over the value of canary seed it is hardly to be expected that Turkey will, even providing that the crops are favorable, have anything like its usual acreage under this crop.

RETURNED March 15/97

Why buy a Cash Register that is manufactured in the United States, and send your money to support a country that will not allow our mechanics to go there to work, when you can buy the same article manufactured in Canada at a much lower price?

You can save money by buying a National Cash Register as made by the Hamilton Brass Manufacturing Co., Limited, as they are equal in every respect to the Register made in the United States.

THE HAMILTON CASH REGISTER is guaranteed for five years, and by a good reliable Company located here, while the Yankee machine is only guaranteed for two years and by a Company located in the United States, so that you really have no redress without going to the United States and compelling them to make guarantee good. We are having Yankee machines sent to our factory every few days for repairs, as owners cannot get the Yankee makers to repair them. We guarantee to save you from $10 to $75 on the price the National Cash Register agent will sell their machines at. We can supply the Hamilton Cash Register, which is a duplicate of the National Cash Register, at the following prices:

$ 75.00	$120.00	$160.00
95.00	135.00	165.00

HALIFAX TRADE GOSSIP.

THERE is very little change in the tenor of trade since last week. Paper was well met in the banks on the 4th. Orders are not numerous, and what are coming in are small. This is attributed to the uncertainty of tariff changes, which phrase is becoming a chestnut in trade reports.

The position in mackerel may be called a shade better than at any time since the opening of the year. Lenten demands have greatly lessened stocks, particularly of the larger sizes. While receipts at New York and Boston of Irish fish are fully equal to the demand, the trade is looking for a larger grade of fish than those offering, and as a consequence Magdalen, Gloucester and Nova Scotia large fish are $1 per barrel firmer.

The codfish market continues dull, the last advices from the West Indies giving poor encouragement to holders. The Brazil market is much better, and a further advance is looked for there.

The weather will soon permit our western shore fishermen putting their half-cured cod in a marketable condition.

New smoked herrings are in the market, but this article is much smaller than usual.

The provision market is dull. There is some enquiry from the lumbering camp for salt beef, which is quoted at $10 per barrel. P. E. Island mess pork is dull, the quotation being $12. There is a drop of 50c. per barrel, being quoted at $12.50 to $13. Canadian plate beef has also dropped, and is quoted at $10.50. American clear pork is worth $14.

The fresh beef market is brighter this week. Choice stocks Canadian beef have sold as high as 7¾c. Ordinary Canadian dressed beef is worth 7c., which is a jump of 2½c. in a week. Choice lamb is worth 8 to 8½c., and dressed hogs 6 to 6½c. Nearly 300 carcasses of Ontario beef have been received on this market during the past two weeks. The price paid was 2c. advance on last winter. Native beef is worth 6½c., but the local market has to rely on Ontario for stocks to meet the demand.

The poultry market is flat. Saturday dealers were offering Ontario geese and turkeys, which had been frozen and thawed out, at a very low figure. A large quantity was unfit for use.

Butter is in abundant supply. Canadian prints are worth 22c. Ordinary and cheap grades are in large supply and hard to move at 10 to 14c.

Cheese is scarce and the market firm. The market price is 12c., which will likely be maintained.

Eggs are coming in very freely, and choice stocks can be had at 16c.

There is no visible change in the flour market. A. O. Hastings, representing the Lake of the Woods Co. in the Maritime Provinces, told THE GROCER that he found trade exceptionally quiet. Local quotations are: Ogilvie's Hungarian Patent and Five Roses, $5.40; Manitoba bakers', $5; Goldie's People's and Gilt Edge, $4.75; Tillson's Obelisk, Kent, Beaver and Sunbeam, $4.40; 90 per cent. patents, $4.30; straight, $4.20; extras, $4.

The produce market is firm. Potatoes are quoted at 40c., and dealers expect 50c. before the winter is over. There are several cargoes in bulk, which the holders do not care about breaking until spring. Oats are worth 30c.

The assignee of Hubley, Teas & Co., advertises the real estate and stock for sale by tender.

Cunningham & Curren, flour and commission merchants, offer their wharf property, warehouses and mill machinery for sale.

The stock of George F. Schwartz & Co., teas, is offered for sale by tender by the assignee.

Prince Edward Island is a pork-producing country. Messrs. B. and M. Rattenbury, of Charlottetown, are contemplating building an extensive establishment for the slaughtering and dressing of hogs as well as all other kinds of meats. They propose that the bulk of the slaughtering for the island shall be done in this establishment and have asked the City Council for tax exemptions, free water and other concessions.

Green fruit dealers are expecting Bermuda onions and tomatoes by the boat due this week. Georgia tomatoes are now on the market. Oranges and lemons are plentiful and cheap. Valencias, 420 count, are selling for $3.25. Good apples are becoming scarcer. Baldwins are worth from $2.25 to $2.50. Cape Cod cranberries are worth $2 per box and $6 per bbl. Good stock onions are worth 2½c.

DISCOVERED BY ACCIDENT.

A curious thing happened in a certain importing house of this city several years ago. The firm had run out of a certain blank form, which they used as a guide for the shippers, bookkeepers, etc., and in order to enable the printer to furnish a fac-simile, a sample was given him from an old file, with the request that it be returned. When the blank forms were delivered, the printer returned the "copy," and the clerk who received it was about to replace it on the file when he noticed that the check of the billing clerk was missing from the form. The goods described in the form were of the value of several hundred dollars, and according to the hieroglyphics in pencil and writing ink, they must have been delivered, even if not charged for, several months previously. An investigation confirmed the suspicion which the absence of the billing check had aroused, and the necessary steps were taken to collect the amount due the firm on the original transaction. It was a bare accident that discovered the error, and if such things are liable to happen in houses where system is well nigh perfect, what must be the losses in the slackly conducted businesses, such as some of the retail grocers control?—Merchants' Review.

THE DEATH OF MR. AUSTIN.

THE recent demise of Mr. James Austin, president of the Dominion Bank, removed from active life in the financial world of Toronto a man whose industry, shrewdness and sound commercial sense were justly respected all over the country. Mr. Austin organized the Dominion Bank, and for years watched over its interests as it rose to be one of the wealthiest institutions and most successful financial undertakings in Canada. A commercial community benefits much from a man of this type, and the great institution which prudent sagacity and financial talent have brought to its present prosperity has long been a source of pride to the city of Toronto.

The late Mr. Austin was also president of the Consumers' Gas Co. of Toronto, and the vacancy on the board of that company has been filled by the appointment of Mr. Thomas Long. This gentleman, through his connection with the extensive firm of T. Long & Bro., Collingwood. and other commercial enterprises, is well-known as a business man of ripe experience and integrity.

Sir Frank Smith has since been elected to the presidency, and Mr. E. B. Osler to the vice-presidency.

STURGEON ARE GETTING SCARCE.

Large numbers of very small sturgeon, many scarcely over a foot in length when trimmed, are now coming to this market. Just where these young fish are caught cannot be ascertained, but it is said some are caught with hooks and more in gill nets, while fishing for salmon, says The Oregonian. It is said that many of these gill nets are made so wide as to rake the bottom and so pick up the little sturgeon, and they will keep the river so well cleaned that it will never get stocked with large sturgeon again unless something is done to protect these fish. An old fisherman says that if Sturgeon Lake, on Sauvie's Island, which used to be a favorite haunt and spawning ground of the sturgeon could be set aside for a sturgeon hatchery, and no fishing for sturgeon allowed there, the rivers would soon be stocked with young sturgeon. To this it is objected that the carp in the lake would probably eat up all the sturgeon spawn, and that it is no use to stock the river with young sturgeon if they are all to be caught and sent to market before they attain any size. Before the sturgeon fishery of Columbia can ever again amount to much, something must be done toward propagating and protecting these fish and, so far, no one seems to take any interest in this matter.

MODEL HOME FOR HORSES.

At the annual meeting of the Western Pennsylvania Humane Society, held recently in this city, the gentleman who introduced Mr. H. J. Heinz, one of the speakers, to the company, referred to him "a great friend of humanity, whose very horses slept in iron bedsteads, on spring mattresses, and in all things fared sumptuously." Mr. Heinz, in acknowledging the introduction, invited any interested persons present to visit the stables of his company.

The invitation was accepted a few days ago by a party of the humanitarians, the majority being ladies, and the home of the favored equines was critically inspected. The structure is one of their several buildings, located on Main street, North Side, standing apart from the others, facing the new "Baked Beans" building. For years H. J. Heinz Co., the well-known manufacturers of pickles and food products, have been planning to erect a model stable, and after a satisfactory experimental period, two years ago began the erection of the present unique structure completed a few months since. It is so planned as to accommodate fifty horses on each floor.

AN IMPRESSIVE BUILDING.

The structure looms up impressively from an exterior view. It occupies a ground space 100 x 100 feet and is three storeys high, with a basement. It is constructed of mottled pressed brick, with Cleveland stone trimmings. It is Romanesque in design, and with its towers and battlements and great circular entrance suggests a castle. Windows are numerous on the four sides of the building, those in front being of plate glass. The view is unobstructed in all directions.

The interior is steel construction, built with concrete, with all appliances of iron or steel, and is absolutely fireproof. This idea was uppermost in the construction of this building, and is carried out by the most modern and ingenious equipments.

The entrance for individuals is made through a corner tower, within which is a spiral iron stairway, built into the brick wall on one side and supported on the other by a large continuous water conductor, which is supplied with hose connections for each floor, ready for use in case of fire. This tower is cut off entirely from the stables, save for the doorways at each floor, and these are supplied with iron doors.

The horses make their entrance through the large doorway in the front of the building; it is on this floor that the wagons are stored. About one-third way through the building they turn to the right and pass through a doorway to an inclined roadway, floored with rubber hose to prevent slipping, by means of which they ascend to the floor above. This inclined roadway is entirely separated from the stables proper, and there is no connection between one floor and another except by means of the shut-off tower and inclined roadway. If by any means outside heat should reach these entrances, the fusible link that holds the doors open would be melted, and the iron doors close automatically. All of the floors have steel girders, with concrete filling. There is no wood about the stalls, and the only combustible material about it is the hay stored on the third floor, in the rear. This floor, like the others, is fireproof, while the roof is constructed lightly, so that should the hay in any way become ignited it might be entirely consumed without damaging the remainder of the building. It is lighted throughout by electricity. Notwithstanding the cost of construction it is the only one of their group of buildings, which altogether have an aggregate floor space of over nine acres, that is not insured.

Upon the second floor, where the horses are kept, there are the rows of clean "bedsteads," with their springy mattresses. There is the bathroom, if the horse needs a spray, or his tired hoofs a soak. There is the hospital, if he is ill, and, alas! there is also the jail, if he is naughty and inclined to kick. But the jail is seldom used in this model home for horses. It is only as some newcomer objects to the general cleansing, which the "stable boss" insists upon before enrolling for bed and board, that the two little bare rooms, with hard floor and harder walls, obtain occupants.

REMOVING THE HARNESS.

His harness and trappings are removed and swung on the hooks hanging from an overhead trolley; then the keeper with one push, sends the burden to the harness room at the other end of the building. The harness of each horse is thus hung up for the night. By an overhead switch in the harness room, each set of harness required may be swung out and down the long track when needed.

After his trappings are removed, Mr. Horse has his toilet made. If he needs a bath for sore hoofs, or minor ailments, he is taken to the bathroom, an apartment with a soft spongy flooring, and partitioned off with glass sliding doors from the dormitories. If the horse, however, needs the attention of the veterinary, he goes into another apartment, floored with cork brick, also separated by glass doors, and receives his treatment. The cork bricks, imported from England, are composed of cork and asphaltum, impervious to moisture, and are of a spongy nature, which prevents slipping.

UNDER ELECTRIC BRUSHES.

Should a horse require neither bath nor hospital, after his harness is removed, he walks at once to the electric brushes. These brushes are circular and are suspended from overhead mechanism, which is operated by an electric motor. The attendant guides the rapidly whirling brushes, and in five minutes the horse is sleek and clean from head to tail, long brushes doing duty on legs, and shorter ones on body. Then he goes to his own particular bed.

There are modern ventilators to keep the air pure and sweet; there are steam radiators to warm the atmosphere during extremely cold weather; there are screens to every window, an embargo to the smallest gnat or fly, so that they can no more gain entrance here than to the parlor of a modern home.

The partitions of the stalls suggest the bedstead idea. They are of pipe iron bars, perpendicular, and same distance apart, to secure as complete ventilation of the stable as possible. The upper portion of this partition is stationary. The lower half swings backward or forward. As the horse kicks in his dreams or in his efforts at rising or lying down, the lower portion "gives" in its swinging motion and prevents the damage which in time befalls a rigid partition.

PLENTY OF VENTILATION.

The swinging framework is also of pipe iron, as open as the sides of a child's crib, and does not hinder the ventilation. The floor or bed of this bedstead is of cork brick. Seven hardwood slats, set in lengthwise, form a narrow centre to the flooring, to the distance perhaps of three feet from the lower end of the stall. These slats are in iron grooves and may be removed at any time. They furnish a slight "spring" to the mattress of hay and answer the purpose of drainage.

The bedsteads end in tall iron posts, topped with silver acorns, the design of grandmother's four-poster. The head-board of the stall is the manger. Although all other portions of the stall are open, yet the horse may feed in privacy. A two-foot square of sheet steel on either side prevents the neighbors from nipping during meals.

A UNIQUE MANGER.

There are three compartments to the manger, one each for water, hay and oats. The horses are fed and watered automatically. One of the most ingenious devices in connection with this wonderful stable is that connected with the hay receptacle, which is the larger and centre one. It has an adjustable, perforated bottom, regulated by a spring. Over the top is a series of horizontal bars. As the horse pulls the hay up through the bars, the spring presses the hay upward, keeping it on a level with the top of the manger, allowing all dirt and seed to drop through to the floor. The receptacle for grain or chop feed is to the left, and the one for water, a small porcelain basin, to the right. Another ingenious device is used for supplying water. At the touch of an electric button a stream of water gushes through an aperture in the side of each of the basins, filling it to the brim, and another button loosens the plugs in the bottom and allows the water to pass off through the drain. From his distant room, on a sultry night, the stable superintendent can by the same means give the horses a fresh drink.

In another apartment the oats and chopped feed descend through the pipes from the third floor, the oats being cleaned by efficient mechanism as it falls. A low car receives the horses' feed. It is run along the corridors of the dormitories, and from this the supply bins of the mangers are filled, from the front, the attendant not being obliged to enter the stall for this purpose. All the waste from the stable passes into a vault below, so constructed that no odors are permitted to escape. From time to time it is hauled away in wagons and used to fertilize the company's gardens. — Pittsburg Bulletin.

EARLY CLOSING IN WINNIPEG.

At a joint meeting of the Ministerial and Retail Accociations of Winnipeg held recently, for the purpose of furthering the Saturday evening early closing scheme, it was decided to interview the Attorney-General, and urge the enactment of a general law, covering all classes of stores. The object of this is to avoid the necessity of having to petition for a by-law for each class of stores, as is now the case under the existing law. Speeches in favor of the project were made by Rev. Mr. Grant, Rev. Jos. Hogg, Mr. Wm. Small, and Mr G. Fowler. Mr. Wellband raised the point that as auctioneers were allowed to keep open after stores were closed, there would be an objection to the early closing of stores on Saturday nights. The committee appointed to wait on the Attorney-General comprises the following gentlemen: Messrs. Leichmann, Deegan, Fowler, D. W. Buchanan, Wellband, Gibson, Cameron, Clark, Ald. C. H. Wilson, Rev. Messrs. Hogg, Pedley and Walker, and Mayor McCreary. Mr. Buchanan was appointed convener, and Mr. Gibson secretary of the committee.

BRAZIL COFFEE MOVEMENT.

The movement in Brazil coffee at the primary market during February was as follows: Rio shipments to United States, 204,000 bags; Santos ditto, 186,000 bags; Rio shipments to Europe, 63,000 bags; Santos ditto, 240,000 bags; Rio shipments to other countries, 13,000 bags; Victoria shipments to United States, 13,000 bags.

STOCKS OF SUGAR.

Last week's summary of the statistical position of sugar, as made up by Willett & Gray, shows stocks in the United States and Cuba together of 340,026 tons, against 324,986 tons last week and 169,290 tons last year, a plus of 170,736 tons over last year. Stocks in Europe, 2,644,500 tons, against 2,664,700 tons last week and 2,438,700 tons last year. Total stocks of Europe and America, 2,984,526 tons, against 2,989,686 tons last week and 2,607,990 tons last year at the same uneven dates. The excess of stock is now 376,536 tons, against an excess of 350,339 tons last week and a deficiency of 6,733 tons December 31, 1896. Afloats to the United States include shipments of 500 tons last week from Hamburg and Bremen. Freight room has been engaged for 15,000 tons. Shipments include 400 tons refined.

FRENCH WINE CROP IN 1896.

Official figures of the 1896 wine crop of France have reached the State Department at Washington from Consul Wiley at Bordeaux, showing a total production of over a million gallons, valued approximately at $234,800,000. The exact figures are 1,179,364,960 gallons, an increase over 1895 of 468,066,880 gallons and over the average of the last ten years of 273,410,990. In the province of Algeria last year's vintage amounted to 106,960,500 gallons, while in Corsica 7,923,000 were barrelled. Notwithstanding the somewhat unfavorable atmospheric conditions which prevailed during the greater part of the year throughout France, the Consul says the quality of the crop is particularly good. The wines bore the requisite amount of sugar, alcoholic strength and body. They are rich in color and with a few rare exceptions are sure to turn out of exceptional excellence.

Honest Brooms Brushes

From the start to the finish Boeckh's Brooms and Brushes have, at every point in their making, the watchful care of experienced workmen. These employees are brought up to know their business thoroughly. Many of them have been in our factory since they were old enough to work at a trade. Even if the raw materials that are used are right, inexperienced workmen may yet turn out poor brooms and brushes. LOW-PRICED REGISTERS NOW OFFERED.

There has been a mistaken idea among many retail merchants that National cash registers cannot be bought for less than $200 or $300.

The fact is that the National Cash Register Co. makes 90 different kinds and classes of National cash registers, which range in price from $8 to $350. They can suit not only the needs but the pocket-book of every retail merchant.

They have just put upon the market the line of low-priced, detail-adding cash registers which are illustrated in their regular advertisement, which appears in this issue. These registers range in price from $30 to $65.

The National Co. also have on hand a number of Nationals and other second-hand cash registers which have been taken in part payment for their latest improved Nationals and which they will sell at very low prices.

Drop a card to Department "P," The National Cash Register Co., Dayton, Ohio, and they will tell you more regarding these new machines.

MR. MACKENZIE, OF CEYLON.

Mr. Wm. Mackenzie, the Ceylon tea commissioner, arrived from London by the steamer Lucania a week ago, and is exceedingly gratified at the great—in fact, wonderful—increase in the sale of Ceylon and Indian teas in this country. Direct shipments from the island of Ceylon for 1897 are three times as great as in 1896. The work of Messrs. Mackenzie and Blechynden in bringing machine-made teas to the notice of the American public has been so wisely directed and persistently pushed that we do not wonder that these teas are becoming popular all over the United States, especially in the eastern and middle states. —American Grocer.

The Question is

Are you satisfied with the quality of the Starch you are selling? Are your customers satisfied with the quality of the Starch they are buying? If not, perhaps a trial of our goods would create a better feeling on both sides of the counter.

No woman will use poor Starch in preference to good Starch. That's the reason why a trial always leads to constant use of

The New Customer Judges by Quality

Not within your memory has any article of food come into such general use as Rolled Oats. They are as staple as flour. They are probably one of the first things the new customer will ask you for. "Pan-Dried" Rolled Oats are liberally advertised as highest quality. Like as not the new customer is going to ask you for them at once. Can you give any good, reasonable reason why you don't keep them, and why other grocers do? Are you going to take chances on getting new business? Is it the best kind of judgment to let the new customer form a wrong impression about you and your store? Quality counts!

HOW TO DEAL WITH THE DEPARTMENT STORE PROBLEM.*

[BY E. A. STEVENS.]

I HAVE conversed with many members of this State Association on the department store problem, and everyone has ascribed the department store success to those things so popular among fools—fraud and misrepresentation—saying that were it not for misrepresentation of goods they could not possibly exist, that in the majority of cases their "bargains" are unmitigated humbugs, and that they cannot buy good goods cheaper than the average merchant and in addition pay large sums for buildings, insurance and advertising.

Various propositions have been made to limit these vampires of trade, but no idea has yet been formulated that would attract to it sufficient intelligent support. For the reason that the propositions have usually had an apparent element of persecution or unfair discrimination about them. The proposition that I have to launch the public at large would certainly endorse, as they desire to be as little the victims of fraud and humbug as possible.

Learning of some new laws passed in Germany last summer, I sent for certain books. Four of them were sent me. How much of them were available for my purposes I did not know, so I had the whole lot translated, making quite a large volume and involving an immense amount of labor and considerable expense. These translations were very difficult, and the one who could translate or give the German correctly could not find the right kind of English to express it. Points of law are hard to understand in our own language, but it is a most difficult feat to translate technical terms of one language in the technical terms of another. Several so-called translators threw up this job, and I have had no small work in straightening out the peculiarities of these translations, which are the work of Dr. G. A. F. Lespincesse, and I am also indebted to W. J. Burlingame for assistance. The whole would amount to, I think, several hundred pages, but I can only take a few disjointed paragraphs to illustrate what I desire to bring before you.

It is not attractive reading and likely to be tedious, so I crave your indulgence to give you a little at a time. But I think it is very important and, I think, gives the keynote to destruction of unfair competition. I will now give you an abbreviated introduction to the law by Dr. Stephan, a German law authority.

GERMAN VIEW OF UNFAIR COMPETITION.

Unfair competition is to try to obtain the custom belonging to another person, contrary to the commandments of good faith and honesty in commerce and trade. However justifiable and easy it may be from a human point of view in business life to outstrip the antagonist and become master of the field of sale by the offer of better and cheaper wares and services when it is done by honest means, it is deeply reprehensible when such is undertaken at the cost of good faith and credence, which form the basis of all commercial business life.

There arises then a danger not to be underestimated, not only to the damaged person, but to the state; and its extirpation is demanded by its inmost interests.

Unfair competition and the struggle against it are the offspring of modern times in Germany. It cannot be denied that these conditions first made their appearance with the general liberty of trade, but soon wound themselves around all products of commercial life and suffocated many. However deplorable these phenomena might be, however much people were united in recognition that such a pernicious wrong should exist no more, it seemed very difficult to find the suitable means wherewith to do away with the evil which knew how to find the most difficult byways and back gates in order to gain its pestilential aim.

The existing legislation neither in the Empire nor in the single states, offered sufficient scope either for the annihilation or for the limitation of the evil, either by commercial or civil proceedings.

Very correctly the competition which had to be fought had been designated as well here as abroad as unfair, but not as unlawful, because it did not clash with a positive legal maxim so much as with the general precepts of good faith and decency. For, as remarked by Kohler, the pioneer in the domain of commercial protective legislation:

"Unfair competition evades taking the forms forbidden by law in order to wring—decked out in a thousand masquerades—the fruit of loyal exertions from loyal traffic." This opinion does not contradict the fact that unfair competition often offends directly against legislation, particularly when to reach its aim (the expulsion of a competitor) it uses means which are, per se, misdemeanors—one only has to point out the transgression of deceit, calumny of the so-called punishable selfishness, viz., in the violation of property of the mind, particularly the laws for the protection of patents, labels, etc. More often unfair competition took a form which was not, or only partly, criminal.

There often wants, in order to make a deceit intentional, the damage to property induced by deceit which should be predominant in illegal profits, when, according to the oft-pronounced decisions of the Imperial Court, the identity of the deceivers or damaged person need not be brought in evidence, but only the internal reciprocating actions between deceit and inflicting damage because a third person wholly outside the strife might be damaged, although the deceit was not directly aimed at him.

No more could an insult or slander be recognized when it could not be proved that the perpetrator had the purpose or intention to hurt the business honor of the others.

Civil justice was like criminal justice, insufficient in the battle with unfair competition. For, although every forbidden action brings responsibility according to all civilized states, yet every forbidden action cannot be regarded as an illicit or unlawful action. An attempt was made to follow the legislation of our western neighbor, but si duo facient idem non est idem. "What is just to one is not always just to another."

At the end of the last century the high-rolling waves of the revolution in France washed overboard from the state all privileges and monopolies ; all guilds and crafts, and announced the principle of unconditional liberty of labor and industry. The most injurious consequences were soon noticed, however, in France, and the code civil and not the code penal was the one regarded as offering suitable restrictions. The limitless industrial freedom, independent of any official approval, not even bound to a notification of trade authorities, not limited by any conditions whatever, soon bore very doubtful blossoms, first against individuals, and at last against all business, and the judiciary had soon to institute a vigorous prosecution against these actions, so nefarious to the entire community. It was thought that a means to avert this evil was found in the code civil of Feb. 9, 1804 :

LAW OF INDEMNIFICATION.

"Anybody's action, of whatsoever kind, by which damage is caused to another person, obliges the one who has caused said damage to indemnify for the same."

And, in fact, the French jurisprudence has since succeeded in fighting unfair competition by the help of this regulation. For us in Germany it was attempted to use the analogous regulations in the same way. This miscarried through the position of the Imperial Court above mentioned.

The basis of these diametrically opposed judicial conceptions are of different kinds. It lies in the nature of the German judge to keep as strictly as possible within the exact verbal expression of the law, while the Frenchman, with his emotional nature, is easily inclined to eke out the faults of kindred laws by each other's regulations. In fact, to generalize the vatis legis as much as possible. While with us the commercial court, filled with laymen, is only of recent date, the commercial courts of France, composed of a learned judge and representatives of commerce and industry, have existed since the beginning of this century. Since the laymen, therefore, have given a considerable influence to their verdicts in this respect, it is not astonishing that the sentences of these courts do not hold themselves to the strict letter of the law, but urged by propitiatory circumstances have tried to fulfil the requirements of practical life as much as possible.

We must not forget the influence which the Minister of Justice exercises on jurisprudence in France. All verdicts that are deemed doubtful, or which seem doubtful to him, or which he wants to have definitely decided on by the Supreme Court, are brought to him. The lower courts have the last appeal in all cases of unfair competition. The criminal prosecution of unfair competition is without appliance in France, but the French judge tries to remedy this by giving damages that often seem to be extraordinarily high, because the freest judicial conviction allows free room in answering the question of cause and the amount of damages.

But since such jurisprudence was not approved by the German courts it became necessary to enact special legislation to fight unfair competition.

Herr Kohler, time and again, even when unfair competition was not yet understood by the German lawyers, has pointed out the damages of this parasite in commercial life and recommended after the example of the French legislation, to use the German judicial enactments to fight unfair competition, but in vain. But by his restless persistence the general detriment of unfair competition became more and more prominent. Soon there appeared brochures by lawyers who either advocated the enactment of a special law or who considered the existing laws as sufficient, and either considered a protection by the civil courts as efficacious or held a criminal prosecution as necessary. At least petitions for protection against unfair competition were addressed to the Reichstag and the Imperial Government in such numbers by industrial and commercial circles that finally regard had to be given them and the enactment of the following was the result :

I have had a portion of the digest of the German Imperial laws against unlawful inducement or representations, together with laws governing the protection of trade marks, with legal conditions of payment, translated from the Reichsgesetz zur Bekaemfling des un Lauteren Wettbewerbes, by M. Akmann, of Berlin, which is brought up to the legislative period of the Reichstag of 1895-96.

Section 1. Whoever makes false representations, either in advertisements, or in circulars, to a large circle of persons, about business conditions—particularly in regard to the quality, the process of manufacture, or the rate of cost of goods, or the price of services in different trades, or the manner of supplying, or the source of goods, or in regard to possessing trade marks, or by misrepresentations about the reason for the sale of certain wares, and by such representations appears to offer a particularly favorable opportunity to buy, can be arrested and forced by order of the court to desist from such fraudulent representations. The action can be brought by anyone whose trade or business is interfered with, or by trade unions, if incorporated by law. Such action at law gives, beside the right to suppress such advertisements, etc., also the right to damages suffered by those whose trade or business was interfered with, provided such persons knew such advertisements to be fraudulent. The right to collect damages cannot be exercised against editors, publishers, printers, or distributers of periodicals—unless they were acquainted with the character of the advertisements.

The use of names, by which, according to custom in trade, certain goods are designed without expressing the origin or composition of the goods, does not come under the foregoing Act.

ments come under the head of Section 1, whenever they are intended to take the place of false representations.

Section 4. Whoever makes, with the intention of creating a greater demand by specially favorable offer, any untrue representations, or representations apt to deceive, by means of public advertisements or circulars, regarding the quality, the process of manufacture, or of labor, or source of goods, or regarding the possession of trade marks, or the motive and purpose of any sale, shall be subject to a fine up to 1,500 marks. If the said party has already been punished under this Act, there can be further imposed upon him, either in addition to, or instead of the fine, an imprisonment of not less than six months. If delinquent has already been punished under this Act, there can be imposed (except the fine also) imprisonment for not less than six months.

By order of the Bundesrath it can be determined that certain goods in the retail trade can only be offered for sale, or sold, in certain quantities, or of certain length or weight, or with certain specifications on the goods of their number, length or weight.

Section 6. Whoever, for the sake of competition, makes special observations or spreads reports about the goods, or the professional or trade services of another person, which have the tendency to hurt the exercise of said business, or the credit of the owner, is obliged to make good the damage that has been suffered. Also the suffering party can claim the suppression of a repetition of said observations or reports. The punishment for the above is 1,500 marks or one year's imprisonment.

Section 8. Whoever makes use in business relations of a name, or a firm's name, of the private credentials of a trade, of a business undertaking, or of a paper, in such way as to be calculated to induce mistakes in said name, firm, or trade mark, of which another person rightly makes use, shall pay the damages. Also a repetition of the same can be suppressed.

Section 9. Whover, as an employe of labor, or apprentice in a trade, communicates secrets of the trade or business that have been entrusted to him by reason of his employ, and, during the duration of his employment, for the reason of competition, or with the aim to hurt the owner of the business, shall be punished with 3,000 marks fine or up to one year's imprisonment.

The same punishment is imposed upon those who have received business or trade secrets, by reason of the reports (designated in the first section I read), or by any other immoral or dishonest way, and use the same in competition, or communicate them to others. Damages can also be claimed in these cases. If more than one is guilty, all shall be prosecuted the same.

Sections 12 and 14. Whoever wants a trade mark for his wares to distinguish the same from others can register said trade mark in the patent office. The allowing of a trade mark has the effect that the receiver of the same has the exclusive right to bring for sale goods either provided with such trade mark, furnished with the same on wrappers, or to use said trade mark on announcements, price lists, business letters, bills, letter heads, etc.

Whoever knowingly, or by gross carelessness, brings in the trade goods or their wrappers, or announcements, price lists, letter heads, bills, etc., with the firm or the name of another, provided with a lawfully allowed trade mark, or sells the same, shall pay the damages. If a wilful violation the fine shall be from 150 to 5,000 marks, or incarceration for six months or less. Punishment only after accusation in court. The accusation can be withdrawn.

Section 15. Whoever, in order to deceive in business or trade, sells or offers for sale goods, wrappers, bills, etc., with an announcement which, in recognized trade circles serves a notice of the same goods of another person, without consent of said person, or with that aim brings such goods in market or holds them for sale, is liable for the damages, and a fine of 100 to 3,000 marks or to imprisonment for a term of three months or less.

Section 16. If a person stamps a seal of a place, or incorporated town, or an incorporated business, on goods or wrapper, letter heads, bills, etc., with the intention to mislead in the composition or value of such goods, or with the same intention brings such goods in the trade or sells them, a fine may be imposed of 150 to 5,000 marks or imprisonment for six months or less.

Imported goods which are unlawfully provided with a German firm name, or place of manufacture, or unlawfully provided with a trade mark, are liable, when imported into Germany, and can be held, on accusation of the damaged person, for security of the costs and confiscation.

I now synopsize a few sentences from the elaborate treatises of Judge Adolph Loeb and Adolph Oestenck, who are authorities on German jurisprudence :

A JUDICIAL MEANING OF UNFAIR COMPETITION.

Section 1. Man, as an independent acting creature, exists at first independently of any judiciary. His actions are of interest as far as they cause tangible changes and relations. He soon, however, as a human being enters in relations with another, his self life becomes a part and parcel of the common life ; he is not only to be regarded as an individual, but as a member of society. Therefore, all action of this society concerns him only as a member of society. One of the most important of all those life functions is the development of a right, or rather social will, which shall serve as a model to the private will.

With the development of law order by society, the human being (as member of said society) becomes also the enjoyer of said law order. He is not any more to be regarded as an individual, but as a member of a community of right (community under law) ; his actions are not to be regarded as encroachments on the outside world, but as relations to the common will of society. But since man as member of said community does not stop being an individual and acts as such voluntarily, so must society also necessarily recognize him in this capacity. For the community life of a person is the living together of companions in equal rights, not the penning together of slaves. Therefore the judiciary only takes a man as member of their equal rights community, under recognition of his capacity to act on the outside world in his own voluntary way. This recognition of the human being as a being subject to a voluntary mode of life within lawful bounds gives him what in judicial phraseology is called personality.

This personality as a quality recognized by the lawful community must, therefore, be recognized by its members : It is an absolute right.

While we nowadays recognize every human being as a member of society, we also allow everybody the right of personality. How little this right, however coincident with the existence as a human being, is shown by the slave in the Roman law, who was no personality, but a thing, shows that originally only the compatriot, living in a a certain society of human beings was recognized as a personality, shows that the stranger was without rights, that the personality was lost by outlawry.

So, as the recognition of man as an individual gives him personality, it gives the recognition of his capacity to act according to his free will, the lawful capacity for business and commerce. This is a simple consequence of the first. For if the existence (being) of a human being consists to act according to his free will, it includes the recognition of individuality inside of the pales of the community and necessarily the recognition of his capacity of working and acting lawfully. How much this capacity is recognized by the law as a consequence of individuality is shown by the circumstance that wherever the natural capacity is entirely or partly absent, a place-taker or trustee is appointed. He is almost there to make the partial personality whole.

The action of the free will and the exercise of natural activity form certain influences on the outside world, cause certain relations between the human being and the surrounding men and things. If, however, the law recognizes in general the capacity of man to act as an individual according to free will, so it has also under certain circumstances to recognize the activity of said will, the effects on the outside world as conform to commercial right. In so far as it does this every such act becomes a lawful authority, a subjective right. The practical being able to do is recognized as a lawful being allowed to do.

Just as the human being is not of any significance to the community in all his life acts, so are a good many of his acts necessarily not significant to the law order. Only in so far as his acts are an authorization of the rights of the community are they taken in cognizance by the law.

Just as the lawful community is a higher kind of commonality, which combines the natural equality of mankind, of which it is the exponent, so is the personality, the lawful capacity, the subjective right, only the expression and recognition of the natural capability to act, the natural exercise of these all in a certain case, only the lawful (by law) allowance of natural conditions permit.

Sec. 2. Business activity of a person is a particular brand of the general human activity, a certain expression of his natural capacity to work. This as such is fit to form a subjective right, a lawful prerogative of the human being, requires no further demonstration. The exercise of a business activity as a practical power must be elevated to a lawful allowance of performing said exercise.

The conception that the business exercise is not a judicial unimportant act, but exactly the confirmation of a judicial power (right), is for the first time made conspicuous in the history of the law.

All this proves that the law considers the exercise of a trade not as a judicial unimportant act, like eating or walking, but as an act particularly recognized by law, only to be performed by permission, and therefore considers it as the practical proof of a subjective right.

The only aim of a person in trade, is to dispose of the products of his trade, change them for money, in other words, to get custom. The formation of such lasting conditions between himself and other people, which constitutes custom, has certainly for the tradesman a great value, and as such constitutes a trade property. In general business life custom is commonly treated as a trade property, particularly is the value of the custom taken in consideration in determining the price, in the sale of a business.

If custom, however, constitutes a property palpably existing in business life, then it has also to be considered as a lawful property by the judiciary.

When anybody obstructs these natural operations in any other way but by competition, and such to the detriment of a certain competitor, with the object to undermine his trade, and said competitor's trade property is thereby diminished, then it constitutes a premeditated unlawful damaging of property.

If, however, custom is considered as a trade property, it must necessarily follow the acquisition and preservation of custom, must be recognized as an award of damages. In the worse ones, which come nigh unto deceit, punishment is meted out.

The law stays within the limits of trade. Although in some cases the general public may be benefited, the actions are only allowed the manufacturer or tradesman against an unfair competitor.

UNFAIR PROCLAMATION.

The form of unfair proclamations can be even different. Mostly in newspapers and periodicals. Herein are included as well those inserted in the advertising columns as those inserted in the editorial part (locals, etc.). Moreover, herein are included placards, circulars, hand-bills, by exposition of pictures, models, goods, machinery, public processions, shows, public criers, etc.

The communication by writing, printing or speaking is not necessary ; any show or representative that takes the place in the promising of the goods, of words is sufficient.

This form of unfair proclamation can be in the following way : That the price of the lauded goods or services are stated falsely. Goods in show windows marked lower than same goods in store, or the posting of "All goods in this store 50c.," while dearer goods are offered.

Sale below cost price, manufacturer's price, etc.

In this class belong medals, diplomas, honorable mentioning, etc., which are given to certain wares by expositions or by particular corporations.

When anybody boasts of the possession of this distinction, while he does not have any, or has no more right to them by being, for instance, a retired member of the firm.

When he claims a higher distinction than belongs to him. Gold medal when only a silver one ; "Only gold medal," when several were awarded.

When claiming a prize on certain wares, while in reality he received it on other wares, he shall be prosecuted.

ABOUT THE REASON OF SALE.

Concerns the mention of circumstances by which the salesman has the occasion to offer certain goods particularly cheap, or force him to sell his stock as quickly as possible and therefore as cheap as possible. Instances : Sale of damaged goods, non-accepted goods, smuggled goods, remnants, bought in bankrupt sale, forfeited pawn goods, sale because of removal, going out of business, professing circumstances such as death, sickness, closing out, when the stock is continually renewed. Also those announcements come within the reach of unfair proclamation, when they have no reference to undeniable cause, but only show a certain aim of the dealer. For instance : "In order to make room, I sell, etc."

A merchant makes the following advertisement :

"Going out of business in this place, I will sell out my entire stock during next week. Genuine Persian carpets at half price."

In reality he does not change business place, does not sell out his stock, but buys in regularly. He has no Persian carpets in his business, but cheap stuff which he, indeed, sells at the advertised rates, but even then are paid for too high. The public, however, induced by favorable offers, comes in crowds and gets cheap wares at high prices. Fair competition suffers, of course, at a loss.

A manufacturer sends to a number of wholesale business men the following circular :

"Since the factory Y—— (a competitor) can not by monetary pressure fulfil his orders, I call the attention of the public to my machines. They are better and stronger, and at the same time cheaper than those of Y——, who has attained a bigger sale only by fraudulent representations."

In fact the factory Y—— is as solid as ever, is perfectly able to fulfil its orders with good and solid machines. The claims of the manufacturer are, therefore, untrue and liable to cheat the public.

A manufacturer in Nurnberg finds out a poor fellow in Berlin, by the name of A. W. Faber, and induces him (who never had a cent) to use his name to begin a sham business in Berlin and to incorporate it under the name of A. W. Faber. Immediately afterwards the manufacturer buys the new firm out and transfers the sham business to Nurnberg.

From there he sends out lead pencils, a correct copy with the label, etc., and the signature of the world renowned firm of A. W. Faber, un Stein.

These three cases give examples of unfair competition.

All of them aim at cheating the public. In the first they try to make the public believe that by favorable circumstances it has the chance to buy good goods for a small price. In the second the public is induced to believe that the competitor's product is not as good. In the third it is an attempt to substitute goods for those of a firm with an established reputation.

The aim is always the same, to take away trade of the competitor, and lead it away from the legitimate business. The clientele of trade is attained by giving valuable services, by work or by goods. It has a certain economic value, and represents as such a property.

The whole economic traffic is a competition. Everyone tries his best to find customers for his services, and thereby to get the value of his services. But this competition presupposes a certain equality of trial or opportunity. Just as in social life a certain rule is required enforcing respect for another's property and for a stranger's person ; just so is it in economic traffic. Whenever anybody gets possession of property by other than recognized social means, he makes himself liable to punishment.

And the duty of the state is to protect this order in economic traffic, and to suppress those transactions which interrupt the legitimate and healthy development of trade.

In the middle ages the state knew this duty as well as nowadays. But this protection was not so necessary because commerce and trades were organized in such a way that the control of the state was exercised by the control of the associations.

Neither commerce nor trade could be exercised outside of the guilds or crafts.

Competition, therefore, stood under a steady restriction, so that general laws against abuses were not necessary.

Then came a change when new trades originated, which could not be moulded in the old forms of the guild and crafts organizations. In those new fields originated those laws that nowadays take a broad place in our civic jurisprudence and afford protection to intellectual and economic property.

THOSE DEPARTMENT STORES.

TRADERS in Montreal believe in the adage to "agitate, agitate," to secure a remedy for their grievances.

The department store is one of the most offensive to retailers and they are persistently keeping up the agitation against them.

The other day the retail dealers in household furniture, etc., drew up strong resolutions in regard to the matter. The meeting was attended by every retailer of importance in Montreal, and it was unanimously decided that no manufacturer who sold to a department store would be patronized by the regular retailers. Notices in accordance were sent to the manufacturers in Ontario and Quebec, and the retailers believe that they can be induced to refuse orders from the department establishments.

Action by the Retail Grocers' Association also has already been referred to. The other week a deputation waited on the Wholesale Dealers' Association and made strong representations to them in regard to the matter. Last week the retailers again discussed the matter at the regular monthly meeting of their association, the outcome being the appointment of a committee composed of President Vallieres and the other office bearers of the association, coupled with Messrs. A. D. Fraser, Upton, Labrecque and Dupontier, to draft a resolution calling upon the manufacturers, wholesale merchants and agents not to sell to these stores.

SUGAR STATISTICS.

Last week's summary of the sugar statistical position, as made up by Willett & Gray, showed stocks in the United States and Cuba together of 348,754 tons, against 340,026 tons the previous week and 190,179 tons last year, a plus of 162,504 tons over last year. Stocks in Europe 2,652,000 tons, against 2,664,500 tons last week and 2,369,300 tons last year. Total stocks of Europe and America 3,000,754 tons, against 2,984,526 tons last week and 2,555,550 tons last year at the same uneven dates. The excess of stock is now 445,204 tons, against an excess of 376,536 tons last week and a deficiency of 6,733 tons December 31st, 1896. Afloats to the United States include shipments of 1,900 tons last week from Hamburg and Bremen. Freight room has been engaged for 17,000 tons. Shipments include 600 tons refined. Total stock in four ports, 291,520 tons, against 286,835 tons last week and 140,914 tons last year. The six principal ports of Cuba by cable for week: Receipts, 15,243 tons; exports, 10,500 tons; stock, 57,234 tons, against 53,191 tons last week and 49,265 tons last year. Total stock in all the principal countries, 3,000,754 tons, against 2,555,550 tons at same uneven dates last year and 2,360,774 tons at the even date of March 1st last year. Afloats to the United States from all countries, estimated, 65,000 tons, against 70,000 tons last year.

TRADE CHAT.

Sanders, Soule & Casselman Co., general store, produce, etc., Chesterville, are applying for incorporation.

The creditors of H. S. Wilcocks, grocer, Picton, met in Toronto on Wednesday, when a statement showing $13,000 liabilities was submitted. The principal creditors are the Bank of Montreal, $4,400, and McMahon & Co.

James Dawe, of Leamington, has disposed of his bakery to H. McPhail, of Belmont, who will remodel and improve the present building and conduct a baking and confectionery business on a large scale. Mr. Dawe will be retained as head baker.

W. J. Young, of Brandon, and Geo. Budd, of Hamiota, have formed a partnership to conduct a grocery business in Brandon. The new firm is to be known as W. J. Young & Co. Their place of business will be in Coombs & Stewart's block.

The Regina Board of Trade have elected these officers: President, Mayor Eddy; vice-president, G. Michaelis; secretary, W. Tranto; council, R. H. Williams, G. T. Marsh, D. Peterson, R. T Ferguson, C. H. Black, J. K. McInnis, R. Sweet, Hugh Armour, John Dawson.

The students of the Manitoba Dairy School have organized the "Manitoba Butter and Cheesemakers' Association," the membership of which will be restricted to men having operated a factory successfully not less than one year, and holding a diploma from the provincial or other recognized institutions.

A meeting of the creditors of the estate of John King, general merchant, of Fort William, was held in Assignee Henderson's office on Tuesday, when a statement was presented showing assets of $30,000 and liabilities of $34,000, a deficit of about $4,000.

A CANADIAN CASH REGISTER.

A marvel in the way of a cash and credit register is now on the market in this country. This machine registers records and adds up all cash sales; it registers and records and keeps a separate account of all credit sales, all moneys received on account or paid out; it issues a check printed on both sides; it prints a detail record of every transaction and it tells you the amount of business each clerk does.

This register was wholly created and constructed in Canada, and is being manufactured and sold by the Capital Cash Register Co., Ltd., at Ottawa, Ont. The firm will send illustrated pamphlet describing the machine to anyone addressing it a card.

PECULIARITIES OF CLAMS.

THE clam's body is completely shrouded in the mantle except for two openings, through one of which the foot can be pushed out, says The Popular Science Monthly. The other is for the siphon, or what is commonly known as the "neck" of the clam. In some respects the clam may be better off than we are, for he has a little drain in his foot, and also a gland for secreting strong fibres. With this he spins a byssus by which he can attach himself to whatever he likes. He does not even have to search for his food, but waits for it to come to him. He makes a burrow in the mud or sand, attaching himself to the bottom of the byssus. Then he thrusts his siphon up through the mud and water until it reaches the surface. The siphon is made up of two tubes; the water flowing in through one and out through the other.

When the inflowing current, laden with minute plants and animals, reaches the gill chamber some of these are sifted out and retained for food, while the water and waste matter flow out through the other tube.

The clam's eggs are carried by the mother on her gills. When there are fish in the water with them the mother can discharge the eggs, which soon hatch, but if there are no fish they carry the eggs until they decay. The reason of this strange behavior is this: When the eggs are set free in the water they soon hatch, and the little ones swarm about until they find some fish to which to attach themselves. They live for a time on the mucus of the fish, and then drop off, sink to the bottom, and form burrows for themselves. This curious semi-parasite life is no doubt a reversion to the habit of some ancient ancestor.

A TAX ON DRUMMERS.

The Dominion Commercial Travelers' Association, of Montreal, have been urging the Montreal Board of Trade to take up the subject of the New Brunswick tax on commercial travelers. Last week the Council of the board adopted the following: "Resolved, that the Council of the Montreal Board of Trade, having learned that the Provincial Legislature of the province of New Brunswick contemplates imposing a special tax on all commercial travelers entering that province, hereby urges the St. John Board of Trade to use its utmost endeavor to secure the withdrawal of such an obnoxious measure."

DEATH OF MR. GEO. PRICE.

A SUDDEN death, which greatly shocked the community, occurred on Tuesday afternoon, when Mr. Geo. Price, J.P., passed away at his home, corner of Baker and Murdoch streets, after an illness of but a few hours, caused by heart disease. Mr. Price had been about his usual business only the day before, and up to quite a late hour on Monday night was working at the audit of the tax-collector's books. He complained, however, of a severe pain in the region of his heart, and on Tuesday his case became serious, terminating fatally about 4 p.m. Mr. Price was an old resident of the town. As a boy he was adopted by the late Geo. Snider, with whom he lived several years in Artemesia, during the time Mr. Snider was Crown Lands agent in that part of the country. When Mr. Snider was appointed sheriff and removed to Owen Sound, Mr. Price came with him. This would be about '53 or '54. He entered the employ of Newcombe & Baker, general merchants, as a clerk, and afterwards worked for Ormiston & Rodgerson in their general store. Later he formed a partnership with Mr. Jas. Buchan, with whom he carried on a general business for several years. On the dissolution of the partnership he was appointed official assignee for the county, and also obtained several agencies. He was an acting magistrate for some years, trying cases from outside the town limits. In the course of his business career he accumulated a considerable estate, and at the time of his death was in comfortable circumstances. Mr. Price was twice married. By his first wife he had four children—three daughters and a son—all of whom are sill living excepting the son. His second wife and four children—two sons and two daughters—also survive him. Deceased was an active and liberal member of the Methodist church. The funeral was numerously attended. Mr. Price's age was 62 years.—Owen Sound Times.

The Maritime Pure Food Co., Ltd., of Woodstock, N.B., is applying for a charter and will commence active operations in the near future. Their headquarters will be at Woodstock, N.B., and their business will be principally the canning of fruits, etc. The directors of the company are : H. Paxton Baird, C. S. Raymond, James Good, E. Slipp, Williamson Fisher, Wendell P. Jones and F. B. Greene. Mr. F. B. Greene, the manager of the company, comes from Maine, U.S., and has had over 25 years experience in the business. The remainder of the promoters are all prominent local men.

TEA DUTY.

"A duty on tea," remarked a member of the firm of Lucas, Steele & Bristol, "would protect the poorer class of the public from being imposed upon by worthless trash, and a duty (not ad valorem) could be easily fixed and easily collected. Based upon a small figure it would yield quite a revenue. There would be no need of the expense of tea inspectors, or a conflict of opinion such as would necessarily arise were an ad valorem duty imposed. In England the duty of sixpence a pound makes it a comparatively hard thing to get a poor tea, and it is the tea-drinking nation of the world. A reasonable specific duty will keep rubbish out and yet not make tea a luxury to the poor ; in fact, the poor will benefit."

At the annual meeting of the Woodstock Board of Trade the following officers were elected : President, John White (re-elected); vice-president, H. H. Powell ; secretary-treasurer, J. G. Wallace (re-elected.)

EFFECT OF THE U. S. TARIFF ON CANADA.

THE new tariff bill submitted to the United States House of Representatives on Monday promises to mark a new era in Canadian history.

The United States is our nearest neighbor. The people of that country are with us of one blood, and with us they are the issue of one parent stem. Naturally, therefore, we should trade one with the other.

Time and again Canada has endeavored to secure treaty arrangements with the United States, while the United States has, time and again, done everything she possibly could to prevent an interchange of commodities between the two countries.

The new tariff now before Congress is another of these many attempts to injure the Dominion.

The fact that she has struck us in what appears to her to be our most vulnerable point is evidence of that.

A glance at the comparative table, which we publish elsewhere, proves it.

We sell nearly three million dollars worth of coal to the United States annually, and on that the duty has been increased from 40c. per ton to 75c. per ton, an increase of 87 per cent.

Last year we exported over 13½ million dollars worth of the products of the forest to that country, and where the most of the lines appertaining to these were on the free list it is proposed by the new tariff bill to place them on the dutiable list at from $1 to $2 or more per thousand feet.

Horses we export to the United States to the value of $328,338, and on these the duty has been increased from 20 per cent. to $20 each.

Sheep we sent last year to the value of about $400,000, and on these the duty has been raised from 20 per cent. to $1.50 each. Our total exports of animals and their products to the United States last year were valued at $3,341,275, and on practically everything in the list the new tariff bill proposes to increase the duty to a more or less extent.

Our exports of barley to the United States in 1890, the fiscal year of which ended four months before the McKinley tariff went into force, were valued at $4,582,562. Last year, under the Wilson tariff, they only aggregated $297,438, or a decrease of nearly 89 per cent. And 1890 was not the maximum year either. Now, it is proposed to wipe out the remainder of our trade in this respect by increasing the duty from 30 per cent. to 30c. per bushel, or, at the present price of barley to-day at points in Ontario, about 93 per cent.

Beans we export to the United States to the value of about $250,000, and on these it is proposed to raise the duty to 50c. per bushel, or at the present price of this commodity, dangerously near the 100 per cent. mark. Our total exports of grain and flour to the United States last year were valued at about $900,000 in round numbers. And on these there is a general increase in the duty.

Hay, Canada last year exported to the United States to the value of $1,641,471, and the duty on this commodity has been increased from $2 to $4 per ton, or exactly 100 per cent.

The duty on butter has been increased by 50 per cent., but that does not bother Canada. We last year exported less than $3,000 worth to the States.

In cheese, the increase in the duty is the same as in butter, but our exports of this commodity across the border are only valued at a little over $10,000.

The increase of 66⅔ per cent. in the duty on eggs will not be welcome news to the producers of and dealers in this commodity; but it will by no means cause the same concern as it did when the same duty was put on by the McKinley bill.

The McKinley bill, it will be remembered, drove us to cultivate a market in Great Britain; and although the Motherland is not, nor perhaps never may be, as good for us in this respect as that of the United States yet the fact that it is at least partially so is some matter for consolation.

An idea of how injurious to the Canadian export egg trade United States tariffs have been since 1890 may be gathered from a comparison of the Trade and Navigation Returns of that year with those of 1896.

In 1890, when eggs were free, our total exports aggregated $1,795,214, of which no less than $1,793,104 went to the United States. Last year our total exports to all countries were only valued at $807,086, of which but $97,309 worth were for the United States. Great Britain, however, increased her purchases from $820 worth in 1890 to $704,768 in 1896.

The duty on potatoes has been increased from 15c. to 25c. per bushel, or over 66 per cent. Our trade with the United States in this article fluctuates a great deal. Last year, for instance, it was only $15,309, but in 1895 it was valued at $238,977, in 1894 at $193,917, and back in 1890 at $308,915. Taking it all round, therefore, it will be seen that the United States market for this commodity is a valuable one, and particularly to the people in the Maritime Provinces.

Apples are another commodity for which we find a good market in the United States, although to some extent a fluctuating one. Our exports to that country during the past five years were as follows. 1892, $27,661; 1893, $447,249; 1894, $221,187; 1895, $134,702; 1896, $85,419. The new tariff bill now proposes to fix the duty at 25c. per bushel, instead of 20 per cent. as before. On dried apples, based on the present range of values, it is proposed to place a duty of over 100 per cent.

Canada is also interested in the duties on wool. Where they were nearly altogether free under the Wilson tariff, under the new one it is proposed to make them largely dutiable. Our exports to the United States last year were $811,528, and in 1895 they were $1,046,726.

There is no mistaking at whose head the new tariff is aimed, any more than there was at whose head David aimed with the sling and stone. But there the comparison ends. David's quarry was killed, but the wound which the new tariff will give Canada will not prove fatal ; it will only stimulate.

Canadians are made of the same material which made up a Boston tea party and fought for liberty in 1776. Coaxed, they may be ; but coerced, they never will be.

Instead of dampening our national ardor the new tariff will strengthen it.

Instead of attracting us to the United States it will detract us from it.

Business men from whom THE CANADIAN GROCER has had an opportunity of obtaining an opinion are pleased rather than otherwise at the turn affairs have taken. The ultimate result, they declare, will be for good.

Closer trade relations with the British Empire are now beyond all peradventure Canada's goal. And our Government must lead us there.

Reciprocity with the United States is most desirable. And time spent in trying to secure it will be time wasted. Canada is not disposed to eat the leek.

"On to the Empire and Preferential Trade" is now Canada's motto.

CANADA HER OWN ARCHITECT.

A COUNTRY that is isolated from the commercial countries of the world will not amount to much as long as these conditions obtain. But there is at the same time such a thing as being too dependent upon the aid of outside countries in the work of developing a nation.

Canada is not wanting in this class of men, or of newspapers either, for that matter.

There is one class who see salvation in nothing but reciprocity with the United States. There is another who conceive that without preferential trade with the Motherland we are lost.

Both preferential trade and reciprocity are much to be desired things, and either one or the other would no doubt assist in the development of the Dominion. But an assistant is not the master hand.

Great Britain may plant and the United States may water, but it is Canadians alone that can give the increase.

If to-morrow all parties to the instrument were agreed and had the details worked out, preferential trade with Great Britain would be some years from its consummation.

Canada can give British or colonial goods preferential treatment, but Great Britain cannot accord Canada or any other of her possessions the same advantages. Her favored nation treaties with Belgium, Germany, and a dozen or more of other nations, great and small, preclude this.

These treaties can, it is true, be abrogated. But that takes time. Public opinion in the United Kingdom is gradually recognizing the ridiculousness of these treaties, but the sentiment has not yet reached the point where it is clamorous for their revocation.

Hence, before preferential trade with the Motherland is a possibility, public opinion must be further educated, and then, when that is done, the stipulated notice of one year must be given by the Imperial Government to the different nations concerned.

Then, as far as reciprocity with the United States is concerned, its attainment seems to be in the distant future. That country's exports to Canada are increasing materially. Compared with ten years ago they are nearly 32 per cent. larger.

While the business of the United States with us is increasing at that rate without a a reciprocity treaty it is natural it should not be over anxious for the establishment of such an instrument.

Perhaps with Canada enjoying preferential treatment with the British Empire, its unconcern may give place to concern.

With neither preferential trade nor reciprocity in immediate prospect it would be folly for us to sit down and possess our souls in peace until the one or the other is obtained.

Our duty is to put such energy into the development of our resources and foreign trade as if preferential trade or reciprocity had never even been conceived of.

Unless we possess the ability to develop our resources without the aid of commercial treaties one thing is certain : We can never do so with the aid of them. Nations, like individuals, must depend primarily upon their own efforts for success.

WANTS LEADERS IN GROCERIES.

W. J. Wilson, of Greenway, Man., writes as follows :

> Can you tell me where I can get a few leaders in dry goods and groceries, etc. I am trying to work up a cash business and want to give some extra values to induce my customers to pay cash.

Can any of our advertisers furnish Mr. Wilson with the desired information ?

FODDER CHEESE.

THIS paper has frequently directed attention to the inadvisability of making fodder cheese in the early spring.

Cheese made previous to May 1st is very likely to have a bad flavor, and even with the best of care cannot equal full grass cheese. In a word, it is apt to be tough and unpalatable. For this reason a large output of it has a tendency to choke the market.

In 1895 our factorymen had a dear-bought experience owing to a large make of these undesirable goods.

There are indications that, regardless of this lesson, they intend to go heavily into the manufacture of fodder goods again this season.

Correspondence which is given elsewhere makes it plain at any rate that large operators in Montreal expect as much, and that they are pursuing tactics on the other side with the idea of creating this impression in the minds of English consumers.

If they can do so, the early demand from England for new season's make will be checked to a certain extent, with a corresponding effect on prices.

This is exactly what the bear element desire, as it will enable them to scoop in a large lot of June cheese at a lower figure than they otherwise would had the demand not been interfered with by the fear of this fodder cheese.

It is for the factorymen to decide whether they will embark on this penny-wise and pound-foolish policy, and play into the hands of these gentlemen in Montreal. Their cheese has secured a high reputation in the English market only after great effort.

The marketing of the goods under discussion is greatly calculated to detract from this high standing. Briefly, many of the best informed and most conservative dealers in the trade believe that in the long run the factorymen would pocket a good deal more money in the aggregate if they did not manufacture a single box of fodder cheese, but waited until the cows had got to grass before commencing operations.

Mr. Grant's correspondence, which is given elsewhere, will be interesting in connection with this subject.

DEPARTMENT STORES VS. LABOR-SAVING MACHINERY.

A WRITER in a Chicago paper avers that the "opposition to department stores is of the same nature as the opposition to labor-saving inventions."

In exceptional cases it may be, but as a rule it is not.

Between the department store and labor-saving machinery there is analogy but at one point, and that is that just as production by machinery means cheaper production, so the expenses of a large concern are relatively less than those of a small one.

But in the great underlying business principle the department store is the very antipodes of the labor-saving machine.

It is true the labor-saving machine supplants hand labor and compels it to seek other sources of employment. But it does it by fair means and not by foul, and in the main its results are of immense benefit to mankind. No one can gainsay that, next to Christianity, steam and electrical machinery has been the world's greatest civilizer.

Labor-saving machinery has revolutionized the cost of production, and necessarily the cost to the consumer. But its cost of production was relatively as low as that formerly produced by hand labor.

The goods manufactured by the machine were not sold lower than those turned out by hand in order that the latter might be driven from the field. They were sold lower because the producer could afford to do so and yet reap a profit, and a profit often larger than was obtained when the article was made merely by hand.

There was no sacrificing of prices in order that a competitor might be swept away. It was straight business. It was fair business.

It is herein that lies the difference between the department store and the labor-saving machine.

The department store is not satisfied with waging a just warfare, with waging a warfare on business lines. Its methods, on the contrary, are just the opposite. In order to secure trade it does not hesitate to hit below the belt, and to do so regularly and persistently.

Instead of putting an article on the market at a fair price and endeavoring by fair and legitimate methods to bring it to the attention of the public, the rule is to cut prices so inordinately that it will prove an attractive bait to catch people upon.

There is nothing clever about that. Anyone can sell goods below cost. Legitimate business building demands ingenuity and enterprise, not faking.

It is obvious even to him who runs that there is very little analogy between the department store and the labor-saving machine or the opposition that is being engendered against the former.

Push and enterprise will produce capital, but capital was never known to produce push and enterprise. These qualities cannot be bought; they must be cultivated.

THE U.S. TARIFF BILL.

THE new tariff bill prepared by the Ways and Means Committee was submitted to the U. S. House of Representatives at Washington on Monday. Subjoined are the items of most interest to Canadians together with a comparison of the same under the present tariff.

In the wool schedule wool such as has usually been imported from Canada is taxed 11c. per pound; Canada long wools, 12c. per pound; wools of the first class, imported washed, shall pay double duty; and wools of the first and second classes, imported scoured, treble duty; unwashed wools shall be considered such as shall have been shorn from the sheep without any cleansing; washed wools such as have been washed with water only on the sheep's back, or on the skin. Wool washed in any other manner shall be considered as scoured.

Produce of the forests of Maine, on the St. John and St. Croix rivers, owned by American citizens, and sawed or hewed in New Brunswick, is to be admitted free.

It is provided that in case a foreign country imposes an export tax on lumber, then an ad valorem duty of 25 per cent. shall be added to the regular duties on lumber from that country. Provision is also made for an additional duty equal to any export duty levied on fish.

The reciprocity scheme authorizes the President to lower duties on argols, silks, champagnes, brandies, still wines, mineral waters, paintings, statuary, sugar and molasses, in return for concessions to goods of the United States, and to place duties on coffee, tea and hides to secure concessions.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

TORONTO, March 18, 1897.

GROCERIES.

THE street is still characterized by a great deal of quietness, but it is scarcely as pronounced as it was a week ago. Sugar is a little more active, with the tone of the market firm. In canned goods the feature is an awakened enquiry for peas, of which only a few packers have any to sell. The tea market remains firm, although the volume of business continues to diminish. A little more business is reported in syrups. A few transactions have taken place in green coffees, but in general there is not much activity in this line. In foreign dried or evaporated fruits there is not much that is of interest to note. Currants still retain the strong position they have occupied for some time. Valencia oranges are easier both in Liverpool and on spot. Cured meats show a further advance. Really choice roll butter is a little dearer this week on account of its scarcity. Payments are only moderate.

CANNED GOODS.

The feature of the market is an increased demand for canned peas. Both wholesalers and retailers appear to be anxious buyers. Few of the packers, however, have any to sell, and the tone of the market is strong. Buyers are anxious to pay prices which a short time ago they refused to entertain when offered. Tomatoes are firm and in fair request. Canned fish are only in moderate demand in spite of the Lenten season. We quote standard brands as follows: Tomatoes, 70 to 75c.; corn, 50 to 75c.; peas, 75 to 80c. for ordinary; sifted select, 90 to $1; extra sifted, $1.25 to $1.40; beans, 65 to 95c.; peaches, $2.50 to $3 for 3's, $1.65 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.50 to $1.80; strawberries, $1.65 to $1.95, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.70 to $1.90; cherries, $2 to $2.25; apples, 3's, 70 to 95c.; gallons, $1.65 to $2.25; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.50 to $1.55; cohoes, $1.15 to $1.25; canned mackerel, $1.20 to $1.30; lobsters, $2.25 to $2.40 for tall tins; flats, $2.85 to $2.90; ½-lb. flats, $1.60 to $1.65; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.20 to $1.30; 2's, $2.25 to $2.40; 6's, $7.75 to $8.25; 14's, $15 to $16.

COFFEES.

There have been a few transactions in green coffees of various kinds, grinders being largely the purchasers. Stocks here are on the small side, if anything. Jobbers quote green in bags: Rio, 14 to 16c., according to grade; East Indian, 27 to 30c.; South American, 21 to 23c.; Santos, 19 to 22½c.; Java, 30 to 33c.; Mocha, 27½ to 30c.; Maracaibo, 18 to 20c.; Jamaica, 19 to 22c.

SYRUPS.

There are a few syrups selling, trade in this line being reported fair. We quote: Dark, 23 to 25c.; medium, 28 to 35c.; bright, 32 to 42c.; corn syrup, 3 to 3¼c. per lb.

MOLASSES.

The demand for molasses appears to be a little better than it was a week ago. We quote: New Orleans, barrels, 23 to 35c.; ditto, half-barrels, 25 to 37c.; ditto, fancy, 50 to 55c., in barrels and half-barrels; Barbadoes, 31 to 35c.; half-barrels, 33 to 35c.

SUGAR.

Since our last the market has assumed a firmer tone, with business more active. Beet, for both this and next month's delivery, advanced ¼d. in London on Monday, while some grades of refined have advanced 1-16c. in New York. On the home market, although a firmer tone prevails, no change in quotations has taken place. Wholesalers quote granulated at 4 3-16 to 4¼c. for 5 barrels and over, and at 4¼ to 4 5-16c. for less than 5 barrels; 3½c. per lb. upwards for yellows; Demerara crystals, 4 to 4½c.

SPICES.

Mail advices from the primary markets note slight changes in ginger, some grades having advanced while others have declined. None of the changes are, however, material. Mace is slightly dearer. Pepper, both Penang and Singapore, is fractionally dearer. The same may be said of pimento. We quote: Pure Singapore black pepper, 10 to 12c.; pure white,

NUTS.

Locally there is no feature to note. Advices from New York state that the first shipment of new Brazil nuts, large size, arrived there this week. We quote : Brazil nuts, 11 to 12½c. ; Valencia shelled almonds, 18 to 22c. ; Tarragona almonds, 9½ to 11c. ; peanuts, 10 to 12c. for roasted and 7 to 10c. for green ; cocoanuts, $4.50 to $5 per sack ; Grenoble walnuts, 12½c.; Marbot walnuts, 9½ to 11c.; Bordeax walnuts, 8 to 9c.: Sicily filberts, 10c. for sacks and 10½ to 11c. for small lots ; Naples filberts, 11c.; pecans, 12 to 12½c.

RICE, TAPIOCA, ETC.

This week's mail advices quote tapioca slightly firmer in the primary markets. Business in goods under this heading is quiet on spot. We quote: Rice, Standard "B," 3¼ to 3½c. ; imported Japan, 5¼ to 5¾c. ; tapioca, 3¼ to 4½c. ; sago, 3½c.

TEAS.

A fair business is being done, but the volume continues to diminish, as is quite natural after the activity of the past few weeks. The chief movement is in China teas, both blacks and greens, in which kinds good values are being offered. The few Japans there are on the market are being firmly held, but little or no business is transpiring. Mail advices under date of March 5 say : "An advance has taken place in the market, specially noticeable in teas for price and medium descriptions. The better quality of the autumn crop has probably disappointed those who expected heavy supplies of common and medium teas, which are now found to be much wanted. The official telegram from Calcutta gives exports to U. K. to end of February as 131,000,000 lbs., against 121,000,000 lbs. to same date last season. It also states that this season's crop is 148,217,416 lbs." In regard to Ceylon tea the same advices say : "Last week's advance was generally maintained, especially in teas for price and in medium grades of whole leaf tea. Broken Pekoes, although showing some advance, sold irregularly and were not so keenly competed for as whole leaf grades. The official wire from Ceylon gives shipments for February as 6,500,000 lbs., against 8,000,000 lbs. last year, and estimates the quantity available for March as 8 to 8½ million lbs. Average for week rather over 8½d., against 8d. for same period last year. Ruling prices on the Toronto market to retailers are : Young Hyson, 18 to 21c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades ; China Congous, 14 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades ; Japans, 15 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades ; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for high grades.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

Currants are in fair demand on retail account, but no transactions for shipment are reported, prices on spot being below the basis ruling in the primary market. We quote as follows: Provincials, 4⅜ to 4¼c. in bbls. ; fine Filiatras, in bbls., 4½ to 4¾c.; do , half-bbls., 4½ to 4¾c.; Patras, 5 to 5¼c. in bbls., 5⅛ to 5¼c. in half-bbls., and 5⅛ to 5½c. in cases; Vostizzas, cases, 6 to 8c.

Valencia raisins are quiet and unchanged. We quote : Off-stalk, 5 to 5¼c. ; fine off-stalk, 5¾ to 6c. ; selected, 6¾ to 7c.; layers, 7 to 7½c.

California loose muscatel raisins are neglected. We quote : 3-crown, 7½c.; 4-crown, 8 to 8½c.

Malaga raisins are still quiet. We quote: Dehesa clusters, $3 to $4 ; Non Plus Ultra, $5 to $5.50; Imperial bunches, $4.50 to $5 ; Imperial Russian clusters, $4.50 to $5.

Figs continue dull. Wholesale quotations are: 10 oz., 7½c.; 10 lb., 9 to 10c.; 18 lb., 10 to 12c.; 28 lb., 11 to 13c.; taps, 3¾ to 4½c.; natural, 4½c. in bags, and 7c. in boxes.

Dates continue quiet. We quote: 5½ to 6c. for Hallowee and 5 to 5¼c. for Kadrowee.

California prunes are in fair demand, but there is not much doing in Bosnia. We quote: Bosnias, U's (110 to 113 half kilo), 6 to 6½c.; C's (85 to 90 half kilo), 7 to 7½c. per lb. California, 90 to 100's, 6½c. per lb.; 60 to 70's, 7½ to 8c.; 50 to 60's, 8 to 8½c.; 40 to 50's, 9½ to 10½c.; 30 to 40's, 11½ to 12½c.

California evaporated fruits are meeting with a fair demand. Apricots in first hands are becoming scarce and are being enquired for a little more vigorously in consequence. We quote: Peaches, 7 to 10½c. per lb., according to quality; apricots, 6½ to 15c.; pears, 5½ to 10½c.; egg plums, 5½ to 11c.; silver prunes, 8½ to 13½c.

GEREN FRUIT.

Valencia oranges are 1s. 3d. lower in Liverpool and local wholesalers have reduced their figures 50c. per case on the large 420's. Merchantable sizes of California oranges are scarce So much so, in fact, as to interfere with business. Taking it all round, there is a good demand for oranges on the local market. There is a better feeling locally in regard to lemons and quotations are higher. The enquiry for bananas is good, and quotations are higher on account of the stock being larger. We quote: Oranges—Valencias, ordinary, 420's, $4 to $4.50 per case; large 420's, $6 to $6.50; 714's, $4 to $4.50 per case; marmalade oranges, $3.50. California navels, $3.50 to $4.25. California Tangerines, $3.50 per box. Lemons—Messinas, $2.50 to $2.75 per box for fancy, and $2.25 to $2.50 for choice; cocoanuts, $3.75 a sack and 60c. per doz.; apples, 75c. per bbl. for greenings and Baldwins, and $1.25 to $1.50 for Spies; onions, $1.50 per 80 lb. bag for Danvers; cranberries, Cape Cod, $5 to $7 per bbl. and $2.50 per case; Canadian cranberries, $4 to $5 per bbl.; bananas, $1.50 to $2.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—Receipts of butter have been large during the week, but the quantity coming forward contains very little that is of choice quality. Really choice large rolls would sell readily at 14c. Medium and low grades are difficult to sell at any price.

We know of one large line of fairly good medium changing hands at 9½c. per lb. The market is fairly well supplied with creamery butter, and the demand is good owing to the poor quality of the dairy article being so unsatisfactory. We quote: Dairy butter—Tubs, 12 to 13½c. for good to choice; low-grade to medium, 7 to 8c.; pails and crocks, 12 to 13½c.; large rolls, 12½ to 13½c. for good to choice, and 7 to 10c. for low-grade to medium; pound prints, 14 to 16. Creamery—Tubs, 19 to 20c.; 1-lb. blocks, 20 to 21c., according to make.

CHEESE—Several parcels of winter make are coming forward, but the quality is not very good. Being, however, sold at a reduced price the trade is taking hold of it at from 10 to 10½c., per lb. November make has changed hands at 10¼c., but the quality was not first-class. For choice September and October make 11½ to 12c. is the idea as to price.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

BEANS—There is no improvement. Ordinary mixed lots are quoted by wholesalers at 40 to 50 per bushel, and choice hand-picked at 75c. to 80c.

DRIED APPLES—There is no demand for them. A nice lot was purchased from a farmer this week at 1c. per lb. The buyer did not want the fruit, but the seller could find no other customer and accepted the figure named. Choice are quoted by wholesalers at 2 to 2½c., and fancy at 2½ to 3c.

EVAPORATED APPLES — Dull. Wholesale quotations are: Quarters, 2¾c.; sliced, 3c.; best brands, 4c.

EGGS—The lower prices have increased the consumption, but, as receipts have also increased, it is difficult to keep the market cleaned up. New laid eggs are quoted at 11 to 11½c.

POULTRY—Very little coming forward, and prices are steady. As high as 10½c. was paid in at least one instance for a case lot of turkeys. We quote: Chickens, 30 to 60c. per pair; turkeys, 9½ to 10½c. for bright stock; geese, 7 to 8c.; ducks, 60 to 70c.

POTATOES—Still dull, at 20c. in carload lots on track and small lots out of store at 28c. per bag.

MAPLE SYRUP—In moderate demand, at 70 to 80c. per gallon.

HONEY—Quiet. We quote: Comb, 80 to 90c. per dozen for dark and $1.50 to $1.75 for light; strained, 6 to 7c. per lb.

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN—Receipts of grain are moderate and prices a little better than a week ago. We quote: Wheat, 76 to 77c. for white and 74 to 75c. for red, and 62½ to 63c. for goose; oats, 21 to 22½c.; peas, 40 to 41c.

FLOUR—Trade is quiet and prices steady and unchanged. We quote in carloads on track, Toronto: Manitoba patents, $5; Manitoba strong bakers', $4.50; Ontario patents, $4.30 to $4.50; straight roller, $3.85 to $4, Toronto freights.

BREAKFAST FOODS — Trade is only moderate. We quote: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $2.80 in bags and $2.90 in bbls.; rolled wheat, $2.50 to $2.60 in 100-lb. bbls.; cornmeal, $2.25; split peas, $3 to $3.25; pot barley, $3 to $3.25.

FISH AND OYSTERS.

The fish trade is still only moderate. We quote: Manitoba white fish, 5½ to 6c.; ditto in kegs, $4.50; frozen trout, 5c.; ditto in kegs, $4.50; pickerel, 6c. per lb.; haddies, 6c. per lb.; Labrador herring, $4.50 to $5 per bbl. and $2.75 per half-bbl.; split herring, $4.50 per bbl. and $2.50 per half-bbl.; boneless fish, 3½ to 4c. per lb.; pure cod, 6½ to 6¾c. per lb.; ciscoes, $1.25 per 100; haddock, 4½c. per lb.; steak cod, 6c. per lb.; frozen herring, 4c.; sea herring, $1 per 100; fresh water herring (heads off), $2.50 per keg; smelts, 6 to 9c. Oysters are quoted at $1.20 for standards, and $1.50 for selects.

PROVISIONS AND DRESSED HOGS.

The provision market is still advancing, particularly in long clear, barrel pork and hams. The demand is exceedingly active for long clear and barrel pork. Very few dressed hogs are coming forward in carload lots. Street deliveries have, however, been fairly free. Light weights are quoted at $6 to $6.25 and heavy weights at 5 to 5¼c.

DRY SALTED MEATS—Long clear bacon, 6¼c. for carload lots, and 6½c. for small lots; backs, 7½ to 8c.

SMOKED MEATS—Breakfast bacon, 11c.; rolls, 7½ to 8c.; hams, large, 22 lbs. and over, 10 to 10½c.; medium, 15 to 20 lbs., 10c.; small hams, 11 to 11½c.; backs, 10 to 11c.; shoulder hams, 7c.; all meats out of pickle, 1c. less than above.

LARD—Pure Canadian, tierces, 6¼c.; tubs, 6½c.; pails, 6¾c.

BARREL PORK—Canadian heavy mess, $12.50; Canadian short-cut, $12.50 to $13; clear shoulder mess, $10.

SALT.

Business is moderate. We quote at Toronto: In carload lots, $1 per bbl. and 60c. per sack; in less than carload lots, $1.05 per bbl. and 65c. per sack. At the wells we quote: F.O.B. barrels, 70c.; sacks 50c. for points west of Toronto, and 45c. for Toronto and points east of Toronto.

SEEDS.

Markets show more life with approaching spring demand, and in sympathy with other leading centres red clover is somewhat firmer. Timothy is also firm, but no material change has taken place in prices. Alsike, however, shows no improvement. Present prices to growers at outside points in red clover range from $4.50 to $5; timothy, $1 25 to $2.50, and alsike $2.50 to $4 per bushel. Wholesale jobbing prices, after freights and recleaning added, are somewhat over these figures.

CALFSKINS—Market is dull at 7 to 8c. for No. 1 and 5 to 6c. for No. 2. Sheep and lambskins, $1.10 to $1.20.

WOOL— The market is quiet and prices unchanged. Combing fleece nominal at 21 to 22c. and rejections 17c. Pulled supers are 20 to 21c., and extras at 22 to 23c.

MARKET NOTES.

There is an active demand for peas.

Sugar is firmer on the outside markets.

Prices are higher on some lines of cured meats.

Cream of tartar is 1s. 6d. cheaper in the primary market.

C. M. Bernard has opened an agency at 28 Front street east, Toronto, for Bernard & Co., of Japan. Mr. Bernard has only recently returned from the latter country.

Mail advices from Liverpool to February 25 state that the arrivals of Valencia raisins from the beginning of the season to date amounted to 3,551 tons as compared with 5,989 packages for the same period last year.

A private letter from Patras, Greece, received to-day states that there remained on February 23 about 14,000 tons of currants, which quantity is said to be sufficient to supply usual requirements for only two months. The fine grades of currants are reported to be exhausted in the primary market.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, March 18, 1897.

GROCERIES.

THE week has been a quiet and uneventful one on the whole, and what movement there is in progress at the moment is strictly confined to actual wants. Buyers will not stock up ahead, and show little disposition to anticipate the decline in railway rates by placing orders for future shipment, such as they usually do at this season. Sugar is firm outside, but there is no change locally, and demand is not particularly brisk. Syrups are quiet, and uncertainty regarding the tariff is interfering with import orders for molasses, which rules easy at the Islands, though unchanged locally. Coffee and tea continue as last noted, while dried fruit and canned goods are steady. Fish, pickled, fresh and prepared, are demoralized by excessive receipts, and there have been declines all along the line.

SUGAR.

There has been no radical change in the local sugar market. Enquiry has been somewhat better during the past ten days or so, but it is only for small lots, and not for any length of time ahead, so that the aggregate volume of trade is light. Advices from the outside continue firm in tone and with the strength maintained as it is, surprise is expressed that local refiners show no disposition to act in sympathy. This they have not done so far, no actual change being noted in refiners' prices, which continue at 4 to 4¼c. for granulated and 3 3-16 to 3⅞c. for yellows as to grade. In a jobbing way we quote: Granulated 4⅛ to 4⅜c., and yellows 3⅜ to 3⅞c.

SYRUPS.

There is no change in syrups, sales being slow and prices steady at 1⅜ to 1⅞c. per lb., as to quality, at the factory.

MOLASSES.

The molasses market continues much as it was a week ago. Stocks on spot are not excessive, especially of Barbadoes, and holders of it are sellers in a jobbing way only at 30 to 31c., but round lots can be had for less money. Advices from primary markets continue of a bearish character, with reports of large supplies of new crop, but it is not safe to base too great reliance on these early statements. Cables quote the price down to 8c., which means that cargo lots would cost about 23c. laid down in Montreal direct. Up to the present, however, no important contracts are spoken of at this basis owing to the fact that buyers are checked by the tariff uncertainty.

RICE.

Demand for rice continues slow and the market is quiet with no change in prices to note. We quote: Crystal Japan, $5 to $5.25; standard B., $3.50; Patna, $4.50 to $5.25; Carolina, $6.75 to $7.75; choice Bermuda, $4, and Java kinds, $4.25.

SPICES.

The firm feeling in staple lines of spices is maintained, but demand is only of a jobbing kind. We quote: Pure black pepper, 8 to 10c.; pure white, 12 to 15c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 20c.; cloves, 15c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; do., best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 10 to 14c.; nutmegs, 35 to 75c.

COFFEE.

There has been no improvement in coffee, which continues quiet. Demand is confined to small lots on account of actual wants, in which connection some Maracaibo at 17c. and Santos at 18c. changed hands. We quote: Maracaibo, 17½ to 19c.; Santos, 15 to 18c.; Rio, 15 to 16c.; Mocha, 24 to 26c., and Java, 22 to 27c.

TEAS.

past week. Stocks in first hands are extremely light, and for this reason prices are firmly held. We quote as follows: Young Hysons, 13 to 18c. for low grades, 25 to 28c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 12 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 15 to 21c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 16½ to 20c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for higher grades.

DRIED FRUIT.

Valencia raisins continue featureless, stocks in jobbers' hands being light and prices firm. We quote: Ordinary off-stalk, 5¼ to 5½c. fine, 5¾ to 6c.; and selected, 6¼ to 6½c., with layers, 6¾ to 7c.

California raisins rule firm also for the same reason, and in addition it would cost more to lay down fresh supplies from the Coast. We quote: 2-crown, 6½ to 6¾c.; 3-crown, 7 to 7½c., and 4-crown, 8 to 8½c.

Currants continue steady and unchanged. We quote: Provincials, bbls., 4c.; half-bbls., 4¼c.; cases, 4⅜c.; half-cases, 4½c.; Filiatras, ditto; Patras, 5½ to 6c., and Vostizzas, 6½ to 8c.

Prunes continue steady. We quote: French, 5 to 15c., as to grade; Austrian, 6 to 8c., and Californias, 10 to 11c. for 40 to 50's.; 9 to 10c. for 50 to 60's.; 8 to 9c. for 60 to 70's.; 7 to 8c. for 70 to 80's., and 6½c. for 90 to 100's.

Figs are rather firmer in tone at 8 to 12c. per pound, as to quality.

Dates range from 5 to 6c., as to quality, under a small jobbing enquiry.

Evaporated fruits are as last reported. We quote: Evaporated peaches, 11 to 12c.; pears, 9½ to 12c.; apricots, 14 to 17c., and prunes, 8 to 12c., as to brand.

CANNED GOODS.

The stocks of canned tomatoes are exceedingly light in this market, and prices are very firm in consequence, and the same remark applies in a less extent to other vegetables, notably peas. We quote: Tomatoes, 75 to 85c.; corn, 75 to 90c.; peas, 80 to 90c.; beans, 70c. up; peaches, $2.75 to $3 for 3's, $1.75 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.40 to $2; strawberries, $1.80 to $2.45, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.90 to $2.20; cherries, $2.40 to $2.45; apples, 3's, 85 to 90c.; gallons, $1.55 to $1.65; pumpkins, 75 to 85c.; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.40 to $1.45; "Clover Leaf," $1.35; "Lion," $1.37½ to $1.40; Lowe Inlet, $1.30, in tall tins; cohoes, $1.20; canned mackerel, $1.25; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.20 to $1.25; 2's, $2.15 to $2.25; 6's, $6.75 to $7; 14's, $14 to $15; lobsters, $10 per case; French sardines, $10.25 to $11 extra brands; ordinary brands, $8 to $9; Canadian brands, $4.25.

FISH.

The fish market has not maintained the steady feeling noted last week owing to increased receipts which have created stocks that are in excess of the demand. In pickled fish, salmon continues steady at the recent decline. No. 1 choice pickled herrings are easier at $3.75 to $4, and No. 1 ordinary have declined 50c. per barrel with sales at $2.75 to $3. In green cod a further decline of 10 to 15c. is noted, sales being made at $4.25 to $4.40 for No. 1, while other grades are about steady. No. 1 green haddock are offering at $2.25 to $2.75, and B.C. salmon, in half-barrels, at $5.75 to $6. No. 2 mackerel are also easier at $10 to $11.

With the single exception of fresh herrings, the supply of all kinds of fresh fish is excessive, and it looks at present as if some of the fish would have to be disposed of at the Health Department dump before it finds a buyer. Prices are generally lower than they were a week ago, Manitoba whitefish having declined ½c., haddock and cod ¼c. and smelts ½c. per pound, and fresh herrings 10 to 25c. per 100, and tommycods 25. per bbl. We quote: Haddock and cod, 2¾ to 3c.; smelts, 2 to 3c.; salmon, 12c., and Manitoba whitefish, 3½ to 4c. per lb.; fresh herrings, 90 to $1 per 100, and tommy cods, 50 to 75c. per barrel.

Stocks of smoked fish are ample, with only a limited demand, prices generally being steady. We quote: Haddies, 6 to 7c. per pound; Yarmouth and Bay bloaters, 85c. to $1; kippered herrings, 90c. to $1, and smoked do., 10 to 12c. per box.

GREEN FRUIT.

There has been a fair week's business in green fruit. Lemons have continued active and steady, but stocks are ample. Valencia oranges are slightly higher, but other descriptions are unchanged. Increased receipts of bananas have led to a decline, while cranberries are still a regular glut on the market. We quote: California oranges, $2.70 to $4.50 per box; Valencia oranges, $3.50 to $4 per box; lemons, $1.75 to $3 per box, and $7 to $9 per chest; cranberries, $1 to $4 per bbl.; Spanish onions, 85c. per crate; Malaga grapes, $7.50 to $8; bananas, $1.75 to $2.25; pineapples, 20 to 35c. each.

APPLES.

Decreasing stocks of good merchantable have stiffened values on apples since last report, and prices are 25c. higher than they were, at $1.50 to $2.25 per bbl. Practically no No. 2 fruit are to be had on the market now unless mere rubbish can be classed as this grade.

DRIED APPLES.

Dried and evaporated apples continue dull and unimproved. We quote: Dried, 3 to 3¼c., and evaporated, 4c.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—There have been further declines in eggs since last report. The demand for small lots of new laid was fair, and sales were made at 11¾ to 12c., while round lots were offered at 11 to 11½c. There was little enquiry for Montreal limed, and prices are nominally quoted at 9 to 9½c.; and western held fresh at 7½ to 8c. per dozen.

BEANS—The demand for beans was slow, and prices are unchanged at 60 to 65c. in car lots, and at 70 to 80c. in a jobbing way.

POTATOES—Business in potatoes was slow at 35 to 40c. per bag in car lots, and at 40 to 50c. in a jobbing way.

HOPS—Market quiet at 8 to 12c., according to grade.

PROVISIONS.

Trade in smoked meats continues fairly satisfactory for the season of the year, and values are maintained. The demand for pork does not improve any, sales being chiefly in small lots to fill actual wants. We quote: Canadian pork, $11.50 to $12.50 per bbl.; pure Canadian lard, in pails, at 5½ to 6c., and compound refined at 4½c. per lb.; hams, 9½ to 11½c., and bacon, 9 to 10c. per lb.

FLOUR, MEAL AND FEED.

The flour market has exhibited little change, except that values rule unsettled, and are rather lower than they were a week ago. We quote: Winter wheat patents, $4.30 to $4.50; straight rollers, $3.90 to $4.10; and in bags, $1.90 to $1.95. Manitoba spring wheat patents, $4.60 to $4.80; and strong bakers', $4.25 to $4.50.

Business in feed was moderately active under a fair demand, and sales of Manitoba bran were made at $12, and shorts at $13 per ton, including bags.

The demand for oatmeal continues slow at $2.80 to $2.90 per barrel, and at $1.40 to $1.45 per bag for rolled oats.

In hay there is no change, and business was quiet at $8.50 to $9 for No. 1, and $7.50 to $8 for No. 2 per ton in car lots on track.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

The cheese market continues quiet and purely nominal. The cable was unchanged, to-day, and mail advices to hand indicate no change in the situation across the water.

Butter remains quiet but steady under a moderate jobbing demand. Stocks are not excessive, and good creamery sold to-day at 19c. Roll dairy brought 13c., the quantity of it offering being light.

The exports of dairy produce last week were 1,218 cheese to Liverpool and 103 butter.

MONTREAL NOTES.

Receipts of dressed hogs have fallen off to practically nothing this week.

Traders express surprise that the sugar refiners do not advance prices in sympathy with the strength outside.

Arrivals of bananas have been so heavy during the past eight days that prices have declined 25 to 50c. per bunch.

Cables from the islands quote the first cost of Barbadoes molasses 8c. This is a decline of 3c. on the opening figure.

It looks now as if a good quantity of the stock of fresh fish here will not find a buyer, but have to go to the Health Department dump. Receipts have been altogether too excessive for the demand.

OUR STANDPOINT

In pushing our biscuits we admit there are already excellent brands on the market. We nevertheless have solid practical reasons for considering that are better, and this view is being convincingly confirmed by daily extensive and extending demands—the true touchstone of merit.

The Manufacturer, R. E. Jamieson, Ottawa

HALIFAX TRADE GOSSIP.

ONE thing Halifax need not be afraid of for the next two years is a tea famine. Most of the wholesale houses have enough to last them during that time under ordinary circumstances. Indeed, it is asserted that some houses have supplies enough to last for the next four years. It is estimated that there is enough tea in Halifax to-day to supply the whole province for the next eighteen months. This all comes from an anxiety to get ahead of the tariff changes. A prominent tea importer, in conversation with THE GROCER, said that the Government was about to lock the door after the horse had been stolen. To put a duty on tea would likely raise the price to the consumer and thereby prove an unpopular political move, while the Government would derive no additional revenue, at least for the next two years.

The Lenten demand for large fat mackerel is good. Stocks in first hands are small. Irish continue to bear the market on smaller-sized fish.

Codfish continue dull and export orders are small, due in part to the enormous quantities Newfoundland is unloading in all the importing islands. This will continue for at least a month yet. Stocks here are not large, and as the winter fishery in Newfoundland is a partial failure, not one-third of the usual quantity being taken, this will mean a better trade in the spring for our fish carried over.

Herring and grocery cod enjoy good demand.

The market is well supplied with oranges. Valencias are of excellent quality and remarkably low in price for this season, being quoted at $3.25 to $3.50 per box. Denias of excellent flavor, large cases and large fruit, are quoted at $4 to $4.50 per box. California navels are worth $4.25 to $5.

Lemons are exceptionally low, fancy stock being quoted at $2.50 to $3.

Bananas, fancy Goldenvale, are quoted at $2 to $2.25.

Florida tomatoes, the first of the season, are selling at $4 a crate.

Eggs are on the down grade and are selling from 12 to 14c. by the case. They will go lower.

The cheese market is firm. Stocks are small and are principally held by one firm, Smith & Proctor. The quotation is 12c.

Fresh creamery butter is coming in. Tubs are worth 20 to 21c.; prints, 21 to 22c. It is getting late for Canadian rolls, which sell at 13 to 14c. New dairy has not made an appearance. Old is very draggy and sells from 12c. up.

The extensive firm of A. Gunn & Co., millers and feed merchants, has ceased to exist, the business having been swallowed up by the Bent, Brighty & Page Co. Mr. Gunn came from Manitoba in 1875 and has made considerable money. He goes to Southern California to reside. In conversation with THE GROCER, Mr. Gunn said that on his way to Nova Scotia he purchased in Minnesota several hundred barrels of flour, which was the first direct shipment of flour from Minnesota ever made to Nova Scotia. On that transaction he lost $800. He said the quality of the flour was unknown here then and there was a drop in the market. In 1876 he made another large purchase of Minnesota flour and cleared $1,200. Afterwards he purchased the property at Richmond and put in elevators, etc., which have a capacity of 600 bbls. cornmeal, 100 bbls. oatmeal and 40 tons of feed every 24 hours, beside storage capacity for 100,000 bushels grain and 20,000 bbls. His overturn of cornmeal in one year averaged 50,000 bbls. He handled from 10,000 to 30,000 bbls. of flour and about 9,000 tons of hay per year. Mr. Gunn said that when he came here in 1875, 40 to 50 per cent. of the flour used was United States flour, and now 99 per cent. is Canadian. He says there has been a great improvement in the quality of Canadian flour, an improvement of 50 per cent. during his experience and a decrease in price. He has seen good Ontario flour sell as low as $2.65, and has paid for the same class of flour as high as $7. In his opinion the trade of Nova Scotia will depend upon the west for its flour.

The new firm of Bent, Brighty & Page, which has taken over A. Gunn & Co.'s flour and feed business, is composed of John Brighty, an Englishman, who came here about a year ago; B. R. Bent, of Amherst; E. Sullivan, formerly with A. Gunn & Co.; Evan Thompson, Elmsdale, and H. J. Logan, M.P., Amherst. Besides the flour and feed business the new firm will go into the exporting of hay and manufacture of fertilizers.

DELIVERY WAGON FOR GROCERS.

The Toronto Coffee & Spice Mills have inaugurated a scheme whereby grocers can, without much trouble, secure a delivery wagon made by the firm of Gray & Sons, of Chatham. The wagon and a certain quantity of spices can be purchased at a lower price than could the wagon alone if obtained from the manufacturer, and the reason is that the Toronto Coffee & Spice Mills, by purchasing a large number, have bought at a lower price than would otherwise have been possible. The trade can obtain further information by referring to the firm's advertisement on page 27.

TRADE WITH SOUTH AFRICA.

A MEMBER of the Montreal Board of Trade communicated the following extract from a private letter which he had received from a friend in South Africa:

"I am daily impressed with the possibilities of a good trade being done with Canada in many lines of goods that are now coming from the United States in large quantities, but the Canadian Government should appoint a commissioner or something of the kind and open up a sort of permanent exhibition or sample room. For instance, there are thousands of tons of American flour and corn coming here, and I do not see why Canadian millers could not compete equally as well for the trade. Then, again, there is furniture, boots and shoes, cheese, butter, hams, bacon, agricultural implements and scores of other things. I hope you will talk up the matter when you have an opportunity with those that an export trade would benefit. A good winter apple should arrive here in good condition and will sell well; a miserable thing here sells four for a shilling. Some apples were sent from Tasmania a short time ago and arrived in good condition."

Surely Canadian merchants are as enterprising as their cousins south of the line. It may be quite proper for the Government to appoint a commissioner and open a sample room for Canadian goods, but this in itself will not bring trade to Canada unless the Canadian merchant supplements it by energetic efforts of his own.

If United States flour, corn, furniture, boots and shoes, cheese, butter, hams, bacon and apples go to South Africa, there is no reason Canadian products should not do the same. There is certainly a first-class opportunity for our millers, and exporters of cheese, butter, provisions and apples.

It is quite possible that a lot of these Canadian products do go to South Africa, but they do not go direct, but via Great Britain. This is not right. The more direct the relations between the point of consumption and the point of production, the more profit and economy there is for all parties concerned.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. J. S. Dickie, of Dickie & Co., Pickering, was in Toronto this week.

Mr. H. T. Wilson, of J. L. Watt & Scott, has been elected president of the Wanderers' Bicycle Club, Toronto. Mr. Wilson is evidently as popular with bicyclists as he is with the trade.

Mr. H. P. Merrick, of Mitchell's Square, spent Friday in Toronto last week. He stated that the farmers in his part of the country have more live stock than usual, and a fair spring trade is anticipated.

Mr. John Scott, of Woodstock, was in Toronto a few days ago. Mr. Scott reports business improving in Woodstock, most of the factories which had been closed down during the winter now starting up again.

The firm of J. Milne & Son, general merchants, Stirling, have made an assignment to P. Parker. The liabilities are placed at $6,000, with nominal assets at $9,500.

HINTS TO BUYERS.

[This department has become so popular that many more notices than there is space for are received every week. In future only important items of information will be inserted. Contributors are requested to send news only, not puffs of goods they handle, or the arrival of standard goods that everyone has in stock, or that they are offering goods at close figures, or that they have had an unusually large sale this season.]

SEVILLE orange marmalade is having a large sale already this season. This article is sold exclusively by W. H. Gillard & Co., and put up for them under the supervision of an experienced man.

H. P. Eckardt & Co. are selling Trenor's and Morand's layer Valencias.

The Davidson & Hay, Ltd., have in stock a full range of California prunes.

H. P. Eckardt & Co. are selling North Shore cranberries at $2 per bbl.

The Davidson & Hay, Ltd., offer mats and tapnets figs at close figures to clear.

Lorimer's Worcester sauce is always in stock with Robert Greig & Co.

The Davidson & Hay, Ltd., offer pure jams in pails, tins and glass at close prices.

D. Gunn, Bros. & Co. report an active demand for all lines of butter, both for local use and for shipment.

John Sloan & Co. are in receipt of shipments of choice Ceylon and Indian teas. They also have in stock a shipment of Kangera Valley, Assam, tea, which is of exceptionally fine value.

Robert Greig & Co. are booking large orders for John Mackay & Co's "Kolacafe" and essence of coffee and chicory.

W. H. Gillard & Co. are offering bargains in Young Hyson teas. They have an exceptionally good line to retail at 50c.

Robert Greig & Co. have just received a shipment of cherries in maraschino from Dandicolle & Gaudin, Ltd., Bordeaux.

John Sloan & Co. have in stock a new line of pork and baked beans in 3-lb. tall tins. They can be retailed at 10c. per tin.

A full range of sardines, also anchovies, in salt and oil, is in stock with Robert Greig & Co. A supply of the celebrated "Bordin" olives, in kegs, is also to hand.

"Our L., S. & B. No. 1 blend coffee," say Lucas, Steele & Bristol, " is put up in 50 and 25-lb. air-tight cans, whole or ground. We have it in 2-lb. cans at 1c. a pound more."

The ½-lb. can of "Circle" tea, which has just been put on the market, is attractive and, as in the pound packet, directions for opening are placed on the top. Attractive "Circle" tea books are being distributed (on application) to all buyers of the tea.

LATE ADVERTISEMENTS.

[The following items arrived too late for insertion in the regular advertising space. Reading notices inserted in this column at 5c. per word.]

LUCAS, STEELE & BRISTOL have some more of that choice hard-cured codfish in quintals; prices reasonable.

"We are," state Lucas, Steele & Bristol, "still giving old values in teas, notwithstanding recent advances. Those who wish to duplicate orders should do so at once—there is sure to be a rush at the end of the month."

"Our sales of 'Kurma' tea last week were unusually heavy, particularly in the city, where we had one order alone for over a quarter of a ton. All orders are being filled promptly," report The Davidson & Hay, Ltd.

The value of grease imported into the United States in 1892, the fiscal year ending June 30, was $271,421; in 1893, $419,625; in 1894, $256,287; in 1895, $1,331,908; in 1896, $1,232,001; annual average 1892-1896, $702,248. Of these importations Belgium furnished 2.1 per cent.; France, 21.2; Germany, 19.6; Italy, 16.3; United Kingdom, 32.2; Canada, 4.1; Newfoundland and Labrador, 2.3; other countries, 2.2.

AS AGENTS FOR THE TEA EXPORTING FIRM OF

Smith, Baker & Co., Japan

We have felt justified in urging you to ask the firm of Tea Merchants or Wholesale Grocers from whom you purchase your supplies, for Teas fired, prepared and shipped by Smith, Baker & Co., because whilst "there are other pebbles on the beach" there are not any other Teas shipped from Japan which will give you, and your customers, the same satisfaction. During the season 1896 we had forward a few thousand packages, and the Teas wherever used gave entire satisfaction. In the advertisement of one eminent western wholesale firm we find in the 19th February edition of this paper the following copy of post-card received from one of their customers :—

Messrs. Davidson & Hay, Ltd. February, 3, 1897.

Dear Sirs,—Your Tea "Black Swan" I drew with 18 other samples, and you get the order for the above-named Tea—15 half-chests.

Respectfully yours, ...

The Tea "BLACK SWAN" was fired, prepared and shipped by Smith, Baker & Co., and the result would have been the same had the competing samples been seventeen hundred instead of seventeen. Kindly make known to your Wholesale Grocer that these are the Teas you want in 1897.

MAN'S KINDERGARTEN.

THE universe is one great kindergarten for man. Everything that exists has brought with it its own peculiar lesson. The mountain teaches stability and grandeur ; the ocean, immensity and change. Forests, lakes and rivers, clouds and winds, stars and flowers, stupendous glaciers and crystal snowflakes—every form of animate or inanimate existence leaves its impress upon the soul of man. Even the bee and the ant have brought their little lessons of industry and economy.

A man who heard Lincoln speak in Norwich, Conn., some time before he was nominated for the Presidency, was greatly impressed by the closely-knit logic of the speech. Meeting him next day on a train, he asked him how he acquired his wonderful logical powers and such acuteness in analysis. Lincoln replied : "It was my terrible discouragement which did that for me. When I was a young man I went into an office to study law. I saw that a lawyer's business is largely to prove things. I said to myself 'Lincoln, when is a thing proved?' That was a poser. What constitutes proof? Not evidence ; that was not the point. There may be evidence enough, but wherein consists the proof? You remember the old story of the German who was tried for some crime, and they brought half a dozen respectable men who swore they saw the prisoner commit the deed. 'Vel,' he replied, 'vat of dat? Six men schwears dat dey saw me do it. I prings more nor two tozen goot men who schwears dey did not see me do it.' So, wherein is the proof? I groaned over the question, and finally said to myself, 'Ah! Lincoln, you can't tell.' Then I thought, 'What use is it for me to be in a law office if I can't tell when a thing is proved? So I gave it up, and went back home, over in Kentucky. Soon after I returned to the old log cabin I fell in with a copy of Euclid. I had not the slightest notion what Euclid was, and I thought I would find out. I found out ; but it was no easy job. I looked into the book and found it was all about lines, angles, surfaces and solids ; but I could not understand it at all. I therefore began at the beginning, and before spring I had gone through that old Euclid's geometry, and could demonstrate every proposition like a book. Then in the spring, when I had got through with it, I said to myself one day, 'Ah, do you know now when a thing is proved?' And I answered, 'Yes, sir, I do.' 'Then you may go back to the law shop.' And I went."

No individual can develop into the largest manhood or womanhood alone. Society is to the individual what the sun and showers are to the seed. It develops him, expands him, unfolds him, calls him out of himself. Other men are his opportunity. Each one is a match which ignites some new tinder in him unignitable by any previous match. Without these the sparks of individuality would sleep in him forever.

Make each day stand for something. Neither heaven nor earth has any place for the drone ; he is a libel on his species. No glamor of wealth or social prestige can hide his essential ugliness. It is better to carry a hod or wield a shovel in honest endeavor to be of some use to humanity than to be nursed in luxury and be a parasite.

An ambition to get on in the world, the steady struggle to get up, to reach higher, is a constant source of education in foresight, in prudence, in economy, industry, courage ; in fact, is the great developer of many of the strongest and noblest qualities of character. Were it not for this struggle to get on, living would be intolerable in any community. No one can imagine the direful effect of its absence. It would be like the loss of gravitation in the physical world. Everything would go to destruction. Idleness, shiftlessness, would run riot everywhere. There would be no enterprise, no progress. The world would rush back to barbarism. This struggle educates the whole community in a thousand ways.—"Architects of Fate."

CAUSE OF RED RAIN.

IN London we sometimes have red fogs. In Australasia they occasionally have red rain, the tint depending upon circumstances and the color vision of the local newspaper man. Over a large portion of Australia the surface of the ground becomes in summer so intensely dry that when a strong wind comes along clouds of impalpable powder are raised high into the air, and now and then get quite into the upper strata of the atmosphere. Then sooner or later the dust-laden air comes in contact with a humid current, and the dust is carried down mixed with the rain. Yet another hypothesis has, we notice, been set up by some ingenious Antipodean. Writing of some "yellow" rain, he says : "The yellow dust was really Colman's mustard, and anyone dubious on the point should study a pictorial advertisement at the Richmond railway station, near Melbourne. There the agent of the firm (in the shape of an angel) is represented in the act of scattering bulk samples over the terrestrial globe, and the free gift distribution reached Melbourne in due course on Sunday last. If the theory be sonnd—and it looks only a trifle less probable than some I have heard—the attention of the Commissioners of Customs should be called to this latest method of introducing bulk samples free of duty, and even using our hard-worked local rain-storms as delivery vans. The settled policy of this ever blessed country must not be upset by cheap angel labor."—Commerce, London, Eng.

LONDON RETAIL GROCERS.

THE Grocers' Association of London held their regular monthly meeting on the 8th in Sherwood Hall, and several questions of interest to the trade were discussed, the chief of which was the recent cancellation of commutation tickets by the G.T.R. and C.P.R.. It was claimed that a mutual benefit arose from these special rate tickets to farmers and residents of neighboring villages, as well as to the citizens of London. Driving to the city has the inconvenience of being much slower than by train.

After considerable discussion the grocers concluded that the railway companies had it all their own way this time.

A large number of the members expressed the hope that the companies would reconsider their decision, and grant cheap fares on Saturday, and thus cater for business that under the present system will be lost to them. Many who were in the habit of coming to the city by train will revert to horses.

Pleasure was expressed that the City Council are making a move to improve the market square, as more room is required for the handling of farm produce, and the proposed change would be a great beenfit to the citizens.

The question of holding a grand jubilee picnic was touched upon, but it was considered too early to go into details, and the matter was laid over until next meeting.

The secretary will communicate with other grocers' associations to obtain their views as to the advisability of an amendment of the Act relating to the inspection of weights and measures. It was stated that the inspection fees are felt to be exorbitant. Under the present system the inspector calls, inspects the scales, measures, etc., and, although he may find them perfectly correct, the charges for restamping an ordinary counter scales, with accompanying weights, are from $1.50 to $3. In addition to this the grocer is obliged to move the inspector's paraphernalia of weights, etc., weighing from 1,000 to 2,000 pounds, to his next stopping place.

Little Mary was sent to the store one day to have some syrup sent up for the table. "Does your mother want refined syrup?" asked the merchant. "I think she does," answered Mary. "She is a very nice lady."

A GROCER DISCOVERS A HOODOO.

IT was in one of the smaller cities of Central Ohio—a place that had attained its growth some twenty years ago and had not progressed beyond the limits restricted by the competition of towns within a radius of fifty miles—that I ran across something of a novelty in the line of superstition affecting business, says a writer in an exchange. It was a storeroom in the most desirable part of town that was declared to have been "hoodooed." Even the leading merchants and business men of the town shared in this belief, and for periods of one, two and three years the store would remain in possession of rats, bluebottle flies and big gray spiders, who weaved webs across the large plate glass windows.

At long intervals merchants coming from a distance who were prospecting for an opening would lease the store of its venerable owner and put in a stock of goods, meanwhile congratulating themselves that they had secured a fine opening. Customers came and for a time prospects looked bright for a good business, but there was frequently something in the manner of purchasers that the merchant could not understand. It was just the opposite from inspiring confidence in continued patronage, and after a few weeks when the merchant had become better acquainted little remarks reached his ears, through the clerks, that were not at all encouraging to a man who had invested his all in a big stock of goods.

"Nice store, of course," said a lady who was pleased with her bargains, "and I do wish Mr. Blank could stay, but as this is the only available storeroom in town, I suppose he will soon close up."

"Why shouldn't he remain in this room?" asked her companion, who was a visitor from another city.

"Well, you see," explained the other, "this room is hoodooed. Almost every line of business has been tried here and they have all failed. During the last ten years the only business men who would rent it are those who are ignorant of its history. Their coming and going furnishes bankrupt sales and bargains. When a man moves in with a stock of goods people simply shake their heads and say 'poor fellow, I am sorry for him,' but he is not told until it is too late."

So matters progressed until a few months ago, when an enterprising grocer from Chicago moved into the store with a large stock of goods which he at once proceeded to advertise judiciously. He did business on a cash basis and attracted a good patronage. This incurred the enmity of the old resident grocers, who had been content with the old methods of long credits and who labored under the impression that their stores were sufficiently well known without advertising.

The man in the "hoodooed" store was not long in learning of his imaginary handicap, but he was not the least discouraged. Perhaps he might have been greatly alarmed had he known the real cause of the failure of his predecessors in the room, but he was not long in finding out. One day his mail brought him a letter from his Chicago jobber. In the letter was enclosed a typewritten letter from a firm of local attorneys, the contents of which ran :

Gentlemen,—It is understood that Mr. ———, a grocer doing business here is heavily involved and will be closed out by his creditors within a few days Should you have any claim upon him for goods furnished, it will receive immediate attention in our hands. We advise immediate action, as we have other claims to push.

The next post brought a copy of the above which had been sent to a well-known manufacturing firm. With it was a letter from the firm assuring the grocer that the manager had the utmost confidence in his integrity and ability to pay.

Well, the grocer smelled something "rotten in Denmark" and was not long in finding it out. To be brief, he discovered that the firm of lawyers had been practising this game on newcomers for many years. It had been an easy matter for them to find out the names of firms with whom these merchants did business. They then, by sending a number of alarming letters at the same time, precipitated a rush for a settlement which few merchants could stand, even when they had been in business for years.

So the real nature of the hoodoo influence was discovered by a plucky grocer who is doing business at the old stand. It is still called the "hoodooed" store, and even advertised as such, but the influence of the mysterious witch has driven the attorneys to another city.

WELL DONE, LEAMINGTON.

The merchants of Leamington have organized under the style of the Leamington Business Men's Association. The officers are :

Presidents, Geo. F. Cronk.
Vice-president, W. A. Gardiner
Secretary, James Fisher.
Treasurer, George Jackson.
Executive Committee, William Smith, W. J. Smith, W. D. Cox, F. Mettam, S. G. Morse.

Meetings of the association are to be held each Friday evening.

CORRUGATED IRON AND FIRE BRICK WANTED.

The E. B. Eddy Co., Ltd., Hull, Que. are evidently not finding business at a standstill. They are asking for figures on an iron frame roof to be covered with bolted corrugated iron for the boiler house to be erected for the new eight-boiler battery, about the installation of which reference was made some time ago by this paper. Besides this, the company is in the market for 3,000 to 4,000 large key arch fire bricks, 17,000 to 20,000 square fire bricks and 7 or 8 tons of fire clay.

ADVICE TO CHEESE MEN.

Editor GROCER,—I am in receipt of a cable from Mr. Grant which explains the cheese situation on the other side of the water, and will be found of the most vital importance to dairymen here so far as the early make of fodder cheese is concerned.

It is only necessary to refer the farmers to the glutted state of the cheese market during the early part of the season 1896, and they must fully appreciate the fact that the prices which went so very low would have gone still lower had it not been for the urgent appeals of the cheese trade advising the factorymen against the manufacture of fodder cheese, and the response to that appeal on the part of the factorymen in refraining from making fodders.

Now there seems to be a general disposition on the part of the factorymen to start making cheese as soon as possible this spring, and it is very necessary to point out to the factorymen that this would just undo all the good that has been done last year by curtailing the make of fodders last spring and Novembers last fall. The good effect has been amply seen in the prices that were realized for the fall make.

I would, therefore, urge the factorymen to take the advice as given in Mr. Grant's cable, as he is in a position to know the state of the market on the other side, and would certainly not give such advice without very careful consideration, and I feel confident that if our farmers will give the matter their careful consideration they must admit that it is good, sound advice.

Yours, etc.,
ALEX. W. GRANT,
per S. C. Oxton.

Montreal, March 13, 1897.

[Translation of cable received from Mr. Grant from Liverpool :

Advise the cheese factorymen throughout the country not to open their factories before May 1st. Canadian fodder cheese are being offered in thousands for future delivery on the English market at a price equal to seven cents in Montreal, thus causing great demoralization in the trade.

The largest English jobbers are forming a combination not to buy fodder cheese at any price. If farmers will persist in making fodders they will ruin the price of grass cheese and also destroy confidence in the future of the market.

The supply of fall made cheese in England will fill the requirements of the trade at the present rate of consumption until July 1st.

Filled cheese are being imported from the States in defiance of the law, being double bandaged, and having the branding smudged in order to evade the regulation of the Revenue Department.

"BOVRIL" IN CANADA.

THE JOHNSTON FLUID BEEF CO., of Montreal, have sold out their business, including all patents, trade marks, etc., to the "Bovril Limited," of London, England, and the business in future will be carried on at the old stand, No. 27 St. Peter street, Montreal, under the style of "Bovril Limited." The enterprise of the new concern is well known in Great Britain, where the legend "Bovril" is quite as familiar as "Pear's" to the general public. It may be interesting to the readers to know that one of the gentlemen most prominent in the new company's councils is Mr. Johnston, the patentee of the Johnston's fluid beef. Mr. Johnston sold out his Canadian rights to Mr. Clark some years ago, and now the two companies have been combined. The following circular has been issued to the trade :-

Notice is hereby given that the business of the Johnston Fluid Beef Co., together with all patents, trade marks, etc., etc., has been purchased by the Bovril Limited, of London, England, and will in future be carried on at the old stand No. 27 St. Peter street, Montreal, under the style of Bovril Limited. Soliciting a continuance of the patronage so liberally bestowed on the J. F. B. Co. for the past fifteen years,

Respectfully yours,
Bovril Limited.

Having disposed of our business, together with all our interest in the trade marks, patents, etc., etc., connected with same, to Bovril Limited, of London, England, we hereby take this opportunity of thanking our numerous friends and patrons for the liberal support accorded us in the past, and respectfully request a continuance of the same to our successors.

Respectfully yours,
The Johnston Fluid Beef Co.

LOW PRICED REGISTERS NOW OFFERED.

There has been a mistaken idea among many retail merchants that National Cash Registers cannot be bought for less than $200 or $300. The fact is, that the National Cash Register Co. makes 90 different kinds and classes of National Cash Registers, which range in price from $8 to $350. They can suit not only the needs but the pocket-book of every retail merchant. They have just put upon the market the line of low-priced retail-adding cash registers as announced in their regular advertisement which appears in this issue. These registers range in price from $10 to $350. The National Cash Register Co. also have on hand a number of "Nationals" and other second-hand cash registers, which have been taken in part payment for their latest improved "Nationals," and which they will sell at low prices.

Drop a card to Department "W," the National Cash Register Co., Dayton, Ohio, U.S.A., and they will tell you more regarding these new machines.

THERE is this about it. We want you to know more about the good quality of our Brushes, Brooms and Woodenware, so we ask you to send for an illustrated book we've made for you. It is something more than the ordinary paper catalogue. It is leather backed. It will last for years. It is worth sending for because it will save you money. It tells why our Brushes, Brooms and Woodenware are best for you to buy. The prices in it will please you. Send for it to-day. It is Free.

CURRENT MARKET QUOTATIONS

Toronto, Mar. 18, 1897.

This list is corrected every Thursday. The prices are solicited for publication, and are for such qualities and quantities as are usually ordered by retail dealers on the usual terms of credit.

Goods in large lots and for prompt pay are generally obtainable at lower prices.

All quotations in this department are under the direct control of the Editor and are not paid for or doctored by any manufacturing or jobbing house unless given under their name, the right being reserved to exclude such firms as do not furnish reliable information.

The Question is

Are you satisfied with the quality of the Starch you are selling? Are your customers satisfied with the quality of the Starch they are buying? If not, perhaps a trial of our goods would create a better feeling on both sides of the counter.

No woman will use poor Starch in preference to good Starch. That's the reason why a trial always leads to constant use of

HOW TO DEAL WITH THE DEPARTMENT STORE PROBLEM.—Continued.

[BY E. A. STEVENS.]

THE discovery of printing caused the formation of intellectual property; the progress of handicraft and industry the protection of inventions.

And the more the economic traffic was liberated from the craft limitations of the middle ages, the more necessity there arose for the state to use its power in legislating for the protection of fair competition.

All these laws have a concrete meaning. They protect a brochure, a painting, a photograph, an invention, or a trade mark,

They punish, therefore, only that unfair competition which directly touches one of those objects.

When anybody, for instance, invites the public, by untrue statements, or by giving bad accounts of or statements against a competitor; he does not, in reality, damage a palpaple property. Therefore, it has been long before the lawmaker has found how to afford protection.

In France this has been realized in the most thorough fashion. Article 1382 of the Civil Code gives the occasion, therefore it says: Anybody's action, of whatsoever kind, by which damage is caused to another person, obliges the one who has caused said damage to indemnify for the same.

Taking this clause for foundation, the French jurisprudence has built an entire system. The relations between business men and customers are, therefore, considered as a property in law. An indecent invasion of these relations is considered in the light of unfair competition, and as giving such a right to indemnification. The different forms of unfair competition come under several heads.

1. Making use of particular marks.
2. Calumniating a competitor.
3. Using another's trade mark.

Moreover the law includes in unfair competition rebate sales and the revealing of manufacturing secrets.

The failure to understand the matter aright, which had, until now, been shown by the courts, made the lawmaker fear that it would be impossible for the judges to come so soon to a recognition of a general principle, as the interest of an organized business traffic required. The lawgiver grouped, therefore, together several actions which until now had been most conspicuous as misdemeanors.

1. Protection against unfair advertising. (Reclaim.)
2. Protection against calumniating.
3. Protection against causing substitution by unfair use of a name, firm or particular trades mark.

Protection for craft and business secrets.

Police regulation about deceit in quantity (weight, etc.)

The bottom idea is that all these acts are unjust criminal actions.

THE MEANING OF SUBJECTIVE RIGHT.

Next to the settled proposition that the exercise of a trade or business is a subjective right it is pre-eminently necessary to correctly understand what is meant by unfair competition, to limit this subject right according to quantity and meaning. Even with the French, by whom industry is not really considered as a subjective right, but only as a consequence of general freedom of trade, is it determined that this freedom is limited to fair traffic.

But in order to come to an exact juristic comprehension of this subjective right the extensive idea of fair traffic cannot be taken in consideration. For the perceptions about fair trade are very different. The meaning of this subject right has to be determined by itself. It is found in the aim of industry. The only aim of industry is, like has been shown before, to procure for itself sale, and reward for services, therefore custom. The right here considered as subjective right, can, therefore, not stretch further than to procure custom.

DEFINITION OF COMPETITION.

As long as only one person tries to attain a certain aim, no competition can take place. The competitor fails. But as soon as another finds the same aim worthy of attaining, competition begins. A plurality of people trying for the same single aim is therefore the first desideratum of competition. Sameness of the aim includes its singleness. In this is included the endeavor to outstrip the other, and prevent him from reaching the common aim. This follows naturally from the sameness of the aim and the knowledge that others also try for it. Nothing more belongs to the meaning of competition. Above all, the sameness of the ways of activity by which said aim shall be reached are not necessary.

The circumstance that two people strive for the same thing, and both try to attain it for himself, brings their different activity in comparison. The aim of both is the price for that activity which proves itself the strongest in reaching the goal. Every competition includes, therefore, a comparing, a weighing, a measuring of forces in concerning their ability to reach the aim. In swimming the ability of two human beings is measured, or in the art of rowing try each other's strength, etc.; which different activities are brought in comparison depends on the different lines of competition. But the reality is that in competition all activity or forces that are brought to bear, aim at the same goal. Not the goal but the way in which it is reached defines the art of the competition. But everywhere where several activities try for the same aim, there exists necessarily a competition and therefore a comparing of the activities with each other.

MEANING OF UNFAIR COMPETITION.

The competition does not become unfair only because the impeding or favoring circumstances are unfair by themselves, even outside of competition. It regards not the unfairness of the means for attaining the end in themselves, but their unfairness in regard to the circumstances of the competitor, and his activity.

The conduct of two merchants, both receiving stolen goods, can be legal as far as they are concerned to each other. On the contrary, very fair means to reach an end, when used in competition, can be foul and not allowable. For instance, there is a rowing race. If one contestant was going to use sails it would certainly be an unfair race. The use of sails per se is, however, neither unfair nor immoral.

Competition is therefore not unfair by the means used to reach the aim per se, but only as relation of the means of the one to those of the other competitors, who are to be compared in competition. Such a comparing and measuring of activities compared in competition naturally takes place only when both contestants only use the (to be) compared means. When any other means are employed, the competition in consideration becomes immediately a competition of another kind; the original is lost. Have we to do with an oar race, such can only take place when both contestants use oars. Have we to do with a race between sailing and rowing such can only be when rowing is opposed solely by sailing. Same way it is when means are used which impede those of a competitor without themselves having means in comparison.

Competition becomes, therefore, unfair by introduction of impeding or favoring means, which cannot be set off in the trial. When the rival activity is changed and does not stay fair then the results of the competition cannot be pure or fair either.

The third party outside the struggle is not harmed by unfair competition, only the interest that the competitor has in reaching the disputed goal is hurt. That shows plain when one simply prevents the other to exercise his competitious activity. He stands equal with every outsider who can use the same means of preventing. But the same relation exists when means are used which unfairly favor our own activity.

There are as many different competitions as there are aims, that people want to attain, or means to attain them by. It is obvious that it is not the duty of the law to protect every trade as such and punish its unfair competitor. The object is whether the interests that are injured during the unfair competition need protection per se.

It is a long time since it was made clear that such protection is necessary in competition.

We have seen before that the aim of every business man is trade and reward for his business labor, custom. If the services of one tradesman are of the same kind as those of another, if they tend both to fulfil the same wants of people as those of another, both competitors address themselves in order to find market for their services to people with the same wants. This, however, does not constitute competition between the two. For if one caters to the needs of people in China and the other to those in Germany, they are, notwithstanding the sameness of the wants, not competitors. Their field is different, their aim although identical, not the same. But competition originates immediately when the circle of persons to whom the tradesman wants to sell his services is the same. When two tradespeople try both to secure, each for himself, one custom, say of a town or a county, for the same wants by the same services. For with the same aim starts the competition. And the more different trades appear the more will they touch each other's custom circle, and the more are they exclusively dependent on the same custom. The more of them try to reach the same goal the sharper becomes the competition. Therefore it is natural that there should be competition in industry by the fact that many conduct the same business, and are forced, by the superfluity of the trades, to address themselves for custom to the same circle.

SELLING FALSE QUANTITIES.

Some articles are in retail only sold by certain quantities, which quantities are recognized by the certain accustomed way of packing—as cocoa, thread, soap, candles, steel pens, etc.

The consequence, particularly in the thread and yarn trade, was that the seller lessened the quantity, but sold in a form which led the public to believe said quantity to be there. This trick can hurt the public when it has to pay the full price, as the competitor, when it is sold under price, giving the public the idea that it receives the same quantity for less money.

Every action is also unfair which, although tending to procure custom, does not consider the free will of the buyer, and therefore destroys the entire meaning of custom.

It is unfair competition when a competitor or a manufacturer usurps any right whatsoever belonging to another dealer or manufacturer.

It is natural that the unfairness of competition is mostly found wherever there is the greatest freedom of competition, and per contra, constituted unions which keep sufficient order. Therefore demand for protection against unfair competition is made immediately in consequence of the introduction of freedom in trade, and it is not chance, but necessity, if the French law courts ever since the revolution, which gave freedom in trade to the French, also render protection against unlawful competition.

As a necessary corelation to the centrifugal element, competition included in freedom of trade, comes therefore the centripetal element of prohibition of unfair competition.

Those laws which protect the right of invention or originator. The inventor is as such a profession of substantial value, before which its capacity of being used as a means of sale in business recedes entirely.

The taking hold of it by the law dates back to the origin of the law for the protection of labels, which, in reality, is only a precursor of the present law. The member of the commission, Roerer, tried in the deliberations on the proposed plan for a law to protect labels, to extend said plan to unfair competition. But in order not to impede the quick enactment of the proposed label law, which was pressingly necessary by the changes in the old label law, this extension was given up. But the Reichstag recommended to the federated governments to lay before it as soon as possible a proposal for a law by which unfair competition in business and trade should be counteracted.

In the Reichsanzeiger appeared then a proposal for a law against unfair competition. After having been debated on and considerably criticised, this proposal has been with some changes laid before the Reichstag. It has received some more changes as well in the debate in commission as in the acceptance resolutions at the Reichstag.

The new law has taken the same road of former laws, to protect only certain means of traffic and to forbid traffic by certain unfair means, and to menace the use of these last under certain circumstances with punishment. But it has enlarged the circle of these means a great deal indeed, compared to formerly, so that in fact a great part of unfair competition is included. This bringing into prominence of some unfair acts is well calculated to counteract unfair competition with punishment, but not so well when it concerns the question of damages. The amalgamation of civil and criminal regulations has not been favorable to the law. It is not the intention of the law to furnish a license to all cases of unfair competition, which it does not mention, in so far as they are liable as violations of law according to general law principles, and does not pretend to be the only regulations as regard to this matter. And it is devoutly to be hoped that the courts will apply the Golden Rule, which is given in Vol. 27 of the decisions of the Supreme Court. "It is by means of analogy that the courts apply the existing laws to the newly originated phenomenons of life."

Another portion of the explanation of the aforesaid law says: "The law does not aim at the protection of the interest of the customer of trade services, but at the protection of the tradespeople."

The one who brings an action for damages must be a business man, not only, but one whose business is in competition which brings into prominence that the action must be with the object of maintaining fair competition. But the law affects only him who makes them in favor of the competitor in order that the sale of trade services be made to the injury of another and, therefore, in favor of himself.

UNTRUTHFUL ADVERTISEMENTS.

In reference to the publication of false advertisements, the responsibility does not rest on the publisher, as it says that "he who makes the false announcements is to be considered, not as a participant, but as a tool simply of him who makes the declaration." It is where the sales circle to which the business men will dispose of their efforts are the same, and when the efforts which they dispose of, and for which they try to establish custom is the same or identical. When these conditions coincide only have the persons, to be considered customers, the choice.

Further, it does not cut any figure whether the advertisement is more or less quacklike and obtrusive. It naturally follows when several tradespeople compete that they should solicit the customers for their wares. To accomplish this the offer on the part of the business man must necessarily be an advantageous one to the purchasers. He may call special attention to such circumstances as "better quality, lesser price," which make his offer appear more favorable to the customer than that of his competitor. There is nothing wrong in that.

This competing for custom has, however, a limit and this is constituted by the conceptions of custom itself.

When this is lost sight of the causing of the appearance of an extraordinary offer becomes unfair competition. Since it can only be considered to be genuine custom as long as the buyer has the free choice to become customer or not it must follow that as soon as the advertising injuries said "free choice" it transgresses the limits, introduces an activity that does not compare with that of the competitor and thereby renders competition unfair. This is done when deceit or misconception is connected with the advertising. This misconception is then caused by this deceit and not by the quality of the services. The deception which is apt to cause the semblance of a particularly favorable offer must, according to law, have been caused by untrue statements of matters of fact.

When prize marks are false then the business man who makes use of them, not only enlarges his custom at the cost of those who do not possess them, but also at the cost of those who do.

Everyone has the right to sell these goods for what price he chooses, even when thereby he lowers the prices of the other merchants, but the price may not be lowered by pretended false facts. Here there is, in fact, no lowering of price at all compared with the other competitors, the buyer receives de facto less goods for less money, but he believes, trusting to the outward appearances of the package, that the customary measure is given, but that he pays less for it. The law speaks generally about the "origin" of the goods. The origin mark can have relation as well to the person of the producer as to the place of production.

Permutations are not only possible between marks, but also between marks and names of goods. For instance, a soap which is sold under the name "Star" soap can be mistaken for another soap which the competitor has provided with a package ornamented with stars.

The liability for causing substitution should always be judged from the standpoint of the consumer.

The law on unfair competition does not contain any limitation either in regard to the there-mentioned localities. The source of origin can, therefore cover single pieces of ground, towns, larger or smaller districts, provinces, states and countries. For instance, Solinger cutlery, Bielefelder linen, Brussels lace, Lyons silk, English steel, Holland cheese, etc.

When a product undergoes several phases of manufacturing and receives them at different places, then it is decided by the rule of the traffic, or rather of the buying public to which place and to which phase a mark of origin has reference.

Fraudulent advertising is ruinous as much to the purchaser as the competitor. Look how labor and everything else has descended to a sort of sodden state in this country since its advent. Its workings are a blight on humanity. Look at our social conditions to-day! The vast department stores swallowing up the lesser merchants. The trusts and combines dictating terms of trade to retailers and consumers covering the necessaries of life, while forcing down wages. The tiller of the soil cannot now make enough to pay his taxes; capita and labor, land and landless, employer and employe confront each other. Wild imaginings and hostile thoughts grow day by day. Society is being more and more unequally divided into rich and poor, and those who frame our laws and carry on our Government consider these conditions natural and unavoidable. Instead of removing social and trade inequalities their policy has been directed solely to the advantage of predominant interests, resulting in breeding a pauper class and entailing immense expenditures on workhouses and prisons consequent on man's social debasement and selfish competition.

The fact is, that excessive greed and inordinate selfishness are brutalizing and degrading man. Society rests, as it were, on a volcano and strife reigns everywhere. Why? There are many reasons, but not a few of those can be attributed to the inadequacy of our business laws.

The day of statesmen seems to have disappeared. Instead we have sharp, shrewd corporation advocates who cringe before the brigands of trade and ruthlessly trample on the rights of the humbler but more useful members of society.

Perhaps no class are directly responsible for this state of affairs, because it is in the order of our social evolution and foreshadows the decay of systems inadequate to the needs of the hour. It is the outcropping of the present tyrannical vices of trade.

If these forces continue to intensify, as they have done recently, we shall expect that all good patriotic American citizens who are defrauded out of a chance to make a decent living by these indecent frauds will quietly perish in the midst of plenty as politicians have utterly failed to attain the highest good for the individual which is indispensable for the welfare of the whole—it is the paramount duty of the business interests—the great body of the trading class—to rise up in their might and rescue our nation by honest and rational methods from perhaps the horrors of a revolution, which is likely in the end to result from the one-sided tendency of our laws or I should say their interpretation.

No one can forecast the contingencies that may hasten or delay this desideratum. One thing is inevitable. We must look to the higher laws that older civilizations have found necessary to equalize the conditions of competition. If we could only generalize our patent and copyright laws which are enforced against any intent to deceive, then we could soon abolish the present legalized leeches of trade. Then by impartial justice, coupled with liberty secured by law, with rights acknowledged and duties voluntarily assumed, would arise the humanity of the future, vigorous in health, blest with the best faculties, unburdened by false estimates of success, unblighted by the curse of our modern "bargain" counter and fresh with the spirit of "live and let live."

MALT VINEGAR.

MALT vinegar is an article which is brewed from malt and grain. To be pure it must contain no added acids or chemicals. England is the great manufacturing centre of this description of vinegar, a vinegar which is produced by the process of brewing and subsequent fermentation and acetification. In regard to aroma, taste and preserving qualities, malt vinegar, as everyone knows, stands high. The demand for malt vinegar is steadily increasing in all the great British colonies, a good evidence of its quality.

Purnell, Webb & Co., of Bristol, England, have brewed their celebrated pure malt vinegars for over 100 years. Samples have frequently been taken for analysis under the Food and Drugs Adulteration Act (England), but have never had the slightest reflection cast upon them, while on the other hand, eminent analysts have given splendid reports on the absolute purity and high character of their goods.

They are favorably situated for exporting their goods to Canada, the firm's brewery being at a large port on the western coast, with good and regular service of steamers, charging moderate freights, running direct to Montreal during the summer months.

The firm have been steadily but quietly working up a trade with Canada for the past ten years, and last spring the managing partner was in Canada to appoint agents in the principal cities and arrange for further developing their export trade to the Dominion, which they value highly. A specialty of the firm for export trade is a pure spiced malt vinegar, containing a splendid blending of the best pickling spices, thoroughly matured, the use of which saves the purchaser all cost of spices and reduces the labor of pickling to a minimum.

Every possible care is taken to ensure fixed standards of strength, quality and color, good strong casks and prompt delivery of goods.

The prices and merits of Purnell, Webb & Co's vinegar are well worthy of being examined by the wholesale trade of Canada.

CURRANT SITUATION.

In their circular dated March 1, Hancock & Wood, of Patras, Greece, say of currants: "According to our last report, dated 8th ultimo, total shipments of currants amounted to 121,039 tons, and stocks remaining on this side for shipment were put down at about 20,000 tons. We have since found that this figure is excessive; shipments since 8th ultimo have amounted to 3,500 tons, principally for the Continent, and stocks in Greece and the islands, according to the most reliable information, are only: Pyros, 5,800 tons; Calamata, 2,350 do; Filiatra, Gargaliano, etc., 1,000 do; Patras (principally provincial), 1,500 do; Pylos, 450 do; Missolonghi, Nauplia, etc., 250 do; Zante, including provincial, 430 do; Cephalonia, 1,700 do; total, 13,480 tons; less 15 per cent retention, 2,020 tons; total available for shipment, 11,460 tons; whereas fully 30,000 tons will be required in order to supply markets of consumption with their usual importation. It is needless to say that, under these circumstances, the market is advancing daily. To-day nothing can be had under 13s. 3d. c.i.f. London, half-cases, marks 12 Caf. Rotterdam, bags and francs, 28 Caf. Rouen. There is considerable demand from France, but French buyers will not yet pay above price."

ORANGES AND THE U. S. TARIFF.

The Dingley bill puts a duty of ¾c. per lb. on oranges and lemons, if it becomes law, says The Fruit Trade Journal, and at least the United States weighers will have a busy time, and the importers will have to see that justice is done to them in the way of tariff. The rate talked about will be equal to at least 50c. per box on oranges and 60c. on lemons. It will not stimulate the early orange business next season, unless there should be a failure of what is expected from Florida, etc. Steamer folks will have to concede something on the rates of freight so as to help business.

PRESENTATION TO J. M. DILLON.

A NUMBER of the members of the Western Ontario Commercial Travelers' Association assembled in the association's rooms, Masonic Temple, London, on Saturday afternoon, to give expression to their esteem for their ex-president, J. M. Dillon, of A. M. Smith & Co., wholesale grocers.

J. M. Dillon.

At the meeting of the association held in December last, the members resolved to give a tangible expression of their appreciation of the services of their retiring president, who had held the position during the past two years. A committee was appointed to make the necessary arrangements, consisting of Wm. Gray (chairman), C. E. Perry, H. G. Collamore, Samuel Munro. Harry Line, Bert Wilcox, J. M. Logan, F. H. Crabbe, John T. Green, James Granger, J. C. Hazard, T. P. Blackwell and Alfred Robinson.

The committee discharged its duties well. Through the assistance of Mr. Bowman, of Bowman, Kennedy & Co., a handsome silver service of a novel design, consisting of twelve pieces, was procured and presented to Mr. Dillon as before stated, on Saturday, together with an illuminated address.

President Gray read the address, which was as follows:

Dear Sir,—We, the members of this association, on your retirement from the office of president, take the opportunity of expressing our deep sense of obligation for the very able and courteous manner in which you have discharged the duties during your two years' term.

We beg your acceptance of the accompanying silver service, and beg to express our most cordial wishes for the happiness and prosperity of yourself and family.

Signed on behalf of the association:

WILLIAM GRAY, president.
SAMUEL MUNRO, treasurer.
ALFRED ROBINSON, secretary.

The sentiments expressed in the address were emphasized by a number of the members present, and Mr. Dillon replied in a neat speech.

Among those present were Messrs. R. C. Struthers, W. L. Underwood, G. A. McGillivray, E. R. C. Struthers, R. W. Coates, and James A. Kennedy.

EXPORTS OF BRITISH TEAS.

The increase in the demand for Indian and Ceylon teas in foreign countries may be seen by the following comparison of exports during the past six years:

	Pounds		Pounds
1891	14,643,751	1894	28,773,886
1892	18,405,237	1895	36 739.126
1893	25,830,818	1896	42,324,202

HINTS TO BUYERS.

[This department has become so popular that many more notices than there is space for are received every week. In future only important items of information will be inserted. Contributors are requested to send news only, not puffs of goods they handle, or the arrival of standard goods that everyone has in stock, or that they are offering goods at close figures, or that they have had an unusually large sale this season.]

SHIPMENTS of medium-grade Ceylons, Pekoe Souchongs and Pekoes are to hand with the Davidson & Hay, Ltd. These teas show good value in the cup for 25c. lines.

Demerara sugar is selling well with the Davidson & Hay, Ltd.

McWilliam & Everist have a shipment of extra fine Messina lemons arriving.

A shipment of "Jupiter" Vostizza currants arrived this week for the Eby, Blain Co., Ltd.

T. B. Escott & Co. have in stock a carload of nice light syrup in half barrels at 28c. per gallon.

The Eby, Blain Co., Ltd., are offering the American Cereal Co.'s Farina in 1-pound packages.

The Davidson & Hay, Ltd., are quoting close figures this week on choice Patras currants in half-cases.

Some attractive values are offering by Lucas, Steele & Bristol in sardines in tomato sauce, ¼'s.

The Eby, Blain Co., Ltd., announce that they are this week offering special value in all kinds of fish.

Warren Bros. & Co. have a large shipment of "Ruby" brand California prunes arriving this week.

W. H. Gillard & Co. have on the way a large shipment of Gillard's pickle and Gillard's new sauce.

T. B. Escott & Co. are offering 2,500 lbs. of whole roasted Rio coffee in barrels or kegs at 16c. per lb.

"Gilt Edge" orange marmalade, very fine quality, is offered by Lucas, Steele & Bristol, packed in 6 and 7-lb. pails.

Shipments of 3-crown California loose muscatels and California prunes arrived this week for the Davidson & Hay, Ltd.

T. Kinnear & Co. have taken into stock a shipment of "Santa Cruz" California prunes, 40's to 50's and 60's to 70's.

Clemes Bros. are unloading a carload of fancy lemons, and they have two carloads of "Date Palm" California oranges arriving this week.

A. P. Tippet & Co., Montreal, report a brisk demand for Lazenby's solidified soup squares. There are twelve varieties; boxes of one dozen assorted.

Dawson & Co. have arriving this week a carload of extra large grades of Valencia oranges. They have taken into stock a shipment of Messina lemons.

The Eby, Blain Co., Ltd., report the arrival of a shipment of "Santa Cruz," "Harvest" brand and Griffin & Skelly's California prunes, 40-50, 50-60, 60-70, 80-90, 90-100's, in boxes of 25 lbs.

The Eby, Blain Co., Ltd., report that the sales of their cleaned currants are increasing daily. They have three brands—"Kalamos," "Morea" and "Vonitsa."

T. B. Escott & Co. have just purchased another large pack of canned goods. They are offering 2,000 cases at 50c. for corn and 65c. for peas. They have 100 bags of dried peaches at 6c. per lb.

The high-grade grocery specialties of L. A. Price, Bordeaux, France, are well known to the trade in Canada. This concern has, up to the present, not been directly represented in Canada. This spring, however, A. P. Tippet & Co., Montreal, have been appointed Canadian agents for this well-known house.

HAMILTON PURE FOOD SHOW.

HAMILTON'S Pure Food Exposition is going to be the grand success that energy, pluck and hard work deserves. The committee of the Retail Grocers' Association and the School of Domestic Science are confident of this, but are nevertheless working all the harder. It is estimated that during the week beginning Monday, April 5th, and ending Saturday, April 10th, over 25,000 people will visit the drill hall to see and learn from the interesting and instructive features of a Pure Food Exposition. It is going to be a great show in every respect, and there can be heard on all sides expressions that should prove very pleasant to the promoters.

Chairman F. R. Close reports that all the spaces allotted for exhibitors have been taken with but two exceptions, and he says that there are at least ten firms considering these two. He is pleased that the best houses in the country are supporting this affair, thereby showing that they at any rate appreciate the advantages to them from an exhibit at an exposition of this nature.

In the way of attractions, perhaps a most interesting feature will be the ten-year-old girl twins making butter in the dairy booth in the latest scientific and most improved methods. From the very beginning of the process to the end they do the work themselves, and they thoroughly understand their business. It is said that it is next thing to being utterly impossible to tell them apart and there is not an ounce difference in their weight.

Housekeepers on all hands are looking forward to Mrs. Rorer's lectures, and from present indications, such as fast ticket-selling, etc., the seating capacity of 1,000 in the lecture room will not be sufficient. Mrs. Rorer's reputation all over the continent as a speaker on household questions makes her lectures of great value.

Farmers' day, Thursday, April 8th, will, no doubt, be the biggest day of all. The attractions for this day are especially numerous and varied, and every farmer and his family in Wentworth and surrounding counties will receive a special invitation to attend. Musical talent—band, orchestra and vocal—will be at the Exhibition every evening in the very best quality obtainable, and other means are being taken to vary the interesting and instructive features in other pleasant ways.

Excursions to the Pure Food Show are at present occupying the minds of the Transportation Committee and of the railway officials. Special rates will be given on nearly all lines and special arrangements made. The ladies of the Schools of Domestic Science in Brantford and London have signified their intentions of sending a large number of their members, and the wholesale and retail grocers of all the surrounding cities, towns, etc., it is expected will also attend. Physicians' Day will also have its quota of visitors to the city.

The programme for the week is as follows:

Monday	Opening Day.
Tuesday	Physicians' and Invalids' Day.
Wednesday	Grocers' Day.
Thursday	Farmers' Day.
Friday	Citizens' Day.
Saturday	Education Day.

The committee would like to have the grocers from outside towns and cities attend. Those who make known their intention of going to Hamilton will receive complimentary tickets from the secretary, W. J. Tulk.

LATE ADVERTISEMENTS.

[The following items arrived too late for insertion in the regular advertising space. Reading notices inserted in this column at 5c. per word.]

THE popularity of the jams, jellies and marmalade put up by T. A. Lytle & Co. is shown in the constantly increasing sales reported by that firm.

W. H. Gillard & Co. advise that they have still a few boxes left of choice family natural figs, in 28-lb. boxes, at a low figure.

Lucas, Steele & Bristol: "Certainly we believe in molasses; an advance is sure. Prospect of a duty with present low price makes it safe for the buyer."

The Eby, Blain Co., Ltd.: "Our sales of 'Kolona' tea are on the increase. The output last week was enormous. We sent out thousands of pounds."

Lucas, Steele & Bristol: "All our back orders for 4-bar 'Circle' tea are now filled. The cases of ½'s and 1-lb. are packed black and mixed assorted."

THE YOUNG CLERK.

ALMOST every young man who enters a retail country grocery store as a clerk soon becomes imbued with one particular ambition, writes J. M. B. in Grocery World. After he has worked in the business long enough to get a faint idea of the deeper intricacies of it, he often becomes possessed of a strong desire to enter a wholesale house in some city.

Scarcely a young clerk ever lived who did not look forward to a higher position than that which he first occupies where he is generally compelled to take down the shutters at six o'clock in the morning and sweep out. He constantly looks forward and fondly follows up his career, until he has reached his favorite position, which may be that of a shipping clerk in a jobbing house.

A glimpse, then, into the various duties of a shipper, and also into those which he must fulfil in a wholesale house before he arrives at a shipper's elevation, will be both interesting and instructive as a beginning for this department.

When a grocery clerk passes from a country store to a big wholesale house in a large city, he is first put at work handling goods and helping to fill orders. It is hard work, a great deal harder than he has been having, and he only gets about $5 a week for it ; but he must go through with it or he can never expect to secure his coveted position. In a store where there are four or five floors, each filled with classified goods, he is usually started on the top one, in company with an experienced man. He must work on these upper floors until he is thought sufficiently valuable to be promoted to the ground floor, which is that of the shipping clerk.

His work is precisely the same down there, but he has an opportunity to gain an insight into a shipper's duties. He works here until he has thoroughly learned to distinguish different brands of goods, and so render his filling of orders easy and systematic. Then, perhaps, he may become a shipper.

There is a great deal of delusion regarding a shipping clerk's duties. To the entirely uninitiated one, they seem a maze of bewildering intricacies. To the clerk who has a faint inkling of the business they constitute what is commonly termed a "snap." And yet neither is right. A shipper is a very important individual in a wholesale house of any kind, and he has to be thoroughly familiar with just what he should and what he should not do, or he is a dismal failure.

Some houses combine the duties of shipper with those of both receiver and dispatcher. The receiver is supposed to do nothing but receive stock, while the dispatcher simply superintends the loading of out-going goods onto the wagons. When a shipper is all these, he is of course much better acquainted with the whole business, as it practically all runs through his hand.

A shipper, simon-pure, has to fill all orders. He is given the order slips in the morning, or whenever they come in. These he classifies : what part of the building they are to be filled from and to what part of the city they must go. When this is done he enters them in the railroad book, and makes out the order receipts. Then he must personally supervise the filling of the orders. When these are done there is a fresh batch awaiting him. And so on throughout the day.

This does not sound very difficult, but it is generally conceded to be practically the hardest job in the establishment. He must be thoroughly acquainted with the stock, so that he can effectively and quickly fill his orders, and when it is considered that the average house fills on an average of 600 large orders weekly, it doesn't seem such a snap to be a shipper after all.

One of the best shipping clerks in this city was telling me the other day how he learned the business. "The best advice which I could give to a new man," said he, "is for him to be willing to start at the foot and learn. The worst and most common fault of the new man is his extreme self-satisfaction as to the amount of general knowledge he has acquired during the few years he has worked in a small store. He must be quick and ready to pick up things, and he will be sure to get along. And above all things don't keep looking at the clock to see how near closing it is."

EAST INDIA PICKLES.

One of the most delicious pickles ever offered the American or Canadian public is that prepared by Williams Bros. & Charbonneau, of Detroit, Mich., and known as East India pickles. The manufacturers write that they have been almost "swamped" with orders and these have come from several foreign countries as well as from all parts of the United States and Canada. Besides the East India they put up an excellent assortment of mixed pickles, gherkins, chow-chow, pearl onions and catsups, in imperial pint and half-pint bottles, which are meeting with large sales. The Canadian agents for this firm, A. E. Richards & Co., of Hamilton, write that they are taking orders freely for these goods, particularly for the half-pints, which can be retailed at 15c. At this low price we anticipate for the goods a ready sale.

PEANUT SITUATION.

THE Gwaltney-Bunkley Peanut Co. have issued the following on the peanut situation, dated Smithfield, Va,, March 18th : "About the first of May, 1896, the Virginia Peanut Association made a canvass of the stock of Virginia peanuts in Virginia and North Carolina ; the result was a showing of 290,000 bags, as reported to the association May 5th. This was about right, except at a few points the quantity was underestimated. Such was notably the case at Norfolk, and 325,000 bags proved nearer correct. Included in this were a good many old farmers' goods, and 20,000 to 25,000 bags of fancy hand-picked nuts held mostly on speculation, a large portion of them being of 1893 and 1894 crops. This entire stock was closely absorbed and sold into consumption by November 15th, and a smaller quantity was carried over than for several years. In the past two weeks we have looked up the present stock as carefully, we believe, as it can be done ; we cannot find 30,000 bags, and think there are not over 275,000 bags of Virginia nuts in Virginia and North Carolina. A large portion of these are only fit for shelling, and a much larger quantity must be used for low grades of cleaned goods. From the stock of May 5th, 1896, there was available about 175,000 bags fancy hand-picked nuts. From the stock now in sight we do not think over 75,000 bags can be produced, certainly not more than 100,000 bags, and the season to dispose of them is a month and a half longer then when the association made its estimate. About June 1st of last year speculators commenced to realize on their holdings, and offered their goods ¼ to ½c per lb less than association prices, and continued to force them on the market at cut prices until disposed of, which was late in October. This demoralized business in peanuts throughout the country, and was the primary cause of the dissolution of the association. If these speculators' goods had not been in the way, and such persistent effects made to depreciate the value of old goods, it is very probable prices of May 5th would have been sustained. Dealers will congratulate themselves that these two disturbing elements are not with us this season ; speculators hold scarcely any hand-picked peanuts, and there is a minimum quantity of old ones of any kind."

LOW-GRADE PEACHES FIRMER.

Private mail advices from San Francisco are to the effect that low-grade peaches have been clearing up fast and that it will only be a short time when the fancy kinds will begin to move. Consequently, holders of the latter are very firm in their views.

INDEPENDENT OF THE STATES.

INSTEAD of being, as it was designed, a brake upon Canada, the new United States tariff promises to be an impetus-giving factor.

The increased spirit of independence and confidence in our own resources which the aforesaid new tariff has developed makes this evident beyond all peradventure.

Canada has done her part, and more than her part, in trying to bring about closer trade relations with the United States. We have even humiliated ourselves in our efforts to secure the desideratum. But our cousins would have none of us.

Their reciprocity goal is a number of petty half-civilized South American republics. Why this should be so is past man's understanding.

According to the figures collated by the United States Government the total exports of that country during the fiscal year 1896, to the Central American States, South American States and West Indies were valued at $70,683,393. Of this $7,844,880 went to the Central American States, $26,541,529 to the West Indies, and $36,296,984 to South America.

As there are twenty-six countries included in the list appertaning to the three parts of the world in question, it means that the exports to each averaged but $2,718,591 per year. Eight of the countries therein included took less than half a million dollars' worth. Bolivia, in fact, only took $21,907 worth. The largest customer is Mexico, with $19,450,256. Next in order comes Brazil with $14,258,187. These are the only nations the exports to which show eight figures.

Canada, on the other hand, alone last year took nearly $60,000,000 worth of United States products. The exact figures shown by the United States report are $59,689,597, and our own report places the figures at $58,674,024.

Taking the figures as given by the Washington Government, the exports of the United States to Canada are 310 per cent. larger than the largest of her customers in Central or South America or the West Indies.

Nations, like individual merchants, who improperly treat their customers, are sure to suffer thereby. And the United States is certain to suffer for its persistent unfriendly trade treatment of Canada.

Canada has no desire to be estranged from the United States commercially. It is natural that our relationship commercially should be very close. But the demagogue type of politician which predominates in United States politics seems determined that natural conditions shall not obtain. Perhaps by-and-bye the common sense of the people of that country will prevail. Then the current of trade between this country and that may be cleared of the unnatural obstructions that now beset it. But by that time it may be difficult to turn the current back even to its natural channel.

In the meantime Canada must look elsewhere for markets for her surplus produce. And where shall we look to but the British Empire? That is our goal. That is our manifest destiny.

The measure of success we shall attain in reaching it will depend largely upon ourselves. Our destiny is in our own hands. The Motherland may help us, but the duty of working out our salvation devolves chiefly upon ourselves.

We have within our borders everything that is essential to the upbuilding of a great nation. Our natural inland water system is the best in the world. Our soil is capable of great possibilities. Our fisheries are not equalled in the world. Our forests contain wealth untold. In mineral wealth there may be some nations who equal us, but there are none who surpass us.

We have, indeed, a goodly heritage; and all we need to do is to develop it.

With such a wealth of natural resources as Canada possesses, she has no need to be dependent upon the United States. The only thing we are dependent upon is our own energies.

The responsibility resting upon the shoulders of the Federal Government is great. Canada has arrived at an epoch in her history when wise statesmanship in the Federal authorities was never more demanded.

Canada must ultimately become a great commercial nation. But much will depend upon the next few years for the realization of that fact. A false step will mean sooner or later that we shall be compelled to retrace a step in order to get back to the right starting point when we ought to be well on the highway.

Our politicians, those who may be out of power as well as those who may be in power, should be characterized by a minimum of partyism and a maximum of Canadianism.

We need a fast Atlantic service, both passenger and freight, and all hands must unite in securing it.

We need an augmentation of population, and all must assist in inducing it.

We need a better and cheaper cable service across the Pacific and to the West Indies, and here again is a common cause.

We need preferential trade with the British Empire, and here again all hands are called upon deck.

We need more up-to-date business commonsense agents in foreign countries, and here united action is enjoined.

We need to advertise this country more. Even in the country to the south of us, gross ignorance abounds as to Canada and its climatic conditions. Those, either in America or Europe, who sit in darkness in regard to Canada, should have the light of truth disseminated among them. And here is a work to which both political parties and men of all conditions can lend their aid.

What Canada is will depend on what Canadians make her. Let us to the making.

During the first six weeks of 1897 the shipments of tea from Colombo, Ceylon, to Canada and the States were 140,000 pounds, against 44,000 in 1896, showing how steadily the Ceylon teas are working their way into popularity in this country.

COLLAPSE OF DEPARTMENT STORES.

THIS may be the age of department stores, but some of the department stores do not appear likely to attain to maturity, let alone old age.

The fact of the matter is that some of them are getting a dose of their own poison: They are dying from the effects of over-competition. Some are failing outright, others are going into liquidation, and still others are quietly going out of business.

The race is too hot for them. The press despatches show this. But we do not require to go away from home for evidence.

Toronto is, in Canada, the home of the department store. And there within the last couple of years four of this peculiar kind of stores have gone out of business. If we take one house, which assigned and eventually started up again under new ownership, we can make the number five.

The four departmental stores which have gone out of business are : "The Mammoth," R. Walker & Son, McKendry & Co. and Sutcliffe & Co. The last named, it should be explained, will not be finally closed for another week or two.

Special adaptation appears to be demanded for conducting a department store, as well as a good many other things. Evidently the proprietors or managers of some of them are deficient in this quality. Hence the dissolutions, which, of course, provide food for satisfaction for the regular dealers.

Chairman Dingley stated in the United States House of Representatives on Monday that saw logs would be free under the new tariff. He evidently does not wish to be at loggerheads with the Michigan mill-owners.

GLUCOSE.

Glucose touched a figure a few days ago which brought the prices to the lowest on record by about 5c. per 100 pounds. At the price now ruling the duty of 1¼c. per lb. is about 160 per cent., and some sales have been made in Toronto on which this rate was paid. This week, however, a reaction has set in, prices having advanced about 9c. per 100 lbs.

The imports of glucose into Canada are not given separately in the returns, but the imports of "glucose or grape sugar, glucose syrup, or any syrups containing any admixture thereof," were 2,652,477 lbs., valued at $41,813, on which the duty paid was $32,878.41.

Glucose is, of course, used nearly altogether by the confectioners.

The man who was born with a good fund of energy was more richly endowed by Providence than he who came into the world with a silver spoon in his mouth.

SUGAR EXCITED.

THE absorbing topic in grocery circles at present is whether or not a duty will be advised on raw sugar in the tariff which is to be brought down at the ensuing session of Parliament.

The wholesale grocers generally take an affirmative view, and have been acting in accordance therewith.

About ten days ago a leading Montreal concern placed a large order with the refineries, and when the news got round it was intimated that they had a sure tip on the matter.

Other houses, both in Montreal and in the west, followed suit, with the result that quite a large quantity of refined has been put into store by jobbers during the past fortnight or ten days. In fact, during the current week it is claimed that refiners have refused orders except with the proviso of an advance in the event of a certain contingency.

It is worthy of note also that the latter have been heavy buyers of raw sugar in New York during the past ten days, taking in the aggregate over 5,000 tons.

In a word, the general conditions of the market are firm, refiners being heavily oversold in New York.

HE WANTS A MODEL.

A retail grocer in an Ontario town, who proposes opening a department store, writes : "I am desirous of building a new store (departmental) for a $12,000 stock. Can you inform me where I can see an up-to-date store of this character which would serve me as a model."

Remarks : If any of our readers can further the desired information will they kindly address "A. B." care of THE CANADIAN GROCER. THE EDITOR.

THE CHEESE SITUATION.

CHEESE has advanced another 6d. in England, now being quoted at 57s. 6d. The condition of the Toronto market is no criterion as to the condition of the outside market. It is the dumping ground for culls, and at present buyers are waiting for deliveries of new make fodder cheese.

But, generally speaking, a great deal of confidence prevails in regard to the market for choice September and October makes of cheese.

According to advices received from England, the idea seems to obtain there that Canadians have cheese up their sleeve, as it were, ready to be dropped at any time.

Those holding that view are, doubtless, laboring under a delusion.

As far as the province of Ontario is concerned, it is estimated that the stocks of September and October makes of chesse do not exceed two thousand boxes. At this time last year THE CANADIAN GROCER knows one man alone who held 25,000 boxes.

The few who are holding late makes of choice cheese have confidence in the market, and so, apparently, have those who want to buy.

On Tuesday a bid of 11¼c. was made for 500 boxes, but the holder would not take less than 11½c. Although no transaction took place, negotiations are still pending.

EARLY TARIFF PROMISED.

Hon. L. H. Davies, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, during the course of a speech delivered in Aylmer on Saturday night, stated that the budget, together with the new tariff bill, would be introduced early in the session.

It is to be hoped it will be, and the Government should see to it that nothing but impossibilities prevent such being done.

Nearly everyone realizes that a revision of the tariff is necessary, but at the same time the wheels of commerce are revolving very slowly pending the advent of the new bill.

It is to be hoped that the Government fully appreciates this fact, and will bring down the budget at the earliest possible moment.

VANILLA EXTRACTS FIRM.

IT is quite within the possibilities that an advance in the price of flavoring extracts may be witnessed before a great while.

This probability is based upon the advances which have taken place recently in the price of vanilla beans.

These advances during the past eight months have aggregated from five to six dollars per pound. The percentage of increase ranges all the way from 50 to 140.

If these figures are maintained vanilla extract makers declare they will be compelled to advance the price of their product.

Vanilla beans come from Mexico and France, but those from the former country are considered the best.

There is a great deal of adulterated vanilla extract on the market. Some, it is declared, is vanilla in name only, nothing but substitutes being used in the manufacture. It is well that the trade should know this, and buy nothing but the output of reputable houses.

IMPROVED APPLE MARKET.

THIS week's cables announce a better market in Great Britain for apples of good quality. The market there is, however, glutted with poor and wasty fruit.

At the prices ruling last week exporters were losing money, but as values, according to this week's cables, are now ruling about 20c. per barrel higher than then, shippers are coming out about even.

Exports of apples are still large, about 35,000 barrels being shipped from the various Atlantic ports, Canadian and United States, last week.

Up to the end of last week the exports, since the beginning of the season, aggregated, in round numbers, 2,784,000 barrels, against 717,000 for the same period a year ago, an increase of over 985 per cent.

CHEAP TAP FIGS.

There appears to be at present on the Toronto market a more than usually large quantity of tap figs.

As the demand is not as good as last year, owing presumably to the large supply of domestic green and dried fruits, holders are naturally becoming anxious sellers.

In order to reduce stocks, large lots are being freely quoted at 3¼c. per pound, net, and small lots at 3½c. These prices, it is claimed, are below to-day's cost price.

The degree of life which a business enjoys will be the ratio of life which the merchant possesses. The business is but the reflection of the merchant.

GROCERY SALESMEN'S OUTING.

THE drummer, besides knowing how to sell goods, has a faculty of enjoying himself at the same time. In fact he is generally of an optimistic frame of mind, and it is right for the sake of the goods he sells that he should be of this cheerful disposition. A glum, blue looking individual will never turn in many orders to his firm.

Being generally a good fellow, therefore, it is natural to expect that he would be especially so when he started out to find enjoyment for enjoyment's sake, and those who rode out with the Montreal wholesale grocery travelers to the Back river last Tuesday evening will readily endorse this opinion.

The occasion was the second annual gathering of the city travelers and salesmen of the metropolis, and to show that they were not selfish they took along their wives, sisters, and other people's sisters and cousins with them.

There was a nice tasty little banquet, and afterwards the gathering chased the hours in the dance until long after midnight.

At the banquet table President Massicotte presided, and had at the guests' table Ald. H. Laporte, of the firm of Laporte, Martin & Cie.; A. D. Fraser, of Fraser, Viger & Co., and V. Raby, representing the Retail Grocers' Association ; J. H. Lamoreux, and J. A. McLean, of the Canadian Cocoanut Co.

The other members of the association who looked after the general enjoyment of those present were W. H. Dunn, vice-president ; P. Grace ; C. A. Morin, treasurer ; and P. Gannon, secretary, while the committee were J. A. Dionne, N. Lapointe, E. Masse, Jos. Ethier, J. E. Manning, A. E. Cardinal, W. Duckworth, G. Jubinville, W. A. Childs, A. Lacroix, G. Latreille and W. F. Leclerc.

STRONGER MARKET FOR DATES.

ACCORDING to current reports there has been no time when the somewhat erratic market for Persian dates has been so uncertain as at the present time. The principal holders, tired of waiting for the demand from consumers, had sought to move stocks more freely by offering them at auction, but the result, it is claimed, shows that buyers are not to be interested, except when the consuming trade shows a disposition to take hold. The results of the recent auction sales, it is stated, were disappointing to the holders, the quantity disposed of representing a comparatively small part of the stock offered.

However, the holders were not entirely discouraged, as the available supply is claimed by them to be considerably less than that offered at this time a year ago, and consequently they look for higher prices later on. They are supported in their contention for better prices by the statistics, which show that the shipments of new crop were over 20,000 boxes short of the quantity shipped during the same period a year ago, while the requirements of consumption have not apparently decreased. Yet, at the present time, there seems to be enough stock in sight to cover ordinary requirements of consumption between the present time and by arrival of new crop.

The feature of special interest in the market just at present is the prospect of a higher duty and this has stimulated the consuming demand within the past few days, but the movement, according to all reports, has been comparatively light.

London stocks are said to be quite large for this season, but in view of the prospect of an advance of one cent per pound in the duty on Sair and three-quarters of a cent per pound on Hallowees, not much if any more stock will be shipped from there to the United States before the new duty goes into effect, as present spot quotations are from one-half to three-quarters of a cent below the London prices.—N.Y. LATE J. COWAN.

J. Cowan, a gentleman well known to the business community of Canada, died suddenly in Montreal last Tuesday.

Mr. Cowan has not been in active business life for some years, as he retired from the firm of H. Chapman & Co., commission merchants, some years ago. Since his retirement this business has been carried on by the remaining partner, Mr. Walter Wonham, under the style of W. H. Wonham & Co.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

TORONTO, March 25, 1897.

GROCERIES.

THE volume of business during the past week has been of no great proportions. but it is better than it was at the time of our last review. This is probably more in evidence in regard to sugar than anything else, several carload lots having changed hands during the week. Tea, on the other hand, is not receiving much attention. Canned vegetables, particularly peas and tomatoes and low-priced corn, are in fair request. Currants are again a little firmer in the primary market. The most striking feature of the dried fruit market locally is the improved demand which has developed for prunes, and for Californias particularly. Low-priced tap figs are being offered freely. California evaporated fruits are not receiving much attention. In other lines of goods the conditions are much about the same as a week ago.

CANNED GOODS.

Peas and tomatoes are in fairly good request. The tendency of prices in these two lines is upwards. Most wholesale houses appear to have no peas to offer under 75c. This appears to be also the ruling figure for tomatoes. We hear of one retailer endeavoring, without success, to purchase a round lot of tomatoes at 70c. A good enquiry is being heard for low-priced corn, but this seems to have been pretty well cleaned up. Wholesalers are asking 60c. for standard brands. Canned fish of all kinds is in much about the same condition as a week ago. We quote standard brands as follows: Tomatoes, 75c.; corn, 60 to 70c.; peas, 70 to 80c. for ordinary; sifted select, 90 to $1; extra sifted, $1.25 to $1.40; beans, 65 to 95c.; peaches, $2.50 to $3 for 3's, $1.65 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.50 to $1.80; strawberries, $1.65 to $1.95, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.70 to $1.90; cherries, $2 to $2.25; apples, 3's, 70 to 95c.; gallons, $1.65 to $2.25; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.50 to $1.55; cohoes, $1.15 to $1.25; canned mackerel, $1.20 to $1.30; lobsters, $2.25 to $2.40 for tall tins; flats, $2.85 to $2.90; ½-lb. flats, $1.60 to $1.65; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.20 to $1.30; 2's, $2.25 to $2.40; 6's, $7.75 to $8.25; 14's, $15 to $16.

COFFEES.

Wholesalers report a fair demand for Rio coffee at quotations. The outside market is steady. Jobbers quote green in bags: Rio, 14 to 16c., according to grade; East Indian, 27 to 30c.; South American, 21 to 23c.; Santos, 19 to 22½c.; Java, 30 to 33c.; Mocha, 27½ to 30c.; Maracaibo, 18 to 20c.; Jamaica, 19 to 22c.

SYRUPS.

Syrups appear to be scarce, some of the refineries having none to offer. The demand is light, however. We quote: Dark, 23 to 25c.; medium, 28 to 35c.; bright, 32 to 42c.; corn syrup, 3 to 3¼c. per lb.

MOLASSES.

Prices are higher on New Orleans molasses, a telegram received in Toronto this week announcing an advance of 2c. per gallon in the primary market. Bids made at old figures were refused. We quote: New Orleans, barrels, 23 to 35c.; ditto, half-barrels, 25 to 37c.; ditto, fancy, 50 to 55c., in barrels and half-barrels; Barbadoes, 31 to 35c.; half-barrels, 33 to 35c.

SUGAR.

The improvement in the sugar market noted last week has continued, and there is a much better feeling in consequence. Prices remain as before, but there is a hardening tone in sympathy with the outside markets, while business is more active. Several carloads have changed hands during the last few days, chiefly it appears for shipment to points in northern Ontario. Beets were slightly easier in London on Monday. Wholesalers quote granulated at 4 3-16 to 4¼c. for 5 barrels and over, and at 4¼ to 4 5-16c. for less than 5 barrels; 3½c. per lb. upwards for yellows; Demerara crystals, 4 to 4½c.

SPICES.

Business is quiet with no further changes reported as to price. We quote: Pure Singapore black pepper, 10 to 12c.; pure white, 18 to 25c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 23 to 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed

NUTS.

Nuts are quiet and featureless. We quote: Brazil nuts, 11 to 12½c.; Valencia shelled almonds, 18 to 22c.; Tarragona almonds, 9½ to 11c.; peanuts, 10 to 12c. for roasted and 7 to 10c. for green; cocoanuts, $4.50 to $5 per sack; Grenoble walnuts, 12½c.; Marbot walnuts, 9½ to 11c.; Bordeax walnuts, 8 to 9c.: Sicily filberts, 10c. for sacks and 10½ to 11c. for small lots; Naples filberts, 11c.; pecans, 12 to 12½c.

RICE, TAPIOCA, ETC.

Business in these lines is without special feature. We quote: Rice, Standard "B," 3¼ to 3½c.; imported Japan, 5¼ to 5¾c.; tapioca, 3¼ to 4½c.; sago, 3½c.

TEAS.

Spot goods are still being picked up, but there is practically nothing doing otherwise, except in China black teas. Indian and Ceylon teas continue firm in England. Pekoe Souchongs, which were selling there at 6½d. to 8d. last week, advanced ¾d. per lb. Teas that were selling at 1s. 2d. are up 3d. from the lowest point Ruling prices on the Toronto market to retailers are: Young Hyson, 18 to 21c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 14 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 15 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for high grades.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

A cable received a few days ago from Patras stated that the currant market there continued firm. Stocks on the local market are firmly held. The demand is fairly good. We quote as follows: Provincials, 4⅜ to 4½c. in bbls.; fine Filiatras, in bbls., 4½ to 4¾c.; do, half-bbls., 4½ to 4¾c.; Patras, 5 to 5¼c. in bbls., 5⅛ to 5¼c. in half-bbls., and 5⅛ to 5½c. in cases; Vostizzas, cases, 6 to 8c.

There is nothing doing in Valencia raisins. We quote: Off-stalk, 5 to 5¼c.; fine off-stalk, 5¾ to 6c.; selected, 6¾ to 7c.; layers, 7 to 7½c.

California loose muscatel raisins are in much the same condition as Valencia raisins. We quote: 3-crown, 7½c.; 4-crown, 8 to 8½c.

Malaga raisins are devoid of feature. We quote: Dehesa clusters, $3 to $4; Non Plus Ultra, $5 to $5.50; Imperial bunches, $4.50 to $5; Imperial Russian clusters, $4.50 to $5.

Tap figs are being offered at unusually low figures, there being a large stock of them here. We quote: 10 oz., 7½c.; 10 lb., 9 to 10c.; 18 lb., 10 to 12c.; 28 lb., 11 to 13c.; taps, 3¼ to 3½c. net; natural, 4½c. in bags, and 7c. in boxes.

Dates continue quiet. We quote: 5½ to 6c. for Hallowee and 5 to 5¼c. for Kadrowee.

California prunes are in good demand this week, principally at from 7½ to 9½c. Prices have been shaded a little on California prunes owing to the competition of lower grades of other prunes, principally those of Oregon growth. A good many cheap French prunes are going out. Bosnia prunes are in fair request. We quote: Bosnias, U's (110 to 113 half kilo), 6 to 6½c.; C's (85 to 90 half kilo), 7 to 7½c. per lb. California, 90 to 100's, 6½c. per lb.; 70 to 80's, 7½c.; 60 to 70's, 7½ to 8c.; 50 to 60's, 8 to 8½c.; 40 to 50's, 9½ to 10½c.; 30 to 40's, 12½ to 13c.; "Ruby" prunes, 7½ to 8c.; French, 4½ to 5c.

California evaporated fruits are quiet and unchanged. We quote as follows: Peaches, 7 to 10½c. per lb., according to quality; apricots, 6½ to 15c.; pears, 5½ to 10½c.; egg plums, 5½ to 11c.; silver prunes, 8½ to 13½c.

GREEN FRUIT.

ranean sweets and California seedlings. Valencia oranges now on the market are of excellent quality, and they are meeting with a good demand. There are good supplies of lemons on the market and they are meeting with good request. A good trade is reported in bananas. Both Florida and Louisiana strawberries are on the market but they are not much wanted. Apples are in a little better demand locally and slightly higher prices are being obtained. This may be more due to the fact that the farmers' deliveries are not so free as they were. We quote : Oranges—Valencias, ordinary, 420's, $4 to $4.25 per case; large 420's, $5.75 to $6 ; 714's, $4.50 to $5 per case ; marmalade oranges, $3 to $3.50. California navels, $3 to $4.50 per box, according to size. California Tangerines, $3 per box. Lemons—Messinas, $2 to $2.75 per box for both 300's and 360's, and $2.25 to $2.50 for choice ; cocoanuts, $3.75 a sack and 60c. per doz. Apples—Baldwins and Russets, $1 to $1.25 per bbl.; Spies, $1.50 to $2. Onions, $1.50 per 80 lb. bag for Danvers ; cranberries, Cape Cod, $5 to $7 per bbl. and $2.50 per case; Canadian cranberries, $4 to $5 per bbl. ; bananas, $1.25 to $2. Pine apples, 20 to 25c. each. Strawberries, 30 to 40c.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—Good butter of all kinds is scarce, but low grade and medium are still a glut on the market. The price of good to choice butter is higher. Creamery butter is in good demand at steady prices. We quote: Dairy butter—Tubs, 13 to 14c. for good to choice ; low-grade to medium, 7 to 9c.; large rolls, 14 to 15c. for good to choice, and 7 to 10c. for low-grade to medium ; pound prints, 15 to 16c. for good to choice. Creamery—Tubs, 19 to 20c.; 1-lb. blocks, 20 to 21c., according to make.

CHEESE—The cheese market is slightly higher in England. On the Toronto market people are only buying from hand to mouth, awaiting the arrival of fodder cheese. Choice September and October makes are held at 11½ to 12c. per lb.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

BEANS—Dull and unchanged. Ordinary mixed lots are quoted by wholesalers at 40 to 50c. per bushel, and choice hand-picked at 75 to 80c.

DRIED APPLES—The market is dull and weak. The same figures are being paid for choice fruit as before, but ideas are lower in regard to inferior goods. Choice are quoted by wholesalers at 2 to 2½c., and fancy at 2½ to 3c.

EVAPORATED APPLES—There is a little enquiry for evaporated apples for home consumption, but there is no export enquiry. Prices are much as before. Wholesale quotations are: Quarters, 2¾c.; sliced, 3c.; best brands, 4c.

EGGS—The demand is fairly good, but deliveries are liberal and prices lower at 10½c. for lots and 11c. for single cases.

POULTRY—The demand is good and supplies light. We quote: Chickens, 40 to 70c. per pair; turkeys, 10 to 11c. for bright stock; geese, 7 to 8c.; ducks, 70 to 90c.

POTATOES—The market is glutted and prices are easier than before, 18 to 20c. being the idea on track for carload lots, and 28c. out of store for small lots.

MAPLE SYRUP AND SUGAR—There is a little being done in last season's goods. Shipments of this season's syrup are expected in a few days. We quote syrup at 70 to 75c. per gallon and sugar at 8½c. per lb.

FISH AND OYSTERS.

Lenten season and all as it is, trade continues quiet with prices unchanged. We quote: Manitoba white fish, 5½ to 6c.; ditto in kegs, $4.50; frozen trout, 5c.; ditto in kegs, $4.50; pickerel, 6c. per lb.; haddies, 6c. per lb.; Labrador herring, $4.50 to $5 per bbl. and $2.75 per half-bbl.; split herring, $4.50 per bbl. and $2.50 per half-bbl.; boneless fish, 3½ to 4c. per lb.; pure cod, 6½ to 6¾c. per lb.; ciscoes, $1.25 per 100; haddock, 4½c. per lb.; steak cod, 6c. per lb.; frozen herring, 4c.; sea herring, $1 per 100; fresh water herring (heads off), $2.50 per keg; smelts, 6 to 9c. Oysters are quoted at $1.20 for standards, and $1.50 for selects.

SALT.

There is a fair trade doing at unchanged prices. We quote at Toronto: In carload lots, $1 per bbl. and 60c. per sack; in less than carload lots, $1.05 per bbl. and 65c. per sack. At the wells we quote: F.O.B. barrels, 70c.; sacks 50c. for points west of Toronto, and 45c. for Toronto and points east of Toronto.

PROVISIONS AND DRESSED HOGS.

A further advance is to be noted in the price of meats and the demand is active. Lard is steady and in fair demand. There are not many dressed hogs coming forward, and prices are higher at $6.40 to $6.50 for light weights and $5 to $5.50 for heavy weights.

DRY SALTED MEATS—Long clear bacon, 6¼ to 6½c. for carload lots, and 6¾ to 7c. for small lots; backs, 8c.

SMOKED MEATS—Breakfast bacon, 11c.; rolls, 7½ to 8c.; hams, large, 22 lbs. and over, 11c.; medium, 15 to 20 lbs., 11½c.; small hams, 11¾c.; backs, 10 to 11c.; shoulder hams, 7c.; all meats out of pickle, 1c. less than above.

LARD—Pure Canadian, tierces, 6¼c.; tubs, 6½c.; pails, 6¾c.

BARREL PORK—Canadian heavy mess, $12.50; Canadian short-cut, $13 to $13.50; clear shoulder mess, $11.50 to $12.

HONEY—Quiet. We quote: Comb, 80 to 90c. per dozen for dark and $1.50 to $1.75 for light; strained, 6 to 7c. per lb.

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN — Receipts of grain are fair. We quote: Wheat, 76½c. for white and 73c. for red, and 62½ to 63c. for goose; oats, 21 to 22½c.; peas, 41½c.

FLOUR—Still very little doing. Manitoba flours are a little lower. We quote in carloads on track, Toronto: Manitoba patents, $4.70; Manitoba strong bakers', $4.30; Ontario patents, $4.30 to $4.50; straight roller, $3.85 to $4, Toronto freights.

BREAKFAST FOODS—Business is quiet. We quote: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $2.80 in bags and $2.90 in bbls.; rolled wheat, $2.50 to $2.60 in 100-lb. bbls.; cornmeal, $2.25; split peas, $3 to $3.25; pot barley, $3 to $3.25.

PETROLEUM.

There is no change. We quote in 1 to 10 bbl. lots, imperial gallon, Toronto: Canadian, 15c.; carbon, safety, 17c.; Canadian water white, 17c.; American water white, 19c.; Pratt's astral, 18½c. in bulk.

MARKET NOTES.

Eggs are lower.

A good business is reported in tobaccos.

Another advance has taken place in cured meats.

New Orleans molasses has been advanced 2c. per gallon.

The price of Wethey's condensed mince meat has been reduced to $11 per gross. It was formerly $12.

A reduction has taken place in Chadwick's super six-cord spools of cotton, the price now being: 200 yards, $3.80 per gross; 300 yards, $5.40 per gross.

Margaret H. Young, groceries and provisions, Toronto, has assigned to J. B. Boustead, Toronto. A meeting of the creditors will be held 29th inst.

California prunes in the smaller sizes have been reduced ¼c. per lb. on spot in order to meet the competition of Oregon-grown prunes, which are being offered on the local market.

R. J. Graham, of Belleville, wants to purchase a few carloads of dried apples, and is asking for samples and quotations. He is offering jams and jellies at special prices for the next two weeks.

Indications point to a crop of about 100,000 barrels of pineapples from Cuba this year, according to The American Grocer. This is about one-half the usual quantity. The fruit will not be large, as it will be mostly of two and three years' planting, few slips having been put out last year, owing to the disturbances on that island.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

And it concerns every Merchant in Canada who either buys or sells JAPAN TEAS.

We, as the agents for the firm of

SMITH, BAKER & CO., YOKOHAMA

(and speaking from an experience of a quarter of a century) make the statement that SMITH, BAKER & CO. ship Teas which are more uniformly satisfactory than any others which leave Japan. We not only make the statement, but having made it are prepared to prove it.

Every Merchant or Dealer of Tea in Canada can demonstrate the truth of our words by a purchase from the Wholesale Trade of a few packages of the New Crop Teas when they arrive on the market---and can facilitate this by telling the travellers of every Wholesale Grocer or Tea Merchant that he (the buyer) will insist upon seeing samples of SMITH, BAKER & CO.'S Teas before purchasing. The experience of The Davidson & Hay Ltd., Toronto, proves that all our geese are swans--see last week's advertisement. "Things are coming our way," as the tramp said when the farmer fired the blunderbuss at him.

The Company's Claims Consist of 640 Acres of Auriferous (Gold-Bearing) Gravel.

This property has been personally tested and examined by Messrs. W. S. N. Wills, Mining Engineer, and R. C. Lowry, A.M.I.C.E., both of whom have reported very favorably. Following are brief extracts from their respective reports :—

"In conclusion, I would say that I consider this one of the best hydraulic propositions that I have seen in British Columbia.
"W. S. N. WILLS, M.E."

"The line of ditch is an easy one; no rock cutting will, most probably, be required, and very little fluming will be needed. I think the property an excellent one. "R. C. LOWRY, A.M.I.C.E."

Six shafts have been sunk, aggregating one hundred and ninety-seven feet. Illustrated prospectus, giving full information as to the Company's properties, and also interesting details of hydraulic mining, will be furnished on application to

W. H. HALL or C. R. TOWNLEY At the Company's Offices Telephone 2,609. 56½ King St. East, Toronto

THIS ENGRAVING is from a photograph of a portion of the Allison Ranch Hydraulic Mining Company's benches of gravel, showing Miners at work on the bed of the Tulameen at low water by means of wing dams. This mode of mining is of course very primitive and expensive and the gravel must be very rich to make it pay, as after the wing dam is built in the river the gravel has to be shovelled into sluice boxes and washed through. The fact that this class of mining has been carried on for thirty-five years in the immediate vicinity of the Company's properties proves the existence of Gold in the gravel in paying quantities.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, March 25, 1897.

GROCERIES.

THE grocery market has presented no striking changes during the past week. The notable fact of the week is a disposition on the part of the sugar refiners to curtail their sales of refined sugar at current prices, while the jobbers are asking rather more money than they were a week ago. This disposition is due to the belief that prevails generally that a duty on raw sugar is on the cards at Ottawa when the tariff is brought down. The jobbers, it is learned, have been free buyers of sugar, which they have been putting into store during the past ten days, and the refiners are now disposed to curtail operations. On the other hand they themselves have been free buyers of raw sugar in the New York market in the past fortnight. The only other interesting fact, aside from this unrest regarding sugar, is the complete demoralization of the fish market, which is absolutely glutted with supplies.

SUGAR.

The sugar market exhibits no change locally except that there has been a good demand from refiners and now it is claimed refiners are refusing to sell to any extent ahead. The belief that a duty on raw will be advised next week, when the budget is brought down, accounts for the increased demand. As a consequence of these local conditions, and also that the market is firmer outside both on raw and refined, jobbers this week hold prices rather stiffer at 4¼ to 4⅜c. on granulated and 3⅜ to 3⅞c. on yellows.

SYRUPS.

Demand for syrups does not improve, and the market is dull and featureless as last quoted at 1⅜ to 1⅞c., as to quality, at the factory.

MOLASSES.

The molasses market exhibits a firmer tendency at primary sources, but there is no change on spot. Cables this week quoted an advance of 1c. in the first cost at the Island on Barbadoes, making the price 9c. So far importers here have done little business, and in a jobbing way prices are unchanged at 30 to 31c.

RICE.

There is no change in the rice market, and under a limited demand business is quiet. We quote: Crystal Japan, $5 to $5.25; standard B., $3.50; Patna, $4.50 to $5.25; Carolina, $6.75 to $7.75; choice Bermuda, $4, and Java kinds, $4.25.

SPICES.

Aside from a moderate jobbing trade in spices there is little to report. We quote: Pure black pepper, 8 to 10c.; pure white, 12 to 15c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 20c.; cloves, 15c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; do., best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 10 to 14c.; nutmegs, 35 to 75c.

COFFEE.

Business in coffee continues quiet, and except for some enquiry for Maricaibo, nothing has been doing in a wholesale way. We quote: Maracaibo, 17½ to 19c.; Santos, 15 to 18c.; Rio, 15 to 16c.; Mocha, 24 to 26c., and Java, 22 to 27c.

TEAS.

The tea market is quiet but firm, the scarcity of low-priced teas of all descriptions continuing a leading feature. The jobbing enquiry runs principally to these goods, and stocks in wholesale grocers' hands are not excessive by any means. In fact, the tea market as a whole exhibits a very firm tendency. We quote as follows: Young Hysons, 13 to 18c. for low grades, 25 to 28c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 12 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 15 to 21c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 16½ to 20c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for higher grades.

DRIED FRUIT.

Valencia raisins continue steady. We quote: Ordinary off-stalk, 5¼ to 5½c. fine, 5¾ to 6c.; and selected, 6¼ to 6½c., with layers, 6¾ to 7c.

Advices from the Coast on California fruit are firm and prices are held steady here. We quote: 2-crown, 6½ to 6¾c.; 3-crown, 7 to 7½c., and 4-crown, 8 to 8½c.

Currants are quiet and steady. We quote: Provincials, bbls., 4c.; half-bbls., 4¼c.; cases, 4⅜c.; half-cases, 4½c.; Filiatras, ditto; Patras, 5½ to 6c., and Vostizzas, 6½ to 8c.

Prunes are as last quoted: French, 5 to 15c., as to grade; Austrian, 6 to 8c., and Californias, 10 to 11c. for 40 to 50's.; 9 to 10c. for 50 to 60's.; 8 to 9c. for 60 to 70's.; 7 to 8c. for 70 to 80's., and 6½c. for 90 to 100's.

Figs rule firm at 8 to 12c.

Dates continue quiet and steady at 5 to 6c.

Evaporated fruits remain as before: Evaporated peaches, 11 to 12c.; pears, 9½ to 12c.; apricots, 14 to 17c., and prunes, 8 to 12c., as to brand.

CANNED GOODS.

The canned goods market continues much the same. All prime canned vegetables are steadily held, but quite a lot of old-packed corn has, it is claimed, been offered here down to a low figure, 60c. being mentioned. For good, prime stock, however, prices are steadily held. Lobsters are another firm line. We quote: Tomatoes, 75 to 85c.; corn, 75 to 90c.; peas, 80 to 90c.; beans, 70c. up; peaches, $2.75 to $3 for 3's, $1.75 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.40 to $2; strawberries, $1.80 to $2.45, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.90 to $2.20; cherries, $2.40 to $2.45; apples, 3's, 85 to 90c.; gallons, $1.55 to $1.65; pumpkins, 75 to 85c.; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.40 to $1.45; "Clover Leaf," $1.35; "Lion," $1.37½ to $1.40; Lowe Inlet, $1.30, in tall tins; cohoes, $1.20; canned mackerel, $1.25; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.20 to $1.25; 2's, $2.15 to $2.25; 6's, $6.75 to $7; 14's, $14 to $15; lobsters, $8.50 to $11 per case; French sardines, $10.25 to $11 extra brands; ordinary brands, $8 to $9; Canadian brands, $4.25.

FISH.

The past week of mild weather has caused further demoralization in the fish market, so much so that it is almost impossible to quote fresh fish, which are in large supply. The large quantity of Manitoba and other kinds of fish dumped on this market during the past two weeks has completely glutted the market. Receipts have not been confined to the fish trade, for recently a wholesale dry goods firm, an auctioneer and a dealer in hides have received car lots from customers up west, and this, combined with flour dealers, wholesale grocers and produce dealers, all having a shy at the fish business, has made it so much harder for the regular fish dealers. In pickled fish another sharp decline of 50c. to $1 per bbl. has taken place in Labrador and British Columbia salmon. Pickled herrings are 25 to 50c. per bbl. lower and green cod 15 to 25c. Prices on fresh fish are largely nominal, but frozen haddock and cod have declined ¼ to ½c. per pound, Manitoba fish of all kinds ½ to 1c., fresh salmon 1 to 2c. per pound and fresh herrings 30c. per 100. There is only a small demand for smoked fish, and as the supply is ample, prices are generally easier, except for smoked herrings, which are scarce and firmer at 12c. per box.

GREEN FRUIT.

There has been little change in green fruit during the week, a fair seasonable trade passing. We quote: California oranges, $2.70 to $4.50 per box; Valencia oranges, $3.50 to $4 per box; lemons, $1.75 to $3 per box, and $7 to $9 per chest; cranberries, $1 to $4 per bbl.; Spanish onions, 85c. per crate; Malaga grapes, $7.50 to $8; bananas, $1.75 to $2.25 per bunch; pineapples, 20 to 35c. each.

APPLES.

The apple market continues firm under a steadily diminishing stock and it is doubtful if any really desirable fruit can be had now under $1.75 to $2.50.

DRIED APPLES.

Dried apples range from 3 to 3¼c., and evaporated 3¾ to 4c., with demand exceedingly slow.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—Have continued to decline since last report. The demand for small lots is good at 11¼ to 11¾c., and larger quantities at 10½ to 11c. per dozen. Limed eggs continue dull at 9 to 9½c., and held fresh at 7½ to 8c. per dozen.

BEANS—Business in beans was quiet at 60 to 65c. in car lots, and 70 to 80c. in a jobbing way.

POTATOES—The demand for potatoes was slow, and the market rules quiet at 35 to 40c. per bag in car lots, and at 45 to 50c. in a jobbing way.

FLOUR, MEAL AND FEED.

There has been considerable export enquiry for Manitoba flour, and also for Lower Port account. Otherwise the market is quiet. We quote: Winter wheat patents, $4.30 to $4.50; straight rollers, $3.90 to $4.10; and in bags, $1.90 to $1.95. Manitoba spring wheat patents, $4.60 to $4.80; and strong bakers', $4.25 to $4.50.

There was no change in feed, the demand being fair from both local and country buyers, and sales of Manitoba bran are reported at $12, and shorts at $13 per ton, including bags.

Oatmeal rules weak and 10 to 20c. lower, at $2.70 to $2.80 in a jobbing way for rolled oats.

In baled hay there was no new feature, prices being steady and sales slow at $8.50 to $9 for No. 1, and $7.50 to $8 for No. 2 in car lots on track.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

Cheese continues quiet and without feature locally. Discussion regarding fodder cheese continues, and, whatever the facts of the case as claimed by the different factions, will do good if it tends to check the production of an undesirable article.

There is a steady jobbing demand for good creamery butter at 19½c., with under grades down to 19c. Roll dairy is becoming scarce and sells steadily at 14c.

The shipments of dairy produce for the past week were 67 cheese and 405 butter to Liverpool, 1,952 cheese and 16 butter to London, and 165 butter to Bristol.

MONTREAL NOTES.

The price of green apples is stiffening under diminishing stocks.

Cables on molasses quote an advance of 1c. at the Islands, the first cost now being 9c.

The market is absolutely glutted here with fresh fish and it is impossible to quote any prices. Declines in pickled stock are also general, as noted in our market report.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER.

ST. JOHN, N.B., March 25, 1897.

TRADE is only fairly active for general lines. The uncertainty regarding the intended changes in tariff is much felt and is more noticed as the time for the House to meet comes nearer, for now, even in little things, dealers feel like delaying placing their orders till they know where they are. Much interest is felt here in the changes suggested in the American tariff. The fish dealers are the most interested. Smoked herring and fresh salmon appear the most affected, and there is no doubt the extra duty will be keenly felt by our fishermen. Next to the fishermen the lumbermen are the most affected. Sugar has been a subject of much interest during the week. In cream of tartar low prices continue, but there is no sign of further weakening.

OIL—An improved demand is noted for lubricating oil. There is much competition and prices are cut fine. While orders are coming in, they are smaller than usual, consumers hoping to buy lower later on. The sale of burning oil is light. Best American burning oil, 19½ to 20c.; Canadian, 18¼ to 19c.; prime, 16 to 17c.

SALT—Importations by steamer are about over for the season. The amount brought here has been large, and it has been largely distributed along the coast in both directions, as well as large quantities going inland. Prices have ruled low. Prices are, however, firmer owing chiefly to increased freights charged at this season. The sale of Canadian cheese and butter salt in barrels in bulk is beginning to open up. Our cheese factories and creameries seem to prefer this salt to the English, though, on account of the lower price of the latter, the farmers use it largely. We quote: Coarse, 45 to 50c.; Liverpool factory-filled, 90c. to $1; Canadian fine, 90c. to $1 per bag.; 5-lb. bags, in bbls., $3 to $3.25; 10-lb. bags, in bbls., $2.85 to $3; butter and cheese salt, bulk, $2.60 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c. each; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c. each; cartoons, $2 per case of 2 doz business. Holders are not satisfied with the prices offered, but buyers advance their offers slowly. Peas are held firm, and higher prices are confidently expected. The same may be said of tomatoes. Corn keeps low. Oysters are easy, dealers in Baltimore wishing to clean up stocks before packing new. Gallon apples, though low, continue to show light sale. Canned peaches, firm. Pineapple, quiet and scarce, with prices tending upward. Practically no lobsters are to be had, and the high prices ruling are expected to be fully maintained. There is an improved movement in domestic sardines, including oils, mustards, and tomato sauce. Some grades of salmon are offered a little lower. Packers are beginning to talk up fall business. We quote as follows: Corn 65 to 70c.; peas, 75 to 90c.; tomatoes, 80 to 90c.; gallon apples, $1.80 to $2; corned beef, Canadian, $2.25 to $2.35; American, 2-lb tins, $2.40 to $2.50; 1-lb tins, $1.30 to $1.50; oysters, 2's, $2 to $2.20; 1's, $1.45 to $1.65; peaches, 3's, Canadian, $2.75 to $3; 2's, $1.90 to $2; pineapple, $2.25 to $3; salmon, $1.25 to $1.40; lobsters, $2.20 to $2.25; haddies, $1.15 to $1.25; clams, $5 for 4 doz; chowder, $2.60 to $2.75 for 2 doz.; scallops, $5.50 for 4 doz.; Digby chickens, $1 per doz.; kippered herring, $1.10 per doz.

GREEN FRUIT—Business continues to improve. Apples show better sale, but buyers are particular regarding quality in oranges. Sales of California oranges are rather smaller owing to Valencias being now sweet and low in price. Nice blood oranges are now offered for sale. The last West India steamer brought a few tomatoes from Bermuda. Large shipments are expected next month. Strawberries begin to come in, but the demand is small and price high. There are no pineapples. Cranberries are awaiting offers. Lemons are low and quality good. Bananas are as yet light importations. We quote: Messina lemons, $2.50 to $3; oranges, Valencia, $3.25 to $4; California oranges, $3.50 to $5; bananas, $1.75 to $2.25; apples, $1 to $3 per bbl.; cranberries, Cape Cod, $4 to $5.50 per bbl.; bog cranberries, native, $1 to $4; strawberries, 30c.

DRIED FRUIT—Sales are light. The low price of evaporated apples has caused dealers to place some orders, but they do not buy largely, outside demand being light. California prunes show improved sale, the lower prices helping the demand. Quality is good. Currants are firm and market tending upward. Sultana raisins, which have light sales here, are costing higher. Seeded raisins in cartoons do not show large sale. They are not well known and price looks high. Raisins are easy with but light sale. Onions are held in the hands of a very few, and the price keeps high. We quote: Valencias, 5 to 6c.; California L.M. 3-crown, 7½ to 7¾c.; London layers, $1.75 to $2; currants, cases, 4¾ to 5c.; bbls., 4¼ to 4½c.; cartoons, cleaned, 7 to 7¾c.; bulk, cleaned, 6¼ to 6½c.; prunes, boxes, 5 to 10c.; dates, 4½ to 5c.; dried apples, 3 to 3½c.; evaporated apples, 5c.; onions, $3; cocoanuts, $4 to $4.50 per 100 lbs.; figs, 10 to 12c.; Sultana raisins, 7½ to 9c.; Valencias, layers, 6½ to 7c.; Malaga loose muscatels, 6 to 6½c.; 4-crown L. M. Californias, 8½ to 9c.; seeded muscatels, 1-lb. cartoons, 12 to 13c.

SUGAR—Shows a better demand. Our wholesale dealers have been large buyers, and country buyers are now ordering more freely. The market price shows little change, though granulated is rather higher and all lines are firmly held. We quote: Granulated, 4⅛ to 4¼c.; yellows, 3¼ to 3¾c.; Paris lump, 5¾ to 6c.; powdered, 5½ to 6c.

MOLASSES—Some of the Barbadoes molasses, the first to arrive here this season, is showing nice quality. There is quite a range in the different lots in quality. Demand is only fair. The next lots to arrive will cost rather less money. In Porto Rico a cargo was on the way here, but it is delayed through bad weather. While the market there opens well below the opening price of last season, any bought now would cost much more than a large part of that sold here last season. We quote: Barbadoes, 25 to 28c.; Porto Rico, 28 to 30c.; New Orleans, bbls., 26 to 28c.; Antigua, 25 to 26c.; syrup, 36 to 38c.; Nevis, 25 to 26c.

DAIRY PRODUCE—Except cheese, values are low. Eggs are but fairly plentiful, and there is a fair demand, but buyers force the market to the lowest figure possible. Butter, if good, moves well, but values tend low, and outside points stand ready to ship here at low figures. Cheese is firm, but only a fair sale is being experienced. We quote: Dairy tubs, 14 to 17c.; creamery, 20 to 21c.; prints, 20 to 22c.; eggs, 10 to 12c.; cheese, 11 to 11½c.

FISH—The trade continues quiet. Almost the first good lobsters of the season were in the market this week. Prices keep high. The sale of fresh fish has been dull. The soft weather has about stopped the sale of frozen fish. Dry fish show light sale and are a little steadier in price. Pickled are in light supply with prices easy. Smoked herring show little life and have lost the small advance which took place a few weeks ago. Kippers show good sale, but bloaters are dull. Boneless have a demand for western trade, but the local demand is light. There are a few fresh gaspereaux running and during the week the first salmon of the season was caught. We quote as follows: Large cod, $3.25 to $3.50; medium, $2.85 to $3; pollock, $1.20 to $1.25; bay herring, $1.30 to $1.35 per half-bbl.; smoked, new, 6 to 7c.; shad, half-bbl, $4.50 to $5.50; boneless, 2½ to 8c.; bloaters, 50 to 65c. per box; kippered, 90c. per box; Barrington, $3.25 per bbl.; Shelburne, $3.50 per bbl.; frozen herring, 50 to 60c. per 100; frozen cod, 2 to 2½c. per lb.; lobsters, 4 to 12c. each.

PROVISIONS—During the week pork and all pork products have become much firmer. Clear pork we mark up 50c., though the market has really advanced more than that. In beef, which is now coming chiefly from Boston, the market is also firmer. Hams and rolls do not have large sale, but are higher. We quote: Clear pork, $13.50 to $14.50; mess pork, $12 to $13; plate beef, $12 to $13; hams, 10½ to 12c.; rolls, 7 to 8c.; pure lard, 7 to 7½c.; compound, 6¼ to 7c.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL—Flour has sold more freely during the past week. The market, after the decline, is again firmer, and an advance is looked for. Oatmeal keeps easy. Beans are quiet. The market seems firmer, but prices are low, and there is a limited sale. Cornmeal, which has been so low, seems to have an upward tendency, but there seems little chance for higher prices. Yellow eye beans maintain their prices well in the face of the low price of the white. Demand for buckwheat meal is becoming light. Seed continues to have large sale. The low prices at the beginning caused orders to be placed early. There is now a firmer feeling, and values are rather higher. We quote as follows: Manitoba flour, $5.15 to $5.20; best Ontario, $4.65 to $4.70; medium, $4.35 to $4.40; oatmeal, $3.15 to $3.25; cornmeal, $1.75 to $1.85; middlings, car lots, in bulk, $14 to $15; bran, do, do., $12.50 to $13.50; hand-picked beans, 85c. to $1; prime, 75 to 90c.; oats, 30 to 32c.; hay, $11 to $12; barley, $3; round peas, $1.15; split peas, $3.10 to $3.25; yellow eye beans, $1.50.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

New Brunswick mineral water companies are doing a large business, and the outlook for the summer is good. One company has already contracted to ship a car weekly to Boston.

Capt. Clarence Anthony intends to open a grocery and general store in Bear River, N.S.

Large quantities of potatoes are being shipped from northern Maine to Boston via St. John.

St. John is to have another steamship line running to Bay ports this season. The steamer Westport will make weekly trips, leaving St. John on Saturday evening for Westport and St. Mary's Bay ports.

THE GROCER regrets to report the sickness of Mr. Tilton, of the well-known firm of Smith & Tilton. At the time of writing Mr. Tilton seems better, and his many friends hope to see him in his accustomed place soon.

Major Campbell, representing the MacLean Publishing Co., is spending a few weeks in the city in the interest of the several trade papers published by the company. The major reports an increasing number of subscribers through these lower provinces.

Winter export business from this port is still active. The value of the largest cargo shipped this season is put at $175,000, of which $67,700 were American goods. At present large quantities of lard are moving. In two days during the past week 23 cars arrived for export.

A PROMISING TRAVELER.

I KNOW a young boy who has the making of a smart business man in him. He hasn't yet seen 11 summers and is a traveling salesman. He is a big boy, of course, for his age, weighing 115 pounds, and I have seen "buds" of 21 on the road who couldn't touch him for manly appearance. He braces a merchant with the confidence and style of a man of 30, and is not discouraged when he is turned down. Self-reliance is a dominant quality with him, and he is also shrewd enough to know how far to carry his persistent efforts to sell goods so as to avoid giving offence. He tells some good stories of his road experiences, which would be well worth repeating if this space would allow it. Two will suffice. After having stopped over night at a country hotel the kind-hearted landlady would not accept anything for the services, and he said: "Well, Ma'am, I'm only sorry I can't carry your hotel around with me." He went in a hotel at another time for dinner and he asked the landlord his price. The landlord said, "50 cents, sir." "But, sir," expostulated the lad, "I can't eat 50 cents' worth." "Well," said the landlord, "we don't want you to. You see that's where our profit comes in." I intend to keep my eye on that boy. His development is worth watching.—Grocery World.

ALLISON HYDRAULIC MINES.

ATTENTION is drawn to the advertisement in this issue of the Allison Ranch Hydraulic Mining Co. The Allison Ranch properties consist of 640 acres of rich gold-bearing gravel benches, two hundred feet high, and being two miles long by half a mile wide, situate on the north banks of the Tulameen River at Princeton, B.C.

To test this property some six shafts have been sunk, aggregating in all 197 feet, and the reports of two experienced engineers have been obtainad and are given verbatim in the company's very complete prospectus.

Messrs. J. H. Chewett, mining engineer, of Toronto, and C. H. Mitchell, hydraulic engineer, of Niagara Falls, have examined these and other reports and consider the properties exceedingly valuable, and the cost of experiment very light, as compared with other similar properties.

Very valuable water rights have been secured, the works necessary to bring the water to the gravel beds being of the simplest character ; in fact, these claims, it is urged by the promoters, possess all the features of a first-class hydraulic mine.

The company's prospectus contains estimates in detail, and gives the results of the various tests of the gravel.

Eastern investors will be glad to see the names of well-known local business men on the Board of Directors. The eastern board, which has its headquarters at Toronto, is composed of Mr. J. B. Laidlaw, manager for Canada of the Norwich Union Fire Insurance Society, who is also vice-president ; Mr. H. C. Dixon, of the well-known wholesale firm of Gillespie, Ansley & Dixon, and Mr. J. H. Chewett, mining engineer, all of Toronto.

From the placer mines of California up to 1883, $1,100,000,000 in gold was obtained. British Columbia has already produced $60,000,000 in gold from its placer mines, and with the aid of hydraulics there is every reason to believe that its gravel deposits will prove to be as rich as those in the country to the south of it.

Taking into consideration the low capitalization of the above company (only $250,000) and also the estimated small cost of equipment, it will be readily seen that this must necessarily mean large dividends for its shareholders in the event of the property proving as profitable as the directors hope.

The company seems to have done its best to safeguard the investing public, the whole of the stock being placed in the hands of the Trusts Corporation of Ontario, who are also registrars, and will countersign all certificates, and the promoters depend entirely for their profits upon the success of the mine.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. Hellyer, of Hellyer & Co., Yokohama, Japan, was in Toronto this week on business.

Mr. J. W. Windsor, the well-known Montreal canned goods man, leaves on a trip to his factories in Gaspe this week.

P. C. Larkin has returned from a trip to the "Salada" Ceylon tea agencies in Buffalo and Pittsburg, and reports everything most encouraging. There is no question about it, he says, but that Ceylon tea will go far, in a very short time, not only to displace China and Japan teas in the United States, but also to displace coffee. He says it is meeting with favor wherever it is introduced. In Wilkesbarre alone there are 70 stores now selling "Salada" Ceylon tea, in Pittsburg close on to 150, in Buffalo about 300, a large number in Scranton and in a great number of the smaller towns.

PETERBORO' BOARD OF TRADE.

The annual meeting of the Peterboro' Board of Trade was held on Thursday night, when the following officers were elected : President, Mr. John Carnegie ; vice-president, Mr. W. Manson ; secretary, Mr. H. S. Macdonald ; chairman of council, Mr. Peter Hamilton. The board decided to unite with the Town Council in sending a strong deputation to Ottawa on April 6 to urge upon the Government the necessity of further work on the Trent Valley canal sytem.

Mr. Samuel Rogers, of the Rogers Oil Co., Toronto, interviewed the Controller of Inland Revenue the other day and asked that the regulation be changed to permit of oil being disposed of in tank wagons as well as barrels. The latter is done to prevent any possible loss of revenue to the Department.

The cheese factory project started some time ago in Strathroy, has assumed a new front, and a joint stock corporation has been formed for carrying on the work. The contract for the building, which will be put up on the lot at the east end of Front street, used as a skating rink this winter, has been let to Mr. H. Owens, who will commence work without delay, as it is to be completed by April 20.

The Australian correspondent of The London Economist says that the wheat harvest is turning out worse than was expected. In Victoria the yield is very disappointing, and the previous estimates of 4½ to 4¾ bushels per acre have been reduced to 3½ bushels; while in South Australia the estimate is as low as 2½ bushels. The Australian colonies will require about 7,000,000 bushels of foreign wheat.

The employes of the firm of Todhunter, Mitchell & Co. waited on Mr. Allan Saturday night at his residence, on Sorauren avenue, and presented him with an illuminated address and a marble clock on the occasion of his severing his connection with the firm as book-keeper. Mr. Allan has held the position for many years, and there is much regret that he is obliged to leave. The presentation was made by Mr. Cherry, and Mr. Allan responded in fitting terms.

SICILY FILBERT CROP.

In their circular of the 20th inst., the Hills Bros. Co. say regarding filberts: "The crop of Sicilys in 1896 was very short, but on account of the high prices demanded by holders the fall consumption was largely supplied with other qualities, principally Naples, which resulted that stocks carried over the first of the year in Sicily were rather large, reported in February to be some 13,000 bags. Price, however, has been firmly held there, as the stock appears to be controlled by a little syndicate of speculators. Supplies in this market are limited, and we are forced to advance our price to 7¼c. There are supposed, however, to be considerable quantities coming, to arrive in our market during April."

VALENCIA ORANGE SITUATION.

Houghton & Co. say in their last circular regarding the orange situation in Liverpool: Valencia—Renewed buying for America has caused a steadily hardening market throughout the week for all sound fruit, but "seconds" and "thirds" in condition, which lately have formed a more important proportion of arrivals, are rather easier, the home demand continuing disappointing. Jaffa in plentiful supply and mostly in poor condition; they, however, sell very freely, though at somewhat reduced rates. A further consignment of Sidon, of excellent quality, but mostly in very bad order, sold readily at our quotations. Bitters—The market goes from bad to worse, and miserably low prices have to be accepted to make any progress with the excessive arrivals from Sicily and Syria; the outlook is gloomy.

A CRITICISM.

Editor CANADIAN GROCER :

IN your issue of 19th inst. I read with much interest your editorial on the effect of the U. S. tariff on Canada. I think you give to your readers a very lucid illustration why the U. S. do not interpret the meaning of reciprocity to the satisfaction of Canadians generally, but your intemperate remarks are not borne out by facts in the same article.

1st.—You speak of the great increase in the duty on coal from 40c. to 75c. Now if you will turn to the present Canadian tariff you will see that all the time the duty of 40c. per ton has been charged on Canadian coal a duty of 60c. per ton has been collected by Canada on U. S. coal.

2nd, Lumber.—The U. S. duty will undoubtedly be one dollar, not, as you say, one to two or more per thousand. Now the Canadian tariff, by the use of the ever-present n.e.s., is 25 per cent. on manufactured lumber and timber, that n.e.s. covering any kind of lumber that the U. S. people would be likely to want to ship to Canada. So on manufactured pine board for any purpose valued at $10 per thousand there would be $2.50 per thousand duty, and a box or case made of lumber is taxed going into Canada three times the amount it would be at 25 per cent. by the thousand feet ; but this being the only use Americans have for that market for lumber, it is the only way Canadians can get at them on that commodity.

3rd, Horses ; 4th, Sheep ; 5th, Barley ; 6th, Beans , 7th, Hay.—You will concede that there is no market in Canada for the Americans in these products.

8th, Butter.--You say Canadians are not bothered about the duty on that. Well, that may be true, but the writer has seen carloads of butter go away from Front street, Toronto, at 10 to 12c. a pound that could not have been placed in any other market in the world on account of the quality of the goods.

9th.—Canada has no use for American cheese ; then what has she got to give the American dairymen for even the ten thousand dollars worth sent into the States ?

10th, Eggs.—The Canadian tax is 3c. a dozen, and the imports into Canada are almost wholly in the spring when eggs from the south come in early and bakers and large users of eggs are able to get them much cheaper than the home laid on account of the limited supply. Then, as the season advances, the supply exceeds the demand, and a market must be found outside. Then, what kind of reciprocity has Canada to offer as an offset for this market? She imports about 250,000 dozen in the spring and, according to your articles, he has about 7,000,000 dozen to export. How can the United States get at any fair basis of reciprocity on the egg product ?

11th, Potatoes.—Canadian duty is 10c. a bushel on sweets (which are not grown in Canada) and 15c. a bushel on all others, and Canada imports 63,000 bushels (mostly sweets), and exports 596,000 bushels. Can you get anything but a jug-handled reciprocity in potatoes ?

12th, Apples.—The Canadian duty is 40c. a bushel, and when packed in anything that is built or made out of lumber 20 per cent. on the package, and on the latter this duty is higher than the proposed United States tariff of 25c. per bushel. Now Canada imports 24,000 barrels, mostly early green fruit, and exports 567,000 barrels. Now, is there any way to arrange reciprocity based on equity in this product ?

Now I might make the same comparison in all agricultural products with about the same result, which all goes to show that Canada is an agricultural country, producing a vast amount of farm products, not one of which can be wholly consumed by her population, while a large number of these products grown in the United States are wholly consumed by its own people. Therefore, it is hard for American farmers and fruit growers to see wherein there can be any kind of reciprocity in these products alone. Now what has Canada got to offer in exchange for this large difference in her exports compared with her small imports of like articles?

Some say her fisheries are an offset. Now, if you were to talk with the large exporting houses of Halifax, St. John and British Columbia, they will tell you they need the United States market as badly as the people there need their fish; and beside this, the United States farmer would not think of trading his products for fish. No; what the farmer of the United States wants is to see an outlet for the products of the large manufacturing interests of the south, the east and the west, that he may be able to feed those masses of mechanics in those hives of industries. The great hills and rivers of the New England states are studded with tall chimneys, and their surroundings do not produce enough for their table sauces, but the great central and western states are able to grow all that they need, so that any country that could exchange a market for the manufactured articles of this country would find no difficulty in getting a reciprocity law for anything, even to agricultural products; but the Canadian tariff to-day not only protects against these manufacturers (to which there is no objection), but they prohibit by a high tariff thousands of articles manufactured here that are not manufactured in Canada. Now, if the Canadian people wanted to give some measure of reciprocity for their agricultural products, let them go to Washington with an offer to let in at 10 per cent. any article patented in Canada and not manufactured there, and these people would be willing to arrange reciprocity on those lines; but as long as Canadians persist in a prohibitory tariff with the avowed object of forcing the manufacture of all goods in Canada, or exclude them, just so long there can be no reciprocity with the United States.

There are plants in the United States that manufacture articles and goods that the consumption in Canada would never warrant the establishing of a plant there or of even a manufacturer already established in Canada in putting in the necessary tools and machinery to manufacture them. In this case where does Canada benefit itself by excluding the product by high tariff? On the other hand, with a small duty the country would get revenue, and no one would be injured, and a fair exchange of imports and exports could be arranged on that basis.

I can hardly expect that Canadian journals or newspapers will be willing to print any criticism from a United States standpoint, but being a reader of your journal I take the liberty to send you this letter, and should be pleased to see it in print, and any answers that may come to it, as I am not biased either way, and should glory in seeing a just exchange of the products of the two countries based on equity.

Yours truly,

AMERICAN SUBSCRIBER.

New York, March 22, 1897.

THEY MAKE CHEAP CASH REGISTERS.

An imitation is never as good as an original. Particularly is this true of mechanical devices, in making which long experience, special machinery and skilled workmen cut so large a figure. Imitators of well-known concerns, who seek to trade upon the good reputation of another, are surely also unscrupulous. They make claims which they cannot justify, and statements which are absolutely false.

The National Cash Register Co., of Dayton, Ohio, U.S.A., with offices at 6 Rossin Block, King street west, Toronto; 1685 Notre Dame street, Montreal, and at Vancouver, British Columbia, has met with this kind of competition at various times during its career. A favorite claim of this class of unscrupulous imitators is that the National Co. does not make cheap cash registers. This statement is shown to be untrue by the advertisement of the National Co., which appears in this issue, in which are listed detail-adding cash registers as low as $40, with other registers of various kinds ranging from $10 to $375.

GALOPS CANAL

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS.

SEALED TENDERS ADDRESSED TO THE UNdersigned, and endorsed "Tender for the Cardinal Section of the Galops Canal," will be received at this office until 16 o'clock on Saturday the 17th day of April, 1897, for the works connected with the enlargement of the Galops Canal.

Plans and specifications of the work can be seen on and after the 31st day of March, 1897, at the office of the Chief Engineer of the Department of Railways and Canals, Ottawa, and at the Engineer's office at Cornwall. Printed forms of tender can also be obtained at the places mentioned.

In the case of firms there must be attached to the tender the actual signatures of the full name, the nature of the occupation and residence of each member of the same, and further, an accepted bank cheque for the sum of $150,000 must accompany the tender. This accepted bank cheque must be endorsed over to the Minister of Railways and Canals, and will be forfeited if the party tendering declines entering into contract for the work at the rates and on the terms stated in the offer submitted.

The accepted bank cheque thus sent in will be returned to the respectives parties whose tenders are not accepted.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

Contractors are specially notified that the condition requiring the works to be wholly completed by the 31st day of January, A.D. 1899, will be rigidly enforced and all penalties for delay exacted.

HALIFAX TRADE GOSSIP.

"BUSINESS is slack," seems to be the general utterance among wholesale men and jobbers. "Money is scarce," remarks everybody, but at the same time, if some person advertises a lot of trashy goods at cut prices, he can find lots of customers with the cash. Retail trade in some lines is fairly good, though business on the average is dull.

A Montreal paper recently computed the purchases of raw sugar by the Acadia Refining Co. at about 30,000 tons—quite a large amount of the article, but not so large when extended over several months, during which time it was being manufactured as received. Refinery prices are unchanged this week, although the market is reported stiffer abroad. The refinery is meeting with a good demand, but nothing to cause a rush.

Eggs are still "on the drop." To-day they can be purchased in Halifax in a jobbing way at 10c. per dozen by the case, which is the lowest figure ever known here at this time of the year. Dealers look for a further decline, and 8c. would not surprise anyone at Easter. Stocks are coming in freely from the surrounding country and also from P.E.I.

Cheese is an important article just now. It is both scarce and dear. As mentioned last week, nearly all the stocks are held by one firm—Smith & Proctor. The jobbing price to-day is 12½c. The wholesale quotation is 12c. Stocks here will soon be cleared up, and no cut in price is likely to take place before new stocks arrive.

Provisions are more encouraging. Chicago plate beef is quoted at $13; Boston plate, $12.50, and Canadian plate, $10.50. P.E. Island mess pork is still quoted at $12, and American clear at $14 to $14.50. Pure lard is worth 8c. Canadian side bacon is quoted at 10½c.

Canned goods are steady and dealers report an improved demand. Peas and corn are worth 70c.; tomatoes, 3rd, 75c.; peaches, 2's, $1.80; 3's, $2.65; pears, $1.80 for 2's; raspberries and strawberries, 2's, $2.25; plums, $1.50 to $2; oysters, 1's, $1.40; 2's, $2.30; lobsters, 1's, $1.25; "Log Cabin" beans, 2 lb., 90c.; American beef, 2's, $2.60; 1's, $1.50. Scotch lunch tongue is selling at $3 per dozen for 1's.

There is very little doing in butter. Low grade dairy is selling as low as 10c. by the tub. Creamery tubs are worth 21c.

Large quantities of potatoes are being shipped to the West Indies. The local quotation is 40c.

Oats are jobbing at 31c.

The flour market is quiet. Quotations are about as follows: Ogilvie's Hungarian patent and Five Roses, $5.15; Goldie's People's and Gilt Edge, $4.85; Stockwell, and equal grades, $4.65; Obelisk, Kent and Sunbeam, $4.40; 9 p.c. patents, $4.30; straight grades, $4.20.

The steamer Duart Castle brought 91 puncheons of molasses from Demerara, 3 from St. Croix and 100 bbls. from St. Kitts for G. P. Mitchell & Sons. She also brought 97 puncheons from Demerara for J. Taylor & Co. G. P. Mitchell & Sons received 1,369 bbls. and 130 bags sugar from St. Kitts on the same steamer.

C. H. Harvey received 100 bags cocoanuts from the West Indies this week.

The steamer Delta took a large cargo of fish to New York this week.

In my last letter I gave an idea of the tea market here. The article is still coming in freely. Everybody seems to be importing. A leading tobacconist received a large consignment this week. The steamer Halifax City, from London, which arrived on Sunday, brought 1,141 chests, 3,008 half-chests, 861 packages and 1,262 boxes. This is a fairly good cargo for one week. There is lots more coming.

Park, Blackwell & Co. are shipping dressed beef to Newfoundland.

DIRECTORS LIABLE.

THE following provisions in the bill respecting the incorporation and regulation of joint stock companies, now before the Ontario Legislature, will interest a large number of business men, affecting, as they do, liability for statements in prospectus. Section 99 of the bill provides:

When a prospectus or notice invites persons to subscribe or apply for shares, debenture stock, annuities on lives, or other securities as a company, incorporated under this Act, every person who is a director of the company at the time of the issue of the prospectus or notice, and every person who, having authorized such naming of him, is named in the prospectus or notice as a director of the company, or as having agreed to become a director of the company either immediately, or after an interval of time, and every promoter of the company, and every person who has authorized the issue of the prospectus or notice, shall be liable to pay to all persons so subscribing or applying on the faith of such prospectus, or notice, compensation for the loss or damage they may have sustained by reason of any untrue statement in the prospectus or notice, or in any report or memorandum appearing on the face thereof, or by reference incorporated therein or issued therewith, unless it is proved—

(a) With respect to every such untrue statement not purporting to be made on the authority of an expert, or of a public official document, or statement, that he had reasonable ground to believe, and up to the time of the allotment or issue of the shares, debenture stock, annuities on lives, or other securities, as the case may be, did believe that the statement was true; and

(b) With respect to every such untrue statement purporting to be a statement by or contained in what purports to be a copy of or extract from a report or valuation of an engineer, valuer, accountant or other expert, that it fairly represented the statement made by such engineer, valuer, accountant or other expert, or was a correct and fair copy of or extract from the report or valuation. Provided always, that notwithstanding that such untrue statement fairly represented the statement made by such engineer, valuer, accountant, or other expert, or was a correct and fair copy of or extract from the report or valuation, such director, person named, promoter, or other person, who authorized the issue of the prospectus or notice as aforesaid, shall be liable to pay compensation as aforesaid if it be proved that he had no reasonable ground to believe that the person making the statement, report, or valuation, was competent to make it; and

MANITOBA MARKETS.

WINNIPEG, March 25, 1897.

STILL the snow and frost continue and still trade is more or less paralyzed thereby. The snow in the Dakotas is something phenomenal, and the train service is completely demoralized. This means that all classes of perishable goods reaching Winnipeg from southern markets are delayed. The oldest inhabitant, after the manner of that functionary, is prophesying floods and quoting precedents galore to back up the forebodings. The more cheerfully disposed are reminding one another that a similar winter preceded the enormous wheat crop of 1887, and though floods were anticipated then they never came. There is unquestionably a tremendous weight of snow in the country, and it is equally true that if it goes with a rush we will have a flood, but then it may not go with a rush, spring may open gradually, and the great snowfall, instead of flooding the country may only furnish a needed fertilizer for the wheat crop of 1897. If precedents go for anything the sevens are lucky years for Manitoba. Markets are, if possible, quieter this week than last.

SUGAR—Price unchanged, but market is a little firmer than last week.

CANNED GOODS—Same as last week. Tomatoes, best brands, $1.85 to $1.90; good seconds, $1.80; peas, $1.65 to $1.75, according to brand; corn, $1.60; beans, $1.75; raspberries, standard brands, $3.50; seconds, from 10 to 15c. per case less.

DRIED FRUITS—Unchanged, and market is exceptionally slow.

GREEN FRUITS—Extra qualities of apples are somewhat scarce, as no supplies have been received during the week, and the stocks on hand are considerably reduced. A fairly large supply of common fruit is still to be had at $2 to $2.50 per bbl., but the first-class grades still bring full prices quoted last week. Bananas and other goods of a perishable nature have been on the road from St. Paul for more than a week. We quote: Apples, Spies, $3.75 to $4; other lines, $3 to $3.50. Oranges, California navels, $4.50 to $4.75 per box; California seedlings, $3.75 to $4 per box; Messina lemons, $4.50 to $5; Cape Cod cranberries, frozen, $5 to $5.50 per bbl.; Malaga grapes, $9.50 per keg; bananas, $2.75 to $3.50 per bunch.

CALIFORNIA EVAPORATED FRUITS—Show no change in price and very little movement as to quantity.

COFFEE AND TEA—Both remain unchanged.

PROVISIONS—Hams and bacon without change.

BUTTER—There is practically at this writing no fresh butter in the market. Country merchants report they are paying 20 to 22c per lb., and are not receiving enough for their local trade. The amount of butter received in this city during the winter has been considerably under the usual figure. Why this is so has not been quite satisfactorily determined. Dealers at the present moment are getting 14 to 16c. for tubs of good dairy, and rolls, if really first-class, would bring the same price, but such as are offered bring about 1c. lower. On Saturday butter was retailing at 25c., and the supply by no means is equal to the demand.

EGGS—Are this week coming in more freely from the south and are being offered at 19c.

CHEESE—Stocks here are about cleared out and none is coming in. Price is quoted at from 9½ to 10c.

LARD—Same as last week.

CEREALS—The prices same as last week. Stock on hand is large and market easy.

FISH—A good deal of fresh fish will be carried over in the refrigerators. Prices generally are as follows: Haddies, 8c. per lb.; whitefish, 4 to 5c.; Lake Superior trout, 9c.; pickerel, 3 to 4c.; salmon, 12c.; halibut, 12c.; cod, 8c.; haddock, 8c.

HOW TO MAINTAIN PRICES.

For many months past we have heard the complaint, which is common to all, of prices so low as to be wholly unremunerative, says American Silk Journal. We are told, "Yes, we are selling a few more goods," or, "It is true that we have taken some additional orders," but the next word is in regard to the awful prices, which have nothing in the way of profit.

It would seem that there should be some remedy for this evil. European manufacturers do not, as a rule, make or sell goods for their amusement. Why should it be done here, month after month? The foreigner simply stops production when he reaches a point where there is no money in running his factory, and that is an example we would do well to follow.

Such a course would prevent over-production and price-cutting, and would ensure a healthy market and something like uniform values for meritorious goods.

But nothing of importance in this way can be effected without organization and fair and honorable dealing among members of the manufacturers' guild.

Manufacturing in anticipation of orders, is, however, much less common than formerly; recent bitter experiences are still too fresh in the minds of mill owners. In this respect the leading domestic manufacturers lean more than ever toward a safe conservatism, and approximate more nearly to the methods of their foreign competitors.

VALUE OF A MINUTE.

NAPOLEON, who knew the value of time, remarked that it was the quarter hours that won battles, says an exchange. The value of minutes has been often recognized, and any person watching a railway clerk handing out tickets and change during the last few minutes available must have been struck with how much could be done in these short periods of time.

At the appointed hour the train starts and by-and-bye is carrying passengers at the rate of 60 miles an hour. In a second you are carried 29 yards. In one twenty-ninth of a second you pass over one yard. Now, one yard is quite an appreciable distance, but one twenty-ninth of a second is a period which cannot be appreciated.

Yet it is when we come to planetary and stellar motions that the notion of the infinite divisibility of time dawns upon us in a new light. It would seem that no portion of time, however microscopic, is unavailable. Nature can perform prodigies, not certainly in less than no time, but in portions of it so minute as to be altogether inconceivable. The earth revolves on her axis in 24 hours. At the equator her circumference is 25,000 miles. Hence, in that part of the earth a person is carried eastward at the rate of 509 yards per second. That is, he is moving over a yard, whose length is conceivable, in the period of one five-hundred-and-ninth part of a second, of which we have no conception at all.

But more, the orbital motion of the earth round the sun causes the former to perform a revolution of nearly 600,000,000 miles in a year, or something less than 70,000 miles in an hour, which is more than 1,000 miles a minute. Here, then, our second carries us the long distance of about 19 miles. The mighty ball thus flies about a mile in the nineteenth part of a second.

CANNED GOODS IN BALTIMORE.

The canned goods situation in Baltimore at the close of last week is thus reviewed by T. J. Meehan & Co.: "There seems to be a slight improvement in the canned goods market here, but it is very slight so far. The continued advance in lima beans is an encouraging feature, and there is a small increase in the orders received every day for jobbing lots of assorted goods, which embrace nearly every article in the list. Once business in canned goods resumes its usual activity there are several other articles which may advance as rapidly as lima beans have. Tomatoes are unchanged, and the prices are the same as we have quoted for the past two weeks. It is surprising how strong they are under the continued dullness in the market. That very fact gives buyers confidence in them. Peaches, pineapples, lima beans, string beans and peas, besides tomatoes and corn, were the active articles during the past week. Up to this time, there is absolutely nothing doing in tomatoes or corn for 'future' delivery."

ST. JOHN'S WINTER PORT.

THE St. John (N.B,) Board of Trade held a meeting on Thursday, 18th inst., which was of more than usual interest. Primarily the meeting was called for the purpose of presenting the president, Mr. W. S. Fisher, with an address, but aside from this pleasant phase of the occasion, most interesting data regarding the development of the winter trade of the port was submitted.

Among those present were: Mayor Robertson, Senator Dever, Alderman Millidge, W. H. Thorne, J. A. Belyea, W. M. Jarvis, D. J. McLaughlin, J. S. Knowles, S. Schofield, J. E. Irvine, D. W. McCormick, D. R. Jack, Alderman McPherson, W. G. Scovil, E. L. Rising, Fred W. Daniel, Warren Fairweather, T. H. Estabrook, C. S. Shaw, H. B. Schofield, R. T. Hayes, Alderman Waring, P. S. MacNutt, J. J. Bostwick, Alderman J. E. Wilson, F. A. Dykeman, R. B. Emerson, C. E. Laechler, H. A. Harvey, John Sealy, John Montgomery, Major Markham, J. A. Likely, W. E. Raymond, H. A. Doherty, W. F. Hatheway, H. P. Timmerman, E. N. Abbott, S. D. Scott, Alderman Daniel, Alderman McGoldrick, Thos. F. White, George F. Baird, James Hannay, T. H. Hall, H. C. Tilley, J. F. Merritt, H. P. Hayward.

After Mr. Fisher had been requested to resign the chair to Vice-President D. J. McLaughlin, the latter read the address which was couched in appreciative terms of the zeal and energy which Mr. Fisher had exhibited in the interests of the port of St. John and the Board of Trade.

MR. FISHER'S REPLY.

Mr. Fisher said the kindness of the board overwhelmed him. He felt he did not deserve this eulogy. But he had done his best as a member and as president of the board, and always felt that its work was very important. He wished that more of the citizens than are at present were of the same mind. If they became members they would very soon come to realize how important and valuable its work is. While over the border recently he had had two things in mind—winter port and tourist travel—and had sought to gain what information he could that might be of benefit. At Portland, Me., President Boothby and Secretary Rich, of the Board of Trade, had been exceedingly kind. It was worth noting that Portland, with 45,000 people, had over 400 active members in its board, besides 150 members of merchants' exchanges, or nearly 600 in all, compared with about 150 in the St. John board. There are no less than 52 Boards of Trade in Maine, with 2,700 members, and there is also a state board meeting twice a year. They work together shoulder to shoulder, and what they take in hand generally goes through. The Portland board issues a monthly magazine widely circulated, and keeping them all in touch. As to Portland harbor, the Federal Government has decided to spend $800,000 there, and this, he was surprised to learn, without being asked either by the City Council or Board of Trade to do so. Congress was fully alive, from the national standpoint, to the necessity of holding the Canadian trade through that port. There was a hint in this for Canadian powers that be. As to tourist travel, Portland has fine attractions, but he believed St. John and vicinity have greater. There is a mine of wealth at our doors that only needs to be developed. One railway had spent $125,000 to advertise Maine as a summer resort. We have equal opportunities with Maine. Tourist travel has brought $12,000,000 to Maine. Mr. Fisher dwelt on the great advantages of New Brunswick and the importance of making them known. He would take occasion to lay before the Tourist Association a lot of information he had secured relative to this matter. Speaking of the coming U. S. tariff, he said we had no reason to feel despondent. It might prove a blessing in disguise. He quoted from the Trade and Navigation Returns to show how greatly our trade with Great Britain had increased in proportion to our trade with the States. There was, he thought, no cause for discouragement. In conclusion he thanked the board for its address, and paid a high compliment to the ability of the gentlemen forming the council of the board.

EXPORTS OF GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Secretary Ira Cornwall read the following communication from Mr. Sutherland, of the C.P.R.:

ST. JOHN, N.B., March 15, 1897.

My Dear Mr. Cornwall,—I am leaving to-day for Cape Breton and regret that it will be impossible for me to return to St. John in time to be present at the reception the members of the Board of Trade are tendering to W. S. Fisher, their president. It would have given me very great pleasure to have been with you on this occasion.

As Mr. Fisher has given the business interests of St. John so much of his valuable attention, I know that a few figures showing the success of our winter port traffic will be appreciated by him and other members of the Board of Trade.

Below I give a summary of the exports handled through West St John this winter up to the 11th inst.:

Flour	154,609	sacks
Bran	33,353	"
Oatmeal	19,362	"
Apples	14,254	bbls.
Cheese and butter	45,963	pkgs.
Provisions	23,271	"
Live stock	9,930	head
Grain—
Wheat	146,552	bush.
Oats	270,537	"
Barley	33 846	"
Rye	34,627	"
Corn	111,694	"
Peas	211,486	"
Flax	58,695	"
Buckwheat	7,825	"
Total	875,262	bush.

This does not include 76,650 bushels on tracks on A division, 211,290 bushels in elevator, making in all a grand total of 1,163,202 bushels.

I remain, yours truly,
J. N. SUTHERLAND,
General freight agent.

Ira Cornwall, secretary Board of Trade, St. John, N.B.

Mr. Cornwall also stated that Robert Thomson had sent his regrets at not being able to be present, and stated that steamship lines his firm represented were well satisfied with the port of St. John and their treatment there. Jas. F. Robertson, Hon. Wm. Pugsley and D. W. Campbell, of the Beaver Line, also sent regrets. A letter was read from W. H. Dayton, a Salem, Mass., railway passenger agent, asking for framed pictures of St. John, and adding that he hoped to send a lot of people this way next summer.

J. E. Irvine stated that every steamer of the Beaver Line had gone away full from St. John, and they would carry out their full programme of sailings; securing the big steamship Assaye, with larger capacity, was equivalent to additional sailings. Having to pay cartage on local goods from the west side was a drawback, being equal to 2s. 6d. per ton. This made Boston competition for local trade very keen. Boston, Halifax, Portland, but especially Boston, were our competitors. At Boston they have big steamers and are bound to have freight. "We have some drawbacks to contend with. We want to make our port facilities as cheap as possible. In Boston the charges are light. Merchants should back up the local lines, even if they have to pay a little higher rate. Even if some local business has gone by us, it could be fairly claimed that the direct lines have done well. If we have the facilities the business will grow from year to year."

WINTER PORT BUSINESS.

S. Schofield read the following comparative statement of this year's business compared with last. He said the figures for this year were accurate, because they knew what steamers had to come, and would come during the balance of the season.

Winter Season, 1895-6—

	Steamers.	Tons.
Beaver Line, Liverpool	13	33,957
Furness Line, London	17	25,423
Donaldson Line, Glasgow	6	9,795
	36	69,175
Pickford & Black, West Indies	6	7,053
	42	76,228

Winter Season, 1896-97—

	Steamers.	Tons.
Sailed	31	64,643
To arrive	17	33,483
	48	98,126
	Steamers.	Tons.
Beaver Line, Liverpool	15	42,084
Furness Line, London	12	20,122
Donaldson Line, Glasgow	10	19,160
Head Line, Belfast	5	8,144
Head Line, Dublin	5	6,258
Aberdeen Line, Aberdeen	1	2,328
	48	98,126
Pickford & Black, West Indies	8	8,036
	50	106,162

The shipments to the United Kingdom this winter show an increase of 42 per cent. over last year. The average time in port of the steamers is seven days, which, in the winter season, cannot be considered as a bad record. Mr. Schofield said that when the accident occurred on the west side there was a feeling among steamship men that it might be risky to send all the steamers that were scheduled to come here. Had they all come on time there would have been some difficulty in handling them. But two steamers were lost, the French line did not come, and the Aberdeen boat has not yet come. As it happened, all those that have come have got good despatch. Of course another winter there would be greater facilities. He would suggest to the council that before deciding on plans for berths, etc., they consult with the steamship men, both local and Montreal men, as to probable style of steamers coming here in future and the facilities required. There must be length of wharf and depth of water for large vessels. While some berths 350 to 400 feet might do, there should be other berths 500 feet long, with 30 feet of water. If the Government changed its plan with regard to its present largest subsidy it might not be very long before these very large steamers would be coming here. The experience of steamship men is that small steamers will not be able to live. While the business here has been 42 per cent. larger than last year, rates have not been satisfactory. The steamers have suffered severely from the competition of rival ports. But if they could survive last winter and this winter's experience in rates and still feel hopeful, then there would be every ground for saying the winter port would be a success. He felt that the citizens should not be too critical of the steamer lines. It was not good policy. The trouble and losses met were quite serious, and it might be much easier to discourage these lines than to get others to take their places. He said this advisedly. Difficulties have developed. The competition of Boston is a very serious one. When trade has been running in certain channels for years and years it is difficult to change it. As to the new wharves, every berth should have connection with the elevator. Not to have it so would be absurd.

Mayor Robertson was next called on, and, in behalf of the Council, extended thanks to the board for the invitation to this meeting. His Worship eulogized Mr. Fisher, and spoke in high terms of the Board of Trade. Coming to the winter port question, he alluded to what had been done in former years leading up to the present achievements, and spoke of the increase and satisfactory handling of freight this winter. We must, he said, sink all differences and stand shoulder to shoulder in face of competitors with greater financial and other advantages, and not rest till St. John is the fixed winter port of Canada, at least for freight traffic. His Worship outlined the negotiations with the C.P.R. and work on the west side up to the time of the land slide and since. Before that the C.P.R. had agreed to give $50,000, and after it they gave an additional subsidy equal to between $15,000 and $20,000, or enough to cover the actual loss. This action had led him to feel that the C.P.R. had waked up to the importance of St. John as a winter port. Without the C.P.R. it would be impossible at this stage to make a success of the winter port. There was no use in disguising that fact. And the City Council, he was pleased to say, had the very earnest and hearty co-operation of the C.P.R. at present. They were working together, and that without the Council slackening for an instant its grip on the city's interests. His Worship gave a summary of the expenditure on the west side, and pointed out that, added together, the various expenditures on the part of the city reached the sum of $431,752.23. All it received was $50,000 from the Provincial Government. Deducting this, there is $381,752.23 to represent the city's outlay. He would venture to say that no city in Canada had done as much in one direction at the expense of the taxpayers. They were justified in doing it. But, said His Worship, the time has now come when, in the interest of the taxpayers, we cannot ask them to expend any more money on this national undertaking. For it is national.

CURRENT MARKET QUOTATIONS

Toronto, Mar. 25, 1897.

This list is corrected every Thursday. The prices are solicited for publication, and are for such qualities and quantities as are usually ordered by retail dealers ou the usual terms of credit.

Goods in large lots and for prompt pay are generally obtainable at lower prices.

All quotations in this department are under the direct control of the Editor and are not paid for or doctored by any manufacturing or jobbing house unless given under their name, the right being reserved to exclude such firms as do not furnish reliable information.

The Question is

Are you satisfied with the quality of the Starch you are selling? Are your customers satisfied with the quality of the Starch they are buying? If not, perhaps a trial of our goods would create a better feeling on both sides of the counter.

No woman will use poor Starch in preference to good Starch. That's the reason why a trial always leads to constant use of

OYSTER-PLANTING AND OYSTER-FARMING.

By Calvin Dill Wilson, in Lippincott's.

SINCE the beginning men have delighted in the food provided for them by the mollusks, and the shell-heaps which formed the debris of their feasts upon these delicacies remain until now in all regions of the world where Nature has produced creatures of the genus Mollusca.

Of all species of the mollusks, the oyster has been and is the favorite. Of these Nature has been so marvellously prolific in their development that they are to be found in abundance in nearly all seas. And the oyster-rocks have yielded a goodly proportion of the food of savage and civilized men in all ages, along the shores of their nativity.

To-day the oyster interest is one of the most important industries; it gives employment to thousands of persons, and millions of dollars of capital are invested therein. There is a constantly growing demand for them, at present much in excess of their natural productive power: so that the increase of the oyster supply is one of the practical questions of the time. By the application of modern methods the oyster-grounds are made to yield far beyond the natural supply; and by proper care they can be made to produce an almost unlimited quantity.

In early days oysters were to be found in lavish abundance along all our coasts, Nearly all the creeks and inlets along the sea-coast of New York State abounded with a fine quality of oysters. In Nieuw Amsterdam, in 1621, "very large oisters" were so common that a market could not be found for them, as any one could supply himself from the beds. In 1671 Arnoldus Montanus, and in 1681 Sir George Calvert, reported that the new settlements had among other advantages oysters a foot long in great plenty. Letters written about the same time contain such statements as these: "At Amboy Point and several other places there is abundance of brave oysters;" "Oysters such as I think would serve all England;" "We have one thing more particular to us, which the others want also, which is vast oyster banks, which is the constant fresh victuals during the winter to English as well as Indians. Of these there are many all along our coast, from the sea as high as against New York, whence they come to fetch them."

Peter Kalm, who wrote upon the subject in 1748, says, "The Indians who inhabited the coast before the arrival of the Europeans have made oysters and other shell-fish their chief food; and at present, whenever they reach salt water where oysters are to be got, they are very active in catching them, and sell them in great quantities to other Indians who live higher up in the country; for this reason you see the immense numbers of oysters and mussel shells piled up near such places, where you are certain that the Indians formerly built their huts." He also states that the oyster-beds were within view of the town of New York in 1748, and that the oystermen were able to earn eight or ten shillings a day. He says that at this time the value of the oyster-fisheries of the province was much more than ten thousand pounds annually.

Very much earlier, in 1679, Jasper Dankers and Peter Slyter, in a "Journal of a Voyage to New York," spoke of the abundance of oysters in the vicinity of what is now Brooklyn, and say that they found them large and full, many being more than a foot long. Even at this time, New York oysters were exported to the West Indies, either pickled or fried, or embedded in a solid air-tight mass of butter; and Kalm says that in 1748 the exportation of fruit and oysters was a large and important business.

The sources of supply are, first, natural beds; second, planting; and third, farming. The second consists in placing the young seed-oysters upon bottoms favorable for their growth. The third, oyster-farming, is the rearing of oysters from the egg.

The natural bed is an oyster-rock. The boundaries of this rock are usually well defined, and few oysters are to be found beyond its limits. The oysters are packed so near together that they cannot lie flat, but grow vertically, side by side. In such a bed it will be found that most of the rock is made up of empty shells, the closeness being so great that one oyster prevents adjacent ones from opening their shells, and thus crowds them out and exterminates them. Nearly every one of the living oysters is fastened to the open or free end of a dead shell, and often a pile of five or six shells is thus united. The second, when young, has fastened to the end of the first, thus getting a little above the others. The first dies, the second continues to develop, and then a third fastens itself to its shell, and so on.

In regions where the oysters are never disturbed by man, it is common to find a hard bottom extending along the edge of the shore for miles and divided up into a number of oyster-rocks, where the oysters are so thick that most of them are crowded out and die long before they are full grown, and between these beds there are areas where not a single oyster is to be found. The intervening area is perfectly adapted for the oyster: when a few bushels of shells are scattered upon it they are soon covered with young, and in a year or two a new oyster-rock is established upon them.

The young oysters are swimming animals, and they are discharged into the water in countless numbers, to be swept away great distances by the currents. At this time they are too small to be seen without a microscope, and the water for miles around the natural beds is full of them. Thus when shells are placed in the barren spaces the spat young ones will cling to them.

The history of the oyster-beds of all countries is the story of their deterioration and destruction. The people, finding them in great abundance, conclude that they are inexhaustible, until they see them consumed. Upon the coast of New England, north of Cape Cod, and upon the coast of New Brunswick, oysters of gigantic size and fine flavor were formerly plentiful, but they have been so completely exterminated by tongs that a well-known naturalist of Boston, Dr. Gould, doubted whether there ever had been any native oysters in this region, notwithstanding that all the early writers spoke of their numbers. Many of these beds were destroyed by the Indians, and others by the early settlers, while a few have survived down to quite recent times.

In the early days of our history it was not uncommon for a man to rake up a sleigh-load of oysters through the ice in a single afternoon at Shediac, New Brunswick. Twenty-five or thirty years ago these beds yielded a thousand barrels a year; now two persons gain a scanty living upon them, and obtain between them about two hundred bushels a year.

The early settlers of New England continually refer to the abundance of oysters at points where not one can now be found. In 1634, William Wood, in a work on New England, mentioned an oyster-bank in the Charles River, near Boston, and another in the Mystic River, each of so great size as to obstruct navigation. Of their size and form he says, "They be great ones in form of a shoe-horn; some be a foot long. These breed on certain banks that are bare every springtide. This fish, without shell, is so big that it must admit of a division before you can well get it into your mouth."

Native oysters were abundant at Wellfleet, on Cape Cod, at the time of the first white settlements. For more than a hundred years the town was famous for its oysters, but they became extinct in 1775, through excessive tonging, although the inhabitants attributed their destruction not to their own rapacity, but to a disease sent by Providence upon the oysters as a punishment for the sins of the fishermen.

There are extant the records of the production of the beds of Cancale Bay, on the northwest coast of France, from 1800 to 1868. These beds comprise one hundred and fifty acres, and from 1800 to 1816 produced from four hundred thousand to two million four hundred thousand a year. But in that period of the Napoleonic wars the fishing was much disturbed by the presence of the English cruisers, and the oysters increased so that the beds were in some places a yard thick. After the war the fishing improved, and the oysters were removed in immense numbers until 1843. In 1843 seventy million were taken. From that time on there was a constant decrease,—the period of increased productivity being attributable to the enforced rest. In 1868 the oysters had almost entirely disappeared from the beds. In 1870 a total prohibition of the fisheries for several years was enacted.

The experience in regard to the exhaustion of the beds on the west coast of France, in the districts of Rochefort, Marennes, and the Island of Oleron, was similar. In 1866, in the neighborhood of Falmouth, England, there were seven hundred men, working three hundred boats, engaged in the fisheries. Then, under the impression that the oysters were abundant enough to justify the doing away with the closed season, an enactment was made to that effect. The process of exhaustion began in consequence, so that in 1876 only forty boats with forty men could find employment; and they could capture no more than sixty to a hundred oysters a day, while formerly in the same time a boat could take ten thousand.

Oyster-planting is the placing of small or seed oysters upon bottoms which are favorable to their growth. There are many bottoms where there are no natural oysters, simply because there is nothing for them to fasten upon, or because the spat has not been carried there. By planting, the number of oysters is not increased, but the conditions are made favorable for a larger number to reach maturity; for under natural conditions the young oysters fasten themselves so close together and in such great numbers that the growth of one involves the crowding out and destruction of hundreds of others, which might have been saved by scattering them over unoccupied ground. Planting also adds very greatly to their value, as they grow more rapidly and are of better quality when thus scattered than when upon natural beds. Captain Cox, of New Jersey, cites an instance in which thirteen dollars' worth of small seed-oysters yielded, after they had been planted for two years, oysters which were sold for one hundred and eleven dollars, besides about thirty bushels which were used as food for the planter's family.

A good deal of attention has been paid to planting in Virginia. In some of the northern states all the land which is fit for the purpose is thus occupied. In many states, as in Delaware, a great part of New Jersey, and especially in Rhode Island, the natural beds have been so heavily drawn upon that they long ago ceased to furnish any marketable oysters, and they are valuable now only as a source from which a supply of small oysters can be gathered each year for planting. In these beds the spat is increased in value hundreds of times by the planting system.

The prosperity and rapid increase of population of Staten Island were chiefly due to the encouragement and growth of the oyster-planting industry. At Prince's Bay on the island there has been some planting for more than seventy years. So long ago as 1853 there were three thousand of the inhabitants of that island depending upon this business for support.

Oysters have been planted in York Bay, in New Jersey, since 1810, and a suit was brought about that date in Shrewsbury to determine whether a man has the exclusive right to the oysters which he has planted.

In Rhode Island all bottoms between high-water mark and the ship-channel are public property, to be controlled by the state in such a way as to secure the greatest good to the greatest number of its citizens. In 1865 laws were passed allowing the leasing to private citizens, for a term of years, at an annual rental of ten dollars per acre, of any bottoms which are covered with water at low tide and are not within any harbor line, to be used as a private fishery for the planting and cultivating of oysters, whether these lands contain natural beds or not, and efficient laws were enacted for the protection of private rights. By this measure the revenue of the state has been increased, and it is stated that the rentals of the beds will in time pay all the expenses of the state government. Nine-tenths of the annual supply are sold outside the state. It is doubtful whether there is any farming land in the United States which yields as great a profit to the acre as that used for oyster-planting in Rhode Island.

In Delaware there is a law which allows any citizen to appropriate fifteen acres of ground where there are no natural oysters, upon payment of a fee of twenty-five dollars and an annual license-fee of three dollars per ton for the boat used. This system has been the source of great wealth. Nearly half of the million seed-oysters which are annually planted upon these beds are taken from Maryland waters, and they cost the planter less than twenty-five cents per bushel, put down upon his beds. These oysters are taken up within three or four months, and are then sold for more than eighty cents per bushel.

A method of oyster-planting in artificial ponds has been highly developed in France, where it is found to yield an adequate return for the labor and capital invested, as oysters fattened in this way sell for fifty per cent. more than those from the natural beds.

In 1880 the exportation of oysters from the Chesapeake for planting was as follows: three million three hundred and seventy-five thousand five hundred bushels were planted at Wellfleet, Massachusetts, Portsmouth, New Hampshire, Portland, Maine, Buzzard's Bay and Vineyard Sound, Narragansett Bay, in Eastern Connecticut, at New Haven, and in New York Bay and Delaware Bay. This practice has existed for many years, and Chesapeake oysters were taken to New York and New Jersey for planting as long ago as 1825. Gould states that forty thousand bushels were used at Wellfleet in 1840, and one hundred thousand in 1850. It is probable that for the twenty years immediately preceding the war the town of Wellfleet planted on an average fifty thousand bushels of Chesapeake oysters each year.

The exportation of seed-oysters from Chesapeake Bay for planting in Connecticut was carried on on a very extensive scale for more than fifty years, although it has now practically ceased. In those times a large fleet of Connecticut vessels was employed in this traffic every winter, and some stirring traditions remain of perilous voyages during the icy season. In 1879 five hundred and fifteen thousand bushels of seed-oysters were taken from Chesapeake Bay to be planted in Connecticut, and after three years of good management brought about such a change that in the spring of 1883 one firm shipped to San Francisco fifteen millions of young oysters which had been reared on the Connecticut oyster-farms and were used for planting on the Pacific coast. Connecticut is now able to sell seed-oysters to other states, besides sending an immense supply to Europe.

Within recent years much attention has been given to the possibility of increasing the supply of oysters artificially. The oyster is enormously prolific, a single one giving birth in one season to many millions of young. Under a state of nature millions of oysters are born for each one which grows to maturity. One of the most important discoveries of the last fifty years is that it is quite possible to save many of these by artificial means.

Oyster-farming has come to be recognized as one of the great industries, but it is still capable of almost measureless expansion. An oyster is as subject to improvement by cultivation as a vegetable. The cultivation of oysters is therefore a legitimate employment for labor and capital. This industry can be successfully carried on on a small scale and with little capital in shallow waters and near the shore; but in deep water the investment of a large capital is required.

A successful method of farming consists in placing clean oyster-shells upon the bottom, just before the spawning season, for the attachment of the young, and then placing among these shells a few mature oysters to furnish the eggs. When the young oysters are large enough to handle they are distributed over the bottom. This method has been pursued for more than fifty years in the East River, near New York city. Oyster-farming is also carried on in New Jersey, on Long Island, and in Connecticut. This is a very profitable industry: upon a French farm of five hundred acres sixteen million oysters were taken in six tides.

The whole secret of oyster-culture is to furnish proper bodies for the attachment of the young. Many methods of doing this have been devised and employed. Although the development of this industry on a large scale is quite modern, seed-oysters for planting have been raised on a small scale in Italy for more than a thousand years by the following method: About the beginning of the seventh century a Roman knight, Sergius Orata, undertook the artificial breeding of oysters in Lake Lucrine. The enterprise was successful, and its author in a short time became very rich. The following method is still employed in that region, and we may presume that it is practically the same as that invented by Sergius. Upon the blackish mud are constructed here and there rockeries of rough stones, thrown into heaps sufficiently elevated to be protected from deposits of mud or slime. Upon these rocks oysters taken from the sea are deposited. Each rockery is surrounded by a circle of stakes. The stakes are united by a cord passing from one to another, to which are suspended between each two stakes a small bundle of twigs floating in the water at a short distance from the bottom. When the fishing season arrives the stakes and bundles of fagots are taken up, those oysters are used which are suitable for market, and then the stakes are replaced. The discovery of a few very interesting ancient Roman pictures of the industry indicates that this method was used so long ago as the days of Augustus.

About sixty years ago an unknown fisherman in the East River, in New York, began practical experiments in this line. The famous French naturalist Coste soon after began his investigations and experiments in France. The American's experiments resulted in the American system of oyster-farming as it exists in Long Island Sound and on the south shore of Long Island. Coste's experiments have led to the development of the French system.

In 1858 Coste stated that out of twenty-three natural beds which formerly constituted a great source of wealth, eighteen had been completely destroyed, and the remainder so impoverished that they no longer yielded enough oysters for planting. In another locality, where thirteen valuable beds had annually yielded a harvest valued at eighty thousand dollars, only three beds remained, and these were so depleted that twenty boats could in a few days carry away all the oysters.

In March, 1858, Coste began the work of replenishing the exhausted beds on the coast of France. In an area depleted by dredging, where the beds had been so completely destroyed that they could not provide spat, six long beds of oysters were planted and buoyed out. The bottoms around these beds were then thoroughly planted with the shells of oysters and other mollusks. Bundles of twigs, six to ten feet long, were then fastened by stone anchors a foot above the bottom, to serve as spat-collectors. Six months later these bundles were found to be completely covered with spat, and twenty thousand young were counted upon one bundle.

Two Government farms were established, with a force of one hundred and twelve persons, and an area of nearly one thousand acres was stocked in the same way. In 1863, during six tides, and upon only half of the restocked lands, sixteen million oysters were taken. Land was ceded by the Government to individuals, and one area of four hundred and ninety-two acres was in a few years stocked with oysters valued at eight million dollars.

The American systen has grown up without direct encouragement from the Government, as the result of private enterprise. The French people are generally held to be the originators of the system, but this is an error. Several years before Coste began his experiments, the oystermen of the East River began the practice of shelling the beds at the spawning season in order to increase the supply. Three years before Coste began his experiments, the state of New York, in 1855, enacted a law to secure to private farmers the fruits of their labors, and a number of persons engaged in the new industry on an extensive scale. The industry has grown steadily from that time, and the East River is now the scene of the most painstaking and scientific oyster-culture in the United States.

Thus a modern industry has arisen by which the world is being furnished with an increasing supply of one of its favorite foods. But oyster-planting and oyster-farming are still in their infancy, and are yet inadequate to the immense demand. Year after year these interests are being extended, and the time is not far away when by these methods oysters will be produced in such quantities and at such moderate prices as readily to meet the needs of the world.

LATE MR. HUDON.

ONE of the oldest and best known citizens of Montreal died Sunday morning at one o'clock. Mr. Victor Hudon succumbed to that dreaded disease, la grippe, which he contracted during a trip he made to Roberval last January, at the advanced age of 85. He retained his consciousness until the last moment. The deceased was born at Riviere Ouelle, P.Q., August 21, 1812. In 1830 he became a clerk for Mr. Chouinard, Quebec. In May 1832. he removed to Montreal, clerking for Mr. J. B. Casavant, and was afterwards sent by him to St. Cesaire, where he remained five years. He then became a partner of Mr. N. C. Chaffers, St. Cesaire, doing business also at St. Dominique and St. Pie. In 1842 Mr. Hudon returned to Montreal, becoming a partner of his cousin, Ephrem Hudon, in the dry goods and grocery trade. The partnership was dissolved after fifteen years, and Mr. Victor Hudon continued alone, largely extending his import trade. For ten years he also did a heavy business at Havana. In 1872-3, he, with others, erected cotton mills at Hochelaga, under the name of the V. Hudon Cotton Mills Co. He founded the wholesale grocery firm of Hudon, Hebert & Cie., of Montreal. In 1834 he married Marie Godard, of Montreal. He had nine children, three daughters and six sons, three of the latter having entered the Jesuit Order.

Mr. Hudon was a staunch Conservative, always taking the deepest interest in the party's welfare. He has been a member of the Harbor Commissioners' Board for the last forty years, and had to sever his connections with that body last September, when the Conservative members had to give way to their Liberal confreres. For a number of years he was a director of the Jacques Cartier Bank, and always took a deep interest in the growth of the city.

THE BASIS OF PROFITS.

A large portion of the community hold the opinion that rich men acquire their fortunes by charging an exorbitant profit for their goods. This is a mistake, says an exchange. Profits are made in two ways, by economy of production and by a profit on the sale. Economy of production does not mean that low wages are paid for labor, but it means that a sharp lookout has been kept against waste; there has been economy of shipment, economy of service in the traveling field, economy and good judgment in the purchase of supplies; these are the factors that, carefully watched, mean a profit to the maker of the goods, without any trespass on good wages.

Then in the sale of goods only a small profit is charged. Competition is too sharp to permit of any other practice. The surplus is not made up from a large profit on a few articles sold, but from a small profit on many articles sold. The consumer is seldom wronged in the matter of profit on merchandise of any class. The dealer who sells 10,000 articles at a profit of 10 cents each has made more money than the dealer who sold 3,000 articles at a profit of 25 cents each. This is the principle on which Vanderbilt laid the foundation of his great fortune. When he opened his freight line into Chicago he cut freight rates squarely in two to begin with. This gave the shipper a big saving, but it at the same time made very much more money for Vanderbilt than if the old rate had been maintained. More people could buy goods because of the reduction this difference afforded.

SEEKING INCORPORATION.

The Toronto Biscuit and Confectionery Co., Ltd., is applying for incorporation under the Companies Act, Revised Statutes of Canada. The capital stock is one hundred thousand dollars, in one thousand shares of one hundred dollars each. The names of the applicants are: A. W. Porte, S. R. Parsons, Mary Elizabeth Porte, Annie Kate Parsons, and George Ritchie, barrister, all of Toronto. The first or provisional directors are to be the said Andrew William Porte, Silas Richard Parsons and George Ritchie.

HE EXPECTS TO BE WEALTHY.

With a sigh the grocer learned that he was only making 10 per cent. upon his investment.

"But I must be patient," he murmured. Presently he might have been seen flitting between the sugar barrel and the kerosene tank.

"Little drops of water, little grains of sand," he said.

Suiting the action to the word, a look of hope and courage overspread his countenance.

"I will yet be wealthy," were the words that fell from his lips.

Then he issued forth joyfully, although he knew in his heart that the scales were lying in weight for him.—Up To Date.

THE YOUNG MAN AND HIS TIME.

"TIME is money" is an old saying. But this only begins to tell the truth. Time is more than money. It is learning, wisdom, character, success, power, when put to its right uses. Time makes the men who fill the ages with worth, the institutions that enrich the world, the epochs that glorify history. All great things are the product of time. Longfellow has written a volume of practical wisdom in one line: "Learn to labor and to wait."

Time is the element of labor which gives it success. It is not only labor but its continuance that works success. Spurts of labor, spasmodic smartness, lightning flashes of work are not enough. It is the spurt kept up, the smartness long drawn out, the lightning made perpetual, that accomplishes creditable things. Minutes are little things and small in their results, but minutes held to good uses till they make hours, and hours held on to till they grow into years, and the years made fruitful till they ripen into ages, accomplish the great things in human history.

A few years ago someone started a complaint against our American colleges that they failed to make great men as did the old colleges. And all the papers took it up, and a ringing complaint went the rounds that our colleges had degenerated because they produced no more giants. But after all the papers had become hoarse with their growling, some considerate editor thoughtfully said: "Gentlemen, you are too soon with your complaints. Colleges are to prepare men to grow and do; but no men are heard from as great men in any broad, national sense, till they have been out of college at least twenty-five years; after that they mature into greatness and become widely known." Then he cited the few truly great men of the present century in this country and Europe, noted when they left college and when they attained greatness in any generally accepted sense, and showed that time was a very important factor in the development of greatness.

But Longfellow's gem of wisdom asks us to wait as well as labor—that, is, wait while we labor. There is time spent in waiting; not time spent in idleness, but in labor. We must labor without expecting immediate results. The results of labor are slow in coming. Seeds are slow in germinating and slow in their early growths.

This lesson of the value and true importance of time in the make-up of our lives and successes is one of the most difficult for the young to learn. Youth is the ardent season. It is full of fire and zeal. Its imagination is active. "A continual dropping wears a stone." It is not only the dropping but to wait. It is in hot haste for action and attainment. It tires of old-fogy slowness, and covets quick returns and striking results in every enterprise. Yet the old law holds good that time will have its slow way in all its great results.

All the short cuts to greatness are accidental and not legitimate. They are not to be copied or to be cited as examples. There are some cases of quick success that have the appearance of being secured by some smartness, or short-hand skill, but examine hem closely, and they usually prove the old law that time will have its slow hand on all truly great and good results. The cases of success by lottery luck are mere chance affairs, and illustrate no law or principle.

It is always true then that time is one of the essential and important elements that enter into the make-up of strong mind, mature judgment, worthy character and notable success.

They who waste no time are seldom short of time to do everything well that needs to be done at all. Wasted time is the bane of many a life. It is this more than anything else that cuts short preparatory education. Time trifled away, time idled away, time fooled away, is what deprives many a life of success and fills it with shame. This is a point of vast moment to many a young man. The love of fun and frolic, the craving for society, the passion for a good time, so overcome many young men of good abilities and intentions as to dissipate their force of character and cripple every energy for any great purposes or noteworthy pursuits. Their waste of time will make them perpetual weaklings. Looking Forward for Young Men.

SUGAR STATISTICS.

Willett & Gray make the total stock of sugar in four ports, 298,054 tons, against 302,879 tons last week, and 142,331 tons last year. The six principal ports of Cuba by cable for week: Receipts, 15,115 tons; exports, 10,500 tons; stock, 70,939 tons, against 67,124 tons last week and 43,902 tons last year. Total stock in all the principal countries, 2,879,693 tons, against 2,385,608 tons at same uneven dates last year and 2,360,774 tons at the even date of March 1st last year. Afloats to the United States from all countries es imated 70,000 tons, against 70,000 tons last year. This week's summary of the statistical position shows stocks in the United States and Cuba together of 368,993 tons, against 380,003 tons last week and 186,733 tons last year, a plus of 182,260 tons over last year. Stocks in Europe, 2,510,700 tons, against 2,478,800 tons last week and 2,385,608 tons last year. Total stocks of Europe and America, 2,879,693 tons, against 2,848,803 tons last week, and 2,385,608 tons last year at the same uneven dates. The excess of stock is now 494,085 tons, against an excess of 512,550 tons last week, and a deficiency of 6,733 tons December 31, 1896. Afloats to the United States include shipments of 23,500 tons last week from Hamburg and Bremen. Freight room has been engaged for 22,000 tons. Shipments include 1,700 tons refined.

SIMNEL CAKES.

We are pleased to see that an eminent cake firm, whose name is often before our readers' eyes, have turned their attention to "Simnels," the rich cakes which it is a popular custom in some parts of England to consume during mid-Lent. The origin of the custom of observing the fourth Sunday in Lent as "Mothering Sunday," or otherwise "Simnel Sunday," is a question for the antiquarians, and even they may perhaps fail to give a satisfactory answer. It is, at any rate, a very old custom, traceable back to the days before Henry VIII brought about the English Reformation. On the fourth Lenten Sunday the young people used to visit their parents, carrying with them a present for "Mother" in the shape of a cake made with flour that had been blessed by the priest. This was called "Going a Mothering," and the cake a "Simnel" cake. Bury, in Lancashire, is perhaps now the town most famous for keeping up the practice, although at one time it was general in England. In Dorset, too, we believe the old custom lingers. It is also said to be kept up in Britany, which suggests an observance not confined to England in the old days, although it may have been a relic from the times when France was under English rule. It would be a pity the good custom should follow so many cheery old things into the limbo of the forgotten. Grocers have a direct interest in retaining it, since they are the persons to dispense those toothsome Simnel cakes, which ought to be popular enough, custom or no custom.—London Grocer.

A DELIVERANCE ON EGGS.

IN their sixth annual circular just issued, D. Gunn, Bros. & Co., have the following to say regarding eggs :

There is every indication that an abundant supply of coarse feed stuffs in Ontario will lead to an unusually large production of eggs this season. Already supplies received in Toronto from various parts of the province are largely in excess of receipts at the same period a year ago, or of any past year, and the rate of increase will, in all likelihood, be continued. With a supply of eggs vastly in excess of requirements, more than usual interest must be centred in foreign markets. An import tax upon eggs of three cents a dozen under the McKinley tariff almost prohibited shipments to the United States, but the duty of five cents proposed by the Dingley bill must entirely close the American markets to Canadian egg-producers. But even were eggs admitted into the United States free of duty, it is doubtful if profitable shipments could be made from Canada to the large centres of consumption in the Eastern States. The egg production of the United States, according to the estimates of most reliable authorities, will be enormous this season, variously estimated at 20 to 25 per cent. more than last year. At the recent convention of the Iowa Egg Dealers' Association buyers were advised that not more than six cents should be paid for eggs for storage purposes. A number of dealers thought that eggs would be bought for less than six cents before the end of the season. From various other sources it was estimated that there would be fully twenty per cent. of an increase in the production of eggs in the United States this year over any other year. The farmers of the Middle and Western States are willing to sell their corn at from eight to twelve cents a bushel, while eggs at six cents a dozen, it is thought, would mean corn at fifteen or eighteen cents a bushel.

It seems inevitable that the egg dealers of the United States will actively compete with Canadian exporters in the British markets. The immense area of territory from which egg supplies can be drawn will give American exporters a wonderful advantage. In the past ten years the surplus egg supplies of the United States have, in the spring months, been placed in cold storage to await a better market. Enormous sums have been lost in this trade for some years, and several large cold storage companies have signified their intention to very materially curtail their storage operations in eggs. This, along with the anticipated increase in the production of eggs, must compel the Americans to look for other markets to dispose of their surplus stock. Anticipating such competition we should double our efforts. We must meet quantity with quality. The united energies of farmers, packers and exporters interested in the egg industry must be directed to marketing eggs of the best quality at the least expenditure of money. The farmers should be encouraged to improve their breed of poultry, paying special care to the breeds that produce eggs of the best quality, size and general appearance, so essential for the British market. Many useful suggestions along this line will be found in the proceedings of the Ontario Poultry Association. Farmers and merchants alike must remember that immediate shipments are essential to success in the egg industry. The cellars of the farm house and the country store are poor storehouses for eggs. Delay in shipment means stale eggs, and stale eggs mean ruinous prices. In individual instances storekeepers may have realized better prices by waiting for a favorable turn of the market, and possibly these operations might be repeated, but for every successful holding reported there are a dozen unsuccessful ventures. Taking the whole season into account, or a series of seasons, profits are made in the egg industry by those who make their shipments or sales promptly.

The following table will show the prices of eggs at New York and Toronto on March 15, during the past seven years. The comparison of values is interesting as showing the small difference in quotations in the two markets :

	1891	1892	1893	1894	1895	1896	1897

TORONTO BOARD OF TRADE SHOULD AWAKE.

MUCH of a community's prosperity depends on its local board of trade. A board of trade is essentially a commercial institution. It is the watchman on the tower: watching that none of the community's rights are stolen or ignored; watching for opportunities to sally forth and appropriate trade at outside points. If it is not doing that it is derelict in its duty.

There was a time when the Board of Trade of Toronto was one of the most active and energetic institutions of the kind in the Dominion.

But its former activity appears to be giving way to passiveness. And this seems to be gradually getting more pronounced.

No important schemes having for their object the promotion of the city's and the country's interests are promulgated. On the contrary, there is a general lassitude, which, unless some galvanized influence is brought to bear, must ultimately result in atrophy.

Such things ought not to be. For some years the executive officers of the board have been collected from the very cream of the "Queen City's" business men.

To-day's officers were probably never in the history of the board exceeded in point of business ability. Mr. Edward Gurney, Mr. Elias Rogers, and Mr. A. E. Kemp, the president and two vice-presidents, are men who in their respective business capacities have exhibited more than the usual meed of ability. And yet the Board of Trade over which they preside is apparently asleep to its own, the city's, and the country's needs.

The officers of the past year and the officers of the present year have not been unmindful of this apathy. Read between the lines of the speeches delivered at the last annual meeting and one will discover that. Then why this apathy? The reason is not far to seek.

The trouble is with the rank and file of the membership.

First the members began to get a little sore because of the financial problems appertaining to the board itself which demanded solution. Then, a great many, instead of taking off their coats, became apathetic and disgruntled. And when they got out of sympathy with the officers of the board they of course got out of sympathy with the objects of the board, ultimately losing sight of them altogether.

Now, whatever evils inimical to the commercial interests of Toronto or the country exist, there appears to be no Board of Trade to rise up in its might and crush them.

Strong and all as the officers may be, they are not strong enough to do alone that which demands the united efforts of the members, any more than they can lift themselves by their boot straps.

Canada has arrived at an epoch in her history when it is demanded more than ever before that the business men of the country should lend their aid in shaping her destinies. And much will depend upon the measure of interest and activity which the boards of trade in the country develop. Toronto is one of the most important commercial centres in the Dominion, and if the Board of Trade in that city is wanting in its duty the country must, to a more or less extent, suffer.

It is to be hoped that the members of the Toronto Board of Trade will awake, and volunteer to follow where their officers shall lead.

SPECULATION IN TEA.

There has been an active demand of a speculative character for tea in Montreal this week. Low-grade Japans have been the goods in most demand and over 1,500 packages changed hands between Monday and Wednesday on the basis of 15c.

PROPOSED CANAL-DEEPENING.

CANADA'S inland waterways, natural and artificial, are one of her greatest peculiarities. No country in the world occupies a more enviable position in this respect.

But here and there in the great chain of lakes and canals, which run deep into the heart of the country, are spots upon which the hand of man has yet much to do before we can enjoy to the full the advantages which Nature has bestowed upon us as a nation.

The proposition, therefore, of the Dominion Government, as outlined in the Speech from the Throne the other day, to deepen the St. Lawrence system of canals to a uniform depth of fourteen feet is one which will doubtless meet with the general approval of the business men of the country.

Stretching from the Straits of Belle Isle to Port Arthur, at the head of Lake Superior, is a continuous navigable waterway of 2,260 miles. Included within this distance are eight canals, aggregating 71 miles. At present the depth of water in these canals ranges from 9 to 22 feet. The Sault Ste. Marie canal is 22 feet, the Welland 14 feet and the St. Lawrence river system 9 to 14 feet.

It will thus be seen that as long as some of the canals on the St. Lawrence proper have only nine feet of water on the sills the system itself is to all intents and purposes only a nine-foot one.

A nine-foot system is practically the same as was designed when the construction of the River St. Lawrence canals was in contemplation.

In 1871 it was decided to make the navigable depth 12 feet. Subsequently 14 feet became the idea. And it is this idea that the Government proposes to carry out.

Canal building on the St. Lawrence river began in 1821 with the Lachine canal, the original locks only giving a depth of five feet.

The total amount spent by Canada up to June 30, 1895, for canal construction and enlargement was in round figures nearly $70,000,000, and of this sum nearly $24,000,000 was on the St. Lawrence river canals. Our revenue from canals since Confederation has aggregated about $10,500,000.

The tonnage passing through the St. Lawrence river canals amounts to nearly two millions annually and the freight averages about one million tons, besides nearly sixty thousand passengers.

With fourteen feet of water throughout, this system of canals would have greater utility, for breaking of bulk at Kingston would be avoided in many instances where it is now compulsory. Then we may naturally expect to see follow increased traffic and enlarged tonnage.

As the nine-foot and twelve-foot canal system have been compelled to give place to the fourteen-foot, so we may ultimately expect to see the last named give way to a twenty or twenty-five-foot canal. In fact, the agitation for it has been heard in the land for some years. But the size of our pocket bids us be patient in this respect.

Revised version of Horace Greely's advice: "Go west, young man, and blow up with the cyclone."

CURRANTS AGAIN ADVANCE.

INCREASED strength is being shown by the Grecian currant market, a cable received in Toronto on Wednesday announcing a further advance of 9d. per cwt. in fine Filiatra fruit.

Strong as the market is, it is quite possible that next season will see it equally as strong. Owing to the calling out of the reserves in Greece, all men between the ages of 21 and 30 years are with the regular army that is now eagerly awaiting an opportunity of jumping at the throat of their hereditary foe, the Turk.

As a result of this it is estimated that fully one-half of the vine and currant plantations have not yet been cultivated. Judging from the present condition of affairs, these men are not likely to get back to their accustomed avocations for some time.

The stocks of currants in Greece available for export were only 10,000 tons a month ago, and the statement which found circulation in England, to the effect that the Greek Government might throw upon the consuming market the currants collected under the retention bill, has been emphatically denied.

MOLASSES ADVANCING.

THERE appears to be considerable divergency in the advices from Barbadoes regarding values on new crop molasses.

It will be remembered that after the opening price had been cabled the market declined 3c. to 8c. from 11c., the opening figure.

Within the past ten days, however, the advices have been of a firmer tenor, a recovery of 1c. having been already chronicled in these columns.

Even at this advance some of the best commission men in Montreal remark that it is curious that they cannot get an order accepted at the Islands.

One big commission house has had an order for 5,000 puncheons at the Islands for some time, the limit being above the market, and has received no intelligence of its acceptance.

These facts do not argue that sellers at primary sources are in any great hurry to realize. On the other hand, it is equally true that Canadian importers this spring are equally indifferent about ordering.

This time last spring quite a few contracts had been placed, but THE CANADIAN GROCER saw four of the leading commission men in Montreal, and most of the big jobbing houses who do a large trade in molasses, and could not hear of a single important deal having been put through.

Late advices to hand from Barbadoes state that the more independent feeling manifested by holders there is due to the active demand from United States buyers, both for the crop on that island and at Porto Rico as well.

This demand is caused by a desire to import all the molasses necessary into the United States before the Dingley bill with its 3c. duty per pound on molasses becomes law.

THE PRICE OF DRESSED HOGS.

A comparison of the price of dressed hogs a year ago with the figures ruling to-day gives one an idea of the strength of the market in this particular.

A year ago dressed hogs were quoted at $4.65 to $4.75. To-day, packers' light hogs are quoted at $6.60 to $6.75 per hundred pounds, and heavy hogs at $5.50 to $5.75.

In other words, dressed hogs are from $1 to $2 per hundred pounds dearer than they were a year ago at this time.

We have to thank the activity which our hog products are meeting with in Great Britain for this appreciation in the value of Canadian hogs.

Speculation is all right as long as it does not cause peculation.

CHEAP CONGOUS DEARER.

One result of the new tea inspection law which goes into force in the United States on May 1 is a momentary stiffening in the price of low-priced Congou teas on the Canadian market.

It is expected that under the new law a great deal of the cheap teas which now find entrance into the United States will be denied admittance. Consequently, there is a rush to get as many of these teas as possible into the country between now and the coming into operation of the more stringent law.

As the Canadian market has been searched for cheap Congous, and a good many have been taken across the border, the price of this article on the spot has appreciated somewhat in value.

When a man becomes a convert to cash he forsakes the evil ways of the credit system.

DELAYED TARRAGONA ALMOND SHIPMENTS.

Some of the importers who ordered Tarragona almonds lately will not get their shipments till about six weeks later than they anticipated. At any rate, that is their fate as far as the lots transferred at Liverpool from the steamship Australia to the Cambrian are concerned.

It seems that the latter boat, which broke her shaft while in mid-ocean and put into the Azores, has been, according to information just received in Toronto, ordered by the underwriters to be towed back to Liverpool for repairs. It is probable that she will again sail about April 5.

In the meantime stocks of Tarragona almonds in Toronto are much reduced, and enquiries for supplies are numerous.

THE BEAN MARKET CONDITION.

THE situation of the white bean market in Canada is anything but satisfactory. On account of the floods in the bean-growing district of Western Ontario last season a great many damaged beans were put upon the market. This, of course, affected the export trade.

Then Michigan produced an enormous crop last season, negativing our opportunities on the United States market, to which we in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1896, exported nearly $250,000 worth of beans.

The British market has not been a good one for Canadian beans this season either, and primarily for two reasons. The chief reason is the large quantity of California beans that have been shipped to that market owing to the low freights ruling. Another reason is the lack of uniformity in the Canadian beans which have been placed on the British market, shipments often not coming up to samples.

Early in the season there was a demand for Canadian beans in the United Kingdom, but the unsatisfactory character of the quality curtailed it.

Shippers in Canada could not have prevented the competition of the California product, but they could have prevented, by the exercise of ordinary care, the sending of inferior quality beans to the British market. But they did not, and the country is compelled to suffer in consequence.

CANNERS AND FREIGHT RATES.

A special meeting of the Executive Committee of the Canadian Packers' Association is being held in Toronto as we go to press. The chief object of the meeting is to consider freight rates.

The packers have one particular grievance in this matter, and that is the long haul to Halifax.

The rate for this haul is two cents per hundred pounds more than the special rates which the packers formerly enjoyed.

Naturally, this rate affects both the trade of western packers with the Maritime Provinces and their export trade. And, of course, they are not at all pleased with the condition of affairs.

It is to be hoped that the railway companies will be as liberal as possible with the packers. One of the leading packers told THE CANADIAN GROCER that if the railways would accord the packers the Baltimore and Philadelphia rates he could largely increase his export trade in canned goods to Great Britain.

EXCITEMENT IN TOBACCO.

There has been a great deal of excitement in tobacco during the past week or ten days.

The idea obtains among a great many that the Government will increase the duty on that article, and they are accordingly free buyers.

The Customs duty on cut tobacco is 45c. per lb. and 12½ per cent. ad valorem, and on manufactured tobacco 35c. per lb. and 12½ per cent. Unmanufactured tobacco for excise purposes is free.

Our imports of cut tobacco last year for home consumption were $36,850 pounds, valued at $17,133, on which the duty paid aggregated $18,717, or 109 per cent. All other manufactures of tobacco, 40,173 pounds, valued at $15,562, on which the duty paid was $16,002, or nearly 103 per cent. The imports of free tobacco for excise purposes were 9,850,441 pounds, valued at $1,347,377.

The quantity of Canadian tobacco taken for use in 1895 was 596,741 pounds, and the average for the past 13 years, 553,083. The consumption per head in 1895 was 2.16 pounds, against an average of 2.17 pounds since Confederation.

The Inland Revenue duty on manufactured tobacco is 25c. per pound when made from imported leaf and 5c. per pound when made from Canadian leaf.

CANNED GOODS FOR ENGLAND.

The Delhi Canning Co. is this week shipping a carload of canned tomatoes and apples to the English market. Since last fall this firm has been shipping on an average two carloads per month to that market.

"We are getting," said Mr. Ferguson, "3d. per dozen more for our goods on the English market than are the United States packers. If we were not we could not do business there, on account of the higher freights that are against us."

SULTANA RAISINS.

The prospective change in the United States tariff on foreign fruits has caused the development of a firmer tone on that market for Sultana raisins.

In spite of that fact, however, dealers in Toronto have found it necessary, during the last few days, to make purchases in New York on account of the moderate character of the stocks on the local market.

Sultana raisins in the primary market continue firm on account of the reduced stocks held there.

The Produce Markets' Review, London, of March 20, in referring to the Sultana raisin market said: "The better kinds of the rain-damaged fruit have been more enquired for and are quite firm, but the lower kinds are more or less neglected."

TO TAX DEPARTMENT STORES.

In the Ontario Legislature on Wednesday, Mr. Middleton introduced a bill respecting department stores. It provides that the Council of any city having a population of 30,000 or over may pass bylaws for imposing a special tax upon stores carrying on more than three distinct kinds of business. The tax is to be in respect of each additional class of business, and in fixing the tax the same is to be regulated by bylaw so as to provide for a uniform tax, irrespective of each additional class of business, or the same may be graded in such manner as may be proper. The bylaw requires a two-thirds vote of the members of the Council, and the Act is not to take effect until January 1, 1898.

TAKING GOODS OUT OF BOND.

Although it has been said that the Laurier Government would not bring about many changes in the tariff, many merchants at Montreal are clearing sugars and liquors at a lively rate, while large purchases of tea are being made in the anticipation of a free breakfast table being made a thing of the past. Up to Saturday the Customs receipts for the month of March had reached $785,-464, or about $300,000 ahead of those for the same period of last year. For the last four days the receipts were as follows: March 24, $73,621; March 25, $72,058; March 26, $40,524; March 27, $120,-808. Of the last mentioned amount, about $100,000 represented sugar, as the total amount of raw sugar cleared at the port of Montreal for the week ending March 27 reached no less than 41,207,105 lbs.

OUR

are growing in favor every day.

There is reason in this. It is simply owing to the fact that we are so careful in the manufacture that our Extracts cannot be surpassed by any for purity, strength and flavor. We make a large variety. Not only the standard Lemon and Vanilla, but almost every fruit, flower and spice flavor known can be had for the asking.

The point is--It will pay you to push the sale of this line. The goods will please your customers and win trade for you.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

TORONTO, April 1, 1897.

GROCERIES.

THE feature of the wholesale grocery trade the past week has been the development of a keen demand for tobaccos consequent upon the anticipation of an increased duty on this article. Business in this particular line is much larger than usual, and one house informed THE CANADIAN GROCER that its sales of tobacco for the week were about equal to that of an average three months. Whiskies, too, are in brisker demand for the same reason, and enormous quantities are being taken out of bond in order to prepare for eventualities. A speculative demand, although not nearly as pronounced as in tobaccos and whiskies, has also sprung up for sugar. The speculative demand for teas continues to ease off, although desirable spot lots are still meeting with a fair request. Canned goods are steady with the demand moderate. Nothing new has transpired in foreign dried fruits. Currants continue firm. Oranges are steady, with those of Valencia growth slightly dearer in Liverpool.. Outside the speculative buying noted, business is quiet owing to some extent, no doubt, to the bad condition of the country roads. Payments are slow.

CANNED GOODS.

There is not a great deal of business doing in canned vegetables, but prices are holding firm. "Even that drug on the market, corn, has stiffened up a little," remarked one dealer. There is, no doubt, a better feeling in regard to corn, the decks having been pretty well cleaned up of the low-priced goods which were on the market. Packers, who a short time ago were asking 50c. are now demanding 55c. per dozen. No transactions are, however, reported. Enquiries for canned fruits are beginning to be heard. It is mostly for peaches, however, the pack of which last season was small. Canned lobster is scarce and dear. Salmon keeps firm, but there is not much doing. We quote standard brands: Tomatoes, 75c.; corn, 60 to 70c.; peas, 70 to 80c. for ordinary; sifted select, 90 to $1; extra sifted, $1.25 to $1.40; beans, 65 to 95c.; peaches, $2.50 to $3 for 3's, $1.65 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.50 to $1.80; strawberries, $1.65 to $1.95, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.70 to $1.90; cherries, $2 to $2.25; apples, 3's, 70 to 95c.; gallons, $1.65 to $2.25; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.50 to $1.55; cohoes, $1.15 to $1.25; canned mackerel, $1.20 to $1.30; lobsters, $2.25 to $2.40 for tall tins; flats, $2.85 to $2.90; ½-lb. flats, $1.60 to $1.65; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.20 to $1.30; 2's, $2.25 to $2.40; 6's, $7.75 to $8.25; 14's, $15 to $16.

COFFEES.

Some cheap grades of green Rio coffee are offering, although there does not appear to be a great deal of business doing. Wholesalers report the demand fairly good. Jobbers quote green in bags: Rio, 14 to 16c., according to grade; East Indian, 27 to 30c.; South American, 21 to 23c.; Santos, 19 to 22½c.; Java, 30 to 33c.; Mocha, 27½ to 30c.; Maracaibo, 18 to 20c.; Jamaica, 19 to 22c.

SYRUPS.

There are no large supplies, but the demand is light. We quote: Dark, 23 to 25c.; medium, 28 to 35c.; bright, 32 to 42c.; corn syrup, 3 to 3¼c. per lb.

MOLASSES.

No change has taken place since our last. There is not much business doing. We quote: New Orleans, barrels, 23 to 35c.; ditto, half-barrels, 25 to 37c.; ditto, fancy, 50 to 55c., in barrels and half-barrels; Barbadoes, 31 to 35c.; half-barrels, 33 to 35c.

SUGAR.

There is some speculative buying of sugar to be noted, but it has not yet assumed striking proportions, few of the Toronto wholesalers apparently having any disposition to take a hand in the business. Wholesalers in Hamilton and London appear to be much more venturesome in this respect. The ordinary demand is light. "Business," remarked the representative of one refinery, "during the past month was good, and for the three months I should say it is little, if anything, behind that of last year for the same period." In New York on Monday granulated sugar advanced ⅛c and yellows 1-16c. per lb. The local sugar market rules firm at unchanged prices. Wholesalers quote granulated at 4 3-16 to 4¼c. for 5 barrels and over, and at 4¼ to 4 5-16c. for less than 5 barrels; 3½c. per lb. upwards for yellows; Demerara crystals, 3⅞c.

SPICES.

The spice trade is quiet and prices unchanged. We quote: Pure Singapore black pepper, 10 to 12c.; pure white, 18 to 25c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 23 to 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar French, 25 to 27c.; do. best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 14 to 18c.; cassia, quoting 2½ to 3½c. for choice to fancy stock.

NUTS.

Sicily filberts are cabled 3s. to 4s. dearer. Locally there is nothing new to note. We quote: Brazil nuts, 11 to 12½c.; Valencia shelled almonds, 18 to 22c.; Tarragona almonds, 9½ to 11c.; peanuts, 10 to 12c. for roasted and 7 to 10c. for green; cocoanuts, $4.50 to $5 per sack; Grenoble walnuts, 12½c.; Marbot walnuts, 9½ to 11c.; Bordeax walnuts, 8 to 9c.: Sicily filberts, 10c. for sacks and 10½ to 11c. for small lots; Naples filberts, 11c.; pecans, 12 to 12½c.

RICE, TAPIOCA, ETC.

Business is quiet. We quote: Rice, Standard "B," 3¼ to 3½c.; imported Japan, 5¼ to 5¾c.; tapioca, 3¼ to 4½c.; sago, 3½c.

TEAS.

There is a good demand for spot teas of all kinds, but these teas have been pretty well picked over. There is a stronger market for cheap Congous, in sympathy with the United States market, where an effort is being made to secure all teas of this description before the new inspection law goes into force. Ruling prices on the Toronto market to retailers are: Young Hyson, 18 to 21c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 14 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 15 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for high grades.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

Fine Filiatra currants were on Wednesday cabled 9d. dearer in Patras. Locally, the market is firm, with the demand good for the season. We quote: Provincials, 4⅜ to 4½c. in bbls.; fine Filiatras, in bbls., 4½ to 4¾c.; do, half-bbls., 4½ to 4¾c.; Patras, 5 to 5¼c. in bbls., 5⅛ to 5¼c. in half-bbls., and 5⅛ to 5½c. in cases; Vostizzas, cases, 6 to 8c.

Valencia raisins are still neglected. We quote: Off-stalk, 5 to 5¼c.; fine off-stalk, 5¾ to 6c.; selected, 6¾ to 7c.; layers, 7 to 7½c.

California loose muscatel raisins are quiet and unchanged. We quote: 3-crown, 7½c.; 4-crown, 8 to 8½c.

Figs are in fair demand for shipment to outside points, but there is not much demand locally. We quote: 10 oz., 7½c.; 10 lb., 9 to 10c.; 18 lb., 10 to 12c.; 28 lb., 11 to 13c.; taps, 3¼ to 3½c. net; natural, 4½c. in bags, and 7c. in boxes.

Dates continue quiet. We quote: 5½ to 6c. for Hallowee and 5 to 5¼c. for Kadrowee.

There is nothing new to note in prunes, the demand being moderate. We quote: Bosnias, U's (110 to 113 half kilo), 6 to 6½c.; C's (85 to 90 half kilo), 7 to 7½c. per lb. California, 90 to 100's, 6½c. per lb.; 70 to 80's, 7½c.; 60 to 70's, 7½ to 8c.; 50 to 60's, 8 to 8½c.; 40 to 50's, 9½ to 10½c.; 30 to 40's, 12½ to 13c.; "Ruby" prunes, 7½ to 8c.; French, 4½ to 5c.

California evaporated fruits are in much the same position as a week ago. We quote: Peaches, 7 to 10½c. per lb., accord-

Stocks of Sultana raisins on the spot are light, and there is a firmer tone in sympathy with the outside markets.

GREEN FRUIT.

Business has improved during the last few days, the demand being good for oranges, lemons and bananas. Marmalade oranges are about cleaned out, while Valencia oranges are cabled 9d. dearer in Liverpool. New cucumbers are on the market this week, and they sell at $1.75 per dozen. A great many apples are still being exported, 40,000 barrels being shipped from Canadian and United States ports last week. The improvement on the local market noted last week has been maintained. We quote: Oranges—Valencias, ordinary, 420's, $3.75 to $4 per case; large 420's, $5.75 to $6; 714's, $4.50 to $5 per case; marmalade oranges, $3 to $3.50. California navels, $3 to $4.50 per box, according to size. California Tangerines, $2.75 per box. Lemons—Messinas, $2 to $2.75 per box for both 300's and 360's, and $2.25 to $2.50 for choice; cocoanuts, $3.75 a sack and 60c. per doz. Apples—Baldwins and Greenings, $1.50 per bbl.; Spies, $2. Onions, $1.50 per 80 lb. bag for Danvers. Cranberries, Jerseys, $5 to $7 per bbl. and $2 per case; bananas, $1.50 to $2. Pine apples, 20 to 25c. each. Strawberries, $2.75 per case for pints. Cucumbers, $1.75 per dozen.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—The market is in much about the same condition as a week ago. A great deal of poor stuff is on the market, while choice dairy butter is scarce and wanted. Creamery butter is more plentiful and prices are lower in consequence. We quote: Dairy butter—Tubs, 13 to 14c. for good to choice; low-grade to medium, 7 to 9c.; large rolls, 13 to 15c. for good to choice, and 7 to 10c. for low-grade to medium; pound prints, 15 to 16c. for good to choice. Creamery—Tubs, 18 to 19c.; 1-lb. blocks, 19 to 20c., according to make.

CHEESE—The situation is practically the same as a week ago. The demand is light. We quote September and October makes at 11 to 12c. per lb. and fodder cheese at 10 to 11c.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

BEANS — The market is dull. Ordinary mixed lots are quoted by wholesalers at 40 to 50c. per bushel, and choice hand-picked at 75 to 80c.

DRIED APPLES—Dull. Contracts for export made some time ago are being filled, but there does not appear to be any new business in this respect. Choice are quoted by wholesalers at 2 to 2½c., and fancy at 2½ to 3c.

EVAPORATED APPLES—A good many are being put into cold storage for next season. The market is dull and weak. Offerings are free at 3c. f.o.b., but exporters do not appear willing to pay more than 2¾c. Mail advices state that evaporated apples are selling in London as low as 3½c. per lb. Wholesale quotations are : Quarters, 2¾c.; sliced, 3c.; best brands, 4c.

HONEY—Quiet. We quote : Comb, 80 to 90c. per dozen for dark and $1.50 to $1.75 for light ; strained, 6 to 7c. per lb.

EGGS—Receipts are liberal. The demand, while good, is not equal to the supply, and prices are lower at 9c. for five-case lots and 9½c. per dozen for single cases. A further slight decline is looked for, but the fact that pickling will soon begin will naturally prevent a great reduction taking place.

POULTRY—Still scarce, with the demand good. We quote: Chickens, 40 to 70c. per pair; turkeys, 10 to 11c. for bright stock ; geese, 7 to 8c. ; ducks, 70 to 90c.

POTATOES—Are offering freely, with carload lots changing hands at 20c., and small lots out of store are quoted at 25 to 30c. per bag.

MAPLE SYRUP, ETC.—Shipments of new season's syrup have been arriving this week, and there is a good enquiry for it. Quantities coming forward are small yet. There has been a good demand for sugar, which is quoted higher. We quote new syrup at 80, 85 and 90c. per tin, and sugar at 9c. per lb.

FISH AND OYSTERS.

The fish trade continues quiet with prices as before. We quote : Manitoba white fish, 5½ to 6c.; ditto in kegs, $4.50 ; frozen trout, 5c.; ditto in kegs, $4.50 ; pickerel, 6c. per lb.; haddies, 6c. per lb. ; Labrador herring, $4.50 to $5 per bbl. and $2.75 per half-bbl. ; split herring, $4.50 per bbl. and $2.50 per half-bbl.; boneless fish, 3½ to 4c. per lb.; pure cod, 6½ to 6¾c. per lb. ; ciscoes, $1.25 per 100; haddock, 4½c. per lb.; steak cod, 6c. per lb.; frozen herring, 4c.; sea herring, $1 per 100 ; fresh water herring (heads off), $2.50 per keg ; smelts, 6 to 9c. Oysters are quoted at $1.20 for standards, and $1.50 for selects.

SALT.

Trade continues moderate. We quote at Toronto : In carload lots, $1 per bbl. and 60c. per sack ; in less than carload lots, $1.05 per bbl. and 65c. per sack. At the wells we quote : F.O.B. barrels, 70c.; sacks 50c. for points west of Toronto, and 45c. for Toronto and points east of Toronto.

PROVISIONS AND DRESSED HOGS.

Trade in meats continues good in all lines, the increased prices having stimulated business. Our quotations are, as a rule, higher than they were a week ago. Lard is in good demand, with stocks low. The market has been active in dressed hogs, which have been selling at $6.60 to $6.75 for light weights and $5.50 to $5.75 for heavy weights.

DRY SALTED MEATS—Long clear bacon, 7c. for carload lots, and 7¼ to 7½c. per lb. for ton lots and cases ; backs, 8c.

SMOKED MEATS—Breakfast bacon, 11c.; rolls, 7½ to 8c. ; hams, large, 22 lbs. and over, 10½ to 11c.; medium, 15 to 20 lbs., 11½c.; small hams, 11¾c. ; backs, 10 to 11c. ; shoulder hams, 7c.; all meats out of pickle, 1c. less than above.

LARD—Pure Canadian, tierces, 6¼ to 6½c.; tubs, 6½ to 6¾c.; pails, 6¾ to 7c.

BARREL PORK—Canadian heavy mess, $12.50 ; Canadian short-cut, $13 to $13.50 ; clear shoulder mess, $11 to $11.50.

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN — Prices are lower for wheat than a week ago, and receipts are light. We quote : Wheat, 75 to 76c. for white and 73 to 74c. for red, and 62½ to 63c. for goose ; oats, 22 to 23½c.; peas, 41 to 42c.

FLOUR—Business is light and prices unchanged. We quote in carloads on track, Toronto : Manitoba patents, $4.70; Manitoba strong bakers', $4.30; Ontario patents, $4.30 to $4.50 ; straight roller, $3.85 to $4, Toronto freights.

BREAKFAST FOODS—Oatmeal is 10c. dearer. Business continues quiet. We quote : Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $2.90 in bags and $3 in bbls.; rolled wheat, $2.50 to $2.60 in 100-lb. bbls.; cornmeal, $2.25 ; split peas, $3 to $3.25; pot barley, $3 to $3.25.

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL.

HIDES—Are unchanged, with cured quoted at 7¾ to 8c. Dealers pay 7c. for No. 1, 6c. for No. 2, and 5c. for No. 3.

CALFSKINS—Market is dull at 7 to 8c. for No. 1, and 5 to 6c. for No. 2. Sheep and lambskins, $1.10 to $1.20.

WOOL— The market is quiet and prices unchanged. Combing fleece nominal at 21 to 22c. and rejections 17c. Pulled supers are 20 to 21c., and extras at 22 to 23c.

PETROLEUM.

A moderate business is reported. We quote in 1 to 10 bbl. lots, imperial gallon, Toronto : Canadian, 15c.; carbon, safety, 17c.; Canadian water white, 17c.; American water white, 19c.; Pratt's astral, 18½c. in bulk.

MARKET NOTES.

Eggs are down to 9 and 9½c.

New maple syrup is on the market.

A further advance has taken place in hog products.

SALMON FAMINE

Statistics to hand from Victoria, B. C., show that the total shipments in 1896 to Eastern Canada have been alarmingly small as compared with previous years:—

1896	-	51,000 Cases.
1895	-	79,288 Cases.
1894	-	76,009 Cases.
1893	-	114,792 Cases.

So that in 1896 Eastern Canada only received 51,000 cases, as against 114,792 cases in 1893—or less than one-half.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, April 1, 1897.

GROCERIES.

THE week has been a fairly active one in the grocery market. The absorbing topic at present is the possibilities in regard to tea, sugar and molasses in a tariff sense, which has led to a regular rush of business at the Custom House. Sugar is unsettled for this reason and molasses is firm at the Islands, while there have been some large speculative purchases of Japan teas. Other lines have been quiet, with easiness strikingly noticeable in several staple lines of canned goods, as noted elsewhere below.

SUGAR.

The sugar market maintained the firm feeling noted last week, and refiners, if anything, are more conservative than they were last week in refusing to book orders ahead. Another notable feature of the week are the heavy declarations of raw sugar that have been made at the Custom House lately. In a word the market is in an unsettled, nervous condition and will be so until the new tariff provisions are known to a dead certainty. The actual movement, therefore, is of moderate volume and jobbing prices are firmly held as quoted last week: Granulated, 4¼ to 4⅜c., and yellows, 3⅜ to 3⅞c.

SYRUPS.

Business in syrups continues quiet, and the market is without new feature, prices remaining as last quoted at 1⅜ to 1⅞c., as to quality.

MOLASSES.

The advices from the Islands on molasses are of a very firm tenor, and the market there shows a tendency to advance. On spot the fact has no influence on buyers, who have as yet not placed a single contract. In fact, there is considerable uncertainty about the future situation at the Islands, some agents claiming that they had offered to buy these above the market without getting any goods. In a jobbing way we quote 30 to 31c.

RICE.

The rice market continues steady with a quiet demand. We quote: Crystal Japan, $5 to $5.25; standard B., $3.50; Patna, $4.50 to $5.25; Carolina, $6.75 to $7.75; choice Bermuda, $4, and Java kinds, $4.25.

SPICES.

The spice market maintains its firm feeling under a fairly good demand. We quote: Pure black pepper, 8 to 10c.; pure white, 12 to 15c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 20c.; cloves, 15c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; do., best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 10 to 14c.; nutmegs, 35 to 75c.

COFFEE.

The coffee market rules quiet. A few lots of Maracaibo at 15c. were the only business of importance noted. Other descriptions of stock were steady and unchanged. We quote: Maracaibo, 17½ to 19c.; Santos, 15 to 18c.; Rio, 15 to 16c.; Mocha, 24 to 26c., and Java, 22 to 27c.

TEAS.

The tea market rules quiet but steady, with a fair enquiry for all grades. Stocks generally are light, and this is notably the case with the cheaper goods, which are picked up readily by buyers whenever offered. We quote: Young Hysons, 13 to 18c. for low grades, 25 to 28c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 12 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 15 to 21c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 16½ to 20c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for higher grades.

DRIED FRUIT.

There is no change in raisins, which rule steady for Valencias, as follows: Ordinary off-stalk, 5¼ to 5½c. fine, 5¾ to 6c.; and selected, 6¼ to 6½c., with layers, 6¾ to 7c.

California raisins are firm, and to replace any stock here calls for full figures. Holders, therefore, are stiff at 6½ to 6¾c. for 2-crown, 7 to 7½c. for 3-crown, and 8 to 8½c. for 4-crown.

Currants remain firm. We quote: Provincials, bbls., 4c.; half-bbls., 4¼c.; cases, 4⅜c.; half-cases, 4½c.; Filiatras, ditto; Patras, 5½ to 6c., and Vostizzas, 6½ to 8c.

Prunes continue steady. We quote: French, 5 to 15c., as to grade; Austrian, 6 to 8c., and Californias, 10 to 11c. for 40 to 50's.; 9 to 10c. for 50 to 60's.; 8 to 9c. for 60 to 70's.; 7 to 8c. for 70 to 80's., and 6½c. for 90 to 100's.

Figs are unchanged at 8 to 12c., and dates at 5 to 6c.

Evaporated fruits are quiet and unchanged.

CANNED GOODS.

The canned goods market is rather dumpy at present, and it is now feared that there will be an overstock of many lines. Tomatoes are the one exception in this connection, stocks of these being almost exhausted, and none are now obtainable from first hands under 75 to 80c. Peas and corn, however, are rather heavy in feeling, and beans are the same way. Salmon are weak and 10 to 25c. lower. Fruits also give indications of easiness. We quote: Tomatoes, 75 to 85c.; corn, 60 to 90c.; peas, 80 to 90c.; beans, 70c. up; peaches, $1.50 to $1.80 for 2's; raspberries, $1.40 to $2; strawberries, $1.80 to $2.45, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.90 to $2.20; cherries, $2.40 to $2.45; apples, 3's, 85 to 90c.; gallons, $1.55 to $1.65; pumpkins, 75 to 85c.; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.40 to $1.45; "Clover Leaf," $1.35; "Lion," $1.37½ to $1.40; Lowe Inlet, $1.30, in tall tins; cohoes $1.05 to $1.15; canned mackerel, $1.25; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.20 to $1.25; 2's, $2.15 to $2.25; 6's, $6.75 to $7; 14's, $14 to $15; lobsters, $8.50 to $11 per case; French sardines, $10.25 to $11 extra brands; ordinary brands, $8 to $9; Canadian brands, $4.25.

FISH.

There is little new in fish except to state that demoralization still exists. In fact, the Lenten demand this spring has been a decided disappointment. Values are nominal in every line in the absence of any transactions worthy of reporting and it is certain that large stocks of pickled fish wil have to be carried over.

it was last week, demand being fair and prices steady. We quote: California oranges, $2.70 to $4.50 per box; Valencia oranges, $3.50 to $4 per box; lemons, $1.75 to $3 per box, and $7 to $9 per chest; cranberries, $1 to $4 per bbl.; Spanish onions, 85c. per crate; Malaga grapes, $7.50 to $8; bananas, $1.75 to $2.25 per bunch; pineapples, 20 to 35c. each.

APPLES.

The apple market continues steady with a fair demand at $1.50 to $2.25 per bbl., according to quality.

DRIED APPLES.

There is no change in dried apples, which sell slowly at 3c., and evaporated at 3¾c.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—Owing to continued heavy receipts of new laid eggs and the already large stocks on spot, the tone of the market was weaker and prices are lower. The demand was fair, and sales were made at 10½c., while this figure would probably be shaded for round lots Limed and held stock are dull.

MAPLE STOCK—There was a fair demand for new maple syrup, and prices rule steady at 55 to 60c. per tin, and at 5 to 5½c. per lb. in wood. The demand for sugar is good, and all offerings so far have met with a steady sale at 8 to 8½c. per lb., and bright old at 7 to 7½c.

BEANS—Business in beans continues slow, and prices are unchanged at 55 to 60c. in car lots, and 65 to 70c. in a small way.

POTATOES—The market for potatoes is quiet and about steady at 35 to 40c. per bag in car lots, and at 45 to 50c. in a jobbing way.

PROVISIONS.

There was no important change in the provision market. A fair trade is reported on local and country account for hams and bacon, and prices rule firm. We quote: Canadian pork, $12 to $13 per bbl.; pure Canadian lard, in pails, 6 to 6½c., and compound refined 4½ to 5c. per lb.; hams, 9½ to 11½c., and bacon, 10½c. per lb.

FLOUR, MEAL AND FEED.

In flour the demand is widening, and the indications at the moment are that a fair week's business will be put through on local account. There is a steadier feeling in Manitoba grades, while Ontario brands show no important change. Further cables from abroad were received to-day, but no sales made. We quote: Winter wheat patents, $4.30 to $4.50; straight rollers, $3.90 to $4.10; and in bags, $1.90 to $1.95. Manitoba spring wheat patents, $4.60 to $4.80; and strong bakers', $4.25 to $4.50.

The demand for feed continues good and the market rules active and firm, with prices tending upward. Sales of Manitoba bran were made at $12, and shorts at $13 per ton, including bags.

Business in oatmeal was quiet and prices show no change, rolled oats being offered at $2.70 to $2.80 per barrel, and at $1.35 to $1.40 per bag.

The demand for baled hay is improving and a fair amount of business is doing at firm prices. No. 1 sold at $9 to $9.50, and No. 2 at $8 to $8.25 per ton, in car lots on track.

CHEESE AND BUTTER

Cheese remains much as it was. Receipts of fodder stock are coming in and selling to the local trade at 9¾c. There has been no business in them for export.

Butter continues steady. Fresh creamery sells readily on local account at 20½ to 21c. and roll dairy is steady at 13 to 14c. Held creamery is slow of sale.

MONTREAL NOTES.

The feeling in canned salmon is heavy, as attested by a sharp decline of 10 to 25c. per dozen this week.

Declarations of raw sugar and molasses at the Custom House here this week have been unusually heavy.

Although 9c. is the nominal first cost at the Islands for Barbadoes molasses, it is claimed that 10c. has been refused.

There has been an advance here in canned tomatoes, and none are now obtainable from first hands for less than 75c.

The demoralization in fish continues and the Lenten demand this season has been a complete disappointment. Large stocks of pickled fish will have to be carried over.

Ward Bros., grocers, have just moved to the northeast corner of St. Lawrence and Sherbrooke streets, where they will have much more commodious premises and be able to carry a much larger stock to meet the requirements of their growing business.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER.

ST. JOHN, N.B., April 1, 1897.

THERE continues to be a steady improvement in business. St. John, on account the regular schooners running to Annapolis River and Nova Scotia Bay ports, has a larger trade in those sections than Halifax, as goods sold from there have to go by rail, making freight much higher. These schooners do not run in the winter, so that when they make their first spring trips—as they are now doing—it means active business. Indiantown, which is quite a large section of St. John City, is particularly interested in St. John River trade; therefore, during the winter business is very quiet there. Now, as the river is about to open, it becomes a very active part of the city. In markets there is little of particular interest. During the week pork products have become firmer. In many goods values rule lower than last fall, and holders of large stocks bought at that time find themselves at a disadvantage. There are very few exceptions.

OIL—About the only article for which there is any demand is lubricating oil, and that chiefly for late delivery. Lubricating oil would not be as much affected by a change of duty as the burning oil. Dealers are careful not to carry large stocks. We quote: Best American burning oil, 19½ to 20c.; Canadian, 18¼ to 19c.; prime, 16 to 17c.

SALT—There is quite a large quantity of English coarse and fine salt afloat for here. Prices keep low, but tend higher owing not only to higher freight charges (and freight plays a large part in the cost of salt) but also salt itself tends higher. A better demand is noticed for Canadian salt. Only fine salt comes here from Ontario. We quote: Coarse, 43 to 45c.; Liverpool factory-filled, 90c. to $1; Canadian fine, 90c. to $1 per bag.; 5-lb. bags, in bbls., $3 to $3.25; 10-lb. bags, in bbls., $2.85 to $3; butter and cheese salt, bulk, $2.60 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c. each; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c. each; cartoons, $2 per case of 2 doz

CANNED GOODS.—There is a fair, steady sale. Stocks being quite ample, goods are going lower than they could be replaced, but in peas, peaches and tomatoes higher prices are sure to come very shortly; in fact, many dealers have already advanced their prices. Quite a demand for baked beans is noted during the week. Some of our Canadian packers are now putting them up in sauce and they find a ready sale. There begins to be a larger sale for canned meats. Values show no change, though, owing to the large quantity of the Canadian packed now sold, and the fact that they cost lower prices, they appear less. Oysters find a better sale. Salmon for fall delivery are being offered. Lobsters are still scarce and high, with no prospect for lower prices. We quote as follows: Corn, 65 to 70c.; peas, 75 to 90c.; tomatoes, 80 to 90c.; gallon apples, $1.80 to $2; corned beef, Canadian, $2.25 to $2.35; American, 2-lb tins, $2.40 to $2.50; 1-lb tins, $1.30 to $1.50; oysters, 2's, $2 to $2.20; 1's, $1.45 to $1.65; peaches, 3's, Canadian, $2.75 to $3; 2's, $1.90 to $2; pineapple, $2.25 to $3; salmon, $1.30 to $1.40; lobsters, $2.20 to $2.25; haddies, $1.15 to $1.25; clams, $5 for 4 doz; chowder, $2.60 to $2.75 for 2 doz.; scallops, $5.50 for 4 doz.; Digby chickens, $1 per doz.; kippered herring, $1.10 per doz.

OUR STANDPOINT

In pushing our biscuits we admit there are already excellent brands on the market. We nevertheless have solid practical reasons for considering that are better, and this view is being convincingly confirmed by daily extensive and extending demands—the true touchstone of merit.

The Manufacturer, R. E. Jamieson, Ottawa

rivals of green apples, prices are rather lower. While there is a fair demand, it is for a limited quantity. For a few extra cranberries a good price has been obtained, but the trade is flat. Lemons are very low and quality is good. There is no doubt as the season advances prunes will be higher. California oranges show no change in price. As noted in THE GROCER last week, the good quality of the Valencias now coming is affecting the demand for Californias. A car of American cabbage arriving this week brought a fair price. Strawberries are arriving in rather larger quantities, but sale is as yet light. There is no change noted in prices this week. We quote as follows: Messina lemons, $2.75 to $3.50; oranges, Valencia, $3.25 to $5; California oranges, $3.75 to $4.50; bananas, $1.75 to $2.25; apples, $1 to $2 per bbl.; cranberries, Cape Cod, $4 to $6 per bbl.; bog cranberries, native, $3 to $4.

DRIED FRUIT--Dealers have bought evaporated apples rather more freely during the past two weeks. It is difficult to get satisfactory stocks and prices keep very low. A number of samples offered, owing to poorness of quality, found no buyers at any price. Some 4-crown loose Muscatels were offered very low from New York this week. California prunes, owing to the low prices and also the small stock of French here, are finding better demand. They are offered about a cent below last year's prices. Raisins, though lower than earlier in the season, are still well above the price of last year. Onions are rather higher and firm. Very few off-stalk Valencias are here, but a few layers are still in the market. Dates and currants held firm. We quote: Valencias, 5 to 6c.; California L.M. 3-crown, 7½ to 7¾c.; London layers, $1.75 to $2; currants, cases, 4¾ to 5c.; bbls., 4¼ to 4½c.; cartoons, cleaned, 7 to 7¾c.; bulk, cleaned, 6¼ to 6½c.; prunes, boxes, 5 to 10c.; dates, 4½ to 5c.; dried apples, 3 to 3½c.; evaporated apples, 5c.; onions, $3; cocoanuts, $4 to $4.50 per 100 lbs.; figs, 10 to 12c.; Sultana raisins, 7½ to 9c.; Valencias, layers, 6½ to 7c.; Malaga loose muscatels, 6 to 6½c.; 4-crown L. M. Californias, 8½ to 9c.; seeded muscatels, 1-lb. cartoons, 12 to 13c.

SUGAR—There is a good business doing. Prices are held firm and higher prices expected as well as an advance in duty. Dealers have bought largely. Some sugar is still here bought before the last advance in duty. At that time it was held for a five-cent price that did not come. We quote: Granulated, 4⅛ to 4¼c.; yellows, 3⅜ to 3¾c.; Paris lump, 5¾ to 6c.; powdered, 5½ to 6c.

MOLASSES—While there continues to be some demand for New Orleans the arrival of new West India goods tends, at least for the time, to stop the importation of the other. There is, however, some demand for it even now. A cargo of Porto Rico is on the way here, and the West India steamer to arrive this month will have a full cargo of Barbadoes, bought at a low price. Buyers are backward. We quote: Barbadoes, 25 to 28c.; Porto Rico, 27 to 28c.; New Orleans, bbls., 26 to 28c.; Antigua, 24 to 26c.; syrup, 36 to 38c.;

DAIRY PRODUCE—New cheese are offered here for April shipment. The present stock is very light, with prices rather higher and very firm. As foretold by THE CANADIAN GROCER, eggs have stiffened in price and retailers find themselves buying and selling eggs at the one price. Stocks are light and prices firm. Butter is dull, but for best quality there is a fair demand at market price. Stock has been very plentiful this season, dealers refusing large quantities even in exchange for tea from regular customers. The great difficulty is the poor quality of the larger part of the country butter coming to hand. We quote: Dairy tubs, 14 to 17c.; creamery, 20 to 21c.; prints, 20 to 22c.; eggs, 12 to 13c.; cheese, 11½ to 12c.

FISH—Gaspereaux are beginning to have attention, but the quantity yet caught is small and prices keep high. A few frozen herring and cod still arrive, but the season is almost over. Lobsters are very scarce. Dry cod are dull, and there is no change in price. Boneless fish season is over. Pickled herring is very dull, with light stocks. Fresh haddies are scarce, and have to be imported from Boston to fill demand for smoked haddies. Smoked herrings keep low, but stock is quite light. We quote: Large cod, $3.25 to $3.50; medium, $2.75 to $3; pollock, $1.15 to $1.25; bay herring, $1.30 to $1.35 per half-bbl.; smoked, new, 5 to 6c.; shad, half-bbl, $4.50 to $5.50; boneless, 2½ to 8c.; bloaters, 50 to 65c. per box; kippered, 95c. to $1 per box; Barrington, $3.25 per bbl.; Shelburne, $3.50 per bbl.; frozen herring, 55 to 60c. per 100; frozen cod, 2 to 2½c. per lb.; lobsters, 4 to 12c. each, small.

PROVISIONS—There is a very firm feeling in all lines, and quite a good trade is doing. We mark up clear pork, and it is still lower than outside markets would admit, though the feeling is hardly as firm. Smoked meats show a wide range, particularly hams. Local curers find it hard to get enough hams to supply the demand. We quote: Clear pork, $14 to $15; mess, $12 to $13; plate beef, $12 to $13; hams, 11 to 12c.; rolls, 7½ to 8c.; pure lard, 7 to 7½c.; compound, 6½ to 7c.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL — Flour is steady, but buyers here still look for lower prices. Stocks here are not heavy. Oatmeal seems easy, but with oats higher, firmer prices are looked for. Cornmeal holds the slight advance of a week ago. In beans there is no change. Wholesale men are well stocked. Seed shows no change for the week; demand is active and prices firm. Middlings and bran show quite an advance, and are hard to get. Demand for this market is not large. We quote as follows: Manitoba flour, $5.15 to $5.20; best Ontario, $4.60 to $4.70; medium, $4.35 to $4.40; oatmeal, $3.15 to $3.20; cornmeal, $1.80 to $1.85; middlings, car lots, in bulk, $15 to $16; bran, do, do, $14 to $15; hand-picked beans, 85 to 90c. prime, 70 to 80c.; oats, 32 to 33c.; hay, $11 to $12; barley, $3; round peas, $1.15; split peas, $3.10 to $3.25; yellow eye beans, $1.50.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

W. J. Alexander, of Dorchester, has assigned.

The St. John Indian famine fund so far amounts to $2,696.

The C.P.R. is now shipping flour to Cape Breton via St. John rather than via Boston, as formerly.

Elser Boon and Thomas Fowler, of Fredericton, intend to start a general grocery business there about May 1st.

W. J. Mills and Hurley White, both of S. H. White & Co., Sussex, have returned from their trip to the West Indies.

Four hundred and fifty-six packages of live lobsters, shipped from Yarmouth to Boston, were quoted at $18 per crate.

J. R. Ayer, of Sackville, whose offer of 25 per cent. was refused by his creditors, has submitted an offer of 35 per cent. which it is likely will be accepted.

The need of a large refrigerator in the city market has been a want long felt and it is now to be supplied. Kane & McGrath are fitting up one that will hold over a car of fresh beef.

Mr. W. J. Atwood, of Atwood & Co., wholesale fish merchants, Boston, was in the city this week. He is looking after fresh fish shipments, particularly salmon. From St. John he went to the north shore points, such as Chatham, Loggieville, etc.

Mr. W. A. Robertson, of W. A. Robertson & Co., fish dealers, St. Andrew's, has bought out the business of Hunt, Barnes & Co., of Montreal, where he will now reside. His present partner, Geo. Gardner, will manage the St. Andrew's end of the business.

On account of the large quantities of cheese and butter now made in Prince Edward Island for export to Great Britain, strong efforts are being put forth to secure direct steamship service and to have it fitted with cold storage; also to have cold storage warehouses on the Island, that these goods may not have to be sent to Montreal as is now often the case. The fruit growers are also taking an interest in the matter. An effort will be made to get a subsidy from the Dominion Government. The Island people are forming a company to build a cold storage warehouse, and already $10,000 in $25 shares has been subscribed.

HINTS TO BUYERS.

[This department has become so popular that many more notices than there is space for are received every week. In future only important items of information will be inserted. Contributors are requested to send news only, not puffs of goods they handle, or the arrival of standard goods that everyone bas in stock, or that they are offering goods at close figures, or that they have had an unusually large sale this season.]

THE EBY, BLAIN, CO., LTD., are offering rice at special prices for the coming week.

Royal salad dressing in stock with the Davidson & Hay, Ltd.

Warren Bros. & Co. have a large shipment of green Rio coffee arriving.

A large shipment of layer Valencias arrived for the Eby, Blain Co., Ltd.

Dawson & Co. have arriving this week 160 cases of large-sized Valencia oranges.

Kieler's 7-lb. tins marmalade (new make) is in stock with the Davidson & Hay, Ltd.

The Eby, Blain Co., Ltd., are making a special push on Cunningham, De Fourier potted game delicacies.

The Davidson & Hay, Ltd., are quoting finest natural figs in 25-lb. boxes at bargain figures.

The Pure Gold Manufacturing Co. is in receipt of a good many orders for flavoring extracts for spring shipment.

The Eby, Blain Co. Ltd. are in receipt of a shipment of "Etolia" French prunes, in 55-lb. cases. They can be retailed at 5c.

The Hudson Bay Company, of Winnipeg, have just put in a stock of canned "Golden" haddies, and are now prepared to supply their customers.

The Davidson & Hay, Ltd., offer "Washington" concentrated lye, 100 per cent. strength. This is attractively put up. Lye that comes to the retailer at a cost that will allow him a good margin.

John Sloan & Co. have in stock and arriving large shipments of Indian and Ceylon teas. Some of these teas were bought when the market was low, and they are showing excellent value.

D. Gunn, Bros. & Co. report that their trade in butter and eggs last month was larger than in any previous March in the history of the firm. They also report a good demand for their special picnic shoulder hams.

New season's marmalade (Southwell's) will be in this week by steamer via Boston to Frank Magor & Co., Montreal. They will also carry a stock of this favorite brand in Toronto for the convenience of their western trade.

Frank Magor & Co., Montreal, are sending out this week some handsomely framed show cards for Keen's mustard. "The Dogs" (fox-terrier and pups) are in great demand, and when recently in Toronto Mr. Magor booked requests for nearly one hundred.

The genuine Seville orange marmalade is having a large sale with W. H. Gillard & Co., for whom it is manufactured exclusively. This firm believes in putting a first-class article on the market, and nothing but pure extra standard granulated sugar and the Seville orange are used in its composition.

At the Pure Food Exhibition to be held in Hamilton next week the public will be given an opportunity of testing and satisfying themselves as to the superior merits of Gillard's New Pickle and Gillard's New Sauce. Eight gold medals have been awarded these articles at the pure food exhibitions held in England within the past year.

The Tillson Company stated to a representative of THE CANADIAN GROCER that they have had exceptional success with their "Gold-Dust" cornmeal. They have been able to accomplish the very difficult operation of taking out even the minutest black specks which form at the germ end of the corn, and their trade has increased four fold in the past year for "Gold-Dust." Such success must be gratifying to the firm.

LATE ADVERTISEMENTS.

[The following items arrived too late for insertion in the regular advertising space. Reading notices inserted in this column at 5c. per word.]

Fancy evaporated apricots and peaches are selling rapidly with the Davidson & Hay, Ltd.

The Eby, Blain Co., Ltd., report the arrival of several lines of fine Indian and Ceylon teas, which they are offering at remarkable prices.

The Eby, Blain Co., Ltd., report the largest sales for this week of "Kolona" Ceylon tea of any week since its introduction to the trade.

"We still have a stock of No. 1 Labrador herrings in half-barrels, and dried fish, on which we can give rock-bottom prices for the next two weeks," say the Eby, Blain Co., Ltd.

LARGE WHISKEY CONSIGNMENTS.

Within the last fourteen days there have been forwarded from Parkmore Distillery to Messrs. James Watson & Co., Ltd., Dundee, thirty-two wagons with 577 casks, containing 30,000 gallons, and it was only in the month of December last that two special trains conveying over 35,000 gallons, were sent from the same distillery to Messrs. Watson. —Elgin Courant.

Chard, Jackson & Co., Montreal, are agents for the above celebrated firm.

MANITOBA MARKETS.

WINNIPEG, April 1, 1897.

A STEADY thaw has maintained for the past week. Saturday there was a heavy fall of snow for about two hours, but by night it was almost all melted. The snow is disappearing rapidly, but so far there is no sign of a flood, though preparations for its possible advent are being made by those who carry large stocks in basement warehouses. Trade has increased in activity somewhat since last week and there are some changes in prices.

SUGAR—The general feeling is that there will very possibly be a rise in duty and a consequent advance in price and wholesale men are protecting themselves as much as possible against these contingencies.

SYRUP—Practically no change ; the demand is quiet and the market dull.

CIGARS—The feeling in regard to Havana goods is that there will be an increase in duty, and taking this with the advance at the factories in Cuba it will mean that Havana goods are going to be very high. A possible advance of $5 is also anticipated in domestic goods.

TEAS—It is still thought here that the Government will impose a specific duty on tea, but as no new importations can reach here before the 1st of July and all the present stocks are out of bond, it will not affect one house more than another.

DRIED FRUITS — The only change to be noted is that prunes are slightly lowered in price.

GREEN FRUIT — Market has improved since last week ; demand is brisker and for larger quantities. Navel oranges, $4.75 for first counts, and $4.25 for second grade. Seedlings, $3.50 per box, or $3 25 for five-box lots. Lemons, $4.50 per box, and demand good. Apples of good quality are still plentiful and range from $3 to $3.75, according to quality. In the whole course of Manitoba's history there have never been so many good apples on the market and such a brisk demand for them. This state of things has very materially affected the evaporated and dried fruit trade all winter.

CANNED GOODS—In both fruit and vegetable the market is firm. Tomatoes have advanced about 10c. per case since last week, and are now selling best brands at $1.90 ; ditto good seconds, $1.80. Corn stands at old price of $1.50 per case. Peas are scarce and firm. Stocks of canned goods are not large, but are exceptionally well assorted.

EGGS—Manitoba eggs are beginning to come in, though as yet the quantities are not large ; price for Manitobas, 17c. Considerable stocks from Manitoba are now in the city and are selling from 16 to 17c., but it is thought it will not be needful to import any further supplies from the American side.

BUTTER — Supply is short for first-class dairy and there is hardly any creamery offering. Good dairy, in tubs, 14 to 16c.; any creamery offering sells at 23c.; first-class dairy, in rolls, 17 to 20c.

CHEESE—Stocks light. Good September make, 9½c. per lb. for large and 9¾c. for small cheese.

CURED MEATS—Market very firm in all lines, a strong advance having taken place within the last week from ½ to 1c. per lb., according to cut. Hams, assorted sizes, 10 to 10½c.; bacon, bellies, 10 to 10½c.; backs, 9 to 9½c.; short, spiced rolls, 7 to 7½c.; shoulders, 6 to 6½c.

LARD—Firm at recent advance. Prices are : Pure, $1.55 to $1.60 for 20-lb. pails, and $3.50 for 50-lb. pails ; pure leaf lard, 3, 5 and 10-lb. tins, $5.75 per case of 60 pounds.

HALIFAX TRADE GOSSIP.

THE fish market is in much better position than for some time. Cod is actually scarce, and while the large Newfoundland stocks continue to bear the market abroad, our shippers, in a small way, are forcing up prices. The outlook is decidedly better. The quality of spring mackerel, 1896 catch, is in excess of requirements, and values are $3 below what was asked late in the fall. Every dealer is losing money on that article. New grocery cod will be on the market in April. Grocery herring are scarce. The market is bare of all varieties of smoked herrings. Quotations are : Dry cod, from vessels, tol quol, shore, prime, $2.50 to $3.50 ; small bank, $2.50 to $2.75; large do, $3 to $3.25 ; bay, $2.25 to $2.50; Labrador, $2.50 ; haddock, $1.75 to $2 ; hake, $1.75 ; pollock, $1.75 ; shore cod, from store, large, hard, $4 to $4.50; herring, Bay of Islands, split, No. 1, $1.50 ; Labrador, No. 1, $6 ; do, No. 2, $4 ; shore, No. 1, large, split, fat, $3.25 to $4 ; alewives, No. 1, $2.75 ; mackerel, No. 1, $15.50 ; No. 2, $13.50 ; No. 3, $7 ; salmon, No. 1, $13; No. 3, large, $11; No. 3, small, $9.

There is very little change in produce. P. E. Island potatoes are worth from 28 to 40c. and Nova Scotia 30 to 35c. P. E. Island oats are worth 30 to 32c., Nova Scotia 30 to 35c. and Canadian 26 to 28c.

Tea is coming in as freely as ever. Large consignments were received again this week. Everyone is stocked up. Duty or no duty, there will be no change in price on that account and certainly no additional revenue for the next two years.

Eggs are still on the down grade. Stocks are heavy. They are jobbing in case lots at 10c. for extra fresh stock.

Cheese is still booming. The quotation is 12½c. and for jobbing lots 13c. is asked.

The flour market, if anything, shows an improvement. Travelers for western millers say sales are better than last month. Quotations are : Hungarian patent, Manitoban, $5.30 to $5.40 ; Manitoba strong bakers', $4.90 to $5 ; Canadian pastry, $4.80 to $5 ; 75 p. c. roller patents, $4.40 to $4.50 ; 80 do, $4.30 to $4.40 ; 90 do, $4.20 to $4.30 ; straight, $4.15 to $4.25 ; extra, $3.90 to $4.

Provision dealers report an improved market, especially in fresh goods. P. E. Island mess pork hangs at the old quotation of $12, and American at $13. P.E. Island hams are worth 11c., and rolled bacon 9c.

There is very little movement in molasses. Some low-grade stocks went off on Boston account last week. Quotations are : Antigua, 24c. ; St. Croix, 25c. ; Porto Rico, 29 to 32c. ; Trinidad, 26c. ; Barbadoes, 26c. ; Demerara, 39c. ; St. Kitts and other low grades, 25c.

There is no change in the sugar market. Quotations are : Yellow "C," 3⅜c.; yellow "X C," 3⅛c.; standard, 3½c.; extra "C," 3⅝c.; standard "A," 3¾c.; granulated, 4¼c.; pulverized, 6c.; cut loaf, 6c.

Poultry is rather plentiful and cheap. Turkey is jobbing at 11 to 12c.; geese at 50 to 65c. each, and chickens and fowls at 30 to 45c. per pair.

Gunn & Co., Ltd., the new concern incorporated at the last session of Parliament, and which embraces the commission firm of Bent, Brighty & Page, and the milling firm of A. Gunn & Co., is putting its stock on the market. The capital stock is $70,000.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. Ed. White, of Peek Bros. & Winch, London and China, who, it will be remembered, passed through Canada last autumn on his way to London, was last week in Toronto en route to China. Mr. White was not alone this time, for he had taken unto himself a wife while in England, and Mrs. White was accompanying him back.

Mr. J. H. Devaney, who has for some years been "on the road" for the Eby, Blain Co., Ltd., severed his connection with that firm on Wednesday, and on the following day associated himself with G. F. & J. Galt, of Winnipeg and Toronto. Mr. Devaney will represent the Toronto house of that firm east and north of Toronto for "Blue Ribbon" and the various other teas for which it is the Canadian agents. Mr. Devaney's numerous friends in the north and east will no doubt be pleased to see him again courting their trade.

FISH GOSSIP.

THE St. John's, Nfld., correspondent of The Fishing Gazette says: There is no doubt that the proposed higher duties on fish, if adopted, will affect the trade of these provinces in fresh salmon, smelts, halibut, bass and mackerel, and also the trade in smoked alewives and other kinds of smoked fish, as well as pickled herring and mackerel. Trade in dry codfish and pollock from Nova Scotia would also feel the effects.

This market is at present overstocked with fresh fish. One schooner went back down the bay with part of her fare last week. But others have come in, and a lot of eight tons of frozen cod and haddock that arrived to-day will require considerable time to be disposed of, as the weather is mild and the fish can only be peddled out in small lots. No dealer will buy any large quantity. The market for dry and pickled fish is quiet, with supplies ample and more stock dropping in from week to week.

The lobster catch has been small, and last sales reported down the bay were at 20c. each for lobsters 10½ inches and up, for the United States market.

The city oyster saloons now get their oysters in ten-barrel lots by steamer from Boston. The steamers now make two trips per week, and each cargo list contains some north shore salmon, bass, a few lobsters and generally some dry fish for shipment south, the latter coming from Nova Scotia.

A few thousand alewives have been taken in the harbor, and the first of the run sold at $3 per hundred.

SMALL LEAKS SINK THE SHIP.

A few reasons why some families are always poor. Scraps of meat, says a contemporary, are thrown away. Brooms and mops are not hung up. Cold potatoes are left to sour and spoil. Lights are left burning not in use. Vinegar and sauce are left standing in tin. Silver spoons are used in scraping kettles. Mustard is left to spoil in the cruse. Tin dishes are not properly cleaned or dried. Good new brooms are used to scrub kitchen floors. Apples decay for want of sorting over. The tea canister and coffee are left open. Soap is left to dissolve and waste in water. Woodenware unscalded is left to warp and crack Sugar, tea, rice and coffee are carelessly spilled. Dishtowels are used for dishcloths, napkins for dishtowels and towels for holders. Bones of meat and the frames of turkeys and chickens are thrown away when they could be used in making soup. More coal is burned than necessary by not closing the dampers when the fire is not used. Bread crumbs are thrown away when they can be made into puddings and various other dishes both appetizing and nutritious.

ADULTERATION.

A Manchester, Eng., merchant, who, according to Pearson's Weekly, was taking baking powder in bulk from a certain firm, called at headquarters the other day to say that there was something wrong with the goods.

"I don't think so," was the reply. "We make the best article sold in England."

"I think we ought to have a more perfect understanding," continued the dealer. "Now, you adulterate before you send it to me, then I adulterate before I ship, then the retailer adulterates before he sells, and the consumer can't be blamed for growling. I wanted to see if we couldn't agree on some schedule to be followed."

"What do you mean?"

"Why, I suppose you put in 10 per cent. of chalk, then I put in 20 per cent. of whiting, then the retailer puts in 30 per cent. of flour. That gives the consumer 40 per cent. of baking powder, and unless he's a born grumbler he'll be perfectly satisfied. You see, if you adulterate 50 per cent. on the start, and I adulterate as much more, and the retailer adulterates as much as both together, it's very hard for the consumer to tell whether he's investing in baking powder or putty. We might give him something for his money, if it's only chalk."

HONEY HELPS DIGESTION.

MUCH of the difficulties which people suffer from indigestion would be removed if honey were more generally eaten than it is, says an exchange. Cheap as this sweet has lately become, we are surprised that people do not have more of it on their tables. In combination with starchy foods like bread, honey enables them to be digested much better than is possible with the other more common combination of flour, sugar and butter made into cake. These are all carbonaceous, and, because of that fact, hard to digest. Honey is also a sweet carbon, but it is the nectar of flowers partially mixed with gastric juices by the bee which gathered it. The honey is therefore a sweet that is partly prepared for digestion, and to that extent relieves the labor of the stomach.

It will be objected, says an exchange, that honey is found very hard to digest by many people. But this is usually either because the honey is eaten with the comb, which is almost indigestible, or the person thus suffering from dislike of this sweet has, at some time in his or her life, eaten far too much, and thus has created a dislike that did not originally exist. Strained honey eaten moderately with whole wheat or graham bread is not likely to injure any normal stomach. The very white bread made from the starch only of wheat flour is not so good and should only be eaten in moderation. Both the honey and flour are exclusively carbonaceous, and though the honey is a help to digestion, it may not be quite sufficient help for so big a task. In the graham or whole wheat bread the nitrogenous parts of the wheat, the gluten and germ, are preserved. They give strength, which the white wheat flour will not, and thus enable all the bodily organs to perform their work. Excellent as honey is, it cannot furnish strength directly, though it will do so if eaten with such nitrogenous food as the system requires and which the honey helps to digest.

EXPORT APPLE TRADE.

THE apple shipping season is now nearing its close. Ordinarily, the season practically ends at this time of the year, but owing to the unusually large crop of apples last year, up till now there has been a considerable quantity of fruit shipped, but from this time on it is expected that the volume of business will show a material decline every week.

The shipments of apples this season are by far the heaviest on record. An idea of the trade can perhaps be obtained when it is stated that the total shipments for the season from this country and Canada up to Saturday last were more than 1,300,000 barrels greater than those for any entire previous season, aggregating in round numbers, according to figures furnished by local freight brokers, 2,780,000 barrels. This total is nearly double that for any previous entire season, the heaviest previous year's shipments having been about 1,450,000 barrels, in 1891-92. The following table, prepared by Frederick S. Cortis, a local freight broker, is of interest, as showing the total shipments for several seasons past :

SHIPMENTS OF APPLES FROM UNITED STATES AND CANADA.

	Barrels.		Barrels.
1880-81	1,323,806	1889-90	677,762
1881-82	239,252	1890-91	451,285
1882-83	395,594	1891-92	1,450,336
1883-84	81,532	1892-93	1,203,538
1884-85	769,210	1893-94	174,841
1885-86	885,273	1894-95	1,438,155
1886-87	807,924	1895-96	751,255

1888-89	1,407,409	'96-97 to March 20	2,784,114

The following table, compiled by Joseph A. Brown, a freight and insurance broker, shows the rotal shipments for the season classified according to the points of export, with comparisons for previous years :

The season taken as a whole has been one of flooded markets and exceptionally low prices. In the fall shippers hurried over their fruit, fearing that if held it would have to be sold at still lower figures. In January of this year there was some improvement, but later a reaction set in and prices here range about $1.50 to $2, which, at this season of the year, is very low. Many instances have occurred where the shipper received no return whatever, but was obliged to advance money to pay charges. In the early part of the season also the heavy export grain movement caused a general advance in ocean freight rates, still further narrowing the margin of profit of the apple porter. One of the most encouraging features of the trade this season is the increased shipments to continental markets. Germany in particular was a heavy purchaser. The extra demand was primarily due to a shortage of the European apple crop, and it is admitted that with a normal production in Europe the market for American fruit on the continent will be considerably restricted. The American apple, however, it is stated, has gained a foothold, particularly in Germany, and many local shippers are of the opinion that with proper attention a steadiiy increasing trade with that country can be developed.—N. Y. Journal of Commerce.

POSITION OF CALIFORNIA PRUNES.

Reports from all parts of the country tend to show that stocks of California prunes are very much smaller than they were at this time a year ago. At this date last year New York's tributary markets were sellers instead of buyers, most if not all of them carrying stocks which they considered were too heavy to be disposed of through ordinare consuming channels. Before the end of the season they turned buyers again, and the new season opened with the market more closely cleaned up than ever before.

During the past six months or more local trade in prunes has been reported as unsatisfactory, and prices have had a downward tendency, partly because of the absence of anything approaching speculative interest, and partly on account of liberal and ever urgent offerings of southern California prunes at low prices. While at no time has there been an approach to activity in the market, the quiet but steady demands of consumption appear to have absorbed the bulk of the supply, both here and on the Coast, with the result that at the opening of the spring season the supply on hand is comparatively small. In this market it is estimated that there are not more than 60 cars in all hands, against 125 cars at the same date in 1896, while mail advices from San Francisco indicate that the supply left in the San Joaquin Valley does not exceed 35 cars, and that the quantity held in the Santa Clara Valley is about 50 cars. Even at the present rate of consumption it is conservatively estimated that the stocks all told in the various markets will be used up by the beginning of June. As April and May are the months of largest consumption in the first half of the year, holders of prunes are beginning to look upon them as good property, and consequently the tone of the market is hardening, though as yet there has been no quotable advance in prices. Latterly, the demand has improved, particularly for 50's, which are being taken in place of 40's, the supply of which is reported to be very light.—N. Y. Journal of Commerce.

STORE LOAFERS.

Editor CANADIAN GROCER,—It is easier to pull down than to build up, therefore it is also easier to see faults in others than in ourselves. It is about the faults in others I want to speak. I am, as you know, on the road most of the time and see all sorts of groceries and grocers, and it is to bring my kicks before the minds of the latter that I am doing this kicking.

1st kick : Why do so many merchants allow their stores to be the meeting ground for so many loafers? I was in a really nice general store last week and counted six men seated around the stove. When I advanced to introduce my wares the animated discussion that was going on when I entered was stopped, and every price I quoted was eagerly devoured by the gang of loafers who were doing their best to kill the microbes in that store with tobacco smoke. While I was there two women entered, but upon seeing the wide-mouthed audience they turned and went out again. Half an hour afterwards I was in another store and these same two women were buying a dinner set and some groceries, and did in fact spend about $21. I was anxious to know if my surmise as to their reason for leaving the other store were correct, so asked them, and they replied : "We hate to have a lot of men gaping at us when buying."

2nd kick : I have often had to show my wares to a merchant in his place of business, and frequently one of his customers or hangers-on will lounge over the counter, and with eyes and ears open take in all the prices and terms I give the merchant. Why won't the merchants stop this? It is a cause of common complaint among travelers. The traveler can't tell the bore what he thinks of him, because he might be offending "a good customer." More kicks next week.

KICKER.

SUPERIOR TO ALL OTHERS.

One of the largest retail grocers in New Haven, H. M. Tower, writes as follows, to Morse Bros., Canton, Mass.

On Feb. 15, 1897, there was sold direct to families from our store 436 boxes of Sun Paste stove polish under the following guarantee, namely, that if Sun Paste was not as good or better than any paste polish that they had ever used, we would give them their money back for the partly used box. Now remember this, out of those 436 boxes there was not one returned. On the contrary several ladies have voluntarily told me that it was the very best that they have ever used. In thirty days we have sold this paste to more than 600 different housekeepers, and in no instance have we had a customer refuse to take it the second time; these are facts that a good housekeeper should remember.

Signed,

H. M. TOWER, Grocer,
379 Congress Ave.,
New Haven.

GALOPS CANAL

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS.

SEALED TENDERS ADDRESSED TO THE UNdersigned, and endorsed "Tender for the Cardinal Section of the Galops Canal," will be received at this office until 16 o'clock on Saturday the 17th day of April, 1897 for the works connected with the enlargement of the Galops Canal.

Plans and specifications of the work can be seen on and after the 31st day of March, 1897, at the office of the Chief Engineer of the Department of Railways and Canals, Ottawa, and at the Engineer's office at Cornwall. Printed forms of tender can also be obtained at the places mentioned.

In the case of firms there must be attached to the tender the actual signatures of the full name, the nature of the occupation and residence of each member of the same, and further, an accepted bank cheque for the sum of $150,000 must accompany the tender. This accepted bank cheque must be endorsed over to the Minister of Railways and Canals, and will be forfeited if the party tendering declines entering into contract for the work at the rates and on the terms stated in the offer submitted.

The accepted bank cheque thus sent in will be returned to the respectives parties whose tenders are not accepted.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

Contractors are specially notified that the condition requiring the works to be wholly completed by the 31st day of January, A.D. 1899, will be rigidly enforced and all penalties for delay exacted.

By order,
J. H. BALDERSON,
Secretary.

Department of Railways and Canals,
Ottawa, 20th March, 1897.

The Question is

Are you satisfied with the quality of the Starch you are selling? Are your customers satisfied with the quality of the Starch they are buying? If not, perhaps a trial of our goods would create a better feeling on both sides of the counter.

No woman will use poor Starch in preference to good Starch. That's the reason why a trial always leads to constant use of HOW GLUCOSE IS MADE.

GLUCOSE is connected in the minds of the people with all that is bad. Some think it is made from dead horses; others believe that it comes from glue, and most of them are sure that it destroys the lining of the stomach. The fact is, says Chicago Record, glucose is a sugar, resembling cane and beet sugar in many of its properties, but is not quite so sweet. It is perfectly harmless, and can be used to advantage as a substitute for the more expensive sugars in preserving fruits, and also for making candies, jellies, syrups, and like purposes.

A great deal of it is used in the manufacture of wines and beers, for glucose can be converted into alcohol by fermentation. Glucose can be made from any substance containing starch, and practically all of the glucose turned out in this country is made from corn. In Europe potatoes are used as a source of glucose. A bushel of corn yields about 40 pounds of glucose.

Corn can be converted directly into glucose; that is to say, it can be ground without preliminary treatment, and then boiled with water and acid until the starch is entirely converted into glucose. But this process is attended by so many drawbacks that most manufacturers prefer to use the longer, but more satisfactory, process of separating the starch from the remaining constituents of corn, and then using the starch so obtained for making the glucose.

The first step in this process is the "steeping" of the corn. Large wooden tanks are used for this purpose, and from 2,000 to 3,000 bushels of corn are run into these tanks and covered with water. The temperature of the water is kept at nearly 80 degrees Fahrenheit during the steeping stage. The fumes of burning sulphur, known to chemists as "sulphur dioxide," are blown into the tank from below, and in this way the corn becomes strongly saturated with a sulphurous acid.

The object of the steeping process is to soften the corn so that it can be easily ground, and to dissolve the gummy substance which binds together the starch and the gluten. From one to three days are required to properly steep the corn. Then the steep water is run into the sewer, the corn is washed with fresh water, and a door in the bottom of the tank is opened, and the corn is taken by a screw conveyor to the mill.

There the corn is ground, either between millstones or rollers. If a grain of corn is examined, it will be found that on the pointed end of the grain is a soft pliable mass, which can be easily removed from the starchy part of the grain with a penknife. This soft part is the germ, and if this germ is pressed between the fingers it will exude an oily substance, for there is about 50 per cent. of oil, known as corn oil, in the germ.

It is valuable as a salad oil, and is used in the making of toilet soaps and in mixing paints. By an ingenious mechanical process the germs are separated from the starchy matter by some of the most enterprising manufacturers. This is done by crushing the corn before it is thoroughly ground by running it between corrugated rolls. The crushed corn is then run into a tub of starchy water, which is stirred mechanically.

The germs are much lighter than the starch, and float on the surface of the water, and are carried off through an exit pipe, whose mouth is just above the surface of the water in the tub. The germs are then washed on a gently moving sieve, which retains the germs, but permits the starchy water to run through.

The germs are freed from the greater part of the water they contain by rotation in a contrifugal machine. They are then dried in hot air, ground and shaped into cakes. The cakes are put into a powerful hydraulic press, where they are subjected to a pressure of 4,000 pounds; the oil runs out in a steady stream and is collected in a tank.

The cakes that remain are a rich food for cattle, and are known commercially as oil cake, which is worth from $10 to $20 a ton. Most of it is exported to Europe.

The starchy mass left after germs have been extracted is now ground until all of it has disappeared. The glucose makers recognize four substances in corn—starch, gluten, oil and bran. The germs contain nearly all of the oil and a large part of the gluten, and they carry with them some of the bran. It is now necessary to separate the remaining bran and gluten from the starch.

The ground material is run into a tank and mixed with water until it has the necessary consistency, and then it is forced in a powerful stream on to a mechanical sieve, known as a shaker in glucose factories.

The shaker is a frame about 8 feet long and 3 feet wide covered with fine bolting cloth. It is inclined to an angle of 30 degrees to the horizontal, and in order that the corn may move along it in a steady stream, flowing into the screen at the upper end and dropping off at the lower end, the screen is kept in constant vibration, a suitable mechanism causing it to move back and forth. Numerous jets of water play upon the screen at different points. In this way the fine particles of starch and gluten are washed away from the bran, which drops off from the end of the screen and is carried away. The bran is either sold as wet feed or is dried for shipment as dry feed.

At this point there is left a yellowish milky mash containing starch and gluten. Starch is considerably heavier than gluten, and the manufacturer takes advantage of this fact to separate them. The milky liquid is allowed to run over slightly inclined tables, about 200 feet long. The heavy starch settles near the head of the tables in great quantities, and in lesser quantities throughout the length of the tables. A large factory will have, perhaps, 1,000 of these tables. The gluten floats away with the water, and runs through a pipe at the end of the tables into large settling tanks.

Here it is allowed to settle for a day or two; the water, which is almost clear, is run into the sewer. The gluten that is left in the tank still contains a large amount of water; most of this is removed by forcing it into a filter press, which retains the gluten and allows the water to escape. The press consists of a series of grooved iron plates, with a central orifice. Cloths are placed between the plates in such a manner that the solid gluten cannot pass the cloths, but must remain between them and the plates, while the water escapes through the pores of the cloth and leaves the press by a suitable opening. The liquid enters the press by the central orifice. After the spaces between the plates have became filled with gluten the pressure is removed by means of a screw, and the cakes of gluten are removed after separating the plates.

The gluten is then thoroughly dried by means of hot air or steam driers; it is then placed in bags, and is ready for the market. It is a grey or yellowish coarse flour, and sells for $20 a ton. It is a valuable cattle food.

Having now got rid of all his by-products, the manufacturer can proceed at once to the praparation of glucose. The starch is well mixed with water in a tank, and is then pumped into the converters, where it is mixed with about 25 pounds of muriatic and sulphuric acids. The converter is a large copper boiler, into which live steam is introduced by means of a perforated pipe. The starch is heated in the converter for about an hour at a pressure of 30 to 40 pounds. The heating is entirely done by steam. The conversion is finished when a simple chemical test shows that no more starch is present.

The action in the converter is nothing but a chemical change from starch into glucose, or grape sugar, as it is sometimes called. A fair-sized converter will convert 750 pounds of starch at a time to glucose—the yield of glucose being in the neighborhood of 1,000 pounds. After conversion is complete the operator opens a valve and allows the glucose to enter the neutralizing tank. The glucose, as it enters the neutralizer, is a yellowish-brown liquid, containing about 30 per cent. solid matter, mostly glucose.

The acid which was added to the starch is still present in the glucose, and the next operation is the addition of a neutralizing agent. If muriatic acid was used for converting, soda is used for neutralizing; but if sulphuric acid was used, marble dust is added for this purpose. The workman must be careful to add the exact amount of soda or marble dust required to effect neutralization, for a perfectly neutral product is desired. After the goods are neutralized some solid matter separates; it is removed by filtration through filter presses, or sometimes by filtration through long canvas bags.

The weak solution of glucose is known as bag liquor or press liquor at this stage. It must now be clarified, which is effected by passing it over filters of bone coal. These filters are iron tanks, 20 feet high, and filled with animal charcoal or bone coal. Animal charcoal possesses the wonderful property of absorbing coloring matter from sugar solutions, and absorbs only a small amount of sugar.

The bag liquor is allowed to percolate through this filter, and comes off the coal looking perfectly clean. After a certain amount of liquor has passed over the coal it becomes saturated with impurities, which are then removed by washing with acid and burning in a kiln. The liquor from the coal is known as light liquor; it contains 65 to 70 per cent. of water, and most of this must now be removed by evaporation. If a solution of sugar or of glucose be heated in the air it will soon turn brown, owing to the oxidation or burning. So in evaporating a solution of glucose, resort is had to a vacuum evaporator.

Water will boil at a much lower temperature in a vacuum than in air, and therefore the evaporation of a saccharine liquor can be conducted in a vacuum without danger of charring. Ordinarily a system of three evaporators is used together. This is called triple-effect system, and by using it all the waste steam is utilized. The evaporation is continued in the triple-effect system until the liquor contains about 60 per cent. of sugar. It is now filtered over bone coal to remove any remaining color, and is then boiled in a vacuum pan—a large copper boiler heated by means of a steam coil and connected with a vacuum pump—until it has reached the desired degree of concentration.

The operator takes off a sample through a valve when nearing the end of the boiling, and determines its density or gravity by means of a hydrometer spindle. Glucose comes on the market in different grades, according to the gravity. Mixing glucose has a gravity of 41 degrees Beaume; confectioners' glucose, 42, 43 and 44 degrees Beaume, as desired. The boiling is stopped whenever the desired gravity is acquired. The finished glucose is run off into tanks, and is shipped in barrels when ordered.

Glucose is a thick syrup. It should be perfectly clear and colorless, and if properly made will not leave an after taste in the mouth. By some few changes in the method of converting and boiling a solid crystalline product can be obtained, called grape sugar. Grape sugar is used for making beer and wines.

There are only about half a dozen glucose factories in operation in this country. The smallest of them grinds 10,000 bushels of corn a day; the largest 30,000. Most of the glucose produced finds its way into candy and syrup.

FLANNELETTES.

Purchases for fall hover at the 5c. basis, and lighter weights are now on the market as a kind of justification for the continued low prices. It is believed that neither manufacturer nor wholesaler makes money at the present figure, and the introduction of cheaper grades should lead the retailer to scrutinize his goods very carefully to see that they are up to sample.—Dry Goods Review.

THE YOUNG MAN AND HIS MONEY.

"THE love of money is the root of all evil," was said by the Great Teacher. The force of this teaching went against money as a dangerous thing; for it was easy to carry the stress of the teaching over from the love of money to money itself, and so call money the root of all evil. The point in the teaching is against the love of money. Money is, left in its innocence, as harmless in itself as a buttercup, or a diamond. It is only in the bad uses to which men put it that it ever becomes evil. In modern times there has come another saying which men like better—"Money makes the mare go," the meaning of which is, that money is a motive power of great force among men—a dominant power. The two statements are not so different as they seem. They are only different ways of setting forth a fact important for everybody to know, that money is so potent an agency in this world that it has a controlling influence in its affairs. Go into the busy marts of business—into the industries of men along the thoroughfares of exchange and travel, into the offices of the professions, the halls of learning, the churches, the courts, the headquarters of official power, and everywhere it will be seen that money represents and serves all these important agencies. Go among the evil things that annoy and disgrace men—the things that corrupt society, ruin nations and make hard and wretched the ways of humanity—and money is there equally the great agency in promoting the evil of the world. It seems to be true that money moves the world, simply because it is the representative of all values, real or fictitious.

It is apparent at once that money has no moral quality—is neither good nor bad. Neither the money itself nor the love of it is the root of evil only as it is coveted and used for evil purposes The evil is not in the money but in the one who covets, or uses it. It is an innocent and very convenient agency for the expression of values in aid of exchanges between men.

Money must be called an invention. There is but little intrinsic worth in it. It is nearly useless except for the purposes of traffic; and yet by the invention of men, it has been made one of the most serviceable utilities of our civilization. It is good in itself and is to be sought in just and honorable ways; and sought earnestly and with perseverance. If it has any moral value it is in its use, and not in itself. The same dollar can be used for charity, or cruelty, for religion, or sin. The money that yesterday served an outlaw, may to-day serve a saint. Moral character is not in money but in the one who uses it. A case illustrative of this is in the history of the struggle of the people of the United States for their independence. In that struggle there was one very brilliant and for a while useful young man who served the cause with much efficiency till his name became a tower of strength, and he was promoted to giddy heights of honor; and yet in a brief time thereafter, he blackened that name with deepest disgrace and associated it forever in this country with Judas Iscariot. This was Benedict Arnold, who attempted to sell his country for a price—Arnold, the traitor. He seemed as self-sacrificing, honest and zealous for the cause he had espoused, as the great patriots of the day; had the confidence of Washington, the army and the country; and yet leaped from his high position into the infamy of a traitor. And why did he do it? Because he did not know the value and use of money. He was trusted with important duties with his headquarters in Philadelphia. The glitter of military and fashionable life was about him. Society courted and flattered him. He lived high and fast; and in a short time got into debt—heavily in debt. He could not raise the money to pay, and was looking disgrace in the face. Soon after he was transferred to West Point, near the headquarters of the British in New York. Arnold's debts and their ready money made the temptation too great for him, and he sold himself to them to pay the debts his foolish vanity had contracted. He bargained to sell his command, it was believed, but the plot was discovered in season to save the command, while he fled to the enemy—a perpetual monument of financial incompetency.—Looking Forward for Young Men.

FRANKFORT FRIED SAUSAGE.

FOR every lot of 100 lbs.: Use pork of young, light, firm hogs that contains much gelatine; use ham or shoulder, bellies and necks. Clean off the skin and bones a day before using, and preserve the meat on hooks in intervals in an airy room when it will cool and dry. Use about two parts lean meat, one part fat. Chop to about half a walnut size, and add 49 4-10 oz. English salt, 5½ oz. pepper, 2 1-10 oz. mace. Continue chopping, wiping knife frequently, and adding one gallon of water while chopping; use more water if yet too stiff. Reduce to about grain size, which is best observed by beating the mass flat with the palm of the hand, then throw the mass apart from right to left a few times; without kneading, however. Then put into stuffing machine, press down carefully so as to press out all air.

Fill into narrow hog casings previously well washed and freed from water; fill casings full; do not tie, but turn links off according to local custom, either four or five pieces to the pound; that is, one pair from 7 to 8 oz. Leave a small butt end on each sausage, hang on clean sticks and allow to dry for five or six hours. Put in smoke very high; smoking room has about 22 feet in diameter. At both sides of the fire should be an air-shaft with door about 8 feet square, for you have to smoke with a continuous draft of air. Use dry oak and beech shavings at a uniform temperature of about 72° to 77° F., until the sausage has assumed a reddish-yellow color, which will be obtained in from eight to ten hours.

If smoked too fast the color will not stay. Before using these sausages they should be kept for eight minutes in boiling water until they feel firm to the touch. Fry in brown butter three minutes on each side. If intended for immediate consumption, a little cardamom and finely-ground lemon-peel may be added to the spicing.—National Provisioner.

Good Sure Profits

Profit is the life of trade. There is no Corn Meal made anywhere by anybody that your customers will pay more money for than for Tillson's "Gold Dust." This is so because there is no brand (foreign or domestic) that is freer from black specks—yellower—or more evenly cut. We do not claim that it is "just as good" as something else, because that is not a fair comparison for "Gold Dust."

It simply amounts to this. The very best selected corn is used—millers of long experience mill it—the most modern machinery that is made grinds the corn. If any Corn Meal can make good, sure profits for you, "Gold Dust" certainly can and will.

BLENDED TEA.

IN no branch of the grocery trade has more enterprise been shown than in blended tea, the demand having increased to an extent little dreamt of a few years since. The trade papers teem with advertisements, in many cases of such an extravagant and high-flown character as to suggest the idea that a not very complimentary estimate has been made of the intelligence of the readers to whom the remarks are addressed. There is, however, no royal road to success in this or any other business where competition is as keen as it is in the tea trade. Mincing Lane is the one market, or at all events the best market, from which the wholesale trade can draw their supplies. The rest is a matter of skill in the manipulation of various kinds, coupled with facilities for working cheaply by the use of the best time and labor saving appliances. The question of value is, of course, an all-important one from the buyer's point of view, and care should be taken to guard against being misled by offers of low-priced teas, which are frequently quoted at cost, or even less, the idea undoubtedly being to obtain compensation by getting an extravagant rate of profit on the higher-priced blends. It would therefore be advisable in cases where these remarks apply, to favor the houses in question with orders for the cheapest kinds only, and to buy the better sorts where extreme profits are not charged to compensate for the apparent cheapness of the lower qualities, which form but a small percentage of the sales of an ordinary trader.

The phenomenal growth of the blended tea trade as a whole shows that it answered a great public want. As a matter of fact, there is an increasing necessity for general traders, such as the grocers have become, to buy everything ready for use. The abandonment of moist sugar mixing and of the chopping up of loaf sugar, and the packing of cocoa, chocolate, sweets and many other miscellaneous articles by the manufacturers, are all exemplifications of this. Further, the great fall in the price of tea and the consequent proportionate diminution of the retail profit upon it have increased the disinclination of the grocers to continue the disagreeable operation of blending in their own place. Ordinary buyers also find that a very great saving in capital is effected by ceasing to hold heavy stocks in bond, especially as the latter often deteriorate in value as teas are now made. Again, in former years people had only to consider one market — that for China tea. Now they have, in addition, to study Indian and Ceylon kinds as well, and owing to the enormous extent of some of the districts, especially in India, there are infinitely more varieties in the character of tea than used to be the case. While these facts impose increased difficulties in the way of retail blending, they at the same time afford a far greater opportunity to the wholesale blender than he could possibly have had a few years ago ; in fact the increased number of markets and varieties gives just the opening required, and, coupled with the use of machinery and the other causes named above, mainly account for the increase in the trade. The standard for blending has also greatly risen and is more difficult for the retailers to meet, unless they work on a very large scale. Years ago ancestral methods of tea mixing were no doubt all very well, but they are useless in the present days of keen competition, especially as most of the teas and flavors that used to be the favorites are practically obsolete.

It is satisfactory to notice that the grocers are regaining a considerable proportion of the trade they lost a few years ago, through the onset of new and, in some cases, very unfair competition. In these days of general trading it was in reality most improbable that any lasting attack could be sustained against the grocers in this respect. Tea now only yields small profits and there is not, or ought not to be, a margin for lavish advertisement. The public may be left to judge for itself whether it is not the fact, that the grocer in a fair way of business can supply, with a fair return to himself, teas 4d to 6d per pound, or, say, 30 per cent., cheaper than those advertised at a gigantic cost. Among the special points for the ordinary run of grocers to study in connection with this and other forms of competition is undoubtedly the purchase of properly blended tea.—Produce Markets' Review.

A FINE ESTABLISHMENT.

The improvements and additions made to Mr. Fred Krug's store at Tavistock constitute it a complete establishment that would do credit to any city. Mr. H. I. Johnson, the buyer, was kind enough to show a friend of THE CANADIAN GROCER through the other day. The main store is about 150 x 30 feet ; the ceilings are oak finished with pressed iron decorations There is a cash railway connecting with the telephone office in the centre of the store. At the rear are the fine offices of the firm. Going up-stairs one finds that the second floor is finished in the same artistic style as the first and contains a fine selection of goods. The millinery, dressmaking, tailoring, post office, etc., are all distinct departments connected with the main store by arches. The store being on an angle of ground in the town, faces on three streets and is well lighted. In the rear is the hardware department, and there is a good elevator for taking goods up and down. The whole building is heated with hot water and steam. Mr. Krug does a splendid business, and although Tavistock is but ten miles from the city of Stratford, his establishment being so complete and well managed has no reason to fear outside competition.

THE PORT OF ST. JOHN, N.B.

Editor CANADIAN GROCER : I have recently sent you copies of local papers containing references to the winter shipments from this port. It will be very gratifying to Canadians generally to note the remarkable developments of this traffic and the evidence that a Canadian harbor can compete with the United States ports. I would particularly draw your attention to the fact that while there has been a development of about 50 per cent. in the traffic during the present season over that of the preceding winter, that the local manager of the Canadian Pacific Railway states that the business has only been limited by the amount of ocean tonnage offering ; also that if the steamers had been available the business would have been double that of the present season.

While the undertaking was in an experimental stage our citizens willingly undertook the work, and at an expense of nearly half a million dollars (without any aid from the Dominion Government as to harbor improvements, including elevator, etc.), put their harbor in a position to cater for this traffic. The business has passed through this stage, and they are still continuing to use their utmost efforts to meet the increased developments, but find that the Federal Government of the United States is now an element in the competition. That Government is spending millions of dollars on their Atlantic seaports in order to compete for this traffic. As an illustration, over $800,000 is to be spent on the harbor of Portland alone. Under the circumstances, they feel that as it has become a matter of competition in which the Government of the United States is assisting their ports, that similar assistance should be granted by the general Government of Canada to the Canadian winter port which has proved itself worthy of the name.

As the traffic during the past has been largely from all parts of Canada, as well as the Western States, they feel that it is a matter of national importance.

Trusting that you may give this matter your valuable advocacy,

I remain, yours respectfully,

WANTED SYRUP WITH A STING.

A GOOD story is told of a Kansas farmer who entered a general store in Emporia and inquired for "somethin' nice to put on griddle cakes."

"Molasses?" said the storekeeper.

"Naw; somethin' nicer. Be'n eatin' molasses for twenty years. Ain't you got somethin' slicker?"

The grocer told him about maple syrup and praised it highly. All the "tony people" of Emporia used it, he said.

"That's what I want. The high tonedest you've got."

By a strange mishap, when the boy went to pack the goods for the socially ambitious farmer he took a tin of varnish, the varnish coming in square cans of a kind similar to those containing the maple sap. Three or four months afterward the man came back to town and reported at the store. The storekeeper having made the discovery of the error, was in a panic. At length he mustered up courage to ask how the maple syrup had answered.

"Oh, she was all right," said the customer. "Kinder highfalutin', but good. My wife at first said she thought it was some rancid, but when I told her what you said about it bein' a high-toned dish that the best people in Empory jes' nacherally craved she seemed to take a second holt, and now she won't eat nothin' else. I thought there was a kind of a snap an' bite to it that sorter reminded me o' what we used to git when prohibition first struck the country, but in gineral it's mighty good stuff."

"Was there any bad effect at all?" inquired the amazed storekeeper.

"Well, now, I can't say there wasn't. You see, it was my wife's first experience with dude grub, and she kinder lost her head; got ambitious; allowed that if we was good enough to have that kind of eatin' we was good enough to have some other things to match. Bought a lot o' new chiney dishes from a peddler, an' made me promise I'd get her a new hat with red in it, an' a dress this trip in town. Yes, I s'pose you might say that there was some bad effects, because vanity is certainly sinful. But you're a married man yourself, an' you know they ain't no way to stop a woman's ambitions when she begins to kinder get in society. Gimme a couple gallons more o' that syrup, an' if you have some that has jes' a little more o' that pleasant bitin' sting to it, why let's have that."—Chicago Record.

CAERPHILLY CHEESE.

A correspondent of The London Grocer states that competition between England and America in the matter of cheese is exercising a good deal of interest in Welsh circles. Not a little perplexity has been felt in distinguishing real Cheddar from American.

The Welsh cheese par excellence is the Caerphilly cheese, which is associated with a little market town on the borders of Glamorganshire, but known throughout every county in Wales, just as Cheddar is known throughout any county in England. Though not entering into competition with the American cheese, the Caerphilly market people some time ago resolved that every cheese passing through Caerphilly market should be branded, and that no cheese which was not so branded should be considered "Caerphilly." Notwithstanding this, large—that is, comparatively large—lots of cheese are being made and sold as "Caerphilly" that have not passed through the market. Branded or unbranded, there is no doubt that Caerphilly cheese is a unique production. This cheese was originally sold at Caerphilly, where a market for it had been in existence from a period beyond memory. It is maintained that, owing to climatic influence, combined with a suitable herbage and the formation of the soil, Caerphilly cheese, or cheese containing that agreeable flavor—being easy to digest, with a thin, wrinkled rind, most rich and palatable, but still retaining the valuable property of keeping, if required—can only be produced in Monmouthshire, say west of the river Usk, and that portion of Glamorganshire already indicated.

WHOLESALE ROBBERY BY EMPLOYES.

WHAT is alleged to have been a most extensive system of robbery by employes was unearthed last week in a large business house in a certain Canadian city.

The head of one of the departments, it seems, was suspected of dishonesty, A search-warrant was placed in the hands of a detective, who, accompanied by the police patrol wagon, visited the house of the suspect. As a result of the visit more than a wagon load of stolen goods was collected and the suspected employe was arrested. Among the goods were articles from several departments besides those immediately in the charge of the suspected man.

After the arrest the prisoner was bailed out and escorted to the business house of his employers. It is said that he was there told that if he would divulge the names of those who were in collusion with him the firm would not prosecute him. He agreed to this, and gave the names of about thirty employes, five of whom were heads of departments. And as there were the goods from these departments to corroborate the charges, each one was promptly dismissed from the firm's service.

This reveals a deplorable state of affairs. All those charged with dishonesty may not have been guilty, but it is evident that a good many of the employes must have been in collusion with each other.

Such wholesale pilfering as this weakens one's faith in humanity. And it must necessarily loosen the confidence of employers in employes.

It is unfortunate that such should be, but such naturally must be the outcome of exposures like that just cited. For what goes on in one establishment it is quite possible goes on in another.

Employers may often be partly to blame for dishonesty in their employes, in that they do not give them sufficient remuneration to maintain that respectability which their position demands.

But the fault of an employer is no excuse for the dishonesty of an employe.

No matter how adverse a young man's or a young woman's circumstances may be, honesty is always the best policy.

A young man makes the mistake of his life when he imagines that even in temporal matters he can build himself up by filling his pockets at the expense of his employers.

It is to be hoped that the circumstances cited will be a lesson well heeded by those who may be predisposed to dishonesty. It is with this object in view that THE CANADIAN GROCER gives the case publicity.

CEYLON TEA EXPORTS.

THE Ceylon tea trade continues to develop at an extraordinary rate. This is evident from the figures showing the exports from Ceylon during 1896.

These figures reveal the fact that in that year the exports of tea to all countries aggregated 108,141,412 pounds, or about 11.33 per cent. larger than in 1895, and over 28 per cent. larger than in 1893.

The subjoined table shows how the exports were distributed among the various countries:

	1896.	1895.	1894.	1893.
United Kingdom	93,936,361	85,753,339	75,318,644	75,500,077
Austria	31,556	5,335	6,934	7,190
Belgium	31,695	12,253	8,961	3,509
France	72,185	49,586	18,366	27,992
Germany	130,402	281,578	149,830	225,636
Holland	6,120	15,833	600	10,818
Italy	10,770	8,556	4,800	9,087
Russia	246,233	333,518	41,494	53,272
Spain	54,685	64,285	45,753	37,513
Sweden	16,395	750	500	3,550
Turkey	17,304	15,017	9,105	8,434
India	924,272	831,070	875,578	964,104
Australia	11,062,832	9,379,561	7,446,782	6,968,956
America	718,600	393,527	216,422	112,449
Africa	142,073	150,490	74,789	114,857
China	370,480	321,431	155,522	188,099
Singapore	93,445	34,351	26,465	21,906
Maritius	124,254	186,096	106,675	110,079
Malta	151,750	103,265	46,615	38,435
Total lbs.	108,141,412	97,939,871	84,591,714	84,406,064

As the exports to Canada and the United States are all enumerated under the word "America," of course the figures given above convey no idea of the shipments to Canada direct. Neither do the figures furnished by the Dominion Trade and Navigation Returns reveal the amount of our direct imports of Ceylon tea, all these returns give being the direct importations from the British East Indies, which, of course, include India as well as Ceylon. The imports on this joint account for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1896 were: 1,487,883 pounds, valued at $215,561, compared with 443,723 pounds and $77,414 in 1895, or an increase of over 235 per cent. in quantity of importations. None of these figures, of course, include the large quantity of Indian and Ceylon teas imported by Canada via London.

The figures appertaining to the imports of these teas by North America (Canada and the United States) during the first two months of the present calendar year are also to hand, and they too show a remarkable increase.

Direct shipments to North America from London of Indian and Ceylon tea are given at 1,202,000 lbs., compared with 262,000 lbs. for January and February of last year, an increase of nearly 359 per cent.

From Colombo direct the imports were 260,000 lbs. in February, 1897, compared with 91,000 lbs. the same month last year, or an increase of over 187 per cent.

A store sign often indicates more than the merchant's name.

ONTARIO DEPARTMENT STORE BILL.

Middleton's department store bill, introduced in the Ontario Legislature, has been withdrawn.

This bill, it will be remembered, provided that cities with a population of 30,000 and over might impose, on a two-thirds vote of the members of the council, a special tax on any department store carrying on more than three distinct classes of business.

The bill in question came up for its second reading on Monday, and while in the debate which followed the consensus of opinion was to the effect that the department store was an evil, it was felt that it was too late in the session to give the measure proper consideration, and so it was withdrawn with the understanding that it would be again introduced at the next session of the Legislature.

THE TELEPHONE QUESTION IN TORONTO.

RUMOR has it that the Dominion Government is likely to grant the Bell Telephone Co. the desired power to increase its rates in Toronto by over 66 per cent.

It is to be hoped the rumor has no foundation in fact.

The argument of the company why it should be granted the powers in question is a specious one : It is losing a good round sum annually on its Toronto service.

It might be. But that is open to grave doubt. At any rate, it manages to pay its shareholders a dividend of eight per cent. annually, quite a nice snug little sum in these days of small dividends. And that is not all : it also manages to pay five per cent. on its bonds. Not bad at all for a concern that is losing money at the rate of seventeen dollars per telephone in its Toronto system.

But, supposing it is true that during the last year or two its Toronto service has not been a remunerative one ; what has been the chief cause of it ? It surely cannot be that the rate per telephone has not proved sufficient. It was good enough on which to base a bid for the franchise a few years ago. And if then, why not now under ordinary circumstances ?

If, as the company asserts, the Toronto system has not been remunerative lately, the cause, it is pretty safe to say, was not the rate it charged subscribers. On the contrary, it was because of the damage which the winter storms wrought upon wires and poles upon a couple of occasions during the past year or two. And that was due to imperfect mechanical arrangement as well as to the storms. The conditions of the Canadian winter were well known and they should have been prepared for.

When a vessel, carrying too much sail and not navigated by a cautious captain, is struck by a squall and goes down, the owners do not charge the consignees of the cargo with not paying a sufficient freight rate. No ; if the vessel is badly sailed, they blame the navigator, if anybody. And if the craft happens to have been an old hulk that had rightly passed her days of usefulness they say nothing.

If the Bell Telephone system does not pay, it is either from one of two causes : It is either because of bad management or the system has seen its best days. And in neither case can the losses occasioned thereby be chargeable to subscribers. Nor can the cost of the damage by storm. That must come out of the pockets of the shareholders.

But after all, there are a good any whom look upon the movement of the company to acquire power to increase its subscription rate as a game of bluff. Whether or no this is true we cannot say. Possibly it is true.

As everyone knows, an idea obtains that the present rate of $45 for business and $25 for private service telephones is, instead of being too low, too high. That being the case, it is argued that it is quite reasonable that the company should take the steps that it now has in order that it may be in a position to offer, as a compromise, the rates which it now professes to be unremunerative.

Another argument used by those who claim the company is playing a game of bluff is that it hopes to frighten away the companies that are now bidding for the Toronto franchise.

But whatever may be the motive of the company in asking the Government to give it power to increase from $45 to $75 the rate on telephones used by business men, it would be a crying shame to grant it.

There are other companies who are prepared, upon being granted the franchise, to supply a business service at $9 less and a private house service at $5 less than the rates now charged by the Bell people. And furthermore, to pay over to the civic authorities five per cent. of its earnings.

Surely if one company can do this another must, or else pack up its baggage and get out. If its system is being outstripped in the race by more modern systems, the onus is upon its shareholders and not upon the people who use their telephones.

But whether or not the Bell Telephone Co. can work its system lower than it does to-day, one thing is certain : the Bell Telephone system has been worked lower where competition has compelled it to do so. In Michigan City, Ind., for instance, the rate was at one time reduced to less than one-half what it is in Toronto to-day.

In view of the facts above cited it would be a most unjust thing for the Dominion Government to put into the hands of the Bell Telephone Co. the power to wring from business men and other subscribers even one dollar more than they are to-day getting for a service whose imperfections are an abomination.

The merchant or clerk who does not exercise tact will some day receive as great a surprise as if he had unconsciously sat upon a tack.

THREE MONTHS' FAILURES.

IN spite of the cry of hard times it is gratifying to know that, as far as failures are concerned, Canada's position is more satisfactory than it was at the same time a year ago. This is shown by the reports of the quarterly report of the commercial agencies. The figures in the following table give the failures for the three months ending March 31st and are taken from Bradstreet's returns :

	No. Failures.	Assets.	Liabilities.
Ontario	314	$877,487	$1,990,057
Quebec	240	600,091	2,015,648
New Brunswick	26	54,400	116,500
Nova Scotia	58	175,890	371,261
Prince Edward Island	4	15,800	37,602

Compared with the same period in 1896 these figures show a decrease of 12.54 per cent. in the number of failures, of 2.40 per cent. in assets, and of 16.23 per cent. in liabilities.

A comparison of the assets to liabilities do not, however, show scarcely as good results. For instance, in 1896 the proportion of assets to liabilities was 40.76 per cent., while for the first three months of the present year they were but 36.66 per cent., or 4.10 per cent. less.

The returns are, on the whole, however, gratifying, indicating as they do that the condition of the business men of the country is improving in spite of restricted trade consequent upon the anticipated tariff changes.

With the tariff question settled Canada will doubtless experience an appreciable revival in trade.

A merchant usually puts his business on a cash basis in order that he have it upon a sound financial basis.

THE ADVANCE IN SUGAR.

THE fact that sugar refiners advanced their price on refined ⅛c. per pound last Friday has directed attention to the sugar market with renewed vigor this week.

During the spring of 1895 the situation was equally interesting. It was at that time that Mr. Foster brought down his tariff changes, among which was the duty of ½c. per pound on raw sugar. Previously, the refiners got their supplies free of duty. The trade anticipated the change to a great extent, the result being a regular boom during February, March and April of 1895.

When the duty went into effect granulated advanced ½c. per pound to 5c. at the refineries.

It is worthy of note, however, that it did not long remain at this comparatively high figure, for the natural conditions of the market led to a decline in price.

In April 1896, a year later, the basis was 4½ to 4¾c. for granulated, and yellows of course declined proportionately.

During last summer granulated was sold as low even as 4c.; indeed it was claimed in many instances that that price had been shaded.

Since the first of the present year the tendency of values outside has been upward, but the Canadian market was slow to respond to this influence. About three weeks ago, however, as noted by THE CANADIAN GROCER, a demand set in from wholesalers, who are generally reported to have been extensive buyers of the refined article.

It is claimed, in fact, that individual houses in Montreal control as large a quantity as 10,000 barrels of refined.

This speculative enquiry—for the regular consumptive demand has been only of an ordinary character—is due to the impression, which generally prevails, that the duties on sugar in the coming tariff are to be altered in such a way as to secure an increase in revenue, to offset reductions made in other directions.

At this writing refiners are firm at 4⅛ to 4¼c. on granulated, and 3⅜ to 4c. on yellows.

ORDERS FROM ENGLAND.

The Capital Cash Register Co., Ottawa, are advertising in two papers only, THE CANADIAN GROCER and Hardware and Metal. They have had enquiries from the extreme west of Canada as well as from the Maritime Provinces, but they now have one from a strong firm in Wolverhampton, England, who say they saw the advertisement in Hardware and Metal. This paper now has several hundred readers in Great Britain.

THE LATE THOS. DOHERTY.

The death of Mr. Thos. Doherty removes a personality well known in the tea trade of Montreal. Mr. Doherty was born at Omagh, county of Tyrone, Ireland, about 53 years ago, and came to this country in 1862, and finally settled in Montreal. He became identified in the tea importing business, and established a firm under the style of Downey, Doherty & Co. He was afterward associated with the late Thomas Kearney in the same business, under the firm name of Thomas Doherty & Co. Mr. Bartholomew Wall was afterward associated with Mr. Doherty. After this firm was dissolved Mr. Doherty conducted the business alone under the same firm name. Mr. Doherty married Miss Moore, who survives him with three children.

A MUCH-NEEDED CHANGE.

The location of the Bristol steamers at the extreme eastern end of Montreal harbor has been a fruitful topic of discussion in export produce circles, as it necessitated a long cartage during the hot summer months, which naturally was injurious to such goods as butter and cheese.

The butter and cheese trade have petitioned the Harbor Commissioners frequently in regard to the matter, without result until this spring.

Last Thursday that body decided to allot the outside berth on the Island wharf, which has formerly been occupied by the Black Diamond Line, to Messrs. Elder, Dempster & Co., and this year they will use it for the Bristol Line. In turn, the Black Diamond Line has been allotted 300 feet of space at the lower end of the city, which last year was occupied by the London line of the Elder, Dempster Line.

This is in the centre of the harbor, and most convenient to that portion of the city where all the cold storage warehouses are situated.

AGAINST THE I.C.R. EXTENSION.

Halifax merchants are not, it appears, a unit on the extension of the I.C.R. from Levis to Montreal. Opposition to the project has only developed recently, but it is strong nevertheless.

A joint committee of the Board of Trade and City Council, of Halifax, adopted a report favoring the extension of the road, but the Council has not as yet adopted it, on account of the opposition raised, and there is a possibility the Board of Trade will also give it the cold shoulder.

Mr. Dwyer, a former president of the Board of Trade, and a prominent wholesale grocer, is out in print against the scheme, which, he contends, will only help Montreal to compete for the trade of the province.

CANADIAN BUTTER IN ENGLAND.

A representative of THE CANADIAN GROCER had a chat with Hon. Mr. Ballantyne in the Russell House, Ottawa, the other day, and found him quite enthusiastic about the success of Canadian winter butter in England. During the past winter he has been handling the product of ten factories, and paying them an average of 20c. per pound. This, he estimates, is 3c. better than the American factory men are getting for finest Elgins and butters of that quality. In England the quality has been so good when Canadians arrive there that he has been getting one shilling better than New Zealand and Australian butters, and within a couple of shillings of finest Danish. He says the quality of Canadian butter is quite equal to Danish, but the latter has been advertised extensively for a long time, and a strong prejudice in its favor exists. Canadian butter, however, is gradually working its way in, and if the quality is strictly maintained and if it is judiciously advertised we are bound to have a very large and profitable trade.

WASHING SODA HIGHER.

Cable advices on washing soda have been strong lately, and this week a further advance was reported.

The total gain from the lowest point ranges from 10 to 12c. per 100 pounds, which is quite a rise, compared with the level which prevailed last spring.

HAMILTON'S PURE FOOD SHOW.

THE grocers of Hamilton are to be congratulated upon the success of the pure food show which opened under their auspices in the drill hall on Monday night.

The decorations and the beauty and variety of the exhibits combine to make the scene a most charming one.

Mayor Colquhoun presided at the opening ceremony, being introduced by Mr. Frank G. Close, of the Grocers' Association. Mrs. Rorer, of Philadelphia, the celebrated authority on cooking, who has been engaged to lecture daily while the show lasts, delivered an address, and Mr. H. S. Brennean, of the Hamilton Board of Education, also spoke.

The duty of declaring the show opened devolved upon Hon. G. W. Ross, the Minister of Education. He was warmly received, and he congratulated the promoters of the show on their success in doing things well. He spoke favorably of domestic science, and referred in a complimentary way to the school of that city. He considered the art of cooking and the knowledge of how to select pure foods of great importance, and he referred to the teaching of domestic science in the schools of Toronto. He hoped the educational system would ere long expand so as to provide for technical schools for boys as well as girls.

Tuesday was Physicians' Day, and the chief speaker was Dr. G. S. Ryerson, M.P.P. Dr. Ryerson put himself en rapport with his audience at once, by referring to the city as the hub of the Dominion and himself as a visitor from its suburbs. He believed that if one confined himself to the pure food exhibited at this show he would live forever, but should illness come he could desire no better physician than Mrs. Rorer. Speaking in seriousness, the doctor referred to the exhibition as a new field of competition with Toronto, and remarked that Hamilton in this matter had given a pointer to the whole Dominion. Dr. Ryerson's address closed with a brief exposition of the physiology of eating.

Wednesday was Grocers' Day, and it was probably the most successful day of the show up to then. Mrs. Rorer lectured in the afternoon. Her subject was "Left Overs, Chicken, Aspic, Bondin's Sauce, Bechamel, Curry, and Spring Salads." Mrs. Rorer also lectured again in the evening, and the programme of music was contributed by Mrs. Bruce Wikstrom and E. F. Martin.

The show closes on Saturday.

CANADIAN HORSES IN JAPAN.

Recent information through the State Department calls attention to the fact that Japan maintains a force of about 20,000 cavalry, for which purpose native horses are useless on account of their small size. An attempt has been made to improve the stock by the importation of high class stallions, but it proved a failure.

Australian horse breeders have made a bid for this market, but their horses and prices are both too large. It is suggested that the best horse extant for the use of the Japanese cavalry could be selected from the herds that thrive so well on the plains of Western Canada. What the Japanese want is a light, medium sized animal, not over gentle, and tough as a rawhide.

SEA WATER THAT LOOKS LIKE BLOOD.

SIR HENRY MANCE, is speaking of the varied experiences which are specially incident to the life of a submarine telegraph engineer, says that natural phenomena are occasionally witnessed in the Persian Gulf which to the untraveled would appear incredible.

In the mountains near Mussendom he has seen, during a thunderstorm, lightning displays which baffle description, and at certain seasons of the year the water in the bay, which is large enough to hold all the fleets in the world, presents exactly the appearance of blood, says The Pittsburg Dispatch. At such times, as soon as night sets in, the silvery emerald green phosphorescent effects produced by the moving of boats and the splashing of oars are indescribably beautiful.

Not many miles from Mussendom mysterious fire circles will sweep over the surface of the sea at a speed of 100 miles an hour. This phenomenon is seldom witnessed and has never satisfactorily been explained.

While steaming along the coast of Beloochistan Sir Henry has often been called from his cabin at night to gaze on the more common phenomenon of a milky sea, the water for miles around being vividly white and luminous.

In the same locality he has known the sea to be for short periods as if putrid, the fish being destroyed in myriads, so that to prevent a pestilence measures had to be taken to bury those cast up on the beach. The cause was doubtless the outbreak of a submarine volcano and the liberation of sulphuretted hydrogen.

In these waters jellyfish are as large as footballs, and sea snakes of brilliant hue are met with in great numbers. On one occasion a swarm of sea snakes forced their way up one of the creeks in Kurrachi harbor, apparently for the purpose of settling some tribal differences, for the ground between high and low water mark was thickly covered with their bodies, in positions which betokened a deadly struggle.

FISH BISCUIT.

Prof. Sahlstrom, of Newfoundland, has solved the problem of producing a biscuit composed of fish and flour, half of each ingredients being mixed up by the aid of an essence extracted from the head bones and other hitherto useless parts of the fish. By this means there is no water used, and the biscuits are then baked and kiln-dried, so that they are perfectly dry, and weigh only 1 ounce—a pound of biscuit being equal to three pounds of food, and these biscuits, when fried, make most palatable and appetizing fishcakes.

They can also be broken up and made into curries and pies, and it is claimed that by reason of their economic preparation they are the cheapest and most nutritious fish food on the market. It is believed that it can be readily introduced into foreign countries where our codfish is exported, and should also find an acceptance in army and navy circles, the comparative lightness and ease of handling making it very convenient in military expeditions. The biscuits will be sold for about eight cents per pound and should meet a ready sale.

HE TOOK ONE LOAD.

It is reported of the late William H. Vanderbilt that his father, the commodore, did not give his son, when a young man, much credit for business ability. Absolute verification of this is doubtful, but a good story is told of an incident wherein the son proved that he too carried in his head some of the astuteness in commercial intercourse that his father possessed. The commodore presented him with a farm on Staten Island, informing him that he might live there, and to make the land pay, as that was all he cared to contribute towards the lad's support. A short time later the commodore enquired of his son how he was getting along.

"Not very good, father," the young man replied. "What I need badly is some means of improving the earth."

"Well suppose you go up to my stables and get a load of refuse; but mind, I shall only give you one load."

"All right," replied the son, and he took one load; but, to the astonishment of the commodore, when he went to the stables they had been entirely cleaned.

"How many loads did that boy of mine cart away from here?" he enquired of the stableman.

"One, sir," replied that functionary; "but he carried the stuff away in a barge, sir."—Harper's Round Table.

A FEW "BUSINESS HINTS."

IT was Saturday afternoon in the corner grocery, and they were making it look nice for the evening trade during a little lull in the business, says an exchange, in a so-called humorous sketch.

"There's only a pound of sand left. Shall I sand the floor or put it in the sugar?" asked the new clerk.

"In the sugar, by all means," said the groceryman, kindly. "Always put a thing where it will do the most good. We can use sawdust for the floor, but we could not use it in the sugar without it being noticed," and he dumped the sand into the barrel himself and mixed it with his hands, those hands that were accumulating a fortune by honest toil.

"I find we're all out of the best coffee," said the clerk. "Shall I put in some of the second best?"

"No, my boy; you mean well, but you don't know. People would kick, for it would be just enough different for them to detect it. Put in the worst and they'll imagine they only fancy it's bad. It's the same with cigars. Give a man a cigar not quite as good as he is in the habit of smoking and he will tumble to it. Give him out-and-out stinkadoro' and he thinks he's made an error in judgment, and nine times out of ten he won't kick."

"It's almost time for that candy man to come around with more candy," said the clerk, as he picked up the "Fresh Every Day" sign off the floor and laid it on the glass case. "Isn't the 15th his day?"

"Yes; every other month, Are they getting low?"

"No; there was an old lady here yesterday who said she hated to disturb them, they looked so pretty in the case. Said it was a permanent attraction.

"Well, she said that for spite. She used to keep a candy store until the dry goods stores knocked her out," said the groceryman, picking the kitten out of the barrel of pickles, into which it had just fallen.

"Going to have any special prices to-day?" asked the clerk.

"Yes; we must work off that ham that the people wouldn't have at the regular price of 14 cents a pound. Call it 'first quality, sugar-cured,' and sell it as a bargain 'for to-day only' at 20 cents."

Just then a couple of customers came in and the groceryman ostentatiously brushed the dust off the illuminated sign, "Honesty is the best policy."—Exchange.

SHE BOUGHT.

"What! do you expect me to pay 5c. for that?" says a customer to her grocer as she points to a common cleansing article usually sold at that price. "If I go to Sixth Avenue I can get the same article for 3c." "And 10c. for car fare," says the grocer, "makes the price 13c., see!" The lady replies, "When I go down there I buy six, and pay, including car fare, 28c." "Oh! but if you buy six here you shall have them for 23c., and you save 5c. Do you want six?" She bought.—Retail Grocers' Advocate.

SHE WAS A BUSINESS WOMAN.

"There are more ways than one to make a living," said a demure little woman, with flashing brown eyes, to a reporter. "I know a woman who was left penniless in Manchester. She was riding in a tram one day, when she was struck with the sameness of the advertisements that are posted up in the cars. She believed that she could write good advertisements, and she thought out a lot of little four-line rhymes for a certain article. She submitted them to the advertising manager of the firm who manufactured it, and they were accepted, and now she is making a lot of money every year with her verses, extolling various wares."

"Pshaw!" said the blonde, who sat next to the demure little woman. "I know of a case that discounts that."

"I don't believe it," said the demure little woman.

"Well, I do, and I'll tell you about it, to prove it. A friend of mine, who had been doing some newspaper work, got the craze for writing advertisements, and she went around to a lot of establishments, only to find that they were well supplied with people to look after that branch of their business. She did find one firm that was willing to let her try her hand, and she began work. In less than a year she was comfortably off for the rest of her life."

"Did she invent some new style of writing or something of that kind?" asked the demure little woman.

"No," replied the blonde, "but she married the senior partner."—Odds and Ends.

CELERY SOUP WITH OYSTERS.

Cut three heads of celery into small pieces, using both roots and stalks; add a piece of onion as large as a hickory nut and a sprig of parsley; put into a saucepan with a pint of boiling water and boil half an hour; put one quart of milk into a double boiler; rub to a smooth paste a heaping tablespoonful of flour, and add to it, a little at a time, a half cup of warm milk; pour this into the hot milk and stir until it is smooth and creamy; remove the parsley and rub the remaining contents with the water through the colander and add this to the milk; add a teaspoonful of salt and half a teaspoonful of pepper; as soon as it boils add two dozen nicely washed oysters; when it reaches the boiling point again remove from the fire and serve.

CANARY SEED OUTLOOK.

Canary seed is likely to be a paying crop for the next few years. It appears that for various reasons the farmers of the Argentine, Holland, England, Morocco, and Spain have, to a large extent, given up its cultivation, and it may not be inadvisable therefore for British and other farmers again to take up its cultivation, in spite of the low prices now ruling, and continue to grow it simply because a number of foreign countries have abandoned it. It is probable that values will soon advance from the 27s. and 36s. per quarter of 464 lbs. now prevailing towards the lucrative rates of 46s. and 80s. in 1892. At present the visible supply in Turkey itself is most insignificant, and practically the whole of the world's supply is in the hands of either direct consumers or of the general trade throughout the world.—British Trade Journal.

INSURING CLERKS' HONESTY.

A Cleveland newspaper mentions a novel scheme adopted by a hardware merchant of that city to insure himself against loss by the dishonesty of employes. When a new man comes into his employ he is called to the office, where there is a private interview. The employer promptly comes to the question, and asks the man if he thinks that he is honest. The replies naturally vary in frankness, but that is immaterial.

"Well, replies the merchant, "if ever you have an inclination to steal, just come to me and I will give you the amount you thought of taking. Have no hesitancy, but come right up and I will gladly give it. We will thus save your character and I'll save a clerk."

In all his experience only one man has come to him for this purpose, and he was in desperate straits. As for any money being stolen—never.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

TORONTO, April 8, 1897.

GROCERIES.

THERE is still some speculative buying in tobacco, teas and sugars, but it is not so pronounced in any of those lines as it was a week ago. The influence of the coming tariff changes is more strongly felt at the moment than it has at any time heretofore been. Consequently, taking it all round, business is quiet, and wholesalers are wishing for the speedy appearance of the budget speech. Shortly after we went to press last week an advance of ⅛c. per pound was decided upon by the Canadian refiners in the price of all grades of refined sugars. That advance has been maintained, although the demand is not as brisk as it was. Canned goods are only in moderate request. Coffees are meeting with a fair demand. Currants are being firmly maintained in the primary market, and local wholesalers have again marked their figures up. Spices are quiet and steady. Payments are rather slow.

CANNED GOODS.

No new features have developed during the week. Prices rule steady on tomatoes and peas, but the volume of business is only fair. Canned fish is not receiving the attention that is looked for at this time of the year. We quote standard brands as follows: Tomatoes, 75c.; corn, 55 to 75c.; peas, 75 to 80c. for ordinary; sifted select, 90 to $1; extra sifted, $1.25 to $1.40; beans, 65 to 95c.; peaches, $2.50 to $3 for 3's, $1.65 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.50 to $1.80; strawberries, $1.65 to $1.95, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.40 to $1.70; cherries, $2 to $2.25; apples, 3's, 70 to 95c.; gallons, $1.65 to $2.25; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.50; cohoes, $1.10 to $1.25; canned mackerel, $1.20 to $1.30; lobsters, $2.25 to $2.40 for tall tins; flats, $2.85 to $2.90; ½-lb. flats, $1.60 to $1.65; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.20 to $1.30; 2's, $2.25 to $2.40; 6's, $7.75 to $8.25; 14's, $15 to $16.

COFFEES.

There is a moderate demand for green Rio coffees. The market for Rio coffees is a little weaker this week owing to liberal receipts at Rio and Santos. Jobbers quote green in bags: Rio, 14 to 16c., according to grade; East Indian, 27 to 30c.; South American, 21 to 23c.; Santos, 19 to 22½c.; Java, 30 to 33c.; Mocha, 27½ to 30c.; Maracaibo, 18 to 20c.; Jamaica, 19 to 22c.

SYRUPS.

Refiners' supplies of syrups are light and wholesalers report a fair demand. We quote: Dark, 23 to 25c.; medium, 28 to 35c.; bright, 32 to 42c.; corn syrup, 3 to 3¼c. per lb.

MOLASSES.

There is a little business being done, but the market is devoid of any striking features. We quote: New Orleans, barrels, 23 to 35c.; ditto, half-barrels, 25 to 37c.; ditto, fancy, 50 to 55c., in barrels and half-barrels; Barbadoes, 31 to 35c.; half-barrels, 33 to 35c.

SUGAR.

The advance of ⅛c. in the price of all sugars which took place shortly after we went to press last week has been maintained. This advance had the effect of checking the demand to some extent, which is thought by a good many to have been the object desired by the refiners when they marked their prices up, the orders previous to that having been of a character which threatened to overtax their energies. The refiners, however, claim that the condition of the raw market warranted the advance. The London market has, however, been somewhat irregular during the past week. On Friday the cables noted an advance of ¾d. on beet for next month's delivery, but on Tuesday the cables announced a decline in beet of fully 1½d. on this and of 2¼d. on next month's delivery, due, it is believed, to a report that the increased bounty law in France had passed. Local wholesalers' quotations are now: Granulated—St. Lawrence and Redpath's, 4 7-16c. for single barrel lots and 4⅜c. for 5-barrel lots; Acadia, 4⅜c. for single barrel lots, and 4 5-16c. for 5-barrel lots; yellows, 3⅝ to 4⅛c. per lb.; Demerara crystals, 3⅞c.

SPICES.

still steady. We quote: Pure Singapore black pepper, 10 to 12c.; pure white, 18 to 25c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 23 to 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar French, 25 to 27c.; do. best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 14 to 18c.; cassia, quoting 2½ to 3½c. for choice to fancy stock.

NUTS.

Advices received in Toronto this week state that the ss. Cambrian, to whose accident reference was made last week, is due in New York on the 25th with her shipment of Tarragona almonds for the Canadian market. Locally there is nothing new to note. We quote: Brazil nuts, 11 to 12½c.; Valencia shelled almonds, 18 to 22c.; Tarragona almonds, 9½ to 11c.; peanuts, 10 to 12c. for roasted and 7 to 10c. for green; cocoanuts, $4.50 to $5 per sack; Grenoble walnuts, 12½c.; Marbot walnuts, 9½ to 11c.; Bordeax walnuts, 8 to 9c.: Sicily filberts, 10c. for sacks and 10½ to 11c. for small lots; Naples filberts, 11c.; pecans, 12 to 12½c.

RICE, TAPIOCA, ETC.

The rice market generally appears to be strong. Locally business is quiet. We quote: Rice, Standard "B," 3¼ to 3½c.; imported Japan, 5¼ to 5¾c.; tapioca, 3¼ to 4½c.; sago, 3½c.

TEAS.

More interest has been taken in China blacks the past week than at any time since the speculative demand, on account of the anticipated change in the duty, began. This, it is thought, is due to the fact that available Indian and Ceylon teas and Japans are all now about taken up, while China teas on spot are showing good value. Desirable medium-grade Indian and Ceylon teas are scarce in Toronto. There has been a little buying by local wholesalers during the week of London teas, principally, it seems, by the package-tea men, "who," to quote the words of a tea man, "recognise that, duty or no duty, they must have teas to supply the regular demand. Ruling prices on the Toronto market to retailers are: Young Hyson, 18 to 21c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 14 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 15 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for high grades.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

There has been no further advance in currants, but the market continues firm. The lower grades of fruit are scarcely obtainable. We quote: Provincials, 4⅜ to 4½c. in bbls.; fine Filiatras, in bbls., 4½ to 4¾c.; do., half-bbls., 4½ to 4¾c.; Patras, 5 to 5¼c. in bbls., 5⅛ to 5¼c. in half-bbls., and 5⅛ to 5½c. in cases; Vostizzas, cases, 6 to 8c.

Valencia raisins continue uninteresting. We quote: Off-stalk, 5 to 5¼c.; fine off-stalk, 5¾ to 6c.; selected, 6¾ to 7c.; layers, 7 to 7½c.

California loose muscatel raisins are neglected. Advices state that the stock of two-crown loose raisins on the Coast are reported to be extremely light, and the few holders, it is said, are unwilling to sell them alone, preferring to keep them to fill out mixed cars. We quote: 3-crown, 7½c.; 4-crown, 8 to 8½c.

Figs are in much the same condition as a week ago. We quote: 10 oz., 7½c.; 10 lb., 9 to 10c.; 18 lb., 10 to 12c.; 28 lb., 11 to 13c.; taps, 3¼ to 3½c. net; natural, 4½c. in bags, and 7c. in boxes.

Dates continue quiet. We quote: 5½ to 6c. for Hallowee and 5 to 5¼c. for Kadrowee.

This is prune season, but the demand has so far been disappointing. We quote: Bosnias, U's (110 to 113 half kilo), 6 to 6½c.; C's (85 to 90 half kilo), 7 to 7½c. per lb. California, 90 to 100's, 6½c. per lb.; 70 to 80's, 7½c.; 60 to 70's, 7½ to 8c.; 50 to 60's, 8 to 8½c.; 40 to 50's, 9½ to 10½c.; 30 to 40's, 12½ to 13c.; "Ruby" prunes, 7½ to 8c.; French, 4½ to 5c.

California evaporated fruits are experiencing a little better demand than they were, but the volume of business is still dull. We quote: Peaches, 7 to 10½c. per lb., according to quality; apricots, 6½ to 15c.; pears, 5½ to 10½c.; egg plums, 5½ to 11c.; silver prunes, 8½ to 13½c.

GREEN FRUIT.

Valencia oranges have experienced a further demand in Liverpool, being something like a shilling higher than they were a week ago. Locally both oranges and lemons are in good demand. Valencia oranges in the 420 size are quoted about 50c. per case lower. The demand for bananas is extra good. We quote: Oranges—Valencias, ordinary, 420's, $3.75 to $4,25 per case; large 420's, $5 to $5.50; 714's, $4.50 to $5 per case; marmalade oranges, $3 to $3.50. California navels, $3 to $4.50 per box, according to size. California Tangerines, $2.75 per box. Lemons—Messinas, $2 to $2.75 per box for both 300's and 360's, and $2.25 to $2.50 for choice; cocoanuts, $3.75 a sack and 60c. per doz. Onions, $1.50 per 80 lb. bag for Danvers. Cranberries, Jerseys, $5 to $7 per bbl. and $2 per case; bananas, $1.50 to $2. Pine apples, 20 to 25c. each. Strawberries, $2.75 per case for pints. Cucumbers, $1.75 per dozen.

APPLES.

The English market is about 6d. higher, but prices are still unremunerative. The local demand is light, at $1.50 to $2 for Spies, $1 to $1.50 for Russets and Baldwins and $1.25 for Ben Davis. Shipments from the Atlantic ports last week were only 18,000 barrels, compared with 42,000 barrels the week before. Total shipments up to the end of last week were 2,855,000 barrels, compared with 730,000 barrels for the same period last year.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—The market still continues firm for good grades of dairy butter, receipts of which are still light, although better than a week ago. The demand is good for the better grades, with the lower grades difficult to sell. Receipts of creamery butter are increasing, and the tendency is toward an accumulation of stock. Although prices are quotably unchanged dealers would shade figures. We quote: Dairy butter—Tubs, 12 to 14c. for good to choice; low-grade to medium, 7 to 9c.; large rolls, 13 to 14½c. for good to choice, and 7 to 10c. for low-grade to medium; pound prints, 15 to 16c. for good to choice. Creamery—Tubs, 18 to 19c.; 1-lb. blocks, 19 to 20c., according to make.

CHEESE—Stocks of fall makes are still light. Shipments of fodder cheese continue to arrive, and, although the quality is not satisfactory, the low price ruling tends to make them sell. We quote September and October makes at 11 to 12c. per lb. and fodder cheese at 9½ to 10c.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

BEANS—The condition of the market is most unsatisfactory, and it is difficult to give reliable quotations. Jobbers, as a rule, quote mixed at 40 to 50c. and hand-picked at 65 to 75c.

DRIED APPLES—There is no improvement. Choice are quoted by wholesalers at 2 to 2½c., and fancy at 2½ to 3c.

EVAPORATED APPLES—Little or nothing doing. Wholesale quotations are: Quarters, 2¾c.; sliced, 3c.; best brands, 4 to 5c.

HONEY—Quiet. We quote: Comb, 80 to 90c. per dozen for dark and $1.50 to $1.75 for light; strained, 6 to 7c. per lb.

EGGS—Supplies are large and the demand good, with prices lower than a week ago. There have been some sales as low as 8¾c. per dozen, but as a rule prices are steady at 9c.

POULTRY—There is still little or nothing coming forward and prices are firm. We quote: Chickens, 40 to 60c. per pair; turkeys, 11 to 12c. for bright stock; geese, 7 to 9c.; ducks, 60 to 80c.

MAPLE SYRUP AND SUGAR—Maple syrup is coming forward freely and is in good demand at 75c. to 80c. per tin and at 80c. to 85c. per Imperial gallon in five-gallon tins. Arrivals of sugar are light and prices are firm at 9c.

POTATOES— Offerings are more liberal and prices are weaker at 18 to 20c. in carloads on the track; out of store, 25 to 30c. per bag is quoted, but dealers are glad to accept almost any price.

FISH AND OYSTERS.

Fish continue in light demand with prices much as before. We quote: Manitoba white fish, 5½ to 6c.; ditto in kegs, $4.50; frozen trout, 5c.; ditto in kegs, $4.50; pickerel, 6c. per lb.; haddies, 6c. per lb.; Labrador herring, $4.50 to $5 per bbl. and $2.75 per half-bbl.; split herring, $4.50 per bbl. and $2.50 per half-bbl.; boneless fish, 3½ to 4c. per lb.; pure cod, 6½ to 6¾c. per lb.; ciscoes, $1.25 per 100; haddock, 4½c. per lb.; steak cod, 6c. per lb.; frozen herring, 4c.; sea herring, $1 per 100; fresh water herring (heads off), $2.50 per keg; smelts, 6 to 9c. Oysters are quoted at $1.20 for standards, and $1.50 for selects.

SALT.

Trade is fairly good this week. We quote at Toronto: In carload lots, $1 per bbl. and 60c. per sack; in less than carload lots, $1.05 per bbl. and 65c. per sack. At the wells we quote: F.O.B. barrels, 70c.; sacks 50c. for points west of Toronto, and 45c. for Toronto and points east of Toronto.

PROVISIONS AND DRESSED HOGS.

Provisions continue firm in price, with the demand for all lines active. Dressed hogs are a little easier this week owing to large receipts, while the packers are stopping operations for the season. Prices range from $6 to $6.40.

DRY SALTED MEATS—Long clear bacon, 7c. for carload lots, and 7¼ to 7½c. per lb. for ton lots and cases; backs, 8c.

SMOKED MEATS—Breakfast bacon, 11c.; rolls, 7½ to 8c.; hams, large, 22 lbs. and over, 10½ to 11c.; medium, 15 to 20 lbs., 11½c.; small hams, 11¾c.; backs, 10 to 11c.; shoulder hams, 7c.; all meats out of pickle, 1c. less than above.

LARD—Pure Canadian, tierces, 6½c.; tubs, 6¾c.; pails, 7 to 7¼c.

BARREL PORK—Canadian heavy mess, $12.50; Canadian short-cut, $13 to $13.50; clear shoulder mess, $11 to $11.50.

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN — Receipts of grain are a little more liberal, but prices are lower. We quote: Wheat, 73 to 74c. for white and 72 to 73c. for red, and 62½ to 63c. for goose; oats, 21 to 22½c.; peas, 41 to 42c.

FLOUR—People are only buying in small lots and confidence in the market is lacking. We quote in carloads on track, Toronto: Manitoba patents, $4.70; Manitoba strong bakers', $4.30; Ontario patents, $4.30 to $4.50; straight roller, $3.85 to $4, Toronto freights.

BREAKFAST FOODS—Business is still only moderate. We quote: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $2.80 in bags and $3 in bbls.; rolled wheat, $2.50 to $2.60 in 100-lb. bbls.; cornmeal, $2.25; split peas, $3 to $3.25; pot barley, $3 to $3.25.

PETROLEUM.

There is nothing new to be reported. We quote in 1 to 10 bbl. lots, imperial gallon, Toronto: Canadian, 15c.; carbon, safety, 17c.; Canadian water white, 17c.; American water white, 19c.; Pratt's astral, 18½c. in bulk.

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL.

HIDES—Are unchanged with cured quoted at 8¼ to 8½c. Dealers pay 7½c. for No. 1, 6½c. for No. 2, and 5½c. for No. 3.

CALFSKINS—Market is dull at 7 to 8c. for No. 1, and 5 to 6c for No. 2. Sheep and lambskins, $1.10 to $1.25.

WOOL— The market is quiet and prices unchanged. Combing fleece nominal at 21 to 22c. and rejections 17c. Pulled supers are 20 to 21c., and extras at 22 to 23c.

MARKET NOTES.

Sugar is ⅛c. per lb. dearer.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER.

ST. JOHN, N.B., April 8, 1897.

A fair general business is being done. Merchants find collections slow, and outside dealers meet their paper poorly. The delayed tariff each week becomes more of a disturbing factor in business. In grocery lines expectations are chiefly toward higher duties. While last week tea and sugar were largely bought, this week it has been tobacco. Large quantities have been entered here and large quantities bought duty paid. Liquor dealers are also entering large quantities of goods. As the time approaches there seems a growing feeling that no duty will, after all, be put on tea. Buyers have, however, protected themselves, and largely. Sellers of hops have tried to aid sales by suggesting a higher duty on their products. In dry goods, however, the buyers are holding off, expecting lower duties.

OIL—This for the present is hardly a matter of interest. In burning oil there is nothing doing except a bare hand-to-mouth business, while even buyers of lubricating, usually open to give large orders at this season, are inclined to await developments. Best American burning oil, 19½ to 20c.; Canadian, 18¼ to 19c.; prime, 16 to 17c.

SALT—While there has been a quiet week, large quantities are due here. The direct steamers are making their last trips between St. John and Liverpool and are bringing large quantities. One steamer, the Lake Ontario, it is said, will have the largest importation of the season, some 1,300 tons being expected. Large quantities will be shipped to Maine for use in the fisheries. In Canadian salt a much better demand is noted, particularly in butter and cheese salt in bulk in barrels. Box salt for table use, has a steady demand right through the year. We quote: Coarse, 43 to 45c.; Liverpool factory-filled, 90c. to $1; Canadian fine, 90c. to $1 per bag.; 5-lb. bags, in bbls., $3 to $3.25; 10-lb. bags, in bbls., $2.85 to $3; butter and cheese salt, bulk, $2.60 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c. each; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c. each; cartoons, $2 per case of 2 doz.

CANNED GOODS.—Peas and tomatoes are being sold here below what they could be replaced at, but market even here is gaining strength, and higher prices must follow. Buyers find it difficult to buy pineapples, and prices tend higher. Lobsters are out of sight at the high prices. Wholesale dealers are limited buyers. Apples have slow sale. Baked beans are receiving considerable attention, both plain and in tomato sauce, and prices rule low. We quote: Corn, 65 to 70c.; peas, 75 to 80c.; tomatoes, 80 to 85c.; gallon apples, $1.75 to $1.90; corned beef, Canadian, $2.25 to $2.35; American, 2-lb tins, $2.40 to $2.50; 1-lb tins, $1.30 to $1.50; oysters, 2's, $2 to $2.20; 1's, $1.40 to $1.50; peaches, 3's, Canadian, $2.75 to $3; 2's, $1.75 to $1.85; pineapple, $2.25 to $3; salmon, $1.25 to $1.40; lobsters, $2.20 to $2.25; haddies, $1.20 to $1.25; clams, $5 for 4 doz; chowder, $2.60 to $2.75 for 2 doz.; scallops, $5.50 for 4 doz.; Digby chickens, $1 per doz.; kippered herring, $1.10 per doz.

GREEN FRUIT—There is a good business. Cranberries, best quality, are becoming scarce, and a fair price is being obtained for a limited quantity. The past season has been an unsatisfactory one. Some extra quality California blood oranges have been received here, and, while high in price, they are better fruit than the regular shipments, and in noting price it should be remembered they come in whole boxes, not halves, as the others. California oranges, as noted last week, have been in rather less demand. Valencia oranges are selling freely. Bananas are quoted lower, and dealers are about to begin larger importations. During the early spring all coming have of course been crated. They will now be brought loose and green. Apples are dull, though for best stock, of which there is a little, fair prices are obtained. Strawberries keep high and sell slowly. Lemons tend high, owing to the new American duty, New York and Boston being the importing centres for this market. We quote : Messina lemons, $2.50 to $3.50; oranges, Valencia, $3.50 to $4.50 ; California oranges, $3.75 to $4.50 ; Blood oranges, $2.50 to $3 ; California bloods, $4 to $4.50; bananas, $1.50 to $2.25 ; apples, $1 to $3 per bbl.; cranberries, Cape Cod, $4 to $6.50 per bbl.; strawberries, 30c.

DRIED FRUIT—There is but a fair business, in spite of a tendency to higher prices. Dates move slowly. Prunes, particularly California, find a better sale. Raisins slow. Valencias are scarce. A few Valencia layers are still here. Currants have a good demand and price is well maintained. Market is well supplied with evaporated apples. Quality is good and prices low. Onions are rather higher and are now chiefly sold by the crate. Bermudas are expected this month. Peanuts, which have been low, are rather higher, and a further advance is looked for. We mark cocoanuts a little lower. Some consignments of Venezuela nuts are being received. Seeded muscatels move slow owing to price, but it is felt they have come to stay. We quote : Valencias, 5¼ to 6c. ; California L. M. 3-crown, 7¼ to 7¾c.; London layers, $1.75 to $2 ; currants, cases, 4¾ to 5c.; bbls., 4¼ to 4½c.; cartoons, cleaned, 7¼ to 7¾c.; bulk, cleaned, 6¼ to 6½c.; prunes, boxes, 5 to 10c.; dates, 4½ to 5c.; dried apples, 3 to 3½c.; evaporated apples, 4½ to 5c.; onions, $4 bbl.; ditto per crate, $1.50 to $1.60; cocoanuts, $3.25 to $3.50 per 100 lbs.; figs, 10 to 12c.; Sultana raisins, 7½ to 9c.; Valencias, layers, 6½ to 7c. ; Malaga loose muscatels, 6 to 6½c.; 4-crown L. M. Californias, 8¼ to 9c.; seeded muscatels, 1-lb. cartoons, 12 to 13c.

SUGAR—There is a fair sale. Merchants have large stocks and are pushing business. Refineries are firm and higher, and sugars are quoted almost as low out of store as ex-refinery. We quote : Granulated, 4⅛ to 4¼c.; yellows, 3¼ to 3¾c. ; Paris lump, 5¾ to 6c.; powdered, 5½ to 6c.

MOLASSES — Barbadoes molasses is reported firmer at the island. A large quantity will arrive in a few days, bought at the lowest price. The market is easy. Quality, fortunately, this year is better than last. Dealers are awaiting arrivals of new Porto

OUR STANDPOINT

In pushing our biscuits we admit there are already excellent brands on the market. We nevertheless have solid practical reasons for considering that are better, and this view is being convincingly confirmed by daily extensive and extending demands—the true touchstone of merit.

The Manufacturer, R. E. Jamieson, Ottawa

Rico. Many of our retailers will have nothing else for best grade. Some New Orleans still arrives, but during the summer months importations are much smaller than in the fall and winter. We quote: Barbadoes, 25 to 28c.; Porto Rico, 28 to 30c.; New Orleans, bbls., 26 to 28c.; Antigua, 25 to 26c.; syrup, 36 to 38c.; Nevis, 25 to 26c.

DAIRY PRODUCE—Eggs keep scarce, but do not get up much in price, though some have been sold at a slight advance. Retail and wholesale price is the same. There is, however, a sale in the best retail stores for hennery eggs, which keep well above the regular market. Butter is in rather better demand; quality is the chief factor. There is, however, little chance of much advance in prices. Cheese are scarce and high. A few new are here from Ontario, but it is rather early and quantity bought is small. We quote: Dairy tubs, 15 to 18c.; creamery, 20 to 21c.; prints, 20 to 22c.; eggs, 12 to 13c.; cheese, 11½ to 12c.

FISH—Business is dull and prices easier. There is no demand here for small dry cod. The sale is for medium fish. We quote prices rather lower this week. Pickled herring are all about of one kind. Lobsters are scarce, more so than for a number of seasons, and last year they were not plentiful. Smoked herring keep low. Frozen fish are out of the market. In gaspereaux the catch this week has been small, but a few warmer days will bring them along. We quote: Large cod, $3.25 to $3.30; medium, $2.75 to $3.85; pollock, $1.20 to $1.25; bay herring, $1.25 to $1.30 per half-bbl.; smoked, new, 5 to 6c.; shad, half-bbl., $4.50 to $5.50; boneless, 2½ to 8c.; bloaters, 50 to 65c. per box; kippered, 90c. per box; Barrington, $3.25 per bbl.; Shelburne, $3.50 per bbl.; lobsters, 4 to 12c. each.

PROVISIONS—This is one of the few lines showing strength. In clear pork we again mark the price up. At the quotation the market is steady. Mess pork keeps low, and it is good stock at the price asked. Smoked meats, particularly hams, are higher, and a further advance would not surprise anyone. Lard is firm. Beef is also marked up this week, Canadian, as well as American, having advanced. We quote: Clear pork, $15 to $16.50; mess pork, $12.50 to $13.50; plate beef, $12.50 to $13.50; hams, 12 to 13c.; rolls, 8 to 9c.; pure lard, 7 to 7½c.; compound, 6¼ to 7c.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL—Buyers and sellers in flour are still somewhat apart, though there is a rather better business doing this week. The price here is held firm. While oatmeal is higher, there is little if any change here, dealers being well stocked. Cornmeal keeps firm at the advance. At outside points Ontario mills compete with local mills, particularly where shipped in mixed cars. Oats are a little firmer, but hay is easier, some good Quebec hay being sold here at low prices. Middlings and bran keep high, and at the prices ruling sales are light. Beans are unchanged. Seeds sell more freely at firm prices. We quote: Manitoba flour, $5.15 to $5.25; best Ontario, $4.60 to $4.70; medium, $3.15 to $3.25; oatmeal, $3.15 to $3.25; cornmeal, $1.80 to $1.85; middlings, $15 to $16; bran, $14 to $15; hand-picked beans, 85 to 90c. per bush.; prime, 75 to 80c.; oats, 32 to 33c.; hay, $10.50 to $11.50; barley, $3; round peas, blue, $1.15; split peas, $3.10 to $3.25; yellow eye beans, $1.25 to $1.50.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

Jardine & Co. have put a second traveler on the road, Mr. J. E. Angerine.

Jardine & Co. received this week a shipment of fine quality California prunes in 25-lb. boxes.

Large quantities of tea still arrive, 2,000 packages landing this week ex steamer Stockholm City.

Messrs. Arthur Bowman and — Cauley, both with Geo. E. Tuckett & Sons Co., Ltd., have been in the city this week.

C. & E. Macmichael, whose business is particularly with the city retail stores, this week received some "Log Cabin" baked beans in tomato sauce.

Mr. Tilton, of Smith & Tilton, reported as sick in THE GROCER some four weeks ago, is still unwell and unable to attend to business, but he is improving.

W. F. Harrison & Co., wholesale grocers, suspended payment this week. The trade, by whom Mr. Harrison was held in high esteem, sympathise with the firm.

The smelt shipments from the northern counties of this province for this season were much smaller than last year. At Richibucto the shipments were 15 cars short.

One very active branch of business in St. John this week was that of millinery. The importance of this branch of business becomes more felt here from year to year. The number of milliners from outside points to the openings here was very large this year.

W. B. Bayley & Co., of Toronto, have secured a good share of the evaporated apple trade here this spring. Some three cars landing this week. Mr. Bayley's name on a box of apples carries with it a reputation for quality of which any man should be proud. Among the buyers were: Hall & Fairweather, Dearborn & Co., Vincent S. White & Co., W. Frank Hatheway, C. & E. Macmichael, and C. M. Bostwick & Co.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, April 8, 1897.

GROCERIES.

THE regular jobbing demand for staple groceries is not of a very lively character at present, but there has been speculative activity in the two leading staples of tea and sugar owing to the possibility of tariff changes necessitating an advance in values. In sugar the additional fact of a generally strong situation outside caused an advance of ⅛c. per pound last Friday. The demand for teas is confined chiefly to low grades, which, of course, will be influenced the most by the imposition of a duty. Molasses continues firm, and in other departments of the market there are few interesting facts to record.

SUGAR.

The firm feeling noted for some weeks back culminated last Friday in an advance at the refineries of ⅛c. per pound on both granulated and yellows. The strong tone is general everywhere and this, coupled with the expectations regarding the coming tariff changes, has the effect of stiffening holders all round. The refiners this week are not by any means free sellers at 4⅛ to 4¼c. for granulated and 3⅜ to 4c. for yellows, while the wholesale grocers have advanced their prices to 4⅜ to 4½c. on granulated and 3½ to 3⅝c. on yellows.

SYRUPS.

Demand for syrups is not brisk, but prices are unchanged, at 1⅜ to 1⅞c. per lb., as to quantity and quality.

MOLASSES.

The molasses market is firm and unchanged. with holders not urging sales on what stock they have on hand, and 25c. has been refused this week for round lots of old Barbadoes on spot, while jobbers are holding their stocks firm at 30c. Offers on new stock are equivalent to a cost of over 27c., in fact a bid of that figure was declined for a round lot of new. Cables from the Island quote the same figures, first cost, as noted last week.

RICE.

There is no change in rice, business continuing quiet. We quote: Crystal Japan, $5 to $5.25; standard B., $3.50; Patna, $4.50 to $5.25; Carolina, $6.75 to $7.75; choice Bermuda, $4, and Java kinds, $4.25.

SPICES.

Business in spices rules quiet, orders coming to hand being for small quantities. Prices generally are steady. We quote: Pure black pepper, 8 to 10c; pure white, 12 to 15c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 20 to 25c.; cloves, 15c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; do., best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 10 to 14c.; nutmegs, 35 to 75c.

COFFEE.

There has been some enquiry for Maracaibo and Rio coffee during the week, and several invoice lots of each changed hands during the week. Prices continue steady. We quote: Maracaibo, 15 to 20c.; Santos, 13 to 18c.; Rio, 13 to 16c.; Mocha, 24 to 26c., and Java, 22 to 27c.

TEAS.

The tea market has continued fairly active in a straight wholesale way in anticipation of the belief that a duty will be placed on tea. The demand has been chiefly for Japans around 15c., but Young Hysous and Ping Sueys have also moved freely, We quote: Young Hysons, 13 to 18c. for low grades, 25 to 28c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 12 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 15 to 21c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 16½ to 20c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for higher grades.

DRIED FRUIT.

Valencia raisins continue quiet and steady. We quote: Ordinary off-stalk, 5¼ to 5½c. fine, 5¾ to 6c.; and selected, 6¼ to 6½c., with layers, 6¾ to 7c.

Californias are firmly held under moderate supplies and a very steady feeling on the Coast. Prices are: 6½ to 6¾c. for 2-crown, 7 to 7½c. for 3-crown, and 8 to 8½c. for 4-crown.

Currants are steady and unchanged. We quote: Provincials, 4 to 4½c.; Filiatras, the same; Patras, 5½ to 6c., and Vostizzas, 6½ to 8c.

Prunes are a very small stock and prices are steadily held. We quote: French, 5 to 15c., as to grade; Austrian, 6 to 8c., and Californias, 10 to 11c. for 40 to 50's.; 9 to 10c. for 50 to 60's.; 8 to 9c. for 60 to 70's.; 7 to 8c. for 70 to 80's., and 6½c. for 90 to 100's.

There is no change in figs, which we quote at 8 to 12c., and dates at 5 to 6c.

CANNED GOODS.

The remarks made last week regarding the heavy feeling in vegetables, with the exception of tomatoes and all kinds of fish, may be repeated. We quote: Tomatoes, 75 to 85c.; corn, 60 to 90c.; peas, 80 to 90c.; beans, 70c. up; peaches, $1.50 to $1.80 for 2's; raspberries, $1.40 to $2; strawberries, $1.80 to $2.45, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.90 to $2.20; cherries, $2.40 to $2.45; apples, 3's, 85 to 90c.; gallons, $1.55 to $1.65; pumpkins, 75 to 85c.; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.40 to $1.45; "Clover Leaf," $1.35; "Lion," $1.37½ to $1.40; Lowe Inlet, $1.30, in tall tins; cohoes $1.05 to $1.15; canned mackerel, $1.25; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.20 to $1.25; 2's, $2.15 to $2.25; 6's, $6.75 to $7; 14's, $14 to $15; lobsters, $8.50 to $11 per case; French sardines, $10.25 to $11 extra brands; ordinary brands, $8 to $9; Canadian brands, $4.25.

GREEN FRUIT.

The fine weather has had an opposite effect on green fruit. Receipts of bananas have been extremely heavy, and prices are lower as a consequence. The advance in Valencia oranges abroad has had little effect on this market. Pineapples are scarce and firm. New asparagus is selling this week, also California celery. We quote: California oranges, $3 to $4.50 per box; Valencia oranges, $3.50 to $4 per box; lemons, $1.75 to $3 per box; cranberries, $1 to $4 per bbl.; Malaga grapes, $7.50 to $8; bananas, $1 to $2 per bunch; pineapples, 20 to 35c. each; asparagus, $4.50 to $5 per dozen; California celery, $1.25 per dozen; southern spinach, $2.50 to $3.

APPLES.

Apples have been dull and featureless this week, prices ranging from $1 to $1.75 per bbl., which is a decline from last week.

DRIED APPLES.

There is practically no sale for dried and evaporated apples, at 3c. and 3¾c., respectively.

FISH.

The pickled fish market continues dull and easy; in fact, prices are hardly quotable. In prepared fish quotations range about as follows: Haddies, 5 to 6c. for Lower Province, and 6 to 7c. for Portland; Yarmouth bloaters, 75 to 85c. per box, and kippered herrings, 85c. to $1 per box.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The egg market has declined under increased receipts, but, at this writing, rules steady at 9½ to 10c., according to the size of the lot, for new-laid stock.

MAPLE STOCK—There has been a good demand for maple syrup at 50 to 55c. per tin, while sugar sells at 7 to 7½c.

BEANS—There was no change in beans, business being slow at 55 to 60c. in car lots, and 65 to 70c. in a small way.

POTATOES—The market for potatoes was unchanged at 35 to 40c. per bag in car lots, and at 45 to 50c. in a jobbing way.

ONIONS—American buyers are in this market for Canadian onions at $2.25 to $2.50 for red, which are the only kind offering.

HOPS—Have ruled rather firm this week at 12 to 13c. for 1896 crop, and 5 to 6½c. for yearlings.

TALLOW—Rough tallow continues steady at 1½ to 2c., and rendered at 2½ to 3c.

PROVISIONS.

A fair trade was reported in smoked meats, but the demand for pork and lard continues of a limited character and prices rule steady. We quote: Canadian pork, $12 to $13 per bbl.; pure Canadian lard, in pails, 6 to 6½c., and compound refined at 4½ to 5c. per lb.; hams, 9½ to 11½c., and bacon, 10c. per lb.

FLOUR, MEAL AND FEED.

Manitoba millers report an active demand for flour from local and country buyers, and a number of car lots were sold at steady prices. In Ontario grades business was quiet. We quote: Winter wheat patents, $4.30 to $4.50; straight rollers, $3.90 to $4.10; and in bags, $1.90 to $1.95. Manitoba spring wheat patents, $4.60 to $4.80; and strong bakers', $4.25 to $4.50.

In feed a fair trade was done at steady prices. Manitoba bran sold at $12, and shorts at $13 per ton, including bags. Ontario bran brought $12, and shorts $13 to $13.50 per ton in bulk.

The demand for oatmeal continues slow, and the market rules quiet and about steady. Rolled oats are offering at $2.70 to $2.80 per barrel, and at $1.35 to $1.40 per bag.

BALED HAY.

The hay market has shown more firmness during the week, and prices are 50c. per ton dearer than at last writing. We quote: No. 1, $9.50 to $10 f.o.b on the cars here and No. 2, $8.50.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

The new feature in cheese has been the receipt of new fodder stock. The quantity so far is inconsiderable, and exporters have been buyers all the way from 10 to 10¼c.

Butter continues quiet, and receipts have been quite large for the time of the year during the past week. In consequence of this values are rather easier at 19½ to 20c., as to grade, with some special lots fetching 20½c. from local grocers.

MONTREAL NOTES.

Japan teas at 15c. or thereabouts continue in active enquiry this week.

Large receipts of fresh eggs have caused another decline of ½c. per dozen.

The price of refined sugar, both granulated and yellows, has been marked up ⅛c. per pound.

An advance of 1s. 6d. in the price of Valencia lemons abroad has not affected the spot quotation to any extent.

There is almost no sale for dried and evaporated apples owing to the large supplies of green fruit of all kinds.

Cable advices on Barbadoes molasses this week do not indicate any change in the first cost at the Islands, but the tone is firm at the recent advance.

The general feeling among the retail merchants in Montreal at the present time is that there will be a boom in business as soon as the tariff question is settled.

HALIFAX TRADE GOSSIP.

COLD storage is now assured. A contract has been entered into for the erection of a building and plant on the property of the Halifax Graving Dock Co. The price is $35,000. The Canadian Atlantic Cold Storage Co. is the name of the concern interested. It is incorporated by the Provincial Government, with an authorized capital of $500,000, in 8,000 preference shares at $50 each and 2,000 ordinary shares at $50 each. The preference shares are entitled to a cumulative preferential dividend of 6 per cent. per annum and one-half the surplus profits. The directors are: Geo. E. Boak, fish merchant; Thos. Ritchie, barrister; J. C. Mackintosh, banker; J. W. Bigelow, fruit grower, and William Clarke, promoter.

R. T. Craig & Co., grocers, are preparing to build at Truro a handsome store. It will be three storeys high.

Nova Scotia is now in the heat of a local election, and as every man in Nova Scotia is a politician, somebody is neglecting his business. Trade is, consequently, dull. It is generally dull at this season, anyway, but the campaign is not improving matters. Several heavy bills of sales have been recorded during the past few days, which do not put a very bright face on the prospects.

Apples continue to go forward from the Annapolis Valley to the English market. Poor stocks are about used up and good stocks cannot be had for less than $2 per bbl. from jobbers.

There have been some arrivals of molasses during the past few days, principally to G. P. Mitchell & Sons. Trade remains quiet. Quotations are: Antigua, 24c.; St. Croix, 25c.; Porto Rico, 29 to 32c.; Trinidad, 26c.; Barbadoes, 26c.: Demerara, 39c.; St. Kitts, 22 to 25c.

The local fish market is looking well. One of the large exporting firms showed THE GROCER a cable order worth $10,000, which in itself is a sign of improvement. Quotations are: Dry cod, from vessels, tol quol, shore, prime, $2.50 to $3.50; small bank, $2.50 to $2.75; large do, $3 to $3.25; bay, $2.25 to $2.50; Labrador, $2.50; haddock, $1.75 to $2; hake, $1.75; pollock, $1.75; shore cod, from store, large, hard, $4 to $4.50; herring, Bay of Islands, split, No. 1, $1.50; Labrador, No. 1, $6; do, No. 2, $4; shore, No. 1, large, split, fat, $3.25 to $4; alewives, No. 1, $2.75; mackerel, No. 1, $15.50; No. 2, $13.50; No. 3, $7; salmon, No. 1, $13; No. 3, large, $11; No. 3, small, $9.

Eggs are still low and large consignments are being received. Case lots sell as low as 9c.

Cheese remains very firm at 12½ to 13c.

Butter is in fair demand, but the quotation varies from day to day.

Flour and all feedstuffs are quiet. Quotations remain unchanged as follows: Hungarian patent, Manitoban, $5.30 to to $5.40; Manitoba strong bakers', $4.90 to $5; Canadian pastry, $4.80 to $5; 75 p. c. roller patents, $4.40 to $4.50; 80 do, $4.30 to $4.40; 90 do, $4.20 to $4.30; straight, $4.15 to $4.25; extra, $3.90 to $4.

The sugar market is very firm. The refinery has been very busy of late, as orders are coming in more freely than for some months. Quotations are: Yellow "C," 3⅜c.; yellow "X C," 3⅛c.; standard, 3½c.; extra "C," 3⅝c.; standard "A," 3¾c.; granulated, 4¼c.; pulverized, 6c.; cut loaf, 6c.

MANITOBA MARKETS.

WINNIPEG, April 8, 1897.

ROADS are still in bad condition and trade is still dull. There is some excitement as to changes in tariff, and there is no doubt that a speedy settlement of the tariff will be better for trade. The dangers of a flood are not yet over, but they lessen with every passing day. The weather has been warm, without rain, and the snow has disappeared with great rapidity. The news of the floods to the south has caused some uneasiness, but the water is lowering there by absorption, and, unless the spring rains are very heavy, it is not likely that the flood will reach as far north as Winnipeg. There is no noticeable change in prices since last week. Sugar has risen ⅛c. since last week. Country produce, such as butter and eggs, is still very short, and cheese is nil. Syrup, cigars, teas, dried fruits and canned goods, same as last week.

SUGAR—⅛c. advance.

FISH—Jobbing prices: Finnan haddies, 8c. per lb.; whitefish, 4 to 5c.; Lake Superior trout, 9c.; salmon, 12c.; bloaters, $1.10 to $1.40 per box; red herrings, 20c. per box; boneless fish, 5c. per lb.

BUTTER—Supply very limited, no creamery offering, first-class dairy selling at 18c., and supply not equal to demand.

EGGS—Supply still short, very small shipments coming in from Manitoba; price, 17c.

GREEN FRUITS—Apples are coming in freely from the east, but do not keep well, and good apples bring full prices. Fruits from the south have been interrupted by the recent flood, but are coming in again now, though somewhat uncertain. We quote: Apples, $3.75 to $4 for choice stock, others, $3 to $3.50. Oranges, navels, $4.50 to $4.65 per box; seedlings, $3.50 to $4; Messina lemons, $4.50 to $5; bananas, $2.50 to $3 per bunch.

OATMEAL—Market easy. Rolled oats, 80-lb. sacks, $1.60; Standard, $1.85; granulated, $1.90 in 98-lb. sacks; rolled wheat, 80-lb. sacks, $1.60.

CURED MEATS—Market very firm, with prices unchanged. Hams, assorted sizes, 10 to 10½c.; bacon, bellies, 10 to 10½c.; backs, 9 to 9½c.; short, spiced rolls, 7 to 7½c.; shoulders, 6 to 6½c.

LARD—Firm and unchanged. Prices are: Pure, $1.55 to $1.60 for 20-lb. pails, and $5.50 for 50-lb. pails; pure leaf lard, 3, 5 and 10-lb. tins, $5.75 per case of 60 pounds.

CRANBERRIES.

When the cranberry crops were being harvested, in September and October, there were many statements by growers of short yields, and predictions of very high prices for this article in the winter. Nevertheless the general crop turned out to be a good one, and average prices for this wholesome and delicious fruit have been the lowest on record. The growers who held back their best-keeping berries for the late market are realizing lower figures than could have been obtained in the fall, and many crops have brought less than the cost of harvesting and marketing them.

The New Jersey growers claim their mottled colored berries make better flavored sauce than the Cape Cods, which run dark. They had a very moderate crop, compared with the Cape Cods, but there are still plenty on the market, and wholesale prices of fine stock are now only $1 per bushel crate, and $3.25 per barrel, or about 3½c. per quart. Choice Cape Cods sell from $1 to $2 per barrel higher. These figures leave growers no profit whatever, but seem to be in keeping with many other agricultural products, owing to hard times.—Retail Grocers' Advocate.

THOS. DOHERTY & CO.

The sale of teas, coffees and fixtures of the firm of Thos. Doherty & Co. took place Friday at 134 McGill street, Montreal. The sale was largely attended, and the prices realized were good. In fact, many lines realized more than cost. The total sales amounted to $11,000. The goods consisted of 63 lots of teas, 11 lots of coffees and a quantity of vinegar, besides the store fixtures and book debts. It took the better part of four hours to dispose of the entire stock, which inventoried between $14,000 and $15,000. The range of prices were as follows: Cougous, 7 to 16c.; Ceylons, 11 to 26¾c.; Gunpowders, 11 to 16¾c.; Young Hysons, 7¾ to 14c.; Japans, 8½ to 22½c.; and coffee, 5¼ to 18c. Fraser Bros. acted as auctioneers.

POOR CANNED GOODS.

I HAVE been deceived so often of late by poor canned goods that I am tempted to write an article for The Grocery World on the subject. I don't know whether I have been unusually unfortunate necessarily, but unless I have there is a power of bad canned goods on the market. I have come to the conclusion that grocers don't taste the canned goods they buy. I know the grocer who has been serving me don't, for he told me so. It may have been rather presumptuous for me to tell a grocer how to conduct his business, but I told him that he ought to know what he was selling, and from henceforth I'll warrant he will sample every lot of canned goods he buys.

My experience justifies the statement that there is more uncertainty about buying canned goods than almost anything else. The other day I bought a small can of cherries. I paid 20c. for them, which is rather a good price, I think, but still I don't object to paying it if the fruit is fit to eat. The cherries were labeled, "White Ox-Heart Cherries," and somebody named Miller, of Baltimore, Md., was the manufacturer. Well, I never tasted poorer cherries in my life. They were poor quality cherries to begin with, and were canned in water. They were tasteless and insipid, not even sweet. I piled sugar on them and doctored them up, but when I got through they were just as cheap and poor as ever.

I complained to the grocer who sold them, and he didn't know anything about it. He said he hadn't tasted them before he bought them, but had bought them of a dealer whom he had confidence in. He will take more pains in buying canned goods in the future, I guess. The upshot of the whole matter is, that when I ask for anything in the canned goods line in the future, I shall be very careful to see that somebody besides Mr. Miller has put it up. Why wouldn't it be a good idea for grocers to have a can of such articles as this open, with some of the contents out in a dish, so that people could taste it for themselves?—Mrs. R. K. T. in Grocery World.

MR. HOWSE'S EASTERN TRIP.

A. E. Howse, one of Nicola, B.C.'s, enterprising merchants, is making a few months' trip to Ontario, where he will rejoin his wife and family, who have been residing in Hamilton visiting friends during the winter. Mr. Howse expects to return to British Columbia about the first of May, when he will take back his family, except Master Fred, who will take a course in Trinity College, Port Hope, and finally graduate as a mining engineer. Mr. J. H. Duncan, who has been in Hamilton and other eastern points for two months visiting relatives, has returned to Nicola. Mr. Duncan looks as though his trip agreed with him. He will resume his former position as manager of Mr. Howse's mercantile establishment, and has been given full power to transact all business in connection with the firm during Mr. Howse's absence.

NEVER ADVERTISE A COMPETITOR.

The president of the Americus (Ga.) Grocery Company contributes the following to The Interstate Grocer:

"Every Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock they are all in our office; we then give them prices for the following week, and figure up their profits for the preceding week. We find this plan a good one, as they are all present, and one dislikes to see the other "out-profit" him. We unhesitatingly tell them the cost of everything we sell, in order to get them to work on the goods that bear us the best profit. We urge them, when a party buys a bale of meat or a barrel of sugar, to do their best to put in something that bears a profit to bring up the average. They are c rried through our stock of goods every week, and if we find that any article is accumulating, or bids fair to be hard stock, those are the goods they are told to work on; consequently, out of a stock of about $40,000, we do not believe that we have $100 in hard stock. We try to impress the fact on them that they represent as good a grocery house, in every respect, as there is in existence, barring none, and the writer has talked this so long to the men until he actually believes it himself.

"We tell them never to mention a competitor's name; never say anything good of them, for it may induce someone to trade with them who have never done so before; never say anything bad of them, for it would only be hurting us. We try to impress upon them the fact that the jobber who does not realize an average profit of 10 per cent. is of short duration. We are continually warning them that every rebate or allowance given is cutting us out of profits that are legitimately ours."

FROST IN CALIFORNIA.

Letters from Fresno, Cal., state that many vineyards have been put back by frost. The thermometer, according to some reports, went down to 2 degrees. The crops of peaches, apricots and almonds are reported to have been damaged by the frost, but later accounts will have to be waited for to determine just how much each variety has been affected. Almonds, it is said, have suffered most, and apricots and peaches are said to have sustained much damage.

THE STRAWBERRY SITUATION.

FLORIDA strawberry growers have had rather an unfavorable season this year owing to the continued unfavorable weather. Berries have been seriously injured from time to time, and present indications are that the season will close earlier than usual; in fact, present arrivals are now moderate, and the quality usually below the standard for this time of year. A large crop is promised from Charleston, and stock is just commencing to arrive. The first lot of Lady Thompsons received in ice boxes arrived last week, and realized 75c. per quart; the berries were of very fine quality, and realized that extreme figure more because they were the first shipments than because they were actually worth it. Small lots have arrived in open crates, and such have not been salable above 20 to 40c. per quart.

The transportation service has been very much improved this season, particularly between here and Florida. All-rail refrigerator cars are now available for all shippers, and when they arrive here on time the berries are usually in good shape; there has been some irregularity, however, in their arrival, they getting in often a day late, and when such is the case, the berries have usually been unattractive and poor, and salable only at comparatively low figures.

A new feature this season has been the refrigerator car express service; this has brought the berries from Florida to New York in 36 hours, practically laying the berries down in this market 48 hours from the time they were picked; these cars have brought the fruit in in a very fine condition, fresh looking, and almost equal to fresh picked berries. The service costs only a trifle more and the transportation charge is considered moderate in view of the distance, and is very satisfactory to both shippers and receivers. Many shippers have continued to use the small ice boxes, sending them by freight, and berries shipped this way have arrived in rather irregular condition, some coming in very good, while others were defective and worth comparatively little; these latter carriers, however, are still considered a practical shipping package, they being particularly advantageous to the smaller shippers.

Arrivals from Charleston will steadily increase now that stock has appeared, and as soon as the supply becomes large enough to equal buyers' wants, the demand for Florida berries will naturally decrease, as the Charleston offerings are usually of larger and better variety than are grown in Florida, and the fact that the distance is considerably nearer makes the berries arrive in a fresher and better condition, so that buyers will not handle the Florida berries except at a much lower range of prices. THE GENUINE Costs Less Than the Imitation.

Every successful company has a lot of cheap and unscrupulous imitators. The goods they offer are usually just about as near the models they attempt to copy as the statements they make are near the truth.

Manifolding Autographic No. 225—$12.

The National Cash Register Company has been doing business in Canada for ten years. It maintains offices at 6 Rossin Block, King Street, W., Toronto; 1685 Notre Dame Street, Montreal, and in Vancouver, British Columbia.

Detail Adder No. 13—$60.

It makes 90 kinds of cash registers, ranging in price from $10 to $375. It sells second-hand National and other registers at the lowest prices. It will make and sell any kind of a cash register for less money than any other concern in the world.

Do not be deceived. When a cash register is advertised as "just as good as the National," that ought to be sufficient reason for buying a National, particularly when you can get the original National for less money than the imitation.

Call at one of the addresses above named, and see what we can do for you.

ILLINOIS DEPARTMENT STORE BILL.

THE "business men's bill" which is before the Illinois Legislature is entitled "An Act Relating to the Trade and Commerce of the State of Illinois." In its preamble the bill declares that there is a widespread and general depression in industrial and business circles caused by the maintenance of departmental stores where minors of both sexes are employed, displacing adults, at low and insufficient wages. The department stores, it is charged, by their methods of doing business perpetrate fraud by misleading and deceiving the public; tend to paralyse business of merchants and manufacturers, pauperise labor, cause business and residence property to become vacant, depreciate values, withdraw personal property from taxation, and make the burdens of government heavier on the many for the benefit of the few. To remedy these wrongs and for the purpose of regulating, prohibiting, taxing, licensing, the bill is proposed. It is to be operative in cities of not less than 10,000 population, and it gives a classification, grouping and grading which, its friends say, is the work of experts in the several lines.

Division one gives seventy-four classes of merchandise; division two gives twelve groups, including the classes, and division three presents a graded plan of the classes of goods. Section 2 of the bill provides that after the taking of effect of the Act no store, building or premises shall be used or occupied by any person or unit of management for the sale of goods at wholesale or retail where other goods in a separate class or division or group as specified by the Act are kept for sale. Any premises so used shall be deemed a public nuisance. It is made possible for a store to carry more than one line under what is termed a graded store plan, but a license must be taken out for this each year, and the license fee shall not be less than $25 a year, and the control of these shall be under the same authorities as now in different communities have the dram shop law under their jurisdiction.

Violations of the Act are punishable by a fine of not less than $5 nor more than $200 for each day, and confinement in the county jail for not less than one day nor more than one year. Bond in the sum of $5,000 is required from a violator to reopen his place, conditioned that he will not again violate the law and that he will pay the fines and damages assessed against him. Any shift or device to evade the law is punishable, but nothing in the provision of the Act is to be deemed as affecting manufacturing, warehouses, auctioneers, pawnbrokers or salvage establishments. Proprietors of stores must furnish to the city officials in writing under oath at such times as may be requested statements setting forth the classes of goods kept for sale, and failure to comply shall subject the offender to a fine of $5 for each offence. The bill closes: "Whereas an emergency exists, therefore this Act shall be in force immediately after the passage." —Chicago Grocer.

BROWNING'S MESSAGE TO THE WORLD.

If then I might venture to try to sum up in a sentence the main lessons of Robert Browning's life and poetry, it would be somewhat thus: Live out truly, nobly, bravely, wisely, happily, your human life, as a human life, not as a supernatural life, for you are a man, and not an angel; not as a sensual life, for you are a man, and not a brute; not as a wicked life, for you are a man, and not a demon; not as a frivolous life, for you are a man, and not an insect.

Live each day the true life of a man; to-day's not yesterday's life only, lest you should become a murmurer; nor to-morrow's life only, lest you become a visionary; but the life of happy yesterdays and confident to-morrows—the life of to-day unwounded by the particular arrows of yesterday, and undarkened by the possible cloudland of to-morrow.

Life is indeed a mystery, but it was God who gave it, in a world "wrapped round with sweet air, and bathed in sunshine and abounding with knowledge, and a ray of eternal light falls upon it even here, and that light shall wholly transfigure it beyond the grave."—Dean Farrar, in Review of Reviews.

HOW A TEA TRADE MAY BE LOST.

A lady came into the store of a 2nd Ave. grocer last week and enquired of the boss, whether he had changed his English breakfast tea, or if he had received a new lot. The tea is not good at all, it is like water she said. The grocer was astonished, he had not changed his tea at all, and he was very particular about the quality. He told the lady to bring it back and let him look at it. Examining the returned tea he found that it was a common, cheap Oolong. "Who of you boys gave the lady this tea for English breakfast?" The clerk, who had waited on her, apologized and said, "The can of English breakfast tea was just empty and so I gave her out of the next can." The grocer exchanged the tea and did not lose the customer; but this should teach the boys a lesson to keep the cans filled, and not substitute any other quality if the can is empty. Don't be afraid of the little trouble to get down a chest and open it. Work for the boss' interest.—Retail Grocers' Advocate.

GIVING ACCURATE INFORMATION.

The habit of giving accurate information is a rare and valuable one. Not one person in ten can give definite, clear directions on any stated subject of which they have full knowledge. Yet this is a habit which successful business men are compelled to acquire. The trained specialist in any branch of art or science is chiefly valuable because he has learned to crystalize his information and reduce it from vaporous theory to something that can be made practical. From their earliest childhood, children can be taught to be exact and clear. Indefiniteness is a crying fault of youth. It is an easy thing to get into slipshod habits of thought and work. Such work may be brilliant, but unless work is directed toward a definite purpose it is valueless. Thought that appears in brilliant flashes is as useless for guidance as the light of a jack-o'-lantern. A beacon-light must be steady and certain. The value of a fixed, definite purpose in life, steadily adhered to, cannot be overestimated. It is the secret of success, and so fully is this recognized that genius has been defined merely as the power of persistence. He who has ability to maintain a fixed purpose in spite of disappointments and apparent failures, must, in the end, win, if he is guided by honor and truth. Exact habits are best formed in youth. It is next to impossible for a man who has grown up in happy-go-lucky habits of work to turn back and learn to be exact. —Geyer's Stationer.

WHY MERCHANTS FAIL.

"Six-tenths of the failures in business result from inexperience, extravagance and neglect; two-tenths from natural dishonesty; one-tenth from speculation, and one-tenth from misfortune."

If a merchant has an automatic and perfect check on all the transactions between his clerks and his customers; if he has time to watch the other details of his business; if he systemizes his business and stops all the little leaks, and if he knows what is going wrong, and is consequently able to stop it, he should not fail from any of the above causes.

The National Cash Register Company, of Dayton, Ohio, has devised systems for all kinds of retail stores, and are designed to give the retail merchant such a check on his business. A description of these systems may be had upon application.

If you will send your name, address, business, number of clerks employed, percentage of business done on credit, and stating whether or not you employ a cashier, to Department "P," The National Cash Register Company, Dayton, Ohio, U.S.A., they will send you in return a handsomely printed description of a system used in stores like yours.

MACHINE-MADE TEA IN THE STATES.

DURING a recent trip to Cincinnati, Ohio, covering ten days, the writer was surprised to find that wherever tea was served it proved to be Ceylon or India tea, a fact indicative of the phenomenal progress made in their introduction. When consideration is given to the fact that China monopolized the tea markets of the United States for over 100 years, and that Japan contributed over 40 per cent. of the supply since 1875, then we realize the tremendous prejudice which the advocates of machine-made tea have to overcome, and are the better prepared to estimate and appreciate the rapid hold gained for machine-made tea in this country within two years. In 1894 the imports were 4,700,000 pounds; in 1896, 9,500,000 pounds—a gain of over 100 per cent.

No one can successfully deny that the bulk of the importations of China and Japan tea have been of medium and low grade, with a large volume of trash. The law just passed regulating importations of tea will check the imports of poor and trashy tea, and bring the attention of consumers more and more to a consideration of the merits of Ceylon and India tea.

It has been difficult to impress upon consumers that a much less quantity of machine-made tea is required to make a satisfactory infusion than of China and Japan sorts, but this lesson they are acquiring rapidly, and thus discovering the economical advantages arising from the use of Ceylon and India growths, besides becoming wedded to their flavor. None are more enthusiastic advocates of British-grown tea than many who a few years ago discredited them in many ways.

A few days ago an importer, in commenting upon the remarkable increase in direct shipments of tea from Ceylon to America—viz., 64,966 pounds from January 1 to 26 of this year, against 10,415 pounds for the same time in 1895—said: "That is nothing to what it will be in a few years hence, when they will have this market."

We do not, however, entertain the idea that the teas of China and Japan will be entirely displaced, but we do believe that the enterprise, push, pluck, and perseverance of the Ceylon and India tea growers in seeking a market here will result in such an increase in the use of tea as a beverage that machine-made teas will dispute for first place with China. This is, however, a very much more conservative view than many American dealers entertain.—American Grocer.

REDUCED COST OF PRODUCTION.

On an average a dozen cans of staple goods cost less to-day than the packer paid for the empty cans a generation ago; again, a dozen cans of goods during the past year at the lowest price cost scarcely more than half of what the same goods sold for five years ago. The staple goods, such as corn, tomatoes, peaches and peas, cost the housewife less in the hermetically sealed cans than the same quantity of the fresh product in the season.

The science of operating the canned goods business successfully lies therefore with the packer in obtaining the advantages that permit this competition. Years ago we pointed out that when a housewife can buy as much beans for 20 cents as she could get in cans for 50 cents cooked there was no possibility of such articles selling well in cans. Since then pea hullers and other machines have come largely into use, and as a result soaked peas have been virtually driven from the market by the low price of the greener article. With cans reduced to their present low price, with perfected machinery for almost every operation in the packing house and the costly element of labor dispensed with, with larger operations on a smaller capital, with cleaner methods and more precision, the canned goods pack of 1897 should start in free of many handicaps maintained in the past.—Baltimore Trade.

DO NOT BE DECEIVED

By the misleading advertisements of the National Cash Register Co., of Dayton, Ohio, as they have no patent in Canada, and any person has a right to manufacture and sell the National Cash Register in Canada.

The HAMILTON BRASS MFG. CO., LTD., manufacture all kinds of Cash Registers as manufactured by the National Cash Register Co., and will guarantee protection to every purchaser and user of the Hamilton Cash Register.

When the National Cash Register Co.'s Agent is quoting prices to you, get a description in writing and the number of the Register he is quoting you prices on, then send the number of the Register with the description to the Hamilton Brass Mfg. Co., and they will supply you with the same Register in every respect, from $10 to $100 less than the price quoted you by the National Cash Register Co.'s Agent.

The following are a few of the facts why the Hamilton Brass Mfg. Co. can manufacture and sell the National Cash Register as made in Hamilton, Ont., and called the "HAMILTON" at a lower price than the National Cash Register Co.:

1st. There is no patent in Canada.

2nd. No royalty to pay.

3rd. No duty to pay.

4th. No office rents at Toronto, Montreal, and other places to pay.

5th. No high salaries to President, Vice-Pres. and Sec.-Treas. to pay.

6th. We are satisfied with a fair profit.

7th. We guarantee the very best material and workmanship.

8th. We are taking out every few days total-adding National Cash Registers and replacing them with the HAMILTON Cash Registers.

9th. We have only been manufacturing Cash Registers about one year, and have made and sold over 300 in that time.

10th. We are Canadian manufacturers, with Canadian capital and Canadian labor.

11th. The money paid for a HAMILTON Cash Register remains in Canada, and the Canadian merchants get the benefit of it.

12th. If you pay your money for a National Cash Register made in the United States, the money paid for it is sent to the United States, and the Canadians do not get one cent of it.

13th. The National Cash Register Co. guarantee their Registers for two years only, while the Hamilton Brass Mfg. Co., Ltd., guarantee theirs for five years.

The following is a description of the National Cash Register Co.'s number 13 and 14, and is a copy of their printed description of same.

SUCCESS A MATTER OF WILL.

A PHYSICIAN of New York, in a letter on "Cultivation of the Faculties," said, in part:

Most people have accepted as a fact that when we make our advent into this world "the die is cast," as far as our hereditary endowment, capabilities and natural tendencies are concerned. They have accepted these ideas as final judgment, little dreaming to what extent everything may be modified by cultivation. The demonstrations of Rechard, of London, and others show that the action of the faculties may be increased or diminished by concentrated will and attention and thorough stimulation or depression of certain nerve centres. The experiments were at first confined principally to feeble-minded children and the aged, and the results were gratifying in the extreme. Since the facts have become more generally known all classes of persons have been experimented upon for the cultivation of special faculties and for general improvement. Our highest attainments are accomplished through voluntary control of the nervous system. The nerves are the natural conductors of nervous energy that is generated in the brain and distributed to every faculty and organ and is essential to all physical movements and to the discharge of their office in the human economy. It is the creative power of all effort, the power that makes the genius, that creates ideas, gives to the painter's hand its skill, and enables the sculptor to feel the emotions that live in the stone.

How foolish, then, for a man—and especially a young man—to voluntarily indulge in a diet or in pleasures which weaken the will. Every act in life has some influence upon the will, either to strengthen or weaken its action and power.

A man is strong or weak as he is master of himself. The late eminent Dr. Fothergill said: "It is downright hard, self-imposed work which makes the complete man. A boy can learn tasks, but to do that is not enough; when a man believes that knowledge is power, then he feels he can never have enough of it."

It is well to remember that every triumph of the will augments its power, and therefore many a man with minor endowments gets ahead of one whose natural gifts are stronger. The man or boy destined to success will show it all along the pathway in the manifestation of will-power. We may set two boys to dusting a shelf of goods or books. The one will do the work in a mechanical way; the other will seek to gain knowledge, and by the time he is through will know much about the goods he has dusted. Carrying the same principle through life will enable the seeker for knowledge to write "Success," where the other will be labeled "A Failure."

Horace Greeley said truly: "That is the darkest way in a man's career when he first thinks there is an easier way of getting a dollar than squarely earning it."—American Grocer.

A VINEGAR SPRING.

A Memphis newspaper is responsible for spreading broadcast information of the discovery of a wonderful vinegar spring by a man named Bennett, in Ohio county, Tenn.

The discovery was made six months ago, but Bennett, being a cute one, kept the matter a profound secret until he could get sufficient capital interested in order to make its development assured. He was successful in securing the aid of a multi-millionaire of London and the organization of a company is complete.

It is proposed by this company to make a garden spot of several thousand acres of the fine land that surrounds this spring, and plant the whole of it in cucumbers. The vines will be trained to run in trenches between the rows of hills, and when about half grown, by means of irrigation, the vinegar from this spring will be turned through the trenches and kept on the vines until the cucumbers are grown, when it will be turned off and the finest of the pickles will be gathered and barreled for shipment.

The company will then buy 5,000 head of hogs to eat the pickles refused for shipment and to wade in the vinegar marsh, so that at time of slaughter they will not only ship bacon, shoulders, hams, etc., but can fill all orders for pickled pigs' feet on short notice. They will sell vinegar only in five-barrel lots.

THIS ENGRAVING is from a photograph of a portion of the Allison Ranch Hydraulic Mining Company's benches of gravel, showing Miners at work on the bed of the Tulameen at low water by means of wing dams. This mode of mining is of course very primitive and expensive and the gravel must be very rich to make it pay, as after the wing dam is built in the river the gravel has to be shovelled into sluice boxes and washed through. The fact that this class of mining has been carried on for thirty-five years in the immediate vicinity of the Company's properties proves the existence of Gold in the gravel in paying quantities.

PRICES OF CANADIAN COTTONS.

One line, that of "A" shirtings, has dropped in price about 8 per cent., but otherwise there is no change for the present in the list. Purchases from the mills have been made for fall on the understanding that there will be no drop, and it is claimed that Canadian cottons will go no lower, while the States prices will stiffen under the new tariff. Cotton buyers say they do not expect lower duties even. One man, a friend of the present Ministers, assured The Review that the cotton tariff would stand. When asked how the supporters of the Government who anticipated lower duties would like this, he retorted that the Dingley tariff had changed the situation entirely.—Dry Goods Review.

GALOPS CANAL

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS.

SEALED TENDERS ADDRESSED TO THE UNdersigned, and endorsed "Tender for the Cardinal Section of the Galops Canal," will he received at this office until 16 o'clock on Saturday the 17th day of April, 1897 for the works connected with the enlargement of the Galops Canal.

Plans and specifications of the work can he seen on and after the 31st day of March, 1897, at the office of the Chief Engineer of the Department of Railways and Canals, Ottawa, and at the Engineer's office at Cornwall. Printed forms of tender can also he obtained at the places mentioned.

In the case of firms there must be attached to the tender the actual signatures of the full name, the nature of the occupation and residence of each member of the same, and further, an accepted bank cheque for the sum of $150,000 must accompany the tender. This accepted bank cheque must he endorsed over to the Minister of Railways and Canals, and will he forfeited if the party tendering declines entering into contract for the work at the rates and on the terms stated in the offer submitted.

The accepted bank cheque thus sent in will he returned to the respectives parties whose tenders are not accepted.

The Department does not hind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

Contractors are specially notified that the condition requiring the works to he wholly completed hy the 31st day of January, A.D. 1899, will he rigidly enforced and all penalties for delay exacted.

By order,
J. H. BALDERSON,
Secretary.

Department of Railways and Canals,

The Question is

Are you satisfied with the quality of the Starch you are selling? Are your customers satisfied with the quality of the Starch they are buying? If not, perhaps a trial of our goods would create a better feeling on both sides of the counter.

No woman will use poor Starch in preference to good Starch. That's the reason why a trial always leads to constant use of

There are reasons for it.

FOR WHAT ?

For the steadily increasing sales of Brantford Starch throughout the Dominion, from Halifax in the East to Vancouver in the West.

WHAT ARE THE REASONS ?

1. We look after the quality closely.
2. We put up our Starch in very attractive packages.
3. We ship promptly immediately on receipt of order.

Our sales for the month of March considerably more than doubled the sales of the corresponding month of last year.

HOW REFINED SUGAR IS PRODUCED.

RAW sugar contains impurities, which are evident in its color, odor and taste, and the process of refining it is not a simple one. Sugar is grown the world over, and each particular region packs its product in a distinctively native fashion. From Java it comes in baskets, from Cuba in coarse brown bags, Jamaica ships it in bulky hogsheads, and from other sections the raw product comes in matting, barrels and coarse canvas. Typical American sugar refineries are practically great encampments. They are to be found in all the big cities along the sea coasts. They generally embrace three to seven enormous buildings, in which several thousands of workmen are employed. The long wharves are heaped with mounds of raw sugar, which lines of busy workmen bear into the warehouses. The method of refining sugar, or rendering the raw product pure and fit for consumption, embraces more than a dozen processes, each of which requires special machinery.

To separate the gross impurities from the raw product various ingredients, such as sand and coloring matters, are removed from the sugar solution by means of the filter and charcoal, and then the sugar itself is separated by crystallization and machinery from the rest of the impurities which remain in the solution.

First the yellow substance is inspected by clever chemists, who weigh and test it. Then it is dumped into vats on the ground floor and set to boiling.

The saccharine solution next receives a shock, for great pumps seize upon it without warning and send the liquid roaring up for 150 feet to the topmost floor of the building, where other vats receive it. These have networks of steam coils in their bottoms, which furnish the heat to boil the impure liquid to a higher pitch.

In these vats, which are about a dozen in number, the boiling lasts for a quarter of an hour, and here the solution is prepared for the first filtering process, which is to remove the grosser impurities.

Troughs shoot the liquid down to the floor below, where it is caught in the "bag" filters, which are long, pipe-like sacks. They hang from iron troughs, and the liquid, in passing through the material of which they are woven, is deprived of what are termed "mechanical" impurities, which would be apt to leave a sediment.

The vacuum pans, meanwhile, have discharged their crystallized contents into great coolers. There still remains some moisture in the mass of sugar, and it is necesssary to remove it. The process of its removal is considered one of the most interesting in the sugar house. Sugar is led from the coolers above into the immense centrifugals, hollow cylinders which taper toward the bottom. Laborers employed in the sugar refineries are driven by the moist sweetness pervading the atmosphere to be great lovers of bitter things. They are inordinate consumers of beer, with which their employers often provide them.

The bag filters, which hang through this floor, drain their contents into troughs on the floor beneath them. Then the troughs distribute the liquid to storage tanks on the next floor.

Although the so-called "mechanical" impurities are now removed, there remain many insidious ingredients of which it is very difficult to free the liquid. The substance which chemists find most efficacious for the purpose is termed "boneblack." As its name implies, boneblack is manufactured from burned bones. The bones are first thoroughly boiled, in order to extract the fatty substance from them. They are then burned to free them of ammonia, and finally ground. Many tons of boneblack are necessary to the process, but the substance once used is readily cleansed, when it is in condition to perform its office of clarification over again.

On each floor samples are taken of the liquid in its different stages and carefully tested, in order to note its improved condition. These samples are preserved in cases. The receptacles for boneblack are immense airtight pans, each of which holds about 50,000 pounds of the substance. These pans are closed, and the stream of liquid sugar is run into them. The mass penetrates the filter—so slowly, indeed, that a flow of water is used to force the sugar out.

Now there empties into the troughs on the floor below a different liquid—a transparent stream of pristine whiteness, lovely to behold. It is diverted into vats, where it is thoroughly boiled until it is considered ready for the vacuum pans. In a row, resembling mighty columns bent at right angles, are ranged the tremendous vacuum pans, of eighty tons capacity, with their extraordinary condensers. In these great caldrons a tremendous boiling takes place. By means of this frightful boiling and seething, crystallization is ultimately obtained. The liquid is crystallized by excluding the vapor from it, as the boiling point is lower in a vacuum.

A river of water is required to supply the twin condensers of these pans, where the excluded vapors are taken care of. Gigantic pumps are at work continuously, keeping millions of gallons in motion for this purpose. From the sluiceway the water rushes over the condensers, penetrates them and returns to its source.

On each floor, meanwhile, move the shadowy figures of men who watch over this stream of sweetness as it undergoes its various changes. Grim forms, vague, indefinite, they flit to and fro, ever on the alert, peering and watching in the gloom. Between the great vats you see them roam in dismal passageways. They steal along movable scaffolds, stirring with long staves the sugar as it seethes and boils in the vast caldrons below them. The tanks radiate a simmering heat.

The machines are set in motion and the cylinders revolve at lightning speed. This mode of violent spinning drives the damp sugar to the sides of the receptacles, which are perforated so that the moisture may escape, while it is impossible for the sugar to do so. When the spinning centrifugals stop the crystalized mass is found caked to their sides, whence it is dislodged by means of wooden paddles. It then drops downward into bins, extending for two floors.

Again the mass is swiftly seized and lifted to the height of four storeys, where it is subjected to a process of sifting. Down five storeys the snowy flood now softly falls. In its descent it is received by swiftly humming rollers, which greedily crush all lumps. The sandy yellow substance which first entered the refinery to be transformed into a scum-covered, boiling liquid, is now a mass of soft, bluish-white sugar, and falls into the bins which await it a finished product, save for the process of granulation and other special forms which trade demands.

The granulators are hollow cylinders, thirty-five feet long and eight feet in diameter. Through these the sugar must pass when it is subjected to the process of granulation. At one end of the machines fans draw heated air from above the hollow drums, which revolve slowly. Round and round whirl the snowy flakes, and passing through the currents of hot air the crystals are transformed into granules as they pass from one end of the cylinder to the other. In another big building loaf sugar is made by compressing the granulated substance into the required form. Thus millions of tons of sugar are melted and refined by intricate mechanism and chemical knowledge. Some of the great refineries produce millions of pounds of sugar daily.

In order that the barrels may hold the greatest possible amount of sugar, they are placed upon stands which jolt them up and down, here and there, with eccentric motions. Hundreds of barrels bob this way and that, while they receive at the same time the floods of sugar through big conduits above them.

An ordinary refinery may thus melt and pack 10,000 barrels of sugar per day.

When the sugar has been "danced" into the barrels into a mass sufficiently dense, the barrels are headed up, and elevators hoist them. They are rolled into warehouses, where they remain until they must roll out into the light of day again to fill the never-ending demand of the universe.—American Grocer.

DUTY ON CONSIGNED GOODS.

The Washington correspondent of The N.Y. Journal of Commerce writes: "It has not yet been decided whether the administrative tariff shall be attached to the bill in the Senate or not. The Senators may yield to the clamor for haste to the extent of reporting the bill fixing rates without the administrative sections. This will leave them free to take up the adminstrative problem later in the present session, or at the next session. There is little doubt that the Board of General Appraisers will be reorganized when this is done. A proposition which has been somewhat discusssed in committee is the levy of a discriminating duty upon consigned goods, with the object of stamping out consignment. There are members of the committee who would like to see this done, but they have been advised by the experts that it would not accomplish any substantial results. The duty would stamp out consignments absolutely if it could be enforced. The difficulty would be to prove in any given case that goods were consigned instead of purchased. This difficulty would be so insuperable that it is believed the practice of consignment could never be broken up. Fictitious sales to consignees, with the proper documents, would make it impossible for the Government to prove that there was not a real sale, and even if a case were on the verge of proof now and then, the sale could be converted into a bona fida one by actual payment. It is believed by experts that cases are already occurring under existing law where consigned goods are declared to be purchased goods, in order to escape the prohibition of section 7 of the Act of June 10, 1890, that 'No such addition shall be made upon entry to the invoice value of any imported merchandise obtained otherwise than by actual purchase.' If deception is already practised for the trifling benefits obtained under existing law, it is believed that it would become much more common where a discriminating duty might be evaded."

THE ORIGIN OF LENT.

The origin of Lent is obscured in the traditions of antiquity. The forty days' season has come down to us by evolution. Not until the eighth century do we find any definite time set aside for fasting. Probably the season had its origin between the years 350 and 450, at the time of the supremacy of the Goths and Teutons and the exodus of the Christians into Saxony. The word Lent is of Anglo-Saxon derivation, and means springtime. March was the beginning of the new year. It was so when this Second Church was founded. At first the season was thirty-six days; then four were added, to stand for the forty days' fasting of Christ in the wilderness, and the church tried to give the season a purely Christian significance.

EGGS FOR ENGLAND.

A press despatch from London, Ont., says: Thos. Scott, representing Thomas Robinson & Co., of West Hartlepool, Eng., the egg importers, is in this city, where the firm have established their Canadian headquarters. Mr. Scott says that Canadian eggs are fast displacing those of other countries in the British market, and that his firm have decided to buy them exclusively. Within the last two weeks he has purchased ten thousand dozen in this neighborhood. Mr. Scott says the outlook for Canadian produce in England is very bright, and that the cold storage system will greatly facilitate exports.

BOOKS AND SUCCESS.

"WHEN a boy," said Horace Greeley, "I would go reading to the wood pile; reading to the garden; reading to the neighbors. My father was poor and needed my services through the day, but it was a mighty struggle for him to get me to bed at night. I would take a pine knot, put it on the backlog, pile my books around me and lie down and read all through the long winter evenings; silent, motionless and dead to all the world around me, alive only to the world to which I was transported by my book."

How many a boy could tell a similar story! How many a man in prosperity has found one of his greatest pleasures in books; and to how many more have they proved a solace in poverty and pain, a refuge from care, a pleasant substitute for gloomy thoughts!

Perhaps no other thing has such power to lift the poor out of his poverty, the wretched out of his misery, to make the burden-bearer forget his burden, the sick his suffering, the sorrower his grief, the downtrodden his degradation, as books. They are friends to the lonely, companions to the deserted, joy to the joyless, hope to the hopeless, good cheer to the disheartened, a helper to the helpless. They bring light into darkness, and sunshine into shadow.

We may be poor, socially ostracised, shut out from all personal association with the great and the good, and yet be in the best society in the world, in books. We may live in palaces, converse with princes, be familiar with royalty, and associate with the greatest and noblest of all time.

A book that starts a young person in a life career is a great power. The inspiration of a single book has made preachers, poets, philosophers, authors and statesmen. On the other hand, the demoralization of a single book has sometimes made infidels, profligates and criminals. Ossian's poems had a marked effect on Napoleon's life, and he was never weary of sounding the praises of Homer; but his reading was very extensive, including histories of all times and all countries, mathematics, Virgil, Tasso, books on theology and legislation.

Cotton Mather's "Essay to do Good" read by the boy Franklin influenced his whole life. He advised everybody to read with pen in hand and to make notes of all they read.

Emerson's book on nature affected Tyndall's whole career.

Beecher said that Ruskin's works taught him the secret of seeing, and that no man could ever again be quite the same man or look at the world in the same way after reading him. Samuel Drew said, "Locke's 'Essay on Understanding' awakened me from stupor, and induced me to form a resolution to abandon the grovelling views I had been accustomed to maintain." An English tanner, whose leather gained a great reputation, said he should not have made it so good if he had not read Carlyle. The lives of Washington and Henry Clay, which Lincoln borrowed from neighbors in the wilderness, and devoured by the light of the cabin fire, inspired his life. In his early manhood he read Paine's "Age of Reason" and Volney's "Ruins," which so influenced his mind that he wrote an essay to prove the unreliability of the Bible. These two books nearly unbalanced his moral character. But, fortunately, the books which fell into his hands in after years corrected this evil influence. The trend of many a life for good or ill, for success or failure, has been determined by a single book. The books which we read in early life are those which influence us most. When Garfield was working for a neighbor he read "Sinbad the Sailor" and the "Pirate's Own Book." These books revealed a new world to him, and his mother with difficulty kept him from going to sea. He was fascinated with the sea life which these books pictured to his young imagination. The "Voyages of Captain Cook" led William Carey to go on a mission to the heathen. "The Imitation of Christ" and Taylor's "Holy Living and Dying" determined the character of John Wesley. "Shakespeare and the Bible," said John Sharp, "made me Archbishop of York." The "Vicar of Wakefield" awakened the poetical genius in Goethe.

As soon as a peasant passes from a simple life of labor to an easy life, or to the ownership of landed property, he grows unbearable. He forms a class which is half virtuous, half vicious, half educated and half ignorant, which will always be the despair of Governments — "Architects of Fate."

CURE FOR BALKY GROCERY HORSES.

As told in a New York letter, a driver of a truck was in great distress in front of The Judge building, in New York, one day last week, because his horse balked crosswise of the street and caused not only a loss of his time, but also blocked traffic. All the usual devices to get the stubborn animal to move were unavailing, and a crowd had gathered of considerable size to watch proceedings. W. J. Arkell, proprietor of Judge, was attracted to the scene, and, as The Tribune relates it, he said to his brother Bartlett, who sat in his office: "I will bet $100 to 10c. that I can go out and start that horse in two minutes." Bartlett immediately took the bet, and the money was placed in the hands of the private secretary.

W. J. Merrill and the two Arkells started for the street. W. J. Arkell picked up two handfuls of sand and asked the driver to hold the horse's head still. Then he packed each of the horse's nostrils full of sand, and almost instantly the horse began to sneeze and start with a rush, to the great delight of the driver, amid the shouts of the bystanders. Mr. Arkell, the winner, says he doesn't read The London Lancet for nothing.

A MONTREAL POETESS.

ELVIRA FLOYD FROEMCKE, the authoress of the following poems, is a Southern woman, the daughter of the late Edwin Floyd, who during the forties was one of the editors of The New Orleans True Delta. She is the sister of Col. Robert Mitchell Floyd. "Although," says The N.E. Grocer, "Mrs. Froemcke has drifted far away from the land of the orange flower (living now in Montreal, Canada), she still holds loving memories of its beauties and her happy childhood's days in St. Tammany parish. She tells charmingly many stories of Southern life."

THE YANKEE CIDER PEDDLER.

When Autumn wore her russet gown,
With gold and crimson border,
When singin' schools were in each town
And huskin' bees in order,
Pears grew ripe, the plums turned blue,
Or ruddy on their edges,
Clover-heads were tinged brown, too,
And nuts lay thick in hedges.
Then sounding here, there,
Everywhere, came
"Cider! Cider!
Cider!"

When frost had stung each twisted vine
And turned its grapes far sweeter,
Apples grew red, in rosy line,
No maiden e'er blushed neater!
Nights had changed and were quite long
When tart as unripe medlar,
Came the voice, in sharp, shrill song,
Of the queer old cider peddler.
With his "Cider there!
Cider! Cider!
Ci-der."

The peddler had a merry eye,
His cheek was like a Baldwin;
His brow could with the Russet vie,
They call him "Old Josh Caldwin."
His hand was hard as apple root,
His heart fresh as a Pippin,
His voice grew mellow as ripe fruit,
From cider he kept sippin'—
And called "Cider!
Twenty a gallon
Ci-der!"

When this old peddler went his way
With barrel, horse and wagon,
He heard what each one had to say
And news he found to brag on.
Through each street of every town
He spread New England's glory
By shouting loudly up and down
The same old rythmic story Of "Cider! Cider!
Cider there! Cider!
Cider!"

To singin' school he always came
And listened under cover,
For singin' schools were just the same
As when he was a lover.
He never passed a huskin' bee,
Nor lost sight of the kissin',
The red ear found—the maid to see—
Was joy he'd not be missin'.
Then his cry was "Sweet
Cider! Cider there!
Cider!"

He wak'd the sick, the cross, the old,
Complaint gave him no worry;
He felt no tire, nor ache, nor cold,
And knew not time nor hurry.
All through the chill autumnal night
The old man kept on singing—
Then may he live!—this doughty wight—
And keep the same tune ringing:
"Cider! Cider there!
Cider there! Cider!
Cider!"

A LULLABY.

Like a leaf that's gently swaying
To and fro,
In thy mother's arms thou'rt lying,
While thy mother's heart is praying
God in mercy will be staying
Thee below.

Like a breeze that's softly blowing,
Fleet and fair,
Baby, thou art surely going
To the land where lotus growing
Will its beauty soon be showing
To thee there.

As a flower, thine eyes are closing,
Baby dear!
And thy head is now reposing,
Mother's arms are thee enclosing,
All her love for thee disclosing
With a tear.

Now in wondrous dreamland roving,
Baby feet!
Soft cheeks flushing, lips are moving,
Parted, smiling. Thou art proving Flowers and angels are thee loving.
Birdling sweet.

The following in regard to the same lady is from The Evening Journal, of Jersey City:

"Mrs. Elvira Floyd Froemcke, of Montreal, Canada, who has been the guest of Col. and Mrs. Robert Mitchell Floyd, of Clerk street, leaves to-morrow for her northern home, after a delightful sojourn in this city. Mrs. Froemcke is a sister of Col. Floyd, and both are well known in the literary and social world. Their father, the late Edwin Floyd, was, during the forties, one of the editors of The New Orleans True Delta. Mrs. Froemcke writes charming stories of southern life for the northern newspapers and magazines, and is special correspondent for The New England Grocer, published in Boston; The American Grocer, of New York; The New Unity, of Chicago; The Morning News, of Wilmington, and The Delaware Churchman, of Delaware City. Her child stories are especially attractive and have won her friends and admirers among little people in many cities."

NEW ZEALAND SALMON.

It is said that there will be an attempt during the present season to introduce New Zealand barreled salmon into the eastern markets. The catch of Nova Scotia salmon, all of which is barreled for smoking, is much lighter than usual this year, and this fact will make more or less of a field for the New Zealand barreled goods. The latter, however, could not expect to compete with the Alaska goods, which are of indifferent quality, and sell at a very low price.

Previous efforts to introduce salmon from far distant points into American markets has not been entirely successful, owing to the expensiveness of transporting the goods to this country. Not long ago a considerable quantity of salmon in tierces from Siberia was shipped to Philadelphia, but it costs so much to bring it here that the price was thereby made too high. Some of the authorities on the subject believe that the same difficulty will surround the marketing of the New Zealand goods.

It is also said that not only will New Zealand attempt to compete with American salmon in the barreled form, but that it will also bring considerable quantities of canned salmon into this country. It is said that immense salmon canneries have been established in the New Zealand sea-coast cities and towns, and that the product of these is now competing with that of the American salmon canneries along the Pacific Coast. According to a despatch, consumers can buy a can of New Zealand salmon in San Francisco for less money than is asked for the Oregon-packed fish.—Grocery World.

PINEAPPLES AND WAR.

It is reported that, as the result of the shifting of the base of operations in the Cuban war to the vicinity of the pine plantations, the cutting of pineapples in Cuba has been interfered with, and that much uncertainty exists as to the quantity that may be shipped during the next few weeks. It is generally expected, says a New York paper, that the shipments will be small for some time to come.

VALUE OF EQUALITY TO THE RETAIL GROCER.

THE following address was delivered by H. P. Sanger, secretary Michigan Wholesale Grocers' Association, at the recent state convention of retail grocers held in Grand Rapids on March 3 :

"This is the text assigned me by your worthy secretary, E. A. Stowe. I wonder how many of the retailers of Michigan have ever given this subject any thought? How many have a proper understanding of the word 'equality' as used in this connection?

"One of the definitions given by Webster of the word equality is 'the condition or quality of being equal.' It must appeal to your judgment as business men that it is in every way better for the retailer to be on an absolute equality with his neighbors regarding the cost of the goods he has to purchase.

"But let us consider the peculiar conditions which obtain in the commercial world at this particular time. The tendency of the business men of this country, for the last thirty years, has been to concentrate competitive interests. Hence we see railroads, both steam and electric, consolidating, out and out, or securing ninety-nine years leases, which is practically ownership, so as to reduce the cost of management and escape the competition of a rival line. The same holds true of manufactures. Consequently we have the various trusts that so many people denounce, and often without fully understanding the subject which they speak about so freely.

"The adage, 'A little learning is a dangerous thing,' is as true to-day as ever; and it would be better for us all if those who talk and write so much about these matters would think and study, and really know a 'little bit' about the important questions which they so glibly prate of.

"Many articles have lately appeared in the daily papers about the effort of the wholesale grocers to create a tobacco trust. Officially it has been my privilege to know as much about the alleged effort as any other one person. The idea of a 'trust' was never considered by the gentlemen who are accused. The sole object was to have the manufacturer distribute his product through the jobber, at a regular price, which was to be fixed and determined by the manufacturer, and which the jobber was to furnish the retailer at another fixed price, which was also to be made by the manufacturer. No thought of restricting the output, or advancing the price, to either the retailer or consumer, was ever entertained. But, according to the so-called anti-trust laws which prevail in many states, it is made to appear that a manufacturer who puts a value on his product, and says to his customers, such and such are the prices of my goods, is guilty of a conspiracy, is a bad man, and must be fined, or imprisoned, or both, for such an outrageous act as daring to put a price on his own product! In Georgia one man cannot make another man his agent, or factor, to sell his goods, without submitting himself to the penalties of fine or imprisonment or both.

"If these so-called anti-trust laws ever get to the Supreme Court of the United States, there is no question about their being declared unconstitutional. The unit, i.e., the individual, is the basis of our form of Government. The constitution guarantees to every citizen the right to worship God as he sees fit, and to do as he elects with his own, so long as he does not wrong his neighbors. But some one says, what has all this got to do with the 'Value of Equality to the Retail Grocer?' Very much; for if a uniform fixed price on the goods he has to deal in is maintained, he knows what his profits will be, and that his neighbor is not buying any cheaper than he is. He does not overload himself with any one article because the same is represented as a 'snap,' or is offered at a 'cut' from their regular price. Realising an assured profit on his sales, he is in a condition to discount his bills and pay his paper promptly at maturity. As 'success of the individual is the prosperity of the state,' so will the business men of the country escape the convulsions which periodically sweep over the commercial world, and which bring so much distress and disaster in their train. How often do we read advertisements of so many pounds of sugar for a dollar, when everyone knows that the retailer pays much more for it; and if you speak to him about it he will tell you, 'That is just for a leader. I make it up by charging more for something else.' Is this honest? Is it to the credit of the seller's business capacity? Is it 'doing to others as you would be done by?' O, no! Little wonder then there are so many 'extensions,' and 'chattel mortgages,' and 'trust deeds,' and failures and suicides.

"We are all in too great a hurry to get rich, to enlarge our business, to secure our neighbor's patronage, no matter what becomes of him. It is 'every one for himself'—you know the rest. Not until men think, and study the requirements of their particular calling, can we look for a change, and not then, unless they are governed by the 'Golden Rule.'

"Stability is one of the chief requisites among business men to-day, and that others are of this opinion, I quote the action taken by the Retail Grocers' Association of Illinois at their convention held at Quincy on Feb. 9, 10 and 11 :

"'Whereas we, the Retail Grocers' and Merchants' Association of Illinois, in convention assembled, do recognize in the wholesale grocers our best means of support in the plans we have prepared; and

"'Whereas, we believe the present method of jobbing both sugars and package coffees has been a benefit alike to the legitimate retailers and consumers; therefore, be it

"'Resolved, That we heartily endorse the "equality plan" for the sale of both sugars and package coffees, and assure the jobbers of our co-operation in perpetuating the same.'

"In conclusion, you must admit that your best friends are the wholesale grocers, and any system of distributing the products of the manufacturers which is best for them must be the best for you. Who is it that has carried you along when collections have been slow and trade dull? The manufacturer? No, the wholesaler of whom you buy the most of your supplies. Is it unreasonable then to ask you to trust to his judgment? Not at all. Organization is the order of the day, and only by organization can the vast business of supplying the daily wants of the consumers of the country be profitably carried on."

"Rose Brand" Ham.

So little have some people understood what Ham should be to be really good, that the price of "Rose Brand" Ham has seemed high. They simply wanted Ham—any brand would do. Price usually determined their purchase. Good health determines it now. The quality can't be too high to suit them. The increased demand for "Rose Brand" Ham proves beyond question that its mild cure for cutting and frying, and its special cure for boiling is just what the people want. And they usually get what they want—if not from you, from your competitor.

A FRIEND OF DEPARTMENTAL STORES.

THE Trades and Labor Council has made a deliverance regarding departmental stores. This deliverance is as follows:

Your committee (the Municipal Committee) hold that these stores are not combinations for the purpose of raising prices or lowering wages, and that the constituents of the Trades and Labor Council being the people who the Council should first try to help, they are of the opinion that the families of trades unionists are not hurt, but rather helped, by these stores.

The Trades and Labor Council has done some strange things, but this is the strangest of all the things it ever did. An enemy surely has done this thing. The Municipal Committee and all concerned must have been "loaded up the wrong way" or it never could have conceived of a thing so utterly opposed to their own interest.

The department store is the enemy of the regular storekeeper, but it is none the less the enemy of the workingman. Nothing could be more evident.

There is not a member of the Trades and Labor Council but will acknowledge that a monopoly is detrimental to his interests.

The departmental store is a monopoly pure and simple, and yet we find an organization, whose tenets are supposed to be diametrically opposed to monopolistic institutions, declaring one of the worst forms of monopoly to be a helper of the laboring class. So is Bad the helper of Good.

The particular object of the departmental store is to destroy competition. By cutting prices on this and that line they essay to inveigle customers away from the regular storekeeper—until he is at last compelled to put his shutters up, thus driving merchants and clerks upon the labor market, and bringing wages down to a point where a man can scarcely live himself, let alone support his family.

The advantage of low-priced labor to the departmental store is obvious: A large supply of cheap clerk labor enables it to keep a cheap staff behind its counters.

And yet that advocate of a fair wage for a fair day's work declares that departmental stores are not combinations for the purpose of lowering wages!

But it is not alone the wage of the clerk that the departmental store tends to reduce to the minimum. The wage of every mechanic who wields a tool, of every seamstress who plies a needle, and of nearly every man and woman, in fact, who tries to make an honest living, is lessened through the extraordinary powers which these departmental stores are developing.

Those whom Old Nick would destroy he first makes his friends. The departmental store has been represented as a gigantic devil fish, and it appears to have made its friends those whom it is depriving of a living wage.

That such should be the case is due to either one or two causes: The members of the Trades and Labor Council are either blind or they are fools.

The last clause in the pronunciamento suggests that it is blindness which comes of prejudice. This clause reads: "In the old days of strikes and lock-outs the small storekeepers were never the friends of the union workingman."

Not friends indeed of workingmen during strikes! It strikes us most forcibly that the small storekeeper has often proved a friend in need to many a workingman during troublous times, and much, too, to his own sorrow when he contemplates it.

If the members of the Trades and Labor Council exhibit as little common sense when dealing with other questions concerning the workingman as they have in regard to the departmental store, it is time the workingman was delivered from his friends.

The man who cannot be honest cannot in the long run be prosperous. Prosperity is the handmaid of honesty.

DISHONESTY AMONG EMPLOYES.

IT is to be hoped that the wholesale robbery by the employes of a certain large business concern referred to last week will not be an unlearned lesson.

It is most deplorable that employes should steal from their employers, but it is still more deplorable when the heads of departments and clerks should act in collusion in systematic robbery, such as that chronicled last week.

Since the expose rumors are rife regarding the honesty of the employes of other business institutions where a large number of persons are employed as clerks, etc. And thus it becomes that a general suspicion rests upon innocent and guilty alike.

While nothing can excuse dishonesty on the part of an employe, yet the management is not always without blame when goods are surreptitiously taken from the store or warehouse.

If they do not pay honest wages they cannot but expect dishonesty from their employes. No man has a right to demand more labor from another than he pays him for, any more than he has a right to give a customer three pounds of a certain commodity when the latter has paid him for four pounds.

Justice is not jug-handled. It is for the employe as well as the employer, for the buyer as well as the seller.

But two wrongs do not make a right. Unjust as a man's wages may be, it does not warrant his purloining his employer's goods or his money. His is to do his duty under all circumstances and on all occasions. And his duty is to at all times do his very best and to keep himself honest, even if he be getting but fifty cents on the dollar, as it were, for his services.

All dishonesty is by no means due to inadequate remuneration for services. In the particular instance referred to, for example, the firm appears to have paid at least fair salaries.

No; dishonesty in a great many instances, perhaps in a majority of instances, is due to men, old as well as young, essaying to swim in a higher social circle than their position warrants.

Let merchants manage their business well, and there will be less opportunity for dishonesty on the part of their employes.

To proper management, let there be fair wages, and the probability of dishonesty will be reduced to a minimum.

Dishonesty is never excusable, but let employers see that they do not create anything that may be used as an excuse for dishonesty.

The suspense will soon be over : The new tariff is promised for the 22nd inst.

. It is to be hoped that the longest reign on record will induce the preferential trade idea to fructify.

MR. DEVANEY GETS A LOCKET.

AS THE CANADIAN GROCER has already stated, Mr. J. H. Devaney has severed his connection with the Eby, Blain Co., Ltd., to take a position as traveler with G. F. & J. Galt, of Winnipeg and Toronto.

Mr. Devaney had been with the Eby, Blain Co. for some ten years, and so his fellow employes felt that something should be done whereby they might be able to exhibit their esteem of him and to express regret at his departure from among them.

Accordingly he was informed that one or two of his friends in the firm's employ would like to see him at the Hub parlors on Saturday night. When he reached there Mr. Devaney found a score or more of persons from the warehouse present, including travelers and sample-room and office staff.

Before he could recover from his surprise Mr. W. H. Seyler stepped forward, accompanied by that inseparable smile which is always his, and, after delivering a neat and appropriate speech, presented Mr. Devaney with a handsome locket set with diamonds.

Mr. Devaney made a capital speech in reply, thanking his fellow employes for their good will, as expressed in the words of Mr. Seyler and in the valuable locket they had presented to him.

These also made speeches : Mr. Borsberry, representing the traveling staff ; Mr. Robt. Ross, representing the package tea department ; Messrs. S. Hustwitt and D. Casey, representing the city traveling staff, and Messrs. Douglas Eby, W. Bender, and John Stalker, representing the office staff.

TORONTO RETAIL GROCERS.

BEFORE the regular business of the Retail Grocers' Association was taken up on Monday night, the members were addressed by a delegation from the Retail Merchants' Association of Canada, the object being to enlist the co-operation of the former organization in furthering its object, namely, the removal of certain evils which afflict the retail trade of the country.

By speech and resolution the association expressed its sympathy, and several members promised to be present at the next meeting of the Retail Merchants' Association.

President J. S. Bond was in the chair and there was a fair attendance. These were among the members present : Messrs. Robt. Mills, W. J. Bell, A. G. Booth, D. W. Clark, Frank Johnson, Alf. Johnson, Donald McLean, R. Snow, R. Davies, J. Doyle, Thos. Clark, R. Van Loan, W. Stewart.

A communication was received from Lever Bros. in reply to a complaint of the association, to the effect that departmental stores were selling a particular brand of the firm's soap at six bars for 25c. The reply was to the effect that the firm only knew of one departmental store in Toronto which was so selling its soap, and that while it deprecated the fact it had no power to prevent it.

E. Sutton, secretary of the Retail Grocers' Association of London, wrote requesting the co-operation of Toronto organization in securing a reduction in the present exorbitant fees for testing weights and measures.

On motion of Mr. Robert Mills, seconded by Mr. F. Johnson, the secretary was instructed to write the secretary of the London association to the effect that the association was of opinion that steps should be taken to have the law amended whereby the payment of the fees may fall lighter upon the business interests of the country ; also to ask the London association to suggest ways and means of accomplishing the desired end.

The matter of securing an amendment to the civil service law in order that civil servants may be placed on the same footing as other citizens of the Dominion in regard to the payment of their debts, was taken up and it was resolved to try and secure the co-operation of the member for Centre Toronto, Mr. W. Lount, M.P.

The following letter was received from Mr. J. T. Middleton, M.P.P., regarding his Departmental Store Bill :

> In reply to yours, which I must thank you for, I must state that unfortunately it was only about two weeks ago my Hamilton friends asked that the departmental store question should be attacked by legislation, but the lateness of the introduction precluded the possibility of my getting it far advanced, while there was not the public support that such important legislation requires. If I am permitted to bring the matter up another session I shall be glad to have your sympathy as well as that of all friends of the movement. May I suggest that an aggressive, but quiet arrangement be made to place in your City Council reliable friends of this movement. Work and win.

The president, on behalf of a special committee appointed to consider the matter, reported in favor of continuing to hold the meetings of the association in St. George's Hall, Elm street.

Mr. A. G. Booth reported on behalf of the delegation that had attended the Food Show at Hamilton. The delegation consisted, besides himself, of Messrs. J. G. Gibson, J. S. Bond, F. Johnson, A. White, F. Giles, H. P. Hodgins, A. R. Williamson and others.

"We went to Hamilton," said Mr. Booth, "were well received, had a nice badge presented to us, saw both the Food Show and the 'elephant.' (Laughter.) The show was certainly a well gotten up affair and was decidedly well worth seeing. I think the most of us got home again. Those that did not go to Hamilton missed a treat."

Secretary Hawse presented the names of the three candidates for membership. They were : E. Cork, Dovercourt road; Moyer & Son, Spadina avenue, and J. Mellhuish, Yonge and St. Joseph streets. The customary resolution constituting them members was moved by Mr. D. W. Clark and adopted.

The association adjourned at about 11.30 p.m.

AUCTION SALE OF CANNED GOODS.

A quantity of canned goods was offered at auction in Toronto on Wednesday of last week at the fruit sale conducted by Clemes Bros. and McWilliam & Everist.

Eighty-five cases of tomatoes sold at 60 to 67c.; 35 cases of corn at 47½ to 50c., and 27 cases of canned pineapple at $2 per dozen. The tomatoes and corn were packed by Flynn Bros., of St. Catharines, and the pineapples by W. Boulter & Sons.

One hundred cases of Boulters' tomatoes were also put up, but they were withdrawn, the highest bid being 67c., or 3c. per dozen below the upset price.

WILL NOT SELL DEPARTMENT STORES.

THE Montreal Retail Grocers' Association have not let the grass grow under their feet when it was a question of fighting the unfair competition of the departmental stores. Some time ago THE CANADIAN GROCER noted that they had approached the wholesale trade regarding the matter. That they have been successful in their efforts a meeting of the association Tuesday evening clearly proved. President Vallieres presided, and, in addition to a large attendance of members of the association, there were representatives of the wholesale houses, spice men, and a large number of outside retailers present. Messrs. S. H. Ewing, James Harper, Lamoreux, Leblanc and Larue made some strong addresses on the unfair competition to which the regular trade were subjected by the departmental stores. It was pointed out that the latter were selling many staple articles away below cost. Sugar, for instance, was said to have been sold at 3c., whereas it cost retail grocers 4⅜c. Crosse & Blackwell's pickles, which cost them $3.25 a dozen, were being sold in the stores at 19c. a bottle, and jam put up by the same firm which cost $2.40 a dozen was offered at the stores at 14c. a bottle.

After these and other instances had been related to the meeting, the chairman amid applause announced that all the wholesale grocers in Montreal, with one exception, all the spice men, etc., had mutually agreed to protect the regular traders from this unfair competition. As both the sugar refineries had always refused to sell to the stores, the latter would find it difficult to get that staple now that the wholesalers had decided to refuse to supply them. The spice manufacturers, manufacturers' agents, etc., had all adopted the same views and signed a document of which the following is a copy :

"We, the undersigned wholesale grocers, manufacturers and provision dealers and packers of the Dominion of Canada, and agents representing foreign houses exporting their goods, wares, etc., to Canada, do hereby pledge ourselves not to sell directly or indirectly to departmental stores in Montreal, and that we will protect to the fullest extent in our power the legitimate retail grocery trade."

If this agreement is only lived up to the retail grocery trade in Montreal can congratulate themselves on securing a fair measure of protection.

The association has decided to print and circulate among the grocery and allied trades, both wholesale and retail, some 2,000 copies of the agreement confirmed at Tuesday's meeting.

ECONOMY ON THE ST. LAWRENCE CANALS.

A PART of the economy which the Dominion Government proposes to practise is a reduction in the working staff on the St. Lawrence canals.

It is to be hoped that this reduction will not be made until it is settled beyond all peradventure that it will not, to the slightest extent, impair the efficiency of the staff.

Under the best conditions, canal traffic is necessarily slow ; and any action on the part of the Minister of Railways and Canals which would tend to retard instead of help in the premises would be most unwise.

Economy is saving a dollar where it can be judiciously saved ; it is not economy to save a dollar when one hundred and fifty cents is lost thereby.

No business man would think of dispensing with the services of a clerk did he know that by so doing his staff would be so weakened that customers could not be served promptly.

We are quite convinced that the Government has no intention of impairing the working staff on the St. Lawrence canals. Whatever reductions it proposes to make are no doubt actuated purely by a desire to practise economy.

But zeal for economy can be productive of recklessness, just as disregard for the value of money leads to its wasteful expenditure.

The Montreal Board of Trade has declared that any reduction in the working staff would "add greatly to the delay in getting vessels up and down the canals." And the Board of Trade should know, and evidently does know, what it is talking about.

That organization has no political ends to serve. Its concern is only for the commercial interests of the country. It is well, therefore, that the Hon. Mr. Blair should read, mark, learn and inwardly digest the representations the board has already made to him and those which it may in future make to him in regard to this or any other business matter.

AN UP-TO-DATE GROCER.

"You have a very clean and attractive store," said a representative of THE CANADIAN GROCER, as he shook hands with Mr. Sullivan, who does business at the corner of Brunswick and Milton streets, Montreal.

"Yes," he replied. "It pays. My aim is to keep my place clean and attractive in every way possible. It keeps us always hustling, but it draws customers. We find that ladies will pass less attractive stores and come to us on that account. Of course, we are alive in other respects. We study our business and keep up with the times by reading the best papers and thinking how to please our customers. We never complain of dull times, because we are always pushing for business. I think if many merchants would work harder and think more there would be less complaint of hard times." And Mr. Sullivan excused himself to open the door for a lady who drove up in a swell equipage.

Do not bore a customer if you would worm your way into his good graces.

A BRIGHT IDEA.

Local events can often be turned to good account by advertisers. Millman & Co., of Guelph, realize this.

The Royal Club of Guelph is to have a horse show on the 20th and 21st. In their advertisement in a local paper Millman & Co. point this out and deftly turn the attention of the reader to their own wares by adding :

If you are hunting for the most reliable grocery and provision house stop at our place—you have found it.

A cut representing two steeplechasers in the act of taking a fence increases the effectiveness of the advertisement.

GREEN FRUIT AT AUCTION.

Six carloads of lemons and four carloads of oranges were sold at Clemes Bros'. auction sale last week. Two cars of fancy navels sold at $2.80 to $5.70, and another car of the same at $3.30 to $4.55. A carload of Valencia oranges changed hands at $2.80 to $3. Mediterranean sweets sold at $2.70 to $2.75, and St. Michael oranges at $2.25 to $2.75 per box. Three carloads of lemons sold at $1.60 to $1.95. Seedlings found purchasers at $2.25 to $2.75. The attendance was good. Another sale will be held on 21st inst.

OUR

are growing in favor every day.

There is reason in this. It is simply owing to the fact that we are so careful in the manufacture that our Extracts cannot be surpassed by any for purity, strength and flavor. We make a large variety. Not only the standard Lemon and Vanilla, but almost every fruit, flower and spice flavor known can be had for the asking.

The point is--It will pay you to push the sale of this line. The goods will please your customers and win trade for you.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

TORONTO, April 15, 1897.

GROCERIES.

IT is probably many a day since the wholesale grocery trade of Toronto was as flat as it has been during the past week. The bad roads in the country have probably something to do with it, but upon the tariff is cast the chief onus by the trade. Until this is settled people appear determined to buy only what they cannot do without. Canned goods are still firm, but there is little or nothing doing in them. There has been a little speculative buying in coffees, but the market has ruled easy. China black teas are still receiving a little attention, but other kinds are, at the moment, quiet. Fruits are quiet, with the currant market still ruling strong. Sugars are easier in both London and New York, and locally the demand is light and prices unchanged. Payments are just fair.

CANNED GOODS.

A packer who was on the street this week was talking higher prices on canned vegetables generally, but, although the market remains firm, there has really been no change in prices. The volume of business is much about the same as a week ago, no improvement having taken place. During the past week there has been free purchasing of futures in lobsters by the wholesale houses at prices which are from 10 to 15 per cent. higher than a year ago. We quote standard brands as follows: Tomatoes, 75c.; corn, 55 to 75c.; peas, 75 to 80c. for ordinary; sifted select, 90 to $1; extra sifted, $1.25 to $1.40; beans, 65 to 95c.; peaches, $2.50 to $3 for 3's, $1.65 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.50 to $1.80; strawberries, $1.65 to $1.95, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.40 to $1.70; cherries, $2 to $2.25; apples, 3's, 70 to 95c.; gallons, $1.65 to $2.25; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.50; cohoes, $1.10 to $1.25; canned mackerel, $1.20 to $1.30; lobsters, $2.25 to $2.40 for tall tins; flats, $2.85 to $2.90; ½-lb. flats, $1.60 to $1.65; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.20 to $1.30; 2's, $2.25 to $2.40; 6's, $7.75 to $8.25; 14's, $15 to $16.

COFFEES.

There has been a little speculative buying during the past week or two, but it does not appear to have amounted to very much. A rumor to the effect that a small duty was to be placed upon coffee is the cause of the speculation. The demand has been principally for the Maracaibo and Rio growths. Jobbers quote green in bags: Rio, 14 to 16c., according to grade; East Indian, 27 to 30c.; South American, 21 to 23c.; Santos, 19 to 22½c.; Java, 30 to 33c.; Mocha, 27½ to 30c.; Maracaibo, 18 to 20c.; Jamaica, 19 to 22c.

SYRUPS.

Some of the refineries are offering good values in fair medium syrups. Very little business, however, is transpiring. We quote: Dark, 23 to 25c.; medium, 28 to 35c.; bright, 32 to 42c.; corn syrup, 3 to 3¼c. per lb.

MOLASSES.

The New Orleans market is somewhat unsettled. Locally there is nothing new to report. We quote: New Orleans, barrels, 23 to 35c.; ditto, half-barrels, 25 to 37c.; ditto, fancy, 50 to 55c., in barrels and half-barrels; Barbadoes, 31 to 35c.; half-barrels, 33 to 35c.

SUGAR.

The sugar market is, on the whole, dull and weak. In New York on Monday, after a week of dragging trading, and which had enabled the refiners to close up old orders very well, there was a reduction made in price of ⅛c. on all hard grades, and for Nos. 1, 2, 3, 6, 7 and 14, while Nos. 4 and 5 were put down 3-16c., Nos. 8, 14, 15 and 16 at 1-16c. reduction, while Nos. 10, 12 and 13 remained unchanged. The refiners, too, would not take hold of raws except at a decline of 1-16c. Beet is fractionally lower in London. No change in values has taken place on the Canadian market, while business is quieter than it was, although some fair orders are still being received from the country. Local wholesalers' quotations are: Granulated—St. Lawrence and Redpath's, 4 7-16c. for single barrel lots and 4⅜c. for 5-barrel lots; Acadia, 4⅜c. for single barrel lots, and 4 5-16c. for 5-barrel lots; yellows, 3⅝ to 4⅛c. per lb.; Demerara crystals, 3⅞c.

SPICES.

No material change has taken place in regard to spices. We quote: Pure Singapore black pepper, 10 to 12c.; pure white, 18 to 25c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 23 to 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; do. best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 14 to 18c.; cassia, quoting 2½ to 3½c. for choice to fancy stock.

NUTS.

There is nothing of local interest to note, and in the primary markets the only feature is that stocks of Valencia shelled almonds in Malaga are almost exhausted. We quote: Brazil nuts, 11 to 12½c.; Valencia shelled almonds, 18 to 22c.; Tarragona almonds, 9½ to 11c.; peanuts, 10 to 12c. for roasted and 7 to 10c. for green; cocoanuts, $4.50 to $5 per sack; Grenoble walnuts, 12½c.; Marbot walnuts, 9½ to 11c.; Bordeax walnuts, 8 to 9c.: Sicily filberts, 10c. for sacks and 10½ to 11c. for small lots; Naples filberts, 11c.; pecans, 12 to 12½c.

RICE, TAPIOCA, ETC.

The market in these lines is quiet and unchanged. We quote: Rice, Standard "B," 3¼ to 3½c.; imported Japan, 5¼ to 5¾c.; tapioca, 3¼ to 4½c.; sago, 3½c.

TEAS.

The market is, on the whole, quiet. China blacks on spot, particularly low-grades, continue to receive the most attention. A few transactions have also taken place in Ceylon teas where good values were offered. Japan teas have been neglected. Holders of consignments of China teas are considering the advisability of shipping low and medium grades into the United States before May 1, when the new inspection law goes into operation. Ruling prices on the Toronto market to retailers are: Young Hyson, 18 to 21c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 14 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 15 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for high grades.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

Strength continues to be the feature of the currant market both at home and abroad. Stocks in Greece, according to latest advices, have been reduced to 5,000 tons. We quote: Provincials, 4⅝ to 4¾c. in bbls.; fine Filiatras, in bbls., 4¾ to 4⅞c.; do, half-bbls., 4¾ to 4⅞c.; Patras, 5¼ to 5½c. in bbls., 5¼ to 5½c. in half-bbls., and 5½c. in cases; Vostizzas, cases, 6 to 8c.

Valencia raisins are dull and weak. Some fruit held on spot was offered at less than cost but failed to secure purchasers. The market in New York is also weak. We quote: Off-stalk, 5 to 5¼c.; fine off-stalk, 5¾ to 6c.; selected, 6¾ to 7c.; layers, 7 to 7½c.

California loose muscatel raisins continue dull, with prices nominally unchanged. We quote: 3-crown, 7½c.; 4-crown, 8 to 8½c.

Figs are dull and featureless. We quote: 10 oz., 7½c.; 10 lb., 9 to 10c.; 18 lb., 10 to 12c.; 28 lb., 11 to 13c.; taps, 3¼ to 3½c. net; natural, 4½c. in bags, and 7c. in boxes.

Advices from England report an easier feeling in Persian dates, the consumption there not being up to expectations. We quote: 5½ to 6c. for Hallowee and 5 to 5¼c. for Kadrowee.

The larger sizes of California prunes are scarce and dearer, but in other sizes the feeling is rather weaker. Locally there is a slightly better demand for California prunes. We quote: Bosnias, U's (110 to 113 half kilo), 6 to 6½c.; C's (85 to 90 half kilo), 7 to 7½c. per lb. California, 90 to 100's, 6½c. per lb.; 70 to 80's, 7½c.; 60 to 70's, 7½ to 8c.; 50 to 60's, 8 to 8½c.; 40 to 50's, 9½ to 10½c.; 30 to 40's, 12½ to 13c.; "Ruby" prunes, 7½ to 8c.; French, 4½ to 5c.

locally, as well as in the outside markets, and mail advices from the primary market report the export enquiries are sufficient to absorb the remaining stocks on the Coast. On the Toronto market apricots in boxes are almost, if not altogether, exhausted. We quote: Peaches, 7 to 10½c. per lb., according to quality; apricots, 6½ to 15c.; pears, 5½ to 10½c.; egg plums, 5½ to 11c.; silver prunes, 8½ to 13½c.

GREEN FRUIT.

Oranges are in good demand with prices higher. The lemon market is active, and while prices locally are unchanged, an advance is reported from New York. Bananas are in good demand. A fair business is being done in pineapples. Strawberries are in good demand. The first shipment of new season's Egyptian onions are due here on Saturday. They will sell at about $3 per bag. We quote: Oranges — Valencias, ordinary, 420's, $4 to $4.50 per case; large 420's, $5.25 to $5.75; 714's, $4.75 to $5.50 California navels, $3.50 to $4.50 per box, according to size. California Tangerines, $2.75 per box. Lemons—Messinas, $2 to $2.75 per box for both 300's and 360's, and $2.25 to $2.50 for choice; cocoanuts, $3.75 a sack and 60c. per doz. Onions, $1.50 per 80 lb. bag for Danvers, and $3.50 per bag for Egyptians. Cranberries, Jerseys, $5 to $7 per bbl. and $2 per case; bananas, $1.50 to $2. Pineapples, 20 to 25c. each. Strawberries, $3.25 to $3.50 per case for pints. Cucumbers, $1.75 per dozen.

APPLES.

A slight further improvement is to be noted in the English market. Locally the market is much as before. Local quotations are: $1.50 to $2 for Spies, $1 to $1.50 for Russets and Baldwins and $1.25 for Ben Davis.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

Butter—Receipts of large rolls are more liberal, but all good to choice coming forward is quickly picked up. Creamery butter is fairly plentiful and the demand for it is steady. Prices are unchanged. We quote: Dairy butter—Tubs, 12 to 14c. for good to choice; low-grade to medium, 7 to 10c.; large rolls, 13 to 14½c. for good to choice, and 7 to 10c. for low-grade to medium; pound prints, 14 to 16c. for good to choice. Creamery—Tubs, 18 to 19c.; 1-lb. blocks, 19 to 20c., according to make.

little easier. New cheese is now coming forward freely and is selling at lower figures. A fair-sized lot changed hands a few days ago at 9c. Jobbers' ruling selling price, however, is 10c. October and September makes are quoted at 11 to 11½c.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

BEANS—The market is still without improvement. Jobbers, as a rule, quote mixed at 40 to 50c. and hand-picked at 65 to 75c.

DRIED APPLES—Prices are a little easier. The demand is dull, but an improvement is looked for at the opening of navigation. Choice are quoted by wholesalers at 2 to 2½c., and fancy at 2½ to 3c.

EVAPORATED APPLES—Are still dull. Wholesale quotations are : Quarters, 2¾c.; sliced, 3c.; best brands, 4 to 5c.

HONEY—Quiet. We quote : Comb, 80 to 90c. per dozen for dark and $1.50 to $1.75 for light ; strained, 6 to 7c. per lb.

EGGS—Supplies are none too large, and in consequence prices are firmer at from 9½ to 10c.

POULTRY—Continues scarce and firm in price. We quote : Chickens, 40 to 60c. per pair ; turkeys, 11 to 12c. for bright stock; geese, 7 to 9c. ; ducks, 60 to 80c.

MAPLE SYRUP AND SUGAR—Deliveries of both syrup and sugar are liberal and the demand is good. We quote : Syrup, 65 to 75c. per tin and at 70 to 75c. per Imperial gallon in five-gallon tins ; sugar, 8 to 8½c. per lb.

POTATOES—The market is still dull and weak at 18 to 20c. per bag in carload lots on track ; out of store jobbers quote 25 to 30c.

FISH AND OYSTERS.

The fish market remains quiet at unchanged prices. We quote : Manitoba white fish, 5½ to 6c.; ditto in kegs, $4.50 ; frozen trout, 5c.; ditto in kegs, $4.50; pickerel, 6c. per lb.; haddies, 6c. per lb. ; Labrador herring, $4.50 to $5 per bbl. and $2.75 per half-bbl. ; split herring, $4.50 per bbl. and $2.50 per half-bbl.; boneless fish, 3½ to 4c. per lb.; pure cod, 6½ to 6¾c. per lb. ; ciscoes, $1.25 per 100; haddock, 4½c. per lb.; steak cod, 6c. per lb.; frozen herring, 4c.; sea herring, $1 per 100 ; fresh water herring (heads off), $2.50 per keg ; smelts, 6 to 9c. Oysters are quoted at $1.20 for standards, and $1.50 for selects.

SALT.

Trade is a little better than it was. We quote at Toronto: In carload lots, $1 per bbl. and 60c. per sack ; in less than carload lots, $1.05 per bbl. and 65c. per sack. At the wells we quote : F.O.B. barrels, 70c.; sacks 50c. for points west of Toronto, and 45c. for Toronto and points east of Toronto.

PROVISIONS AND DRESSED HOGS.

Business continues active in all kinds of of cured meats. A little stronger feeling has developed in regard to dressed hogs, some of the packers who had practically stopped cutting having again begun operations. Light hogs are quoted at $6.25 to $6.50, and heavy hogs at $5.75 to $6.

DRY SALTED MEATS—Long clear bacon, 7c. for carload lots, and 7¼ to 7½c. per lb. for ton lots and cases ; backs, 8c.

SMOKED MEATS—Breakfast bacon, 11c.; rolls, 7½ to 8c. ; hams, large, 22 lbs. and over, 10½ to 11c.; medium, 15 to 20 lbs., 11½c.; small hams, 11¾c. ; backs, 10 to 11c. ; shoulder hams, 7c.; all meats out of pickle, 1c. less than above.

LARD—Pure Canadian, tierces, 6½c.; tubs, 6¾c.; pails, 7 to 7¼c.

BARREL PORK—Canadian heavy mess, $12.50 ; Canadian short-cut, $13 to $13.50 ; clear shoulder mess, $11 to $11.50.

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN—Receipts of grain are moderate. Prices are a little better than a week ago. We quote : Wheat, 74 to 75c. for white and 73 to 74c. for red, and 63 to 63½c. for goose ; oats, 21 to 23c.; peas, 41 to 41½c.

FLOUR—A slight improvement in the demand is to be noted, and millers have some confidence that prices have touched the bottom. We quote in carloads on track, Toronto : Manitoba patents, $4.70; Manitoba strong bakers', $4.30; Ontario patents, $4.30 to $4.50 ; straight roller, $3.85 to $4, Toronto freights.

BREAKFAST FOODS—Business in breakfast foods is still light. We quote: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $2.80 in bags and $2.90 in bbls.; rolled wheat, $2.50 to $2.60 in 100-lb. bbls.; cornmeal, $2.25 to $2.35; split peas, $3 to $3.25; pot barley, $3 to $3.25.

PETROLEUM.

Trade remains much about the same as it has for some weeks past. We quote in 1 to 10 bbl. lots, imperial gallon, Toronto : Canadian, 15c.; carbon, safety, 17c.; Canadian water white, 17c.; American water white, 19c.; Pratt's astral, 18½c. in bulk.

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL.

HIDES—Are unchanged with cured quoted at 8¼ to 8½c. Dealers pay 7½c. for No. 1, 6½c. for No. 2, and 5½c. for No. 3.

CALFSKINS—Market is dull at 7 to 8c. for No. 1, and 5 to 6c for No. 2. Sheep and lambskins, $1.10 to $1.25.

WOOL— The market is quiet and prices unchanged. Combing fleece nominal at 21 to 22c. and rejections 17c. Pulled supers are 20 to 21c., and extras at 22 to 23c.

MARKET NOTES.

Eggs are firmer.

The larger sizes of California prunes are a little higher.

Refined sugars are from ⅛ to 3-16c. lower in New York.

Choice apricots in boxes are almost exhausted in the Toronto market.

The first shipment of new season's Egyptian onions is due here on Saturday.

Local buyers of glucose are holding off till the new tariff is brought down, anticipating a modification in the present duty.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, April 15, 1897.

GROCERIES.

THE week has not developed much change in the position of staple groceries. A fair amount of business was transacted in sugar at the advance, while the speculative demand has almost exhausted the supplies of low-grade black and Japan teas in first hands. Syrups continue dull, and importers still continue backward in regard to purchasing molasses for spring delivery. Spices and coffee are much as they were, and canned doods are dull.

SUGAR.

There has been no striking change in the sugar market since last report. At the advance recently quoted the tone has been firm, and a fair amount of business transacted both at the refineries and from jobbers' hands. Cables report beet sugar somewhat easier in England for April and May, but the change has only been ¼d. from a week ago. In New York both raw and refined continue steady. Prices here are firmly held by jobbers at 4⅜ to 4½c. on granulated and 3½ to 3⅞c. on yellows.

SYRUPS.

There has been no change in the syrup market. Demand has been limited and prices unchanged, at 1⅜ to 1⅞c., as to quantity and quality.

MOLASSES.

Uncertainty about the tariff and contradictory advices from the Island deter importers of molasses from doing business. Barbadoes molasses in cargo lots is offered at 17c. cost and freight, or the equivalent of 23c. per gallon laid down duty paid in Montreal, but nothing has come of the offer up to this writing. In fact, although a number of offers have been cabled to the Islands lately from Canada, no purchases of any moment are yet spoken off. On spot business is dull and prices difficult to quote, but 28 to 30c. is a wide enough range to cover all ideas.

RICE.

There has been only a small hand-to-mouth business in rice and prices are steady. We quote: Crystal Japan, $5 to $5.25; standard B., $3.50; Patna, $4.50 to $5.25; Carolina, $6.75 to $7.75; choice Bermuda, $4, and Java kinds, $4.25.

SPICES.

Demand for spices continues moderate, being only for small lots to fill actual wants. Singapore pepper is offered at 4⅝d. and black 3d., cost and freight Montreal, but importers are not doing much at present in anything. We quote: Black pepper, 10c.; pure white, 12 to 15c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 20 to 25c.; cloves, 15c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; do., best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 10 to 14c.; nutmegs, 35 to 75c.

COFFEE.

Coffee continues dull and much the same as it was last week. We quote: Maracaibo, 15 to 20c.; Santos, 13 to 18c.; Rio, 13 to 16c.; Mocha, 24 to 26c., and Java, 22 to 27c.

TEAS.

There has been continued movement in tea during the past week and supplies of low-grade Japans and blacks in first hands are almost entirely absorbed. In a jobbing way also there has been a fair enquiry. We quote: Young Hysons, 13 to 18c. for low grades, 25 to 28c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 12 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 15 to 21c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 16½ to 20c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for higher grades.

DRIED FRUIT.

There has been no change in Valencia raisins. We quote: Ordinary off-stalk, 5¼ to 5½c. fine, 5¾ to 6c.; and selected, 6¼ to 6½c., with layers, 6¾ to 7c.

California raisins are firmly held. Stocks are light here and advices from primary markets indicate that there is very little stock remaining to come east between now and the next crop. We quote: 2-crown, 6½ to 6¾c.; 3-crown, 7 to 7½c.; 4-crown, 8 to 8½c.

The currant market is steady with demand light. Prices range from 4 to 4½c. on Provincials and Filiatras, to 5½ to 6c. on Patras fruit.

The prune market is dull and the stock available here chiefly consists of the smaller sizes. We quote Californias at a range of 7 to 9c., according to size and quality. Very few French or Austrian prunes remain in stock. There is no change in figs or dates, the former ranging from 8 to 12c., and the latter 5 to 6c., as to quality.

NUTS.

There is only a small trade in nuts. We quote: Grenoble walnuts, 11 to 12c.; Brazils, 11c.; almonds, 10 to 10½c.; do shelled, 17 to 18c.; filberts, 8½ to 9c.; peanuts, 7 to 9c.; and cocoanuts, $3.50 to $3.75 per 100.

CANNED GOODS.

There has been very little change in canned goods during the past week. We quote: Tomatoes, 75 to 85c.; corn, 60 to 90c.; peas, 80 to 90c.; beans, 70c. up; peaches, $1.50 to $1.80 for 2's; raspberries, $1.40 to $2; strawberries, $1.80 to $2.45, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.90 to $2.20; cherries, $2.40 to $2.45; apples, 3's, 85 to 90c.; gallons, $1.55 to $1.65; pumpkins, 75 to 85c.; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.40 to $1.45; "Clover Leaf," $1.35; "Lion," $1.37½ to $1.40; Lowe Inlet, $1.30, in tall tins; cohoes $1.05 to $1.15; canned mackerel, $1.25; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.20 to $1.25; 2's, $2.15 to $2.25; 6's, $6.75 to $7; 14's, $14 to $15; lobsters, $8.50 to $11 per case; French sardines, $10.25 to $11 extra brands; ordinary brands, $8 to $9; Canadian brands, $4.25.

GREEN FRUIT.

Very little change has been shown since last week. Lemons are in fair demand, with prices steady, and the same can be said of oranges. Bananas are very plentiful, and prices are lower. Cranberries are a glut on the market. Pineapples continue steady. We quote: Valencia oranges, $3.50 to $4 per box; lemons, $1.75 to $3 per box; cranberries, $1 to $4 per bbl.; Malaga grapes, $7.50 to $8; bananas, 75c. to $2 per bunch; pineapples, 14 to 35c. each; asparagus, $4.50 to $5 per dozen; California celery, $1.25 per dozen; southern spinach, $2.50 to $3.

APPLES.

The apple market was dull and unchanged at $1 to $1.75 per bbl., and possibly these prices would be shaded.

DRIED APPLES.

There is no call either for dried or evaporated apples, the former dragging at 3c. and the latter at 3¾c.

FISH.

The pickled fish market continues dull, with prices purely nominal. In smoked and prepared fish a small jobbing trade is passing at the following: Haddies, 5 to 6c. for Lower Province, and 6 to 7c. for Portland; Yarmouth bloaters, 75 to 85c. per box, and kippered herrings, 85c. to $1 per box.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—Demand for eggs has been more active lately, but there is no change in prices, which are 9½ to 10c.

MAPLE PRODUCTS—In maple products a fair trade was reported and prices show no change. Syrup sold at 50c. per small tin; 55 to 60c. per large tin, and at 4¾ to 5c. per lb. in wood. Sugar met with a fair sale at 6¾ to 7c. per lb.

BEANS—Business in beans was dull at 55 to 60c. in car lots, and at 65 to 70c. in a small way.

POTATOES—The market for potatoes was quiet at 35 to 40c. per bag in car lots, for choice lots.

ONIONS — Red onions are in very light supply and prices are firmer than they were, at $2.50 per bbl. for good sound packed stock.

HOPS—Steady and unchanged at 12 to 13c. for 1896 crop, and 5 to 6½c. for yearlings.

TALLOW—Continues quiet at 1¾ to 3c., according to quality.

HONEY—Quiet. White clover selling at 9c. and extracted 6 to 8c.

PROVISIONS.

There has been a good demand for hams and bacon for the Easter trade, and as supplies are not large the tone of the market is firm at the recent advance. In pork and lard trade is quiet. We quote: Canadian pork, $12 to $13 per bbl.; pure Canadian lard, in pails, 6 to 6½c., and compound refined at 4½ to 5c. per lb.; hams, 10 to 12½c., and bacon, 10½ to 11c. per lb.

FLOUR, MEAL AND FEED.

The flour market has ruled unsettled and irregular, and prices are lower in some cases than a week ago. For winter wheat patents prices show a decline of 5 to 10c., per barrel with sales at $4.25 to $4.40. Ontario straight roller is quoted at $3.85 to $4, but dealers state it is almost impossible to obtain the outside figure. In regard to choice Manitoba strong bakers' outside dealers state that sales are being made at $4.25, but millers still continue to quote $4.40 to $4.50, and spring patents at $4.60 to $4.70. Outside brands of strong bakers' are selling at $4.

The tone of the feed market is steady and values show no change. Manitoba bran is quoted at $12, and shorts at $13 per ton, including bags. Ontario bran is held at $12, and shorts at $13 per ton in bulk.

The tone of the market for oatmeal is easier, and although there has been no actual decline in prices, dealers state that it is difficult to make sales at present figures. Rolled oats are quoted at $2.70 to $2.80 per barrel, and at $1.35 to $1.40 per bag.

BALED HAY.

There was no change in the situation of the hay market. The demand for car lots is fair and sales are being made $9.50 to $10 for No. 1, and at $8.50 for No. 2 per ton, on track.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

There was no change in the local situation of the cheese market. A few lots of fodder cheese arrived and were taken on the basis of 10¼c., and no material change from this level is expected until business in the country opens out in earnest.

Butter exhibits an easier tendency under steadily increasing receipts of new creamery, almost 10,000 packages having been received here since the middle of last month. Offers were made to-day of creamery at 19½c., and 19 to 19½c. was the general idea to-day, although possibly a fraction more might still be obtainable for special parcels.

MONTREAL NOTES.

American buyers have almost cleaned the market up here of red onions.

The first fruit steamers have sailed from the Mediterranean for Montreal.

The supplies of low-grade Japan and black teas in first hands are almost all absorbed.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER.

ST. JOHN, N.B., April 15, 1897.

BUSINESS during the week has been but fair. Another item of groceries which it is thought may have a duty placed on it is fine salt. Collections are but fair. Some blame lies with the wholesale dealers, who are not sharp enough in collecting accounts and too easily agree to renewals. In cream of tartar the market is rather easier.

OIL—There is nothing new to report. Prices remain unchanged. Dealers are finding increased demand for lubricating. Many buyers, unable to wait longer to see what the change in duty will be, are buying, though in such quantities as they need for immediate use. Sale of burning oil is light. We quote: Best American burning oil, 19½ to 20c.; Canadian, 18¼ to 19c.; prime, 16 to 17c.

SALT— There is less salt here at this time than it was expected there would be, owing to a steamer going ashore on the Nova Scotia coast bound for here with some five thousand sacks on board. The arrival, however, of another steamer from Liverpool with a large quantity on board (some 20,000 bags) prevents any shortage and allows all orders to be filled promptly. Quite a quantity of the latter cargo is fine salt. The importers are pleased to receive it before the tariff is brought down. A duty on factory-filled salt would not surprise, as the fine salt interest of Canada is a large one. We quote as follows: Coarse, 43 to 45c.; Liverpool factory-filled, 90c. to $1; Canadian fine, 90c. to $1 per bag.; 5-lb. bags, in bbls., $3 to $3.25; 10-lb. bags, in bbls., $2.85 to $3; butter and cheese salt, bulk, $2.60 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c. each; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c. each; cartoons, $2 per case of 2 doz

CANNED GOODS—The feeling is upward, but dealers have hard work to get advanced prices. Many are holding peas and tomatoes rather than sell below their ideas. Salmon is in fair demand, and prices are not more than maintained. The presence of some cheaper grades on the market rather weakens it. Lobsters are becoming a luxury. The high prices affect the sale very much in the local market. Demand for sardines is small, and chiefly for French. The local packed are shipped west. We quote: Corn, 65 to 70c.; peas, 75 to 80c.; tomatoes, 80 to 85c.; gallon apples, $1.75 to $1.80; corned beef, Canadian, $2.25 to $2.35; American, 2-lb tins, $2.40 to $2.50; 1-lb tins, $1.30 to $1.50; oysters, 2's, $2 to $2.20; 1's, $1.40 to $1.50; peaches, 3's, Canadian, $2.75 to $3; 2's, $1.75 to GREEN FRUIT—Valencia oranges have been quite scarce here this week. The arrival of the last Liverpool steamer caused quite a rush with the fruit trade. The stock arrived in splendid shape. Californias continue to have a light sale. A few California bloods have been in the city. In lemons sale is better and prices quoted higher. A few cranberries are being imported, but there is a light sale. Quite a large stock of soft goods are here. Apples have a steady sale and a good price is obtained for extra grade. Average stock sells low. First regular shipments of loose bunch bananas are being received. It is too early for large sales. Lettuce has a steady sale at 60c. per dozen. We quote : Messina lemons, $3 to $3.50; oranges, Valencia, $3.50 to $5 ; California oranges, $3.55 to $4 ; bananas, $1.50 to $2.25 ; apples, $1 to $3 per bbl. ; cranberries, Cape Cod, $3 to $7 per bbl.; bog cranberries, native, $3 to $4.

DRIED FRUIT — At this season there is but a limited sale for these lines. Some 4-crown loose muscatels (California) are offered here rather lower and quality is good. They were bought at a bargain. The raisin market shows no change. Onions are now sold almost entirely by the crate. First shipments of New Bermndas are here. Evaporated apples are rather firmer ; good stock is scarce, and holders feel confident of better prices. California prunes have a fair sale. Market tends firmer, particularly for the smaller sizes. We quote : Valencias, 5¼ to 6c. ; California L. M. 3-crown, 7¼ to 7¾c.; London layers, $1.75 to $2 ; currants, cases, 4¾ to 5c.; bbls., 4¼ to 4½c.; cartoons, cleaned, 7¼ to 7¾c.; bulk, cleaned, 6¼ to 6½c.; prunes, boxes, 5 to 10c.; dates, 4½ to 5c.; dried apples, 3 to 3½c.; evaporated apples, 5c.; onions, $1.40 to $1.50 per crate; cocoanuts, $3.25 to $3.50 per 100 lbs.; figs, 10 to 12c.; Sultana raisins, 7½ to 9c.; Valencias, layers, 6½ to 7c.; Malaga loose muscatels, 6 to 6½c.; 4-crown L. M. Californias, 8¼ to 9c.; seeded muscatels, 1-lb. cartoons, 12 to 13c.

SUGAR—Market is higher and held very firm. The local price, however, works up slowly and is only about the same as that asked by the refineries. Sale is hardly as active, though higher prices are looked for. Stocks here are large. We quote : Granulated, 4¼ to 4¾c.; yellows, 3⅛ to 3¾c. ; Paris lump, 5¾ to 6c.; powdered, 5½ to 6c.

MOLASSES — The West India steamer, which arrived this week, brought 350 casks Barbadoes, and 90 casks St. Croix. As the quality of the Barbadoes this season is good and price very low, it will affect the demand for Porto Rico, some of which is expected shortly. Some New Orleans continues to arrive. There is a good demand, but price, now that Barbadoes is landing low, affects the sale. We quote: Barbadoes, 25 to 28c.; Porto Rico, 27 to 28c.; New Orleans, bbls., 26 to 28c. ; Antigua, 24 to 26c.; syrup, 36 to 38c.

DAIRY PRODUCE.—Butter has a better demand, and good butter is scarce. There is, however, not expected to be much advance in price. Eggs keep scarce and have a steady sale. Retailers must be losing money; at least, not making any. They are trying hard to keep the price at 12c., but they find it hard to buy at that, this week eggs having sold freely by the case for a cent more. In cheese, the new which has arrived is very nice. While prices are a little below first shipments very little change is looked for. As yet dealers buy in small quantities. It is expected New Brunswick and Nova Scotia factories will start early this season, and after that there is no demand for the Ontario made. We quote : Dairy butter, 14 to 18c.; creamery, 20 to 21c.; prints, 20 to 22c.; eggs, 12 to 13c.; cheese, 11½ to 12c.

FISH—Except in fresh gaspereaux there is little excitement. The catch of these fish has much improved and prices are lower. So far, those caught have been sold either fresh or smoked, but in a week they will begin to pickle them. Owing to a better market in Cuba, dried hake, which were very flat, have shown better value. This is, however, a market easily overstocked. Dry hake are the best dry fish we have for a hot climate. In halibut the supply is better and prices quoted lower. In smoked herring rather better prices have ruled this week, but they are still low. Dry cod and pickled herring are dull. In kippered herring the season is about over. Bloaters still have some movement, but at low figures. There are no lobsters to speak of offered. We quote : Large cod, $3.25 to $3.50; medium, $2.75 to $3; pollock, $1.15 to $1.25; bay herring, $1.30 to $1.35 per half-bbl.; smoked, new, 6 to 7c.; shad, half-bbl, $4.50 to $5.50; boneless, 2½ to 8c.; bloaters, 50 to 65c. per box ; Barrington, $3.25 per bbl.; Shelburne, $3.50 per bbl.; lobsters, 4 to 12c. each, small.

PROVISIONS—Prices continue very firm, but there is not a large sale. Some merchants make the mistake of setting barrel pork and beef on end. This should never be done, except where a merchant might be retailing from a barrel. Hams and rolls we mark higher, particularly the former. Some of our local curers have been shipping quite a quantity of smoked meat to Boston. They expect to be shut out by the new American tariff. We quote : Clear pork, $14.50 to $15.50; mess, $12 to $13 ; plate beef, $12 to $13 ; hams, 11½ to 12½c. ; rolls, 8 to 8½c. ; pure lard, 7½ to 8c.; compound, 6½ to 7c.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL—Prices in flour tend lower and buyers are offish. Oatmeal is steadier, but there has been no change during the week. Oats tend higher. Cornmeal also seems firmer and there is a large sale. During the week it has been somewhat scarce. About all used here is local ground. Beans are quiet and stocks held large. Sellers west are not pushing business. Prices are very low and recover very slowly. Middlings and bran keep high, but there is little sale here. Our dealers are just beginning to sell seed freely. They are well stocked, and bought low. The American seeds are low this year. We quote : Manitoba flour, $5 to $5.15 ; best Ontario, $4.60 to $4.65 ; medium, $4.30 to $4.40 ; oatmeal, $3.15 to $3.20 ; cornmeal, $1.80 to $1.85; middlings, car lots, in bulk, $15 to $16 ; bran, do, do, $14.50 to $15 ; hand-picked beans, 85 to 90c. prime, 70 to 80c.; oats, 32 to 33c. ; hay, $11 to $12 ; barley, $3 ; round peas, $1.15; split peas, $3.10 to $3.25 ; yellow eye beans, $1.50; timothy seed, Canadian, $2.20 to $2.40; do. do., American, $1.65 to $2 ; clover, 9 to 9½c.; alsike, 8½ to 9c.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

James Patterson received some fine fresh halibut this week.

D. W. Hoegg & Co., canners, of Fredericton, are always on the lookout for new markets. They expect this season to try Mexico.

Sussex merchants are finding business good this spring. Both W. B. McKay & Co. and S. H. White are increasing their warehouse room.

Maple sugar and syrup are now coming into the market freely. This province produces quite a quantity, but some is brought here from Quebec. The Quebec sugar is not popular.

The usual spring steamer from Antwerp arrived this week. Glass, cement and gin made up the larger part of the cargo. There were 9,500 cases glass, 1,200 bbls. cement and 1,400 cases gin.

A quantity of apples went forward to the English market via St. John last week, one shipper sending 600 bbls. Further shipments are expected this week. The bulk of the apples go via Halifax.

A. O. Hastings, the representative in these provinces for the Lake of the Woods Milling Co., is going to the West Indies in the company's interest. While he is away his place will be taken by W. W. Hutchinson.

In a barrel of onions sold by Baird & Peters this week was found a few which in their roots had small, very small, bits of gold. It is thought the land in which they were grown must have been the bed of a stream at some former time.

The Dominion Express Co. have introduced a new idea, at least for St. John. They are establishing agencies over the city where their money orders can be bought. This is particularly appreciated by those living in the outlying parts of the city. They have also reduced the rates on amounts up to $10.

The Exhibition Association of St. John did not succeed this year in getting a grant from the Local Government. They were told one reason of its refusal was the opposition of the city to the proposed tax on commercial travelers. It is, however, expected that there will be an exhibition, and the citizens are now subscribing to a guarantee fund.

Another regular freight steamer has been lost on her way from Liverpool to St. John. It is the steamer Assaye, about 5,000 tons, the largest steamer coming here. Beside local freight, she had a large quantity of goods for the west, including 3,000 boxes oranges. Over 150 cars of freight had already been secured for outward cargo. Another boat will be put on at once.

Fresh lobsters are quoted lower in Boston. Up till this time prices have ruled high. The quantity of lobsters shipped from Yarmouth, N. S., in 1896, to March 31, was 7,579 crates, valued at $88,906 ; while till March 31, 1897, the quantity was 7,793, valued at $94,401: It is said that Tusket River, Yarmouth, salmon sold in Boston last week as high as 85 to 90c. per pound.

CALIFORNIA LEMONS.

The Arlington Heights Fruit Co., of California, advise their Toronto agents that they have begun picking their crop of lemons and are now open for orders on both fancy and choice grades. "There is no doubt," they add, "the California lemons will soon take the place of the foreign fruit." Some of this firm's pack of lemons were recently shown in New York and sold for a fancy price at auction.

Lemon-growing is a new departure in California.

OUR STANDPOINT

In pushing our biscuits we admit there are already excellent brands on the market. We nevertheless have solid practical reasons for considering that are better, and this view is being convincingly confirmed by daily extensive and extending demands—the true touchstone of merit.

The Manufacturer, R. E. Jamieson, Ottawa

ANY OLD THING FOR GROCERIES.

IN the region near the markets, a little north, perhaps, there are certain stores that deal wholly in the so-called "necessities of life." The fact that the goods offered are, to a very large extent, of inferior quality, is proven by the class of customers who call there, says New England Grocer.

The writer has stood in front of one of these stores and watched the people who go in.

Almost without exception they are people who are after the greatest quantity for the least money, and to whom quality is no object.

The writer stopped in front of one of these stores the other day, attracted by a sign which said: "12 lbs. Tea for $1."

The writer asked the clerk what kind of tea it was, and he said, "Any kind."

The same reply was given with regard to coffee, which was advertised at 5 lbs. for $1.

We have made some enquiry about the tea. Tea cannot be manufactured. Whatever the price, it must be pure tea. The question comes on the quality. The retail grocer knows that there is no tea which he could sell to his family trade which could be sold for that price. From 50 to 60c. is the popular price, and with some classes of trade 75c. is about the average. The mystery with regard to this tea is that the poorest, dusty tea is worth more than ten cents per pound, and in all the importing and jobbing houses in Boston not enough sweepings are produced to supply the demand of these stores. And even if there was, it would be worth more money.

Where, then, does it come from? It is a practical impossibility for a tea grading below the fixed standard to get into the country.

These stores claim to purchase direct from the importers.

As for the coffee, we have made up our minds with regard to that and have no word to offer. In the coffee, however, we think we scent an old trail taken up and followed some years ago.

St. Albans, Vt., creamery butter is advertised at 20 cents per pound.

At our request, a man who knows all about butter went in and asked the price. He was given the figure.

"Is it very nice butter?" he asked.

"Yes, very nice," the clerk answered.

He asked to be shown a 5-pound tub, and tasted it.

In reporting to us, he said: "When I tasted some butter from the middle of the tub and tasted the flavor of wood, I made up my mind as to its being St. Albans creamery. Nit."

Now, as to canned goods. The canned goods sold are healthy goods. To be sure, they are not what you and I, gentle reader, would place on our tables, but they are healthful eating. They are not even "swell-heads," but any one knows that, for various natural reasons canned goods can be purchased to sell at any price.

"Five gallons Porto Rico molasses for $1.50."

Came from New York, probably. That being the case, we do not need to enter into detailed explanations.

"Best laundry soap, 32 full-sized bars, $1."

No brand is given, and none appears. There are hundreds of soaps of no standing on the market, and of no real value.

Without a doubt the most of the low-priced goods sold are cheap, damaged stuff—on which, even at the prices asked, there is a good profit.

We are fully aware that there are some standard goods sold at less than the regular wholesale price; but what stores lose on a few such goods they probably more than make up on the cheap stuffs, so they can well afford to offer a few good things as a bait.

But in this latter respect we fail to discover why they are doing any worse business than the large department stores in Boston.

A NEW MINERAL WATER.

A new mineral table water is being put upon the market. It is named "Canesda." Its purity and excellence have been settled beyond peradventure by analysis, and it is put up in handsomely labeled bottles. A number of the leading citizens of Toronto and Hamilton have pronounced it good and they are now using it regularly. In price it is much cheaper than most mineral waters upon the market, thus overcoming one of the chief difficulties to the general use of mineral waters by people of all classes and conditions. A company, to be known as the Canesda Mineral Water Co., is being organized, with Mr. Henry Wright, of MacLaren's Imperial Cheese Co., as president. The company is now looking for desirable agents in every town of the Dominion.

Lucas, Steele & Bristol : "Do you want a perfect baking molasses ? If so, order 'Bargain' from us. It is in barrels and halves."

"Our 'Gilt Edge' marmalade in 7-lb. pails is gaining us trade every day," say Lucas, Steele & Bristol. "Quality is equal to many imported brands."

WHERE NEXT ?

The Rigaud Mountain Syrup Co. had an advertisement in one issue of THE GROCER. They sold most of the output in the Northwest and British Columbia, but had not enough to fill all the orders they received. They were very much surprised at receiving an enquiry from Germany, saying they had seen the advertisement in THE CANADIAN GROCER.

Next season they may hear from more distant parts, for if Dr. Nansen reaches the Pole the first thing that will likely meet his eye will be the subscription agent waiting for his signature for THE GROCER.

Robert Greig & Co. have a stock of Buchanan's Scotch and home-made marmalade in tin and glass jars.

Robert Greig & Co.'s factory has been working nights lately to keep up with the demand for the "Crown" brand extracts. Large shipments were made last week to both eastern and western points.

"Empire" baking powder is packed in 2 and 4-dozen cases. The package is a handsome one and sells briskly. Lucas, Steele & Bristol have registered this "Empire" brand.

HINTS TO BUYERS.

[This department has become so popular that many more notices than there is space for are received every week. In future only important items of information will be inserted. Contributors are requested to send news only, not puffs of goods they handle, or the arrival of standard goods that everyone has in stock, or that they are offering goods at close figures, or that they have had an unusually large sale this season.]

THE EBY, BLAIN CO., LTD., report the arrival of a shipment of "Plymouth Rock" gelatine, both pink and white. They say that there is an active demand for this article.

Another direct shipment of Ceylon teas is arriving this week for the Davidson & Hay, Ltd.

Barbadoes and bright New Orleans molasses received this week by H. P. Eckardt & Co.

Several large consignments of Indian and Ceylon teas arrived this week for the Eby, Blain Co., Ltd.

Clemes Bros. have a shipment of new season's Egyptian onions due at the end of the week.

The Eby, Blain Co., Ltd., are in receipt of a shipment of Japan teas which they claim are exceptional value.

The Davidson & Hay, Ltd., report that they are showing some extra values in medium bright syrups in half-barrels.

The Eby, Blain Co., Ltd., are offering some fancy Eleme table figs in bags of about 50 lbs. at a low figure.

H. P. Eckardt & Co. are offering maple syrup in gallon cans, made in Eastern Ontario, where the best comes from.

The Davidson & Hay, Ltd., offer fancy evaporated apricots and peaches at cut figures in order to clear out stock.

D. Gunn, Bros. & Co. report the demand for their hams and breakfast bacon as unusually brisk for this time of the year.

"'Oriole salmon,' with handsome gilt label, quite equal to the best, we are quoting at low figures," report T. B. Escott & Co.

T. Kinnear & Co. report that they are offering "U" brand Sphinx prunes at reasonable prices; also California prunes all sizes.

The Davidson & Hay, Ltd., report a large number of orders received for "Washington" lye, as advertised in last week's GROCER.

T. B. Escott & Co. have received several large shipments of tea from India and Ceylon, which they are offering to the trade at low figures.

Bart Cottam & Co. wish to draw the attention of the trade to the reduction in the price of some of their brands of bird seed, as quoted on page 40 of this week's GROCER. "Cottams Bird Seed," however, remains at the same price, as this brand is manufactured under six patents.

"We have still some of the great bargains in corn and peas left, and shall be able to offer them for a few days longer," write T. B. Escott & Co.

Perkins, Ince & Co. have arriving a shipment of French sardines in olive oil. It is the "Agathos" brand with key opener, and the quality is highly recommended.

An attractive package jelly in powdered form is the latest addition to the output of the factory of the Pure Gold Manufacturing Co. Their travelers show it this week for the first time. The quality is most excellent, and they anticipate a large sale.

The F. F. Dalley Co. state that they had intended to make an exhibit at the Pure Food Show held last week in Hamilton, but through the rush of business and delays in getting labels they had to forego the opportunity of showing the public the fine package goods which they put up.

T. B. Escott & Co. have just received one carload three-crown molasses in barrels and half-barrels. "This is extra quality," writes the firm, "and we are selling at low price. One car dark molasses we are offering very cheap. A carload of sal soda, bought before the recent advance, we are offering at low figures."

NO RIGHT TO ASK IT.

"I see it's got a No. 15 neck, too. That's the size I wear. I want one just like it."

"Yes, sir. Here's one that we think is a little better at the same price."

"This doesn't suit me as well. I want one of the same kind as that one out there."

"Yes, sir. How will this style do? You notice it has a better binding around the ——"

"No; that isn't what I came in to buy. I want a 50-cent shirt of the kind you're exhibiting in that show case. How many more times have I got to tell you?"

"That's no better shirt than these I'm showing you. In fact, it isn't as good. We haven't more shirts like that, anyway."

"All gone but that?"

"Yes, sir."

"All right. I'll take that one."

"Well, I guess not. That's my sample."

TO CURE SHEEPSKINS.

In curing sheepskins the skin should be laid on a smooth board, with the wool side underneath; stretch well and fasten down with tacks. All bits of fat, etc., should be well cleaned off, and the skin well brushed over with a brush and a solution of salt and water. Dissolve 3 oz. saltpetre in 2 quarts of warm water, and brush over several times daily for about twenty-one days with this solution.

TO SHUT OUT CANADIAN BEANS.

IT is expected by all authorities on the bean market that the great increase in the duty on beans will permanently advance the market price for at least medium and pea beans in all American markets. It is stated that the only reason these grades of beans have been so low during the past several months is that the Canadian beans have been allowed by the low duty to come to this country in competition with them.

Under the old tariff law beans paid 20 per cent. ad valorem. Under the new Act they will pay 50 cents per bushel of 60 pounds, which is an approximate increase of 100 per cent. The bulk of the medium and pea beans which are imported comes from Canada. New York, Michigan and the Western States all produce large quantities of these beans, and it is estimated that the supply raised in all parts of this country is fully ample for the American demand. The Canadians, however, working under considerably less expense, have raised large quantities of both medium and pea beans, and have sent them here at a lower price than those raised in this country. The price on both grades is at present lower than it has ever been before. During the last few weeks both have sold from first hands at 82½c. per bushel. While Canada exports no marrow beans, these have also declined in this country in sympathy with the other grades.

Undoubtedly the price of beans will be considerably higher all around if the Canadian beans are excluded, as the Philadelphia bean handlers expect they will be after the new tariff goes into effect. The new rates are believed to be almost prohibitory, and they may raise the price in this country to such a point that even at a higher duty the Canadian beans can still come in here and undersell the American.—Grocery World, Philadelphia.

KEEN'S PUPPIES.

Frank Magor & Co., of 16 St. John street, Montreal, the Canadian agents for Keen's mustard, write as follows: "We recently distributed a large number of Keen's show cards throughout Canada and made special efforts to get at outlying districts through THE GROCER. Quite a few responded to our offer to forward, free of charge, copies of 'Tickets Please,' fox terrier with puppies, etc. These are now going out of print, so please apply early if any more are wanted."

FISH BISCUITS.

THE St. John's N.F. correspondent of The Fishing Gazette writes his paper as follows; "In a previous letter mention was made of what is likely to prove a valuable industry to Newfoundland—an industry which will use up many quintals of codfish. We refer to the Sahlstrom fish biscuits. The writer had an interview with Prof. Sahlstrom yesterday, the gist of which is as follows:

"All kinds of fish can be used as raw material, but cod, haddock, flat fish, etc., are preferable. The fish can be used fresh, salt or dried; every nutritious and soluble part of the fish is utilized, which means a saving in raw material of over 30 per cent.

"Other ingredients are used in the manufacture of these biscuits which highly increase their nutritious value, and the professor claims that they contain more nutritious matter than any other food sold at at the same price. Certain it is that a large percentage of phosphor is contained in them. Being perfectly dry the biscuits will stand any climate. They are free from water and are very light in weight—16 to the pound.

"A factory for manufacturing from 2,000,000 to 5,000,000 pounds of these biscuits will cost from $12,000 to $25,000. The professor says: 'It is my intention to try to start a factory on a large scale in Newfoundland, but it will probably be some time before I can get any quantity on the market. I have applied for a patent for Newfoundland and intend doing the same for other countries.'

"The cost of manufacture is about 4 cents. Add 2 cents as profit to the manufacturer and 2 cents to the retailer; they can be sold to the public at the low price of 8 cents per pound. As when properly soaked they absorb from once and a half to twice their weight of water, this food will be so cheap as to be within the means of the poorest classes.

"I have mailed some samples to fish dealers in Boston and New York and to the editor of this journal, to whom, also, I have sent directions for cooking, and I think all will agree that to introduce such a food into the United States—a cheap and wholesome food—would confer a boon upon the rich and poor alike."

JAMIESON'S BISCUITS.

The Jamieson biscuits, manufactured by R. E. Jamieson, of Ottawa, are among the best values on the market. It is only a year since the goods were first introduced to the trade and now there is a demand for them all over the country.

CALIFORNIA FRUIT CROPS.

In its last issue The California Fruit Grower says regarding frost damage in California: "The weather has moderated, rain is falling and the danger from frosts has passed for the present. Our reports by wire and mail indicate considerable damage by frost in many sections of the state. At Chico, Vina and Red Bluff the apricot and almond crops are reported ruined, and some damage to peaches. In the San Joaquin Valley, below Fresno, the damage to apricots and peaches has been heavy. In the Napa and Sonoma Valleys some damage has resulted. But the state as a whole has not suffered nearly as much as the early reports indicated. The prospect for the prune crop continues good, with but little damage reported."

THE RICE CROP.

Wm. G. Hale & Co.'s circular, Saigon, March 6th, says of rice: Market of late unsettled and closed somewhat easier; supplies continue to come in freely. Demand for Java has entirely increased; that for Japan has slackened; fresh contracts made for Europe; No. 7 white, steamer milled, $3.45 for round; No. 2 do., $2.80. Exports of white rice, cargo Erie and Paddy, this year to March 6th, 2,006,200 pounds.

PERTINENT SHOP TALK.

A CHAIN
Is no stronger
Than its weakest link.

Theories are all right.

But facts sometimes refute them.

You may make all sorts of rules for the conduction of your business.

But one of your clerks can do more damage by breaking these rules

Than you can undo in a year.

Take the question of returning goods.

Let me give you a little instance.

There is a grocery store very near the railroad station.

I pass it twice a day.

The proprietor usually keeps his windows attractively dressed

And frequently has something in them in the way of a tempting bargain.

Not a great while ago it was pineapple cheeses.

I went in and bought one.

Before any great amount of it had been eaten, it became entirely too lively to stand still in the cheese dish.

While I like cheese, I object to maggots.

I took that cheese back.

I suppose some of the live stock may have gotten away.

The only way to have held them would have been to put in a sealed package.

When I returned it to the clerk, I told him I would come in and see about it on my way to the train at night.

When I called at night, the clerk practically called me a liar.

He also said there was no live stock in the cheese.

He also averred that they had never before had any complaints.

I asked him if he proposed to give me a new cheese for it, and he referred me to the proprietor.

The proprietor "had never heard any complaints regarding the cheese."

Could not find any skippers in it.

And as his clerk had done, practically called me a liar.

The fact that there were holes in the bottom of the cheese where probably the worms got in, and a big hole in the top where they were probably scooped out by the ingenious young clerk after I had left, seemed to have no weight with him.

He simply intimated that I was a swindler, and, while he did not say so, implied it.

Now I go by that grocery store twice a day, but instead of calling in there and buying something three or four times a week, I go by without stopping.

He frequently has tempting bargains in his window.

But they don't tempt me.

There's another grocer next door.

It's just as handy to trade with him.

In direct contrast to this is the treatment I received from another grocer in this city.

Having bought a half dozen cans of tomatoes, I found that the first one opened was poor.

In fact, so poor that it could not be used.

Through some accident or mismanagement, the packing was not properly done, and the fruit had fermented.

On explaining this to the grocer, he immediately sent out half a dozen cans of another brand, without charge.

I told him that I would return the five unopened cans of the brand which had proved poor, and he stated that there was no need of that.

If they were poor, the grocer did not want them in his store, and I might dispose of them as I pleased.

There is quite a contrast between these two grocers, and perhaps if you guess real hard you may be able to decide correctly which one has my trade hereafter.

Let me give you another case in point.

Some time ago I bought at a store, which enjoys a national reputation, some collars.

I bought those which were recommended by the clerk.

After I had left the city I found that they were wrongly marked.

Instead of being the right size for my neck, they were too small.

Later, I endeavored to have them changed.

The clerk told me "that he could not guarantee these cheap German collars."

Now mind I did not ask for cheap German collars.

I took what he recommended to me, without asking regarding quality or price.

He recommended them and I took them.

They were marked the size that I usually wear.

When measured they were half an inch short.

But instead of trying to make it right with me, he took the high and mighty ground that it was my fault not to have bought better collars, or different ones.

I wrote to the proprietor of that establishment, stating that I had the impression that he enjoyed a reputation for fair dealing, but that this sample of fair dealing in his store was far from fair.

In return I received a letter from the manager of his haberdashery department, stating that "It is almost disheartening to find that, with all the safeguards with which we surround ourselves for the protection of ourselves and our customers, such a thing could happen as the one mentioned in your letter."

That is just the trouble.

No matter how fair you may wish to be to your customers.

No matter how carefully you plan.

The fact that you have one clerk who is not of the right sort will do much damage to your business.

It is sometimes a case of something even smaller than this that will drive trade from your doors.

I heard a man say not long ago that he would never buy anything in a certain store again.

Because the cash boy was so long getting his bundle and returning his change.

These two latter instances occurred in department stores.

But similar episodes could happen in any kind of a store.

Keep your temper if you would keep your trade.

Be liberal if you want a liberal trade.

Even though the customer wants the lion's share.

It's policy—sometimes—to satisfy him.

What do you think about it?—G. E. B. P., in an exchange.

DEATH OF MRS. WARREN.

Mrs. Warren, wife of Mr. W. A. Warren, of the firm of Warren Bros. & Co., died on Friday last. The news of her death was received with pain by the grocery trade, for although the deceased lady was probably known by but few of the grocers, either in Toronto or in the country, the firm which her husband is a member of is necessarily widely known on account of its extensive business connections. THE CANADIAN GROCER extends its sympathy to Mr. Warren in the great loss which he has sustained.

ONE WAY OF "HOLDING UP" TRADESMEN.

AGNES REPPLIER, in a recent paper on "Enforced Charities," says that we prey upon the farmer for the benefit of the baker and help the butcher at the expense of the groceryman. Nothing could be more true.

The man who has anything to sell is expected to give to every charity that may choose to ask. We get up a supper in aid of the poor, and the baker is asked to contribute cake, the butcher to send chickens, the groceryman tea, coffee or sugar.

If we stopped at asking it would be one thing. But we not only ask, but expect a free contribution and a liberal one, given smilingly. A refusal is resented as some sort of personal affront.

We have our own pet scheme and contribute to it perhaps a dollar. We feel virtuous about it, because perhaps we honestly cannot spare the dollar.

Having contributed what we can, we then begin to solicit from our various tradesmen. We persuade ourselves that, "having things right there in the store," it cannot be any special expense to him to give us what we ask. We fail to realize that what he has in stock is his living and perhaps all he has in the world.

We forget, too, that we are only one of a hundred customers, each with a pet scheme to which the groceryman must smilingly contribute if he would keep his trade. There are many of his customers whom he does not dare refuse a little gift (or perhaps a large one), for he knows that so unreasonable is the purchasing public such a refusal means a mortal offence.

We all have ample opportunity to grow irritated at the manner in which the orders at the groceryman's are neglected. Nevertheless, in many ways he is a long-suffering man in the way of pecuniary losses through his customers.

Again, the thoughtless habit of devouring the goods set out for sight only is by no means an uncommon one. These people would not think of taking money they saw lying on the counter, and yet one is practically the same as the other. No one thinks of buying a few yards of muslin and then carrying off a spool of cotton which one has not paid for simply because it is exposed upon the counter.

But why not carry home cotton as well as eat prunes, apples or dates? The principle of one is no worse than that of the other. It all amounts to the same thing—taking from another his stock in trade for which we have not paid.

The above we find in The Philadelphia Call, although it has a pretty close resemblance to an article written for one of the Harper's publications a little time ago by Thomas Wentworth Higginson. We haven't made comparison, but there is certainly a "sameness" in sentiment. In any event it is mighty good doctrine. This holding up the grocer whenever a fair is held, demanding his goods, and compelling him to waste money in worthless advertising in fair papers has been carried too far. It is time the grocer said "Hold! enough."

CURRANT POSITION.

The available stock of currants in Greece is reported to be not over 5,000 tons, and the market there is strong with an advancing tendency. Spot stocks here are estimated at about 9,000 barrels and 11,000 cases, which, according to the Hills Bros. Co., is sufficient to last for several months at the present rate of consumption.

Zucca & Co. say of currants: "The market is firmer, and if a duty of 2c. per pound becomes law not many currants will be imported hereafter to this country. Greece is too busy just now in preparing to fight her old enemy, the Turk, with arms, and the whole of Europe with diplomacy, to think of so small an affair as currants."

"Yes," say Lucas, Steele & Bristol, "our 'Circle' tea books have been much appreciated. If any buyers have been missed advise us and we will forward same."

LOSSES BY BAD DEBTS CAN BE REDUCED.

IT would seem, as credit has been a part of the commercial life of civilized man in all ages, that the system of judging and granting credits should by this time have become almost perfection, that losses from bad debts should now be confined to those debtors only involved by fire, flood or famine, writes Thos. S. Cousen in American Grocer. As a matter of fact, it is a question if losses generally by bad debts are not greater to-day than ever before; they certainly have not decreased in proportion to the decrease in the percentage of profits obtainable upon merchandise.

What, then, is the cause of these losses from bad debts?

In the writer's opinion an insufficient knowledge of the creditor's condition when the risk is taken, or too lenient course when the bill matured: in many cases both.

Almost twenty years ago when the writer was acting as manager for one of the leading mercantile agencies in a city on the Missouri River, one of the subscribers to that system was Mr. Mc., then and now the leading wholesale grocer in that section.

Making an enquiry upon a party one day Mr. Mc. said to me, "I have a first order from this man of a small amount, accompanied by the cash, but I want your report."

Lacking then the experience since gained, the writer asked what is the object of getting a report upon a man who is not asking credit? His reply was, "I always get all the information necessary to remove any and every doubt as to my knowledge of a man's actual condition, before the name goes on my books, then I mark on my ledger the terms and limit of credit I am willing to give him, and before any subsequent order is filled the ledger is consulted to see that neither have been exceeded.

When the bills of my customers mature, and if from any I receive a request for additional time, with the varied excuses usually given, I reply, "You can have all the time you want, but if I grant the additional accommodation I must be secured now; when you bought these goods upon the terms agreed upon, we two entered into a contract. I have kept my part of it, but you, by your request for further time admit that one of two things is true, first, either you overestimated your own condition when you entered into this contract, or, second, your condition has changed for the worse; in either case I, who have fulfilled my part of the agreement, should not be asked to assume the additional risk involved by your admission of a mistake or a misfortune."

Such has been the policy of this house, from their start in a very small way about fifty years ago until the present time, with this result: they sell the best trade in their section, (it was said of them, that they could paste their price list on the back of a ten-year-old boy and have him walk through the towns and he would secure the orders,) receiving promptly the money for goods sold, they discount all bills, and are in a position to buy in the largest lots their trade justifies, hence their customers are always sure that the prices quoted by them are the market.

They are rich and prosperous, while the majority of their competitors have fallen by the wayside.

They followed correct principles of credit giving in the first place by spending all the money necessary to furnish them with reliable data upon which to base their credits.

Many houses invest liberal amounts in improved machinery for manufacturing or handling merchandise, secure high-priced salesmen, in fact equip themselves with every "up-to-date" device applicable to their business, insure fully against losses by fire, every expense being generous until the credit department is reached, but there they "cannot afford" to invest in any additional systems or methods of obtaining information, or any additional clerical help to compile, analyze and gauge at its true worth the data received.

Many managers of credit departments seem to have fallen into a rut, and do not realize that other credit men, by a system of co-operation are securing the most valuable information regarding the condition of their customers by telling each other how high a line of credit has been given, how much, if any, is owing or due, terms upon which the account is sold, how payments are made, etc., and through this method of interchange they are reducing their losses.

TEA INSPECION IN CANADA.

Editor CANADIAN GROCER,—In view of the law that has recently been made in the United States for establishing fixed standards to prevent the importation of teas below a certain quality, it appears to us that some immediate action should be taken by importers to lay before the Dominion Government at Ottawa a similar bill, which will at once prevent the shipment into the Dominion of Canada of all teas (even though they may be on bills of lading "in transit to Canada") that may have been rejected by the various inspectors appointed by the United States.

Viewing the situation that has developed through the passing of this bill in Washington from an independent standpoint, it seems to us that no time should be lost to bring about the passing of such a law at Ottawa. The effect of the United States bill referred to upon the tea trade of Canada is quite obvious and requires little comment from us. Suffice it to say that unless such steps are taken as will bring about the desired results without delay, every market in the Dominion will be flooded with rejected teas from the United States and the already over-abundant supply of inferior, and to the tea business detrimental, grades will be so materially increased as will absolutely prevent the sale and consumption of desirable teas, which at the present time can be procured at extremely low rates.

INSURE YOUR LIFE IN THE CONFEDERATION LIFE ASSOCIATION to fill a responsible place in business is the one who looks ahead and provides for future contingencies.

The right man

to have the responsibility for the welfare of his wife and family is he who makes provision for their comfort in case of his death. . . . . .

The right man knows that to insure his life is the only way to make such provision, and he knows that . .

The right policy is the UNCONDITIONAL ACCUMULATIVE Policy of the

CONFEDERATION LIFE ASSOCIATION

It contains one condition only--that is the payment of the premium. Rates and full information will be sent on application to the Head Office or to any of the Agents of the Association. . . .

The Question is

Are you satisfied with the quality of the Starch you are selling? Are your customers satisfied with the quality of the Starch they are buying? If not, perhaps a trial of our goods would create a better feeling on both sides of the counter.

No woman will use poor Starch in preference to good Starch. That's the reason why a trial always leads to constant use of

There are reasons for it.

FOR WHAT?

For the steadily increasing sales of Brantford Starch throughout the Dominion, from Halifax in the East to Vancouver in the West.

WHAT ARE THE REASONS?

1. We look after the quality closely.
2. We put up our Starch in very attractive packages.
3. We ship promptly immediately on receipt of order.

Our sales for the month of March considerably more than doubled the sales of the corresponding month of last year.

It is not a matter of chance. The full and habitual satisfaction of your customer; furnishing goods of unvarying excellence; goods that are certain to please to-day, to-morrow, every day—that is the way to win success. Grocers the world over know that canned meats bearing the "Helmet" trade mark are certain to please. They can be depended on for uniformity day in and day out, and they are prized best by customers who use them most. There is a world of satisfaction in selling them, and a good profit for the grocer, of course.

THE CASH AND CREDIT SYSTEMS.*

By Jonas A. Johnson.

CREDIT, the root of so many evils, the rock upon which most commercial enterprises split, is a subject of greatest importance before this convention, and before the retail merchants of America to-day. Our national existence, even, hinges on the use or abuse of credit. The hard times during the past few years, coupled with our unsettled monetary system, partly from natural causes, but chiefly from scheming politicians, has created more or less distrust in the mind of everybody and has been a powerful factor in determining lines of credit by the jobbers first, and the retailers next. Comptroller Eckles said recently, before a Congressional committee, on our national credit system: "It is of material importance in connection with my subject," he said, "improved credit is important. The first essential in this country is the stability of public credit. The apparent reluctance of the people of the United States to redeem their public obligations is the chief cause of distrust. A business man who constantly redeems his notes without retiring them, and keeps them out constantly, will come to a settling day that will break him." And it seems to me that every day makes the question of credit more and more important to a retailer by reason of ever increasing closer and sharper competition. The time is apparently past for doing a credit business on borrowed capital, or to do a cash business on a credit basis. Credit never buys any bargains, because the purchasing power of a dollar in hand is so much greater than credit at any time, to resist the temptation of the ever-willing seller, and has in many instances more than doubled in recent years, to some extent at least, through over production, improved method of manufacture, speculation and lack of confidence.

The last United States census (1890) says there are about 158,000 retail grocers and dry goods merchants in the United States, but less than 11,000 jobbers that we do business with. These 158,000 retailers supply about 15,000,000 family customers (considering a family as one customer.) Without going further into statistics, I can readily see how comparatively easy it is for only 11,000 jobbers, with large capital and improved methods, to handle and control the credits of the 158,000 retailers, every one of whom must have more or less commercial standing; and, on the other hand, how almost impossible it is for the retail merchants, with limited capital and practically no methods, to, with any degree of success, manage the credit part of their trade among their 15,000,000 or more family customers. Then, when I consider that a large portion of a retailer's credit is done "pon honor," the goods sold and delivered, to be paid for after the customer has earned the money to pay the bill with, no matter how honest and willing, if sickness, or loss of employment, or other misfortune should overtake him, how can he pay it, and supposing he owns a home, usually not paid for, but on the strength of which he seeks credit, be sure the encumbrance is not in a building and loan association.

The consumers are fast being divided into two classes. Cash customers from choice or necessity. Credit customers, because of an old habit. The cash customer nowadays don't like to mix or come in contact, on equal terms, with the pass-book customer. Since the arrival of the cash ship of state from Bargainville by way of Bankruptcy River, whose oily-tongued captain finds little difficulty, through flaming advertisements, in impressing on the minds of the ladies in particular, who are his principal customers, always on the lookout for bargains, and who believe implicitly that either his bargains are real or only imaginary, that a dollar will go as far with him as two dollars used to on the old credit boat, when, as a matter of fact, the cash merchants, on an average, get better prices, which oftentimes compels the both cash and credit retailers to go him one better in order to hold some of his best credit trade, while we find no difficulty to hold the regular "timers," yes, to time eternal, if so desired.

Various schemes, such as rating books, coupon books, credit registers, checking cabinets, etc., I have seen, examined, and even experimented with, none of which, however, I have found satisfactory for use in large cities, in particular. In smaller towns, especially where a good working association exists, retail credits can undoubtedly be controlled to much better advantage by some sort of a rating or list system in the hands of a competent secretary, but would not advise the use of any system to be run or controlled by any outside firm or corporation for what money they can get out of it, irrespective of consequences.

The jobbers, it may be said, sell on 30 or 60 days, and even longer. That's credit. Yes, but they prefer, however, remittance in 10 days, less the discount, and that is cash. If the retailer could draw the time limit on his customer as close as the jobbers can and do, and conduct his credits so as to know about the time his bills will be paid, I think many a retailer would go to bed at night and enjoy the refreshing sleep of the just, without being troubled with nightmares.

But experience has demonstrated that a great many of the retail customers have very little regard for time. "Pay you when I can," is not an unusual answer. Threaten him with our splendid garnishee law, for instance, and they may defy you to throw good money after bad, or perhaps they find it more convenient to move away and seek pastures green elsewhere. Credit is a demon whose funeral I would like to attend.

CASH BUSINESS.

I have often heard the argument advanced

* Paper read before the Retail Grocers' and Merchants' Association of Illinois.

THE RISING SUN STOVE POLISH AND THE SUN PASTE STOVE POLISH

that it is impossible almost to do a strictly cash business in certain places or localities, inhabited, for instance, principally by men or families paid by the month. An already established merchant would, no doubt, find many obstacles in his way in changing from credit to strictly cash, but it has been done, and is being done, to which fact, perhaps, many merchants here present will bear me witness. It is certainly much easier for a stranger who comes with no friends to favor nor enemies to punish, to establish a cash store anywhere and succeed, beyond a doubt, than it would be for a retailer who has not done so from the start. It is hardly a logical conclusion to suppose that because a man only receives his wages once a month, but more generally once a week, (and if I am not mistaken we have a State law to that effect), it is necessary to purchase supplies for the family on credit, and be constantly in debt, instead of the natural inclination of every man to be out of debt if possible, and save a portion of his income for a rainy day or old age.

To show any partiality in favor of the cash trade in a store where credit is the rule rather than the exception, would not be consistent with good business principles, otherwise I would be willing to concede to cash customers, who claim, and I think justly so, that they are entitled to closer attention than the "bookeys," but to in any way discriminate between customers might, and I have known of instances where so doing has proved disastrous. Suppose one cash and one credit customer should happen to live in two different parts of the same house, I might have cause to sing with Fred Barnard:

"Be the woman old or new,
She must tell her neighbors few
About her bonnet.
It is always found true
To beware of her review."

The sentiment among retailers in favor of cash merchandising is growing fast, and I think the tendency of the times points strongly in that direction. In the big stores in the large cities, cash or C. O. D. is their only mode of doing business. If, as it seems, they succeed, why should not the smaller merchants be able to succeed in the same proportion? Jobbers prefer to do business with retailers who do a cash business, for good and sufficient reasons. Ask a jobber his opinion about the advisability of doing some crediting, and I am sure his only answer would be, Don't. Ask an old, experienced retailer the same question, and I am sure his reply would be the same. A Thomas H. Smith (address not given), wrote about a year ago to the "Grocers' Criterion," "I have been in business about 60 years, and have made enough to afford to retire," but concludes his letter with this significant remark, "All goods should be bought and sold for cash only."

There is no use to deny the fact that the cash trade is fast drifting away from a store where any crediting is done, and I venture to say that few, if any, crediting retailers are doing as much cash business over their counters to-day as they did a few days ago, not by reason of the present depressed condition of commerce in general, but as water will seek its level in the field so, also, will gold and silver seek its level in the cash store.

These conditions, and many others that could be cited, are very apt to make retailers oftimes feel discouraged. The cause can usually be traced to the worry over slow collections, because when inventory is taken, outstanding accounts must be considered same as cash assets, when, as a matter of fact, we know to our sorrow that accounts considered good one month may prove practically worthless the next, while the cash merchant, on the other hand, can always feel satisfied that his stock on hand and cash in bank are worth 100 cents on the dollar. Cash is King, and Kings conquer.

TAKING ORDERS.

The pernicious idea of going from house to house and driving sometimes miles between houses, taking orders, is a nuisance I would like to see abolished. This is no small item of expense which few, perhaps, have fully considered. The order clerk to be in a measure successful must be a man of more than ordinary intelligence, and requires a horse and wagon. He don't like to, nor do I consider it advisable that he should, deliver his own orders, and many require an extra man to do that. But the worst feature of it is, taking orders has a dangerous tendency to encourage credit. The order clerk's statements must, to a certain extent, be depended on by his employer, and are often found to be unreliable, and, if done away with entirely, trade would be more evenly divided all round, and in the neighborhood in which we do business. We all know how much more satisfactory it is to have customers come to the store and do their own selecting, and be assured that their orders, after paid for, will be promptly and cheerfully delivered. Few, if any, cash grocers call for orders, and many others are beginning to see its folly. If everybody had telephones, then satisfactory orders could easily be taken, but, unfortunately, telephones are yet luxuries that but few can afford. Postal cards have been tried, but found to be too slow for satisfactory service. Purchases now-a-days are mostly made for the day, or a few days at most. Suppose a customer should in the morning desire to have a box of berries for dinner, or a penny's worth of yeast "at once," Uncle Sam's medium of communication would simply be out of the question.

ADVERTISING.

That judicious advertising by retail merchants pays well goes without saying, and is evidenced by the great amount of advertising that is being done in every conceivable way everywhere. Chauncey M. Depew has justly said, "When I say that every business, every enterprise, every institution must advertise, I only voice the opinion of every thoughtful, sensible business man," and from the pen of A. L. Haward the following is worth reproduction: "Rats in a wheat stack are no thicker than monied

Since its introduction no tea has been more roundly abused than it, and still, in spite of the schemes and glowing advertising by competitors, it holds its own, and gains favor, and will never be allowed to get into the hands of pedlars, gift stores and departmental stores.

people in your city, and they only need to be poked a bit with a catchy advertisement when their dormant dollars will roll your way. Stick your shingles where all but the blind will see them."

No general rules can be laid down to go by, so much depends on class of goods, locations and other circumstances, which the advertisers alone must determine, but all advertisements to attract immediate attention must be well written, and have a special heading, so that he who runs can read it. Circular advertising, with prices and necessary explanations, I have found to be the best for a retail grocer, but the same circular must not be distributed twice in the same locality. The goods advertised should be attractively displayed in the store, and cheerfully sold when wanted. Deception in advertising may do for a centrally located department store, but will never do for an ordinary or single line merchant who depends more upon a steady customer than transient trade.

The newspaper of to-day seems to be the principal medium of communication, and ought to be freely used. It is much more convenient than a circular, and in cities and towns, outside of the large cities, this mode of advertising should be amply sufficient for retailers generally, and thereby constantly keep one's memory fresh before the community. In a street car recently I noticed the following lines, perhaps interesting in this connection :

"The constant drop of water wears away the hardest stone ;
The constant gnaw of Towser masticates the toughest bone ;
The constant cooing lover carries off the blushing maid,
And the constant advertiser is the one who gets the trade."

To advertise by limiting the quantity, and the time to certain hours in which to sell well-known and staple articles, is fraud pure and simple, and should be made punishable by heavy penalties, the same as fraud in its ordinarily accepted meaning is. Legislation with this end in view would be a step forward, I think, as a protection to the honest dealers who advertise honest goods at "live and let live" prices, and a check against the reckless methods of advertising baits to catch suckers, the way certain large concerns are doing to-day.

CONCLUSION.

In conclusion let me say, had not the late political eruption been such a powerful factor to disturb the commercial world, I believe the flag of prosperity would to-day be floating over the grandest of God's countries. While I am still waiting for the promised restoration of confidence, banks, in which I have had no interest, however, seem to vie with each other in bursting up and dragging other business interests down with them through the mud hole of credit and speculations. And now, after years of bitter experience, we must, in a measure at least, view the future by the past, and build coming retail structures upon solid instead of credit foundations. We must use our costly experience to the best advantage to instruct our sons and those about us who, in a few years, perhaps, must walk in our footprints and assume our duties and responsibilities, the necessity to keep abreast with the onward procession of the times in order to enjoy health, prosperity and peace of mind, to do business in the bright sunshine of Cash.

HOMES UNDER THE GROUND.

In the salt district in Cheshire, England, the brine has been pumped so continuously out of the earth that the land has settled very considerably. The houses naturally sink with the earth, and in some of the streets of Northwich only the roofs are visible. The houses are inhabited, although the rooms are underground. In a great many cases additional storeys have been added, so that by living in the upper rooms the residents may have some light and air. The roadways sink, too, but are kept up to the proper level by the Government.

TRADE WITH SOUTH AFRICA.

A series of striking tables has just been published in England, showing the rapid progress which has been made by other countries in their trade with the South African states and colonies. During 1896 the total over-sea imports into South Africa amounted to £25,498,309, as against £16,081,703 for 1895. Of the former amount, Great Britain shipped goods to the value of £16,429,705, which is an increase of 34.4 per cent.; but other countries, such as the United States, Germany, Holland, Belgium and France, taken collectively, have nearly doubled their trade. In the case of the United States, the imports have increased from £1,009,318 in 1895 to £2,411,650 in 1896 ; Germany, £828,617 to £1,264,537 ; Holland, £169,-039 to £225,990 ; Belgium, £136,546 to £373,861, and France, £44,727 to £146,-390. These statistics, which have been compiled from the official returns issued by the various South African states and colonies, reveal the fact that while the proportion of British imports into South Africa has declined by 10.1 per cent. in the past 6 years, that of other countries has advanced by 13.6 per cent.

Regular quarts as received by grocers. Skin quarts some grocers use. Peddler quarts.

A lady tells me she will never buy strawberries from a peddler again. Why, she found, horrible dictu, a large piece of juicy tobacco amongst the berries. I suppose it must have dropped while they picked them over and fixed them in the small boxes.—H.G. in Retail Grocers' Advocate.

THE RICE SITUATION.

THE rice market is reviewed for the week by Talmage as follows: "The excitement noted last week has died out, but the demand continues at full former volume. The larger buyers throughout the country are now seeking supplies, especially those who are so situated as to take advantage of canal and lake routes. Dealers may be said to be still groping for bearings—all want business and are accepting same as it comes to hand. There is, however, manifest indisposition to press operations lest by the enactment of the retroactive clause in the tariff, supposed gains 'melt away into thin air, leaving not a rack of profit behind.' The stimulating factors of market are the possibility of sudden and radical advances in the far east because of short supplies by reason of heavy draft from famine stricken districts; also the known advances which must shortly follow the passage of the tariff with its increased duty of ½c. per pound on rice. The longer memoried 'bears' bring to mind that the Senate grafted 363 amendments on to the last tariff which, with incidental discussions, greatly delayed its passage, but the prudent buyer, calculating on the possibilities of market, is laying by in store as against advances which must occur sooner or later. Advices from the south vary somewhat; along the Atlantic coast there are evidences of the incoming of the spring trade. New Orleans is within a few inches of deluge and twixt high water and high prices business is limited to local and immediate requirements. Advices from abroad note generally quiet conditions in English and Continental markets; prices are firm, as the diversion of Burmah rice from ordinary channels of trade to Bengal continues at the rate of about 10,000 tons weekly. Until this call shall diminish there is no hope for any modification in prices, and with any enlargement there would be a surprising and upward twist of prices. New Orleans telegraphs Louisiana crop movements to date: Receipts, rough, inclusive of amount carried over, 565,500 sacks; last year, 1,160,500 sacks. Sales, cleaned (estimated), 103,750 bbls.; last year, 242,500 bbls. Steady but sluggish movement, strictly local. Prices firm."

CALIFORNIA PRUNES.

Concerning the prune situation on the Coast The California Fruit Grower says in its issue of April 10: "The movement of prunes continues good, but prices do not improve. Holders in the Santa Clara Valley are firm in their demands for the 3c. basis, but as a rule local buyers are unable to pay above 2½ to 2¾c., as they are limited in price by eastern dealers. Sizes 60s. to 70s. and 70s. to 80s. are in over supply, while the small sizes are hard to find at a price that the east is willing to pay. Except odd sizes the 2½c. prunes are well cleaned up. The demand is only fair and prices steady, yet the total quantity of prunes left in the state would not supply a thirty-day-old time demand. The growing crop is several weeks late, but promises an abundant yield. Prune shipments from San Jose for week ending April 3 were 409,710 pounds, making a total from that point for the season of 36,005,920 pounds."

WHEN BUSINESS DROPS OFF.

"There's one thing I have always noticed about the grocery business," said an old-time grocer to a representative of The Retail Grocers' Advocate. "That is, that when a place runs down under a man's management, that man can never build it up again. He can go right next door or across the street and get just as good a trade as he ever had, but the place he was in and that he let run down is hoodooed for him. I don't care if he gives his stuff away, he cannot get back his trade. But put a new man in the place, and if he knows anything about the business and it ever has paid he will get back all the old custom and will get a lot of new trade, too.

"I don't know why this is so, but it is. There is a man across the street. He had this place I'm in and he let it run down. He didn't see that the business was going until it was too late. Then he started in to build it up. He put in more money. He made big alterations, and he did everything a man can do to build up a business in a place like this. But it was his hoodoo. He had to sell out. He bought that place across the street. It was run down. I bought this one. We both started to build up a trade, and to-day there are not two better paying corners in this part of the city. I tell you that when a grocer sees his business beginning to go he had better sell out quick. He can get some money out of it then. If he waits he'll get nothing. If he sells out quick he can buy some other fellow's broken down place and have money to burn left."

A CHECK ON DEAD BEATS.

The new charter of San Jose, according to The San Francisco Chronicle, provides that no man be retained as an employe of the city who does not pay his debts. The Youths' Companion very properly thinks that this provision is a practical way of saying that, without private integrity, there cannot be public efficiency, measuring the service as it ought to be measured, and a man untrue to himself, as is a shiftless or criminal debtor, cannot be expected not to break faith in some way with the community.

BY-PRODUCTS OF MEXICAN ORANGES.

Few are the uses to which the products of the orange are utilized in Mexico, says a consular report. The orange leaves ("hojas") are the tea of the Indians and of the poor, and in large cities, where they are peddled in the streets and sold in the markets in small bunches for one cent apiece, are consumed in large quantities. They are considered the best remedy for insomnia and restlessness and are also highly commended as a night drink for children. A fine wine is manufactured from the refuse oranges, purchased at 20 to 30 cents a hundred in Cuautla, Morelos and Guadalajara, which retails at 50 cents a bottle.

There are other valuable products which could be obtained, such as the distilled water of the blossoms, used for toilet purposes, worth $4.50 a gallon; citric acid from the pulp of the sour oranges, worth $1 a pound; a pomade, much used as a cosmetic, worth $2.50 a pound; oil from the leaves and rind, which constitutes the main odorous ingredients of cologne waters and elixirs, worth $3.50 to $5 a pound; and the essential oils from the blossoms, leaves and unripe fruit, known as Neroli petale, Neroli bigarade and essence de petit grain—high odors used by the perfumers, generally worth from $5 to $6 an ounce. The second oil mentioned could be manufactured at a small expense, the flowers costing not more than 12½ cents a pound, out of the numerous wild groves of sour oranges existing in the greater part of the tropical belt of Mexico.

FRENCH FLOUR IN ENGLAND.

The competition of French flour in England is certainly increasing, in spite of the obstacles in the shape of the zones, etc., for the removal of which millers in France are agitating rather furiously, but so far without result, says Miller's Gazette. It may be expected at any time, however, that the Government in France, which avows itself in favor of the expansion of the export trade in flour, will accede to the demands of millers. At present there can be no profit in the sending of flour to this country, but if the "zones" restriction is removed, that is to say, if French millers are able to export the flour from any port they wish (and not, as now, be compelled to send the flour through the same port by which the foreign wheat is imported), we may find the question of French flour very serious indeed. In France, as in America, and as in England, the productive capacity of the mills is evidently in excess of home requirements, so that an outlet must be found somewhere for the surplus, even if that surplus be sold at an apparent loss.

U. S. TARIFF BILL.

THE Washington correspondent of The N. Y. Journal of Commerce writes as follows regarding the proposed new tariff bill :

"Doubts have been expressed in some quarters of late whether the bitter contest over the duties on wool and over the imposition of a duty on hides might not defeat the passage of the tariff bill in the Senate. There is little reason for any fear of this sort. The ranks of the Populist Senators include several strong protectionists who will vote for the bill. Their protectionist sentiments, however, will not be the controlling reason for permitting the bill to become law. They have made up their minds that the best way to promote the cause of free silver coinage and Government paper money is to permit the Republican party to carry out its fiscal policy without serious obstruction. Their theory in the matter is that this policy will fail to restore business prosperity and that the country will then experience a great revulsion of feeling in favor of their policies. The Senate, with two vacancies now existing, contains 42 Republicans and 46 of all other parties. Eleven of the latter are Populists or Silver Republicans. If they withhold their votes when the tariff bill is voted upon it will pass by a vote of 42 to 35. This is just the policy which has been mapped out by their leaders. Several of their votes are likely to be cast directly for the bill, and certainly will be cast for it if it appears that they are needed. They are determined that the bill shall not fail through lack of the necessary votes to pass it through the Senate. Several of them who are strong protectionists are asking for certain concessions upon wool, hides, lead ore and some other articles. Their votes will not be lost to the bill, even if these demands are refused. They mean that the policy of high protection shall be put to the test, and their expectation is that it will fail. The result of the failure, they believe, will not be to strengthen the demand for free trade so much as for experiment with the finances.

"This being the attitude of the Populist Senators, which was carried out, for the most part, in the House by the refusal of their members to vote for or against the bill, the fate of the proposal for high duties on wool and the duty on hides becomes easier to determine. There is some danger that the duty on hides will go into the bill by the action of the Finance Committee. Some of the Western Republicans, like Carter, of Montana, Shoup, of Idaho, and Hansbrough, of North Dakota, are laying special stress upon the arguments in favor of protecting the hide growers equally with the wool growers. They are also asking a high specific duty on carpet wool and a change in some of the classification of wool which they regard as hostile to their interests. There is no probability, however, that they will vote to kill the bill if they do not get these concessions. The demand for certain items in the tariff is always more or less a matter of 'bluff,' the result depending upon which side seems to take the most uncompromising attitude. Some of the Eastern Senators have not shown the firmness which might have been expected in view of the situation, but their resolution may be strengthened when they come to understand how little danger there is that the Populist Senators will permit the bill to fall, even if it does not suit them in details. The result of the stiff fight which has been made by the Western Senators on wool and hides will probably have the effect of keeping in the bill the wool duties proposed by the House, which are the same as those of the McKinley law. This will be a victory for the wool growers, because the majority of the Finance Committee were at first disposed to reduce the rates on clothing wools to seven or eight cents per pound. With the McKinley rates saved on wools, the Western men may consent to the abandonment of the duty on hides. This result can be secured if the Eastern members show any fight. Nothing but extremely bad management on their part will send the bill back to the House containing a duty on hides.

"The Senate Committee are still letting the sugar rates pretty severely alone, because of the speculative movement which is sure to set in if they begin to move them up or down. The impression is growing that they will not dare change much the rates proposed by the House. The majority of the Republican membership of the committee is friendly to the refining interests and would like to afford them better protection than that contained in the House bill. They are not likely, however, to restore ad valorem rates, because of the strong party demand for specific duties. It may be possible to change the specific duties so as to impose a slightly different rate on German beet root sugar from that imposed on cane sugar. This would meet one of the objections of the refiners to the House bill without involving a radical reconstruction of the schedule. The matter of the importations of lead ore for manufacture in bond for export is attracting attention among the Western Senators who desire protection on American ore, and they have deputed Senator Cannon, of Utah, to investigate the subject. Their theory appears to be that this export demand could be turned upon the American product if Mexican lead ore were deprived of the privilege of manufacture in bond in the United States. No definite policy on the subject has yet been formulated, but the abolition of the bonded privilege will be demanded if it is concluded that it interferes with the consumption of lead ore produced in the United States. Senator Teller, of Colorado, is out of the city at present and has asked the Western Silver Senators to defer the adoption of a definite programme on wool, hides and lead ore until his return the latter part of the present week. This promises to be in ample season for the consideration of the Western demands by the Finance Committee before the presentation of the bill to the full committee and to the Senate."

BRITISH COLUMBIA SALMON.

The Victoria Colonist says that unprecedentedly extensive are the preparations now being made for exporting this year's salmon pack to the English markets. Never before in the history of the industry has such preliminary work been done. There will be a lot of new canneries in operation. Already nine vessels have been chartered to carry the pack to England. The total tonnage of the nine vessels is 12,298, and, allowing the ordinary estimate to be made, the carrying capacity of the fleet would be one and a half times this amount. Reckoning thirty cases of salmon to the ton—the standard estimate—the fleet will be able to load in the neighborhood of 553,410 cases, a greater quantity of salmon than was shipped by water in 1896, which was considered an exceptionally successful year. It is yet early for more vessels to be added to the fleet of 1897, but, taking the 553,410 cases at $5 per case, the return to the province from its salmon fisheries alone is expected to exceed $2,700,000, making no allowance for what is generally shipped by rail and to the islands of the Southern Pacific.

At a recent meeting of the Council of the British Columbia Board of Trade, there was a long discussion regarding salmon traps at Boundary Bay. From information before the council it appears that only two traps have been licensed this year by the Dominion Government, and that further applications for similar traps have been refused. Some members present objected to any traps, but, after a reference to a plan which showed the traps set in United States waters in the bay and at Point Roberts, it was seen that British Columbia canners would be operating to a disadvantage if the privileges sought were withheld, and the following resolution was adopted: "That in the opinion of the British Columbia Board of Trade it is undesirable that the Government should withdraw permission to operate traps in Boundary Bay so long as American traps are operated at Point Roberts."

HE WAS TOO FRESH.

A dishonest Orono man thought he was very shrewd when he bought 28 dozen cold storage eggs of an Oldtown grocer, and carrying them across the street sold them at a profit to a restaurant keeper for fresh eggs; but the case looked different for him after the irate buyer had found out the trick, followed him to Orono and made him return to the restaurant for the eggs and take them away after refunding the money and paying for the bother he had made.

SULTANA RAISIN SITUATION.

The Sultana raisin situation is thus reviewed by the Hills' Bros. Co.; "Stocks are being gradually reduced, and appear to us insufficient to last until the new crop, first of which is due here about the middle of September. The London stocks on the first of April are reported at 2,857 tons, against 3,658 tons for the same period in 1896. Some advance in prices appears to be justified, entirely independent of the prospective increase of 1c. per pound in the duty, and as English markets are higher than our own we can hardly expect any further importations out of the present crop."

THE DUTY OF THE GOVERNMENT.

THE project of a railway through the Crow's Nest Pass is beginning to see daylight. Although no official statement has yet been made it is generally understood that the Dominion Government has offered to give the C.P.R. a subsidy of $10,000 per mile, under certain conditions. What these conditions are has not been made public, but the Government and the C.P.R. authorities are negotiating regarding them.

It is probable, therefore, that we are on the eve of the settlement of this important question.

The position of the Government is a delicate one. The expenditure of $3,150,000 is, in itself, an important matter, but it is not around the mere handing over of this sum to the C.P.R. that the most importance is gathered.

The vital question to the people of Canada is what is the quid pro quo that the railway is willing to give in return for the money which the Government proposes to subsidize it with?

Throughout the length and breadth of this country there is a well defined opposition to the C.P.R. having anything whatever to do with the proposed road. And it is not without reason.

Aside altogether from the question of excessive railway rates it is recognised that the C.P.R. is a monopoly as far as freight and passenger traffic to and from the Pacific Coast is concerned. Naturally they are opposed to anything being done which will tend to strengthen these monopolistic powers.

And it would be a sad commentary indeed upon the loyalty of the Government to the rights of the people of this country if it in the present instance were to strengthen these monopolistic powers.

But it by no means follows that because it proposes to subsidize the C.P.R. it will add any new strength to that corporation.

There are two things which it is necessary we should keep in mind when discussing this question. The one is that the Canadian Government has not, nor never can have, as long as existing conditions obtain, any control over the freight rates which the C. P. R. may choose to levy. The other is that the C. P. R. has the right to build a road through the Crow's Nest Pass or any other pass or place in the Dominion, and no one can say it nay.

We may regret that it is so, but that is about all we can do.

Any action having in view the curtailment of these powers can only emanate from the railway itself. There is no question about it.

Now, here is the opportunity for the securing of the desideratum.

The Dominion Government cannot prevent the C. P. R. from building a road through the Crow's Nest Pass. Some grading and cutting for the road has already been done. But, while the Government cannot prevent the company from constructing and operating the road, it can refrain from contributing one cent from the public treasury to aid in building the road.

That is clearly the duty of the Government unless the C. P. R. is willing to give a quid pro quo in return for the dollars which come from the public treasury.

And the only quid pro quo that will satisfy the people of this country will be the surrender of those privileges which give C. P. R. freight rates immunity from Government interference, no matter how discriminatory and unjust these rates may be.

THE CANADIAN GROCER has, time and again, urged that under the conditions obtaining to-day it was better for the people of this country that the Crow's Nest Pass should be owned and operated by the C. P. R. It thinks so still.

And, briefly stated, our case is based on this premise: At present the C. P. R. is complete master of the situation. It can build a line through the Pass even if half a dozen companies had already done the same. It has also full control over its freight rates. And all these powers came to it under its charter.

The actual work of constructing a road through the Pass has been begun by the C. P. R.; but it is knocking at the door of the Dominion Government for financial assistance in the matter.

This very knocking opens the door of opportunity for discussing the question of freight rates, not only in regard to the 315 miles of proposed line through the Crow's Nest Pass, but in regard to those on the whole C. P. R. system as well.

And before any further assistance is accorded that railway the people of this country demand the return to the Government of that which should never have been taken from it, namely, the right to a voice in the fixing of the freight rates on the C. P. R. system.

The C. P. R. may refuse to concede anything along the lines indicated. But no concessions, no subsidy. That is the business man's motto, and it should be the Government's motto.

If advertising is not good for dull times, neither is religion for troublous times.

GROCERS AND THE GOODS THEY SELL.

THE better acquainted a man is with the goods he sells the better is he qualified to sell those goods.

And every grocer should make it a rule for both himself and his clerks that a knowledge of the character and uses of every commodity in his store shall be acquired as far as possible.

As every grocer knows, the ignorance which abounds among consumers in regard to the character and proper methods of using even staple articles of food is lamentable. And the trouble is that it is the grocer who suffers the most from this ignorance.

Here, for example, is a grocer who recommends a certain commodity to a customer. On his recommendation she purchases it. Being ignorant of the art of preparing it for the table, it gives dissatisfaction where it should have given satisfaction. The grocer of course is shouldered with the blame.

Whenever a new commodity is put upon the market, a merchant should see to it that himself and his clerks learn as much as possible regarding its properties and how it is cooked or served. This latter should be learned by practical tests.

To learn by heart the directions that may be on the package is not sufficient. There is nothing like the knowledge that comes of practical experience.

Merchants, by exercising their perceptive faculties, can soon learn the peculiarities and difficiencies of their customers. And then, by the exercise of tact they will be able to instruct them how the best results are obtained from this and that commodity, even down to the making of a cup of tea, regarding which nine out of every ten housekeepers seem to be totally at sea.

There are great possibilities open to clerks who will make foods, their properties and their uses, a study.

THE NEW TARIFF.

IN another part of this issue we print the new tariff in full, together with a comparison of the duties as they existed under the old tariff.

No revision of the tariff since 1879 has created so much interest. And knowing this fact, THE CANADIAN GROCER decided to publish in this week's issue a complete list of the new tariff.

To do this has entailed the expenditure of a great deal of time and money. But in the interests of our readers we felt it was our duty to do so.

In furtherance of our object a staff from this journal has been at the capital for nearly a week making the necessary preparations.

Besides the energy which has been expended on our part we are indebted to the courtesy of the Government in supplying us with accredited information in order that a complete list of the new tariff might be laid before our readers this week.

The printing of the new tariff has necessitated some delay in issuing this week's paper, but we feel confident our readers will not, under the circumstances, be annoyed at being compelled to wait a day longer for their favorite trade journal.

DEPARTMENT STORES AND SEEDS.

SOME of the departmental stores in Toronto, have been selling flower seeds lately at a price which has caused retailers who handle them a great deal of concern.

Were the facts generally known, however, there would be little cause for concern.

By actual demonstration it has been proved that the seeds sold by at least some of the departmental stores are actually dearer, according to the number of seeds in a package, than those sold by ordinary dealers at the regular price, let alone the fact that the seed is thin and shriveled, and lacking in that plumpness which characterizes new seed of good quality.

Seed, it must be remembered, is an article the quality of which none but experts can judge. It is an easy thing for an unscrupulous dealer to take old or rejected seed and palm it off on the public.

A seedsman of many years' experience informed THE CANADIAN GROCER that one method whereby seed can be put on the market at a seemingly very low figure, is by taking that which is old and useless and adding to it a small percentage of new seed, thus ensuring sufficient germination to keep the purchaser from suspecting fraud.

Some of the department stores do not even appear to have taken the pains to do this, for we know of instances where seeds bought from these stores have even refused to send up one green shoot.

Legitimate dealers throughout the country will benefit themselves and the people in their community by disseminating these facts as broadcast as possible.

The attention of publishers of local newspapers should be drawn to the matter, and influence be brought to bear to get them to ventilate it in the columns of their journals.

If such were done, this particular trade of the departmental stores would diminish enormously in a short time.

MAPLE PRODUCTS IN ABUNDANCE.

The market is glutted with maple products, and holders are begging purchasers.

Last season, it will be remembered, the conditions were the opposite.

A year ago, at this time, the season and the supply were short on account of the warm weather which then obtained.

This season, on the other hand, we have had about six weeks of ideal maple syrup-producing weather, the nights having been cool and the days bright and warm.

But as a result we have an abundance of good syrup and sugar, much to the delight of the householder, if not of the producer and dealer.

. Money may be the root of all evil, but unless a merchant have enough of it he cannot do a good business.

KENNEDY'S BISCUITS.

A biscuit that is establishing for itself a reputation in Canada as well as in the United States is that made by the Kennedy Biscuit Works, Boston. A representative of THE CANADIAN GROCER, while the other day in the store of a leading retail grocer in Toronto, was shown samples of a dozen or more of that establishment's biscuits.

"They are very fine biscuits, indeed," remarked the proprietor, as he displayed the samples. "They are not only first-class in quality, but the Kennedy people have the happy knack of making their biscuits in a style which commends itself to the public. And what is more, I notice that people who try these biscuits are well satisfied with them."

Among the biscuits I noticed the following: "Jamaica," "Newton," "Macaroon," "Cheese," "Vanilla Cream," "Prelyelettes," "Royal Toast," "Chocolate Dessert," etc.

PATENT OPENING CANS.

A new departure will probably be made this season among the packers of fruits, vegetables and salmon in Canada, in using a new patent opening can, which is just being put on the market. This is spoken of as the best can yet invented for use with liquid goods, or articles like salmon or lobster that have to be turned out without breaking. This can opens with a key, but the strip is cut exactly on the edge of the can, and is very simple. The extra cost to the retailer will only be 5c. per dozen.

A number of the canners have already placed their orders for this key-opening can, to be used on the pack for this year, as they recognize that it will fill a long felt want to those who are large users of salmon, lobsters or vegetables. The Norton Manufacturing Co., Hamilton, are manufacturing these tins for Ontario and Quebec.

THE NEW TARIFF.

FOR about the seventh time since Confederation the Dominion of Canada has a new tariff. It was brought down, according to promise, on Thursday.

What may be termed its most striking features are the double schedule and the moderate character of the changes made in the duties. The double schedule particularly is a noteworthy feature of the tariff, being as it is an innovation in tariff-making in Canada.

The particular purpose of this double schedule is (1) to give the produce of Great Britain a preference in our market, and (2) the products of "any other country," to use the words of the Finance Minister, "willing to put herself on the same terms as Great Britain, and regarded by the Government as coming on the whole within the terms of the resolution."

While Mr. Fielding did not say so, Germany and Belgium, under the provisions of Imperial treaties, may also have the right to send their products into Canada at the same rates of duty as Great Britain. Under these treaties Great Britain can give the products of Canada, or any other of her colonies, preferential treatment, but Canada and the other colonies cannot give the products of Great Britain preferential treatment and at the same time exclude from the same privileges the products of Germany and Belgium. But it is a question whether these apply to Mr. Fielding's proposal.

The clause in the new tariff covering the double schedule reads as follows :

On all the products of countries entitled to the benefits of this reciprocal tariff, under the provisions of section one, the duties mentioned in schedule "A" shall be reduced as follows: On and after the 23rd day of April, 1897, and until the 30th day of June, 1898, inclusive, the reduction shall in every case be one-eighth of the duty mentioned in schedule "A," and the duty to be levied, collected and paid shall be seven-eighths of the duty mentioned in schedule "A." On and after the first day of July, 1898, the reduction shall in every case be one-fourth of the duty mentioned in schedule "A," and the duty to be levied, collected and paid shall be three-fourths of the duty mentioned in schedule "A." Provided, however, that these reductions shall not apply to any of the following articles, but such articles shall in all cases be subject to the duties mentioned in schedule "A," viz., ales, beers, wines and liquors; sugar, molasses and syrups of all kinds, the product of the sugar cane or beet root; tobacco, cigars and cigarettes.

A misunderstanding appears to exist in the minds of some people as to when this double schedule, as far as Great Britain is concerned, shall go into force. There is no need, however, of any misunderstanding, as the Minister of Finance, during the course of his budget speech, clearly stated that it goes into operation with the new tariff, which is at once.

To be exact, Mr. Fielding explained that except on intoxicants and tobacco, it was proposed to reduce the duties one-eighth at once and one-fourth in a year on goods imported from Great Britain and from any other country willing to put herself on the same terms as Great Britain.

Although there have not been many changes made in the tariff, among the few which have been made are some striking ones. Corn, except when for distillers' use, has been transferred from the dutiable list at 7½c. per bushel to the free list, while the duty on cornmeal has been reduced to 25c. per barrel. It was formerly 40c. per barrel.

Spirits have been increased 15c. per gallon, but ale, beer and porter remain as before.

The duty on wheat has been fixed at 12½c. per bushel instead of 15c., and that on flour has been reduced 15c. per barrel, the rate now being 60c. per barrel. On animals and their products the tariff remains much as before.

One of the items under the old tariff which, it will be remembered, has been the subject of much discussion was rice. Under the new tariff, while the duty on the cleaned article remained unchanged, that on uncleaned rice, which is the manufacturer's raw material, has been raised to ¾c. per lb.

Tea, the expectation of a duty on which led so many to speculate, remains upon the free list, and under the same conditions as obtained under the old tariff, namely as to tea purchased in bond in any country where it is cubject to Customs duty. The duty on coffee is also unchanged.

Sugar is another commodity regarding the duty on which speculators will not be satisfied. Instead of being higher, as some anticipated, it is lower; that is, as far as the refined article is concerned. Under the old tariff all sugars above No. 16 Dutch standard were subject to a duty of 1.14c. per lb. It is now 1c. per lb. Raw sugar is unchanged at ½c. per lb. The duty on syrups is unchanged.

The duties on tobaccos have been increased substantially. Cigars and cigarettes will pay a duty $1 higher, and on cut tobacco the rate is 5c. per lb. in advance of the old tariff.

As expected, the coal duties remain as before, but the Minister of Finance intimated that when the United States put its duty on coal back to 40c. per ton the Government would reduce the Canadian duty on bituminous coal to the same figure. Anthracite coal remains on the free list.

The duty on coal oil is one cent per gallon lower and crude petroleum for fuel ½c. per gallon lower. In addition to this, the restrictions in regard to the sale from tank vessels have been abolished. The duty on olive oil is 10 per cent. lower.

Those who expected a reduction in the duty on pig iron and scrap have not been disappointed. The duty on pig iron has been reduced $1.50 per ton, being now fixed at $2.50 per ton, while the duty on scrap is $1.50 per ton instead of $4 per ton. Steel ingots, blooms and slabs, billets and puddled bars are reduced by $1 per ton, the duty now being $4 per ton. What has been taken away in the way of import duties the Government proposes to make good by increasing the bounties.

The duty on cottons, as a rule, shows an increase.

Markets and Market Notes

ONTARIO MARKETS.

TORONTO, April 22, 1897.

GROCERIES.

THE speculative demand for tobacco is still active, repeat orders being frequent. A good deal of sugar is also going out this week, although the refiners do not appear to be doing a great deal. Spot teas are still receiving attention. Outside the speculative buying there is not much business being transacted. Canned goods are in much about the same position as before. Spices are firm. In foreign dried fruits the feature is an increased demand for currants, due to the war between Turkey and Greece. Payments are only moderate.

CANNED GOODS.

There is no change in the situation. The demand for canned tomatoes, peas and corn is fair for the season, although the market in these particular lines is without special interest. The demand for canned salmon is moderate only. Nothing in the way of futures in canned salmon appears to be doing yet. We quote standard brands as follows: Tomatoes, 75c.; corn, 55 to 75c.; peas, 75 to 80c. for ordinary; sifted select, 90 to $1; extra sifted, $1.25 to $1.40; beans, 65 to 95c.; peaches, $2.50 to $3 for 3's, $1.65 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.50 to $1.80; strawberries, $1.65 to $1.95, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.40 to $1.70; cherries, $2 to $2.25; apples, 3's, 70 to 95c.; gallons, $1.65 to $2.25; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.50; cohoes, $1.10 to $1.25; canned mackerel, $1.20 to $1.30; lobsters, $2.25 to $2.40 for tall tins; flats, $2.85 to $2.90; ½-lb. flats, $1.60 to $1.65; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.20 to $1.30; 2's, $2.25 to $2.40; 6's, $7.75 to $8.25; 14's, $15 to $16.

COFFEES.

The coffee market is somewhat neglected and devoid of special interest. Jobbers quote green in bags: Rio, 14 to 16c., according to grade; East Indian, 27 to 30c.; South American, 21 to 23c.; Santos, 19 to 22½c.; Java, 30 to 33c.; Mocha, 27½ to 30c.; Maracaibo, 18 to 20c.; Jamaica, 19 to 22c.

SYRUPS.

The syrup market is dragging, although some good values are offering. We quote: Dark, 23 to 25c.; medium, 28 to 35c.; bright, 32 to 42c.; corn syrup, 3 to 3¼c. per lb.

MOLASSES.

The reports from New Orleans noted a quiet market, but confidence over prices in consideration of largely reduced stocks. The supplies under sheds there are about 5,600 bbls. against 22,600 bbls. six weeks since. The local market is quiet and featureless. We quote: New Orleans, barrels, 23 to 35c.; ditto, half-barrels, 25 to 37c.; ditto, fancy, 50 to 55c., in barrels and half-barrels; Barbadoes, 31 to 35c.; half-barrels, 33 to 35c.

SUGAR.

The market is rather unsettled. The London market is practically closed on account of the Easter holidays. Beets declined ¾d. to 1½d. in London on Friday. In New York buyers and sellers are indifferent, pending the settlement of the tariff. With the opening of the week came a little better enquiry for sugar on the local market. At the same time, however, the trading has not been large. Prices are the same as they were a week ago. Local wholesalers' quotations are: Granulated—St. Lawrence and Redpath's, 4 7-16c. for single barrel lots and 4⅜c. for 5-barrel lots; Acadia, 4⅜c. for single barrel lots, and 4 5-16c. for 5-barrel lots; yellows, 3⅝ to 4⅛c. per lb.; Demerara crystals, 3⅞c.

SPICES.

Singapore pepper is cabled strong, with the likelihood of a further advance in prices. Locally trade is fair. We quote: Pure Singapore black pepper, ground, 11c. in kegs, pails and boxes, and 13c. in 5-lb. cans; ditto, whole, 10c. per lb.; pure white pepper, ground, 18c. in kegs, pails and boxes and 20c. in 5-lb. cans; ditto, whole, 15 to 17c., according to quality; pure Jamaica ginger, 23 to 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 23 to 25c.; do. best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 14 to 18c.; cassia, 20 to 25c. per lb. for ground and 40c. for Saigon.

NUTS.

The market is quiet and featureless. We quote: Brazil nuts, 11 to 12½c.; Valencia shelled almonds, 18 to 22c.; Tarragona almonds, 9½ to 11c.; peanuts, 10 to 12c. for roasted and 7 to 10c. for green; cocoanuts, $4.50 to $5 per sack; Grenoble walnuts, 12½c.; Marbot walnuts, 9½ to 11c.; Bordeax walnuts, 8 to 9c.: Sicily filberts, 10c. for sacks and 10½ to 11c. for small lots; Naples filberts, 11c.; pecans, 12 to 12½c.

RICE, TAPIOCA, ETC.

Business is quiet and prices unchanged. We quote: Rice, Standard "B," 3¼ to 3½c.; imported Japan, 5¼ to 5¾c.; tapioca, 3¼ to 4½c.; sago, 3½c.

TEAS.

There is still a good demand for China black teas on spot at from 11 to 14½c. Japan teas on spot, particularly at 13, 15½ and 16c., are receiving attention. The demand is still fairly good for spot teas of Indian and Ceylon growth. Very little business is doing in teas from London, although some good values in flavory Ceylon teas are being offered. Mail advices from London under date of April 7 state that the market there is still higher than shippers like to see it, and that values would compare badly with those offering six weeks before. Ruling prices on the Toronto market to retailers are: Young Hyson, 18 to 21c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 14 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 15 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades: Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for high grades.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

A stronger feeling exists in regard to currants on account of the war, and increased activity on the local market is to be noted. Quotations are as before. We quote: Provincials, 4⅝ to 4¾c. in bbls.; fine Filiatras, in bbls., 4¾ to 4⅞c.; do., half-bbls., 4¾ to 4⅞c.; Patras, 5¼ to 5½c. in bbls., 5¼ to 5½c. in half-bbls., and 5½c. in cases; Vostizzas, cases, 6 to 8c.

Valencia raisins are as dull and uninterest ing as ever. We quote: Off-stalk, 5 to 5¼c.; fine off-stalk, 5¾ to 6c.; selected, 6¾ to 7c.; layers, 7 to 7½c.

Stocks of California loose muscatel raisins in first hands are small. Locally there is nothing doing. We quote: 3-crown, 7½c.; 4-crown, 8 to 8½c.

Figs are dull and featureless. We quote: 10 oz., 7½c.; 10 lb., 9 to 10c.; 18 lb., 10 to 12c.; 28 lb., 11 to 13c.; taps, 3¼ to 3½c. net; natural, 4½c. in bags, and 7c. in boxes.

Dates are dull and unchanged. We quote: 5½ to 6c. for Hallowee and 5 to 5¼c. for Kadrowee.

Prunes are in much the same position as a week ago. We quote: Bosnias, U's (110 to 113 half kilo), 6 to 6½c.; C's (85 to 90 half kilo), 7 to 7½c. per lb. California, 90 to 100's, 6½c. per lb.; 70 to 80's, 7½c.; 60 to 70's, 7½ to 8c.; 50 to 60's, 8 to 8½c.; 40 to 50's, 9½ to 10½c.; 30 to 40's, 12½ to 13c.; "Ruby" prunes, 7½ to 8c.; French, 4½ to 5c.

California evaporated fruits are quiet and unchanged. We quote: Peaches, 7 to 10½c. per lb., according to quality; apricots, 6½ to 15c.; pears, 5½ to 10½c.; egg plums, 5½ to 11c.; silver prunes, 8½ to 13½c.

GREEN FRUIT.

Oranges are in active demand with the market advancing. California navel oranges are about done, stocks now consisting nearly altogether of Valencias and Mediterranean sweets. Lemons are fully 25c. per box higher, due largely to an increase in the demand. Bananas are a little firmer, also on account of an increase in the demand. The second shipment of Egyptian onions is due here this week, when prices are likely to be lower than at present. Cranberries are quiet and unchanged. The pineapples coming forward are mostly green and it is necessary therefore to store them on the banana ropes in order that they may ripen. We quote : Oranges—Valencias, ordinary, 420's, $4.50 to $4.75 per case ; large 420's, $5.50 to $6 ; California navels, $3.50 per box, according to size. Lemons—Messinas, $2 to $3 per box ; cocoanuts, $3.75 a sack and 60c. per doz. Onions, $1.50 per 80 lb. bag for Danvers, and $3.50 per bag for Egyptians. Cranberries, Jerseys, $5 per bbl. bananas, $1.50 to $2. Pineapples, 12½ to 25c. each. Strawberries, 30 to 35c. per quart. Cucumbers, $1.75 per dozen.

APPLES.

The demand is fair for good table fruit. We quote : $2 to $2.50 for Northern Spies, $1 to $1.50 for common fruit.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER — Deliveries of roll butter are freer, and the feeling as to price is easier. There are practically no tubs offering, and it is extremely difficult to move old stocks at any price. There is a plentiful supply of creamery butter and the demand is fair. We quote : Dairy butter—Tubs, 12 to 14c. for good to choice ; low-grade to medium, 7 to 10c. ; large rolls, 13 to 14½c. for good to choice, and 7 to 10c. for low-grade to medium ; pound prints, 14 to 16c. for good to choice. Creamery—Tubs, 18 to 19c. ; 1-lb. blocks, 19 to 20c., according to make.

CHEESE—Receipts of fodder cheese are large and prices are easier. Fodder cheese is quoted by wholesalers at 10 to 10½c., and September and October makes at 11 to 11½c.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

BEANS—The market is still dull with offerings liberal. Jobbers, as a rule, quote mixed at 40 to 50c. and hand-picked at 65 to 75c.

DRIED APPLES — Dull and unchanged. Choice are quoted by wholesalers at 2 to 2½c., and fancy at 2½ to 3c.

EVAPORATED APPLES — No change. Wholesale quotations are : Quarters, 2¾c. ; sliced, 3c. ; best brands, 4 to 5c.

HONEY—Quiet. We quote : Comb, 80 to 90c. per dozen for dark and $1.50 to $1.75 for light ; strained, 6 to 7c. per lb.

EGGS—Supplies are large, and the demand light, with retailers overstocked, the demand during the past few weeks not having been as good as anticipated. We quote 9 to 9½.

POULTRY—Is still scarce. We quote : Chickens, 40 to 60c. per pair ; turkeys, 11 to 12c. for bright stock ; geese, 7 to 9c. ; ducks, 60 to 80c.

MAPLE SYRUP AND SUGAR—The market is glutted with maple syrup and sugar and prices are easier. We quote: Syrup, 55 to 60c. per tin and at 70 to 75c. per Imperial gallon in five-gallon tins; sugar, 7 to 7½c. per lb.

POTATOES—Dull and weak at 18 to 20c. on track in carload lots. Out of store 25 to 30c. per bag is quoted.

FISH AND OYSTERS.

Fresh white fish and trout are yet only coming forward in small quantities, and the fish trade generally is dull. Large quantities of frozen fish will have to be destroyed. Oysters are 10c. dearer. We quote: Manitoba white fish, frozen, 5½ to 6c.; ditto in kegs, $4.50; frozen trout, 5c.; ditto in kegs, $4.50; pickerel, 6c. per lb.; haddies, 6c. per lb.; Labrador herring, $4.50 to $5 per bbl. and $2.75 per half-bbl.; split herring, $4.50 per bbl. and $2.50 per half-bbl.; boneless fish, 3½ to 4c. per lb.; pure cod, 6½ to 6¾c. per lb.; ciscoes, $1.25 per 100; haddock, 4½c. per lb.; steak cod, 6c. per lb.; frozen herring, 4c.; sea herring, $1 per 100; fresh water herring (heads off), $2.50 per keg; smelts, 6 to 9c. Oysters are quoted at $1.30 for standards, and $1.60 for selects.

SALT.

The improvement noted last week appears to have been maintained. We quote at Toronto: In carload lots, $1 per bbl. and 60c. per sack; in less than carload lots, $1.05 per bbl. and 65c. per sack. At the wells we quote: F.O.B. barrels, 70c.; sacks 50c. for points west of Toronto, and 45c. for Toronto and points east of Toronto.

PROVISIONS AND DRESSED HOGS.

The provision trade continues active. Long clear is scarce and it is thought there will not be enough to supply the demand. Receipts of dressed hogs are light and nearly all coming forward are taken for butchers' use.

DRY SALTED MEATS—Long clear bacon, 7c. for carload lots, and 7¼ to 7½c. per lb. for ton lots and cases; backs, 8c.

SMOKED MEATS—Breakfast bacon, 11c.; rolls, 7½ to 8c.; hams, large, 22 lbs. and over, 10½ to 11c.; medium, 15 to 20 lbs., 11½c.; small hams, 11¾ to 12c.; backs, 10 to 11½c.; shoulder hams, 7c.; all meats out of pickle, 1c. less than above.

LARD—Pure Canadian, tierces, 6½c.; tubs, 6¾c.; pails, 7 to 7¼c.

BARREL PORK—Canadian heavy mess, $12.50; Canadian short-cut, $13 to $13.50; clear shoulder mess, $11 to $11.50.

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN—Receipts of grain are light and prices are higher. We quote: Wheat, 75 to 76c. for white and 74c. for red, and 63 to 64c. for goose; oats, 24 to 25c.; peas, 41 to 42c.

BREAKFAST FOODS—On account of the higher price ruling on oats there is a firmer feeling in regard to breakfast foods, and although no actual change in figures has yet taken place it is only a question of time before there will if the present condition of the raw material market is maintained. We quote: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $2.80 in bags and $2.90 in bbls.; rolled wheat, $2.50 to $2.60 in 100-lb. bbls.; cornmeal, $2.25 to $2.35; split peas, $3 to $3.25; pot barley, $3 to $3.25.

FLOUR—There has been a marked improvement in the demand and prices are from 10 to 25c. higher. We quote in carloads on track, Toronto: Manitoba patents, $4.80; Manitoba strong bakers', $4.45; Ontario patents, $4.40 to $4.60; straight roller, $3.95 to $4, Toronto freights.

PETROLEUM.

There is no change. We quote in 1 to 10 bbl. lots, imperial gallon, Toronto: Canadian, 15c.; carbon, safety, 17c.; Canadian water white, 17c.; American water white, 19c.; Pratt's astral, 18½c. in bulk.

MARKET NOTES.

Eggs are easier.

The market is glutted with maple syrup.

Flour is from 10 to 25c. per barrel dearer.

The Salada Tea Co. has been compelled to increase its staff of tea packers on account of the growing demands of business.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, April 22, 1897.

GROCERIES.

THE general grocery situation continues much the same as it was a week ago. Although sugar has been weaker outside, the situation on spot has not been affected a particle. Demand, however, has not been quite as brisk as it was. In molasses the importers have at last decided to operate, and some considerable contracts on this account, as noted below, have been put through. Rice and spices ruled quiet, but talk of a duty on coffee has infused some life into that staple. Teas also have maintained their activity. In canned goods, dried fruit, etc., there has been little change to report.

SUGAR.

Although advices from New York on both raw and refined have been weaker, and note a decline in prices, the local situation shows no important change, and the market is without any new feature, as buyers and sellers are now awaiting the announcement of the tariff. The demand has fallen off considerably, and business during the past week has been of a limited character, but prices are steady at 4⅜ to 4½c. for granulated and at 3½ to 3⅝c. for yellows from jobbers.

SYRUPS.

This market continues to rule very quiet, the demand being only for small lots at 1⅜ to 1⅞c. per lb. as to quality, at the factory.

MOLASSES.

Considerable business has been done in new crop Barbadoes and Antigua molasses during the past few days. Sales of three cargoes of Barbadoes, aggregating about 2,000 puncheons, have been purchased on local account at 8c. first cost at the Island, and two cargoes of 600 puncheons each of Antigua were sold on a guaranteed sample and gauge at about 21 to 22c. delivered here. Other cable orders for some large lots are still open at the Island for Barbadoes. The demand on spot is of a limited character, and prices in a jobbing way may be quoted at 28 to 30c.

WE ARE PAYING CASH FOR DRIED APPLES

RICE.

The tone of the rice market rules steady, but the volume of business doing is small, as sales are confined principally to small lots. We quote: Crystal Japan, $5 to $5.25; standard B., $3.50; Patna, $4.50 to $5.25; Carolina, $6.75 to $7.75; choice Bermuda, $4, and Java kinds, $4.25.

SPICES.

Business in spices has been quiet and chiefly of a jobbing nature. Singapore pepper is steady at 4⅝d., but black is easier at 2⅞d., cost and freight Montreal. We quote: Black pepper, 10c.; pure white, 12 to 15c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 20 to 25c.; cloves, 15c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; do., best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 10 to 14c.; nutmegs, 35 to 75c.

COFFEE.

Owing to the possibility of a duty being placed on this article there has been an active demand of late, and the bulk of the stock of Maracaibo has been bought up at steady prices. In consequence the market has been more active, with a larger volume of business. We quote: Maracaibo, 15 to 20c.; Santos, 12 to 18c.; Rio, 12½ to 16c.; Mocha, 24 to 26c., and Java, 22 to 27c.

TEAS.

A fairly active business continues to be done in teas, and as stocks of most grades on spot are small, the tone of the market is strong and prices are firmly held; in fact, some holders of high-grade Japans are asking an advance of ½c. per lb. over what they would have been willing to accept last week. The demand between houses for Japans ranging from 13½ to 21½c. has been good, and a number of sales of 100 package lots have taken place. Japans valued at 18 to 19c. are scarce and wanted. We quote: Young Hysons, 13 to 18c. for low grades, 25 to 28c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 12 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 15 to 21c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 16½ to 20c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for higher grades.

CANNED GOODS.

Business in this line continues of a small jobbing character, and the market at present is extremely quiet and without any change in values to note. We quote: Tomatoes, 75 to 85c.; corn, 60 to 90c.; peas, 80 to 90c.; beans, 70c. up; peaches, $1.50 to $1.80 for 2's; raspberries, $1.40 to $2; strawberries, $1.80 to $2.45, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.90 to $2.20; cherries, $2.40 to $2.45; apples, 3's, 85 to 90c.; gallons, $1.55 to $1.65; pumpkins, 75 to 85c.; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.40 to $1.45; "Clover Leaf," $1.35; "Lion," $1.37½ to $1.40; Lowe Inlet, $1.30, in tall tins; cohoes $1.05 to $1.15; canned mackerel, $1.25; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.20 to $1.25; 2's, $2.15 to $2.25; 6's, $6.75 to $7; 14's, $14 to $15; lobsters, $8.50 to $11 per case; French sardines, $10.25 to $11 extra brands; ordinary brands, $8 to $9; Canadian brands, $4.25.

DRIED FRUIT.

There has been little change in the Valencia raisin market. Quotations are: Ordinary off-stalk, 5¼ to 5½c.; fine, 5¾ to 6c.; selected, 6¼ to 6½c., and layers, 6¾ to 7c.

California raisins continue steady on the Coast, 2-crown being especially so. On spot there is little doing, and prices are nominally unchanged at a range of 6½c. for 2-crown, up to 8 to 8¼c. for 4-crown.

Currants are steady and unchanged at 4 to 4½c. for Provincials, and 5½ to 6c. on Patras.

Prunes are dull with stocks light here. Californias sell at 6½ to 9c., as to quality, and French and Austrian are nominal. Figs are quiet at 8 to 12, and dates, 5 to 6c.

NUTS.

There is a quiet trade in nuts. We quote: Grenoble walnuts, 11 to 12c.; Brazils, 11c.; almonds, 10 to 10½c.; do shelled, 17 to 18c.; filberts, 8½ to 9c.; peanuts, 7 to 9c.; and cocoanuts, $3.50 to $3.75 per 100.

GREEN FRUIT.

The green fruit market is quiet generally, pending the arrival of the direct steamers from the Mediterranean after the opening of navigation. Lemons are unchanged, and the same can be said of Messina oranges. Only a few Californias remain here and prices are difficult to quote. We quote: Valencia oranges, $3.50 to $4 per box; lemons, $1.75 to $3 per box; cranberries, $1 to $4 per bbl.; Malaga grapes, $7.50 to $8; bananas, 75c. to $2 per bunch; pineapples, 14 to 35c. each; asparagus, $4.50 to $5 per dozen; California celery, $1.25 per dozen; southern spinach, $2.50 to $3.

APPLES.

There is no change in the apple market since last report, sales being at prices ranging from $1 to $2 per bbl., according to quality.

DRIED APPLES.

Both dried and evaporated apples are quiet, the former at 3c., and the latter at 3¾c.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—During the week an active trade has been done in new laid eggs, but under increased receipts during the past two days a weaker feeling has prevailed and prices show a decline of ½c. per dozen, with sales at 9 to 9½c.

MAPLE PRODUCTS — The demand for maple products continues fair and prices rule about steady. Syrup sold at 50c. per small tin; 55 to 60c. per large tin, and at 4½ to 4¾c. per lb. in wood. Sugar brought 6½ to 7c. per lb.

BEANS — Business in beans continues slow, and the market is dull at 55 to 60c. in car lots, and at 65 to 70c. in a jobbing way.

POTATOES—Market quiet. Rose and Hebron in car lots are offering at 32½ to 37½c.

ONIONS —The firm feeling in the market for red onions continues and prices are fully maintained at $2.50 per bbl. for sound stock.

HOPS—The demand is quiet and prices steady at 12 to 12½c. for choice Canadians, and at 5 to 6c. for yearlings.

ASHES— Market dull and unchanged. Firsts, $3.30 to $3.35; seconds, $3 to $3.05, and pearls nominal, $4.50 per 100 lbs.

HONEY — Demand moderate, white clover selling at 8 to 9c., and extracted at 6 to 8c.

TALLOW—Dull and unchanged at 1¾ to 2c.

PROVISIONS.

There was no new feature in the local provision market. Business in all lines was quiet and prices were unchanged. We quote: Canadian pork, $12 to $13 per bbl.; pure Canadian lard, in pails, 6 to 6½c., and compound refined at 4½ to 5c. per lb.; hams, 10 to 12½c., and bacon, 10½ to 11½c. per lb.

"How about Sugar and Molasses?"

FLOUR, MEAL AND FEED.

In spite of the sharp advance in prices in the American wheat markets, there was no material change in the situation of the flour market ; in fact, the cutting in prices already referred to continues, especially in Manitoba grades, and it is reported that sales of choice brands of strong bakers' were made at $4.10. Millers, however, to-day stated that there was a decided improvement in the local demand, and an active business was done. Dealers in Ontario grades reported trade quiet at unchanged prices. We quote : Winter wheat patents, $4.25 to $4.40 ; straight rollers, $3.85 to $4, and in bags, $1.85 to $1.90 ; Manitoba strong bakers', choice, $4.25 to $4.40 ; outside brands, $4 to $4.10, and spring wheat patents, $4.60 to $4.70.

There was a fair call for feed to-day, and prices continue to rule steady. Manitoba bran is quoted at $12, and shorts at $13 per ton, including bags. Ontario bran is held at $12, and shorts at $13 per ton in bulk.

Business in oatmeal continues very quiet, and prices are about steady at $2.70 to $2.80 per barrel, and at $1.35 to $1.40 per bag for rolled oats.

BALED HAY.

The tone of the hay market has been stronger for choice No. 1 and prices have advanced 50c. per ton with sales of car lots at $10 to $10.50, while No. 2 is firm and unchanged at $8.50 per ton in car lots, on track.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

Outside of some small lots of fodder cheese, which continue to arrive and meet with a ready sale at 10⅛ to 10¼c., the market is quiet and without any important feature.

The receipts of fresh made creamery are steadily increasing and the market is easier, round lots being offered freely at 18½c. The demand in a jobbing way was fair and prices ranged at 18¾ to 19c. New dairy butter is selling at 16 to 16½c., and old creamery at 12 to 13c.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER.

ST. JOHN, N.B., April 22, 1897.

MANY things have aided in making the past week a quiet one. There have been the holidays and the civic elections. These last have created rather more interest than usual, owing to there being four in the field for Mayor. The retail grocers have been particularly interested, some nine running for aldermen. Parties who have been holding large stocks from three to six weeks, pending the tariff, have been getting anxious, the doubt growing in their minds that some of the expected duties might not come. Lumber shipments to the English market have begun in earnest, and quite a number of steamers are now here. Very large quantities will be shipped this summer, and hardly a wooden vessel will be used. American millers find themselves with all Canadian lumber, and the prospect is they will have to pay duty on these shipments to the States.

OIL—There continues a good demand for lubricating oil, buyers being unable to wait longer for change of tariff. In burning oil the business is light and of a hand-to-mouth character. We quote : Best American burning oil, 19½ to 20c.; Canadian, 18¼ to 19c. ; prime, 16 to 17c.

SALT—There continues to be good demand. While importations via direct regular steamers from Liverpool are over there is still a quantity to arrive—some by sailer and a quantity by steamer. In Canadian salt a better movement is seen. Even in bulk bags of 200 lbs. this salt is getting quite a trade, even in the face of the Liverpool factory-filled being offered at a much lower price. We quote as follows : Coarse, 43 to 45c.; Liverpool factory-filled, 90c. to $1; Canadian fine, 90c. to $1 per bag. ; 5-lb. bags, in bbls., $3 to $3.25; 10-lb. bags, in bbls., $2.85 to $3; butter and cheese salt, bulk, $2.60 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c. each ; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c. each; cartoons, $2 per case of 2 doz.

CANNED GOODS—The most important feature of the market is that tomatoes are getting light stock here, and, as noted by THE CANADIAN GROCER, when stock is replaced, prices will have to be advanced. The same thing will shortly be the case with peas. In oysters some standard brands have been offered low and sales made. With the new pack shortly to hand, higher prices will again be asked. In pineapple there has been some demand, Baltimore packers being out. Some orders have been placed for May shipments. American peaches are having a better sale and some good grades are offered. Lobsters keep high ; the bulk of those being packed will be sold for export, better prices being obtained than in local market. We quote: Corn, 65 to 70c. ; peas, 75 to 80c. ; tomatoes, 80 to 85c. ; gallon apples, $1.75 to $1.80 ; corned beef, Canadian, $2.25 to $2.35 ; American, 2-lb tins, $2.40 to $2.50 ; 1-lb tins, $1.30 to $1.50 ; oysters, 2's, $2 to $2.20 ; 1's, $1.40 to $1.50 ; peaches, 3's, Canadian, $2.75 to $3 ; 2's, $1.75 to $1.85 ; American, 3's, $2 to $2.25 ; pineapple, $2.25 to $3 ; salmon, $1.25 to $1.40; lobsters, $2.20 to $2.25; haddies, $1.15 to $1.25 ; clams, $5 for 4 doz ; chowder, $2.60 to $2.75 for 2 doz. ; scallops, $5.50 for 4 doz.; Digby chickens, $1 per doz.; kippered herring, $1.10 per doz.

GREEN FRUIT—Apples are bringing a better price, but only for best stock. A splendid selling apple this season is a New Brunswick "Ben Davis." For medium and poor grade apples there is only sale at low prices. Two hundred cases of oranges from the wrecked steamer Assaye were sold here low this week. They were in fair condition. Regular grade Valencias hold their price. In California oranges less is being done from week to week. Bloods have a limited sale. Lemons tend higher, with a better sale. Bananas also have more demand, and the season may be said to have opened. Strawberries have been out of the market for a few weeks. Rhubarb now arrives regularly. We quote : Messina lemons, $2.50 to $3.50; oranges, Valencia, $3 to $4.50 ; California oranges, $4 to $4.50; Blood oranges, $2.50 to $3 ; bananas, $1.50 to $2 ; apples, $1 to $3 per bbl. ; cranberries, Cape Cod, $4 to $6.50 per bbl.; rhubarb, 6c. per lb.

DRIED FRUIT — The presence of some old evaporated apples tends to keep prices low. On good stock the feeling is firm. A small quantity of Bermuda onions are on the market, but price is held high. They will be lower. Egyptians are expected soon and will sell freely. In raisins the market is easy, while currants are firm and higher prices not unexpected. Sultana raisins hold high; owing to limited demand very small stocks are imported here. California prunes have fair sale, but on the whole the demand for prunes is and has been light. We quote : Valencias, 5¼ to 6c. ; California L. M. 3-crown, 7¼ to 7¾c.; London layers, $1.75 to $2 ; currants, cases, 4¾ to 5c.; bbls., 4¼ to 4½c.; cartoons, cleaned, 7¼ to 7¾c.; bulk, cleaned, 6¼ to 6½c.; prunes, boxes, 5 to 10c.; dates, 4½ to 5c.; dried apples, 3 to 3½c.; evaporated apples, 4⅛ to 5c.; Bermuda onions, $2.25 to $2.50 per crate; Egyptian onions, $3 per crate ; cocoanuts, $3.25 to $3.50 per 100 lbs.; figs, 10 to 12c.; Sultana raisins, 7½ to 9c.; Valencias, layers, 6½ to 7c.; Malaga loose muscatels, 6 to 6½c.; 4-crown L. M. Californias, 8¼ to 9c.; seeded muscatels, 1-lb. cartoons, 12 to 13c.

SUGAR—There is a firm feeling and upward tendency to the market. There has been a good sale. Merchants have large stocks and are anxiously waiting change in duty. It meant direct outlay as refineries would not sell for future delivery. We quote : Granulated, 4¼ to 4⅜c.; yellows, 3½ to 3¾c. ; Paris lump, 5¾ to 6c.; powdered, 5½ to 6c.

MOLASSES—Market, as noted, is easy and is at present somewhat disturbed by the prospect of having a number of cargoes of Porto Rico consigned here. This is looked upon very unfavorably by the importers. Money was lost last year on Porto Rico largely on this account. It makes a very uncertain market. The first consigned cargo is now here. The stock of Barbadoes (new) is as yet light. There is still quite a quantity of old. Some new St. Croix arrived by last steamer, consigned. This molasses, while sometimes very good, does not run even, and is sold low. We quote : Barbadoes, 26 to 28c. ; Porto Rico, 28 to 30c. ; New Orleans, bbls., 26 to 28c. ; Antigua, 25 to 26c. ; syrup, 36 to 38c. ; Nevis, 25 to 26c.; St. Croix, 24 to 25c.

DAIRY PRODUCE—New cheese are having a better demand. Prices are firm. The outlook for a good season's business in cheese is bright. Stocks of old very light. Butter shows little change, though good dairy is scarce and has a good demand, but only at a fair price. Very little Ontario or Quebec butter has as yet come here. Eggs have held their price well and the day before Easter were rather firmer than a week before. Retailers were buying and selling for the one price. We quote: Dairy tubs, 15 to 18c.; creamery, 19 to 20c.; prints, 20 to 22c.; eggs, 12 to 13c.; cheese, 11½ to 12c.

FISH — Fresh gaspereaux have been scarce during the week, not enough having been bought to fill the demand for them fresh, which is chiefly for bait. The quality of the halibut now arriving is very good and tends lower. There has been a better demand for pickled bay herring during the week. Quite a quantity of Shelburne are now here; they arriving late for best demand. Dry codfish is dull and pollock very dull. Pickled shad and kippered herring are out of the market for this season. Smoked herring hold their prices and are likely to do so, the low prices which have ruled having affected the production. Lobsters would have a good sale, but there are hardly any to be had and they are small. We quote: Large cod, $3.25 to $3.30; medium, $2.75 to $2.85; pollock, $1.20 to $1.25; bay herring, $1.25 to $1.30; smoked, 6 to 7c.; bloaters, 60 to 65c.; Shelburne, $3.25 to $3.50 per bbl.; lobsters, 4c.; Gaspereaux, 65 to 75c.; halibut, 8 to 9c.

PROVISIONS—Another line in which buyers have been waiting to know the tariff, the feeling favoring lower duties. There is little or no change in price. There is a rather better demand for Canadian plate beef, price of which is very firm. Smoked meats also hold their price and stocks are light. Stock of lard large. We quote: Clear pork, $14.50 to $15.50; mess pork, $12.50 to $13.50; plate beef, $13.00 to $13.50; hams, 12 to 13c.; rolls, 8 to 9c.; pure lard, 7 to 7½c.; compound, 6¼ to 7c.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL—Early in the week market seemed uncertain. In the local market there was little change. Manitoba was easy and for Ontario prices were maintained, but later the war scare caused an upward tendency. Oatmeal is easy. Wholesale dealers are still well stocked. Oats are firm. There is less demand for seed oats this spring than usual. Owing to our farmers having oats on hand, western price for seed oats is high. Cornmeal is firm and selling well. Middlings and bran are high and in light demand. Beans show no change. The stock held here is large, and moves slow. Seeds have a large sale. Prices as last week. We quote: Manitoba flour, $5 to $5.05; best Ontario, $4.60 to $4.65; medium, $4.15 to $4.25; oatmeal, $3.15 to $3.20; cornmeal, $1.85 to $1.95; middlings, $15 to $16; bran, $14 to $15; hand-picked beans, 85 to 90c. per bush.; prime, 75 to 80c.; oats, 32 to 35c.; hay, $10.50 to $11.50; barley, $3; round peas, blue, $1.15; split peas, $3.10 to 3.25; yellow eye beans, $1.25 to $1.50.; timothy seed, Canadian, $2.20 to $2.40; do. American, $1.65 to $2; clover, 9 to 9½c.; Alsike, 8½ to 9c.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

The C. P. Telegraph Co. have moved into very handsome new offices.

Early Rose potatoes sold as low as 50c. per bbl. in Fredericton this week.

Mr. Jas. H. King, representing Schepp's cocoanut, was in the city this week, but only for a few hours.

E. W. Sturdee has moved his office to the building directly opposite the one he occupied in Prince William street.

Mr. J. Tilton, of Smith & Tilton, has so far recovered from his illness as to be able to give some attention to business.

Clarence C. Fairweather, late with Fairweather Bros., of Moncton, has opened a first-class drug store in this city in the opera house block.

Among the cargo of the wrecked steamer Assaye was 1230 tons soluble basic phosphate, the largest consignment of fertilizer ever brought to Canada.

Wm. Wilson, who took over the business of Wm. Wilson & Co., Chatham, upon that firm dissolving a short time ago, has sold out to W. H. MacLaughlin.

The Bell cigar factory, so long situated in St. John, and whose goods are so well-known through these provinces, is to move to St. Stephen, where it has been granted a bonus and exemption from taxes for a term of years.

The St. John River is expected to open this week. Already the steamers have made short trips. It is expected the new boat, to be put on this summer, will make the return trip in a day, taking about five and a half hours each way.

Lobster packing on Grand Manan has commenced. A good catch is expected, but the proceeds will be divided among many more fisherman than last season. The factory is owned by Burnham Morrill Co., and is managed by N. H. Cole.

P.E. Island has for a number of years sold large quantities of smoked meat, lard and barreled pork in St. John. The people of that Island are now going into the business more largely than ever this season. At Charlottetown an up-to-date plant for slaughtering and packing is being put up, having a capacity of 2,000 hogs per day. It is expected to run all the year round. Hogs will be brought from Ontario until the Island can supply the quantity needed. At present only about 40,000 hogs are raised on the Island.

CANADA'S TRADE FOR MARCH.

The March exports of Canadian products totaled $6,453,000, and the imports $11,810,000, making a total trade of $18,263,000. The comparison with the previous year is as follows:

	Total trade.	Duty paid.
March, 1896	$14,255,000	$1,900,000
March, 1897	18,263,000	2,458,000

For the nine months ending March 31st, the comparison with the corresponding nine months of the previous fiscal year was as follows:

	Exports.	Imports.	Duty paid.
1896	$92,009,000	$83,834,000	$15,463,000
1897	99,192,000	85,089,000	15,769,000

This shows a total trade for nine months of the present fiscal year of $184,734,000, nearly ten millions better than last year.

INVENTIVE GROCERS.

D. J. McLeod and E. H. Scott, of the Maple Leaf grocery, Tilsonburg, have invented an ingenious arrangement for printing wrapping paper as it is taken off the rollers for each parcel, and they have now received the official document which proclaims them owners of the patent. The rubber stamp, containing whatever advertisement may be wanted on the paper, is affixed around a revolving cylinder in a tin box pressing upon the paper roll and by means of a spring kept close to the self-inking rollers, which will print any color desired. The arrangement is a most useful one and will doubtless come into general use before long.

The Customs Department is advised of a large seizure of contraband liquor by the cruiser Constance below Quebec.

OUR STANDPOINT

In pushing our biscuits we admit there are already excellent brands on the market. We nevertheless have solid practical reasons for considering that

MANITOBA MARKETS.

WINNIPEG, April 22, 1897.

THE possibility of a flood is still the absorbing topic of conversation. The sudden and rapid rise of the river at Emerson seems to indicate that the chances of a flood here are by no means passed. All establishments between Main street and the river that carry heavy stocks in basement warehouses, have either moved them out or raised them above the level of the the floor from three to four feet. Pumps have been fitted up and in one instance—that of the Winnipeg Cold Storage Co.'s building on the river bank—have been used. This building, which is considered a triumph of cold storage facilities, was constructed with an ample catch-basin and this has been pumped out regularly for the last 48 hours. Roads outside and inside the city are drying up rapidly. The weather has been warm, in fact almost hot, for the past two days and with a strong wind blowing. Bikes are out everywhere and if Winnipeg escapes a flood it will be fully a month in advance of last season. In the more western parts of the province seeding is already well advanced and the warm weather has produced an abundant egg crop. Easter has made a little stir in trade and there are some few changes in price. Heavy purchases of tobacco are being made, and one firm at least has largely increased its stock of spirits.

CANNED GOODS—Advices from Ontario would indicate that canned goods will increase in price, with the possible exception of apples and raspberries. Tomatoes, strawberries and beans are looked upon as good stock at last week's prices, viz.: Best brands, $1.90 per case ; do., good second, $1.80. Corn has stiffened slightly, but not to an appreciable extent.

SUGAR—Sugar remains firm, and in view of probable changes may go even higher.

SYRUPS—Syrups are dull but prices are fairly firm.

GREEN FRUIT—Apples are scarce. Spies are not keeping well and are consequently taken with caution; price $4 per bbl. Baldwins have kept well and are in good demand at $3. The market is pretty well cleared, however, and American stock will be handled chiefly for the future.

DRIED FRUITS—Evaporated apples still lower. Dried apples are a drug in the market. Evaporated rapsberries are cheaper and better than formerly. Apricots easier at 12½c. Prunes very low, ranging from 5¼ to 7½c., according to size. Pitted plums scarce ; in fact, there are none on the market. Pears are particularly cheap for the choice fruit offered, and are selling at 11½c. per lb. for fancy peeled quarters. Cherries are undesirable stock at this season ; price 11½c. per lb. Currants are ½c. higher, and now stand at 6c. per lb., with every indication that the price will go out of sight. Should this be the case, there will be no market here. Canadian evaporated apples are too good and too cheap, and prunes too cheap also, for people to be willing to pay a very fancy price for currants. Raisins are still very firm. Fine Valencias are $2.20 per box and prime off-stalk, $1.80 to $1.90. Fancy table raisins are out of market owing to lateness of the season. Figs in tapnets have been sold very cheap, retail dealers selling as low as 4c. per lb. Fancy table figs are out of the market.

COFFEE—Rio is dull and prices easier. Mochas are good value at present prices. Java is firm but likely to be higher, BUTTER—Supply coming in freely now, dairy and some creamery, though the latter is really farm separator butter. The quality, however, is good. Price remains about the same—15 to 16c. for first-class.

EGGS—As before indicated, large shipments have come in for Easter and prices are steadily falling. They ranged from 12c. to 10c. on Thursday and fell to 10c. on Saturday with plenty in the market. It is thought by some that the price will be up again in a few days, and that farmers have been simply holding for the Easter trade and that the present glut is not likely to last.

FISH—In fresh fish, so far as jobbing houses are concerned, the trade is over. In dried fish, boneless cod (pure), in 2-lb packages, 6¾c., in 5-lb. packages, 7c. There is no whole cod on this market, it being considered undesirable stock at this season. Scaled herrings, in boxes, 18c.; Labrador herrings in half-barrels (No. 1 fish), $3.75 per half-barrel. No. 1 mackerel in pails are worth $2.40 per pail. Dealers here find it hard to secure really first-class mackerel, it being pretty generally understood that the American market will pay higher for mackerel than the Canadian public are inclined to do.

HAMS AND BACON—Market very firm. Hams 14 lbs. and over, 10 to 11c.; bacon, boneless backs and bellies, 10 to 11c.; smoked shoulders, 6c.; spiced rolls, short, 6¾c.; dried sale bacon very scarce. Owing to increased consumption in the west and a smaller curing last season, it is worth 7c. per lb.; long clear smoked, 8½c. The American meat market holds firm. After paying freight and duty the goods cost just about the same as the Canadian meat delivered here. There is one thing in hog raising that our Canadian, and particularly Manitoba, farmers have yet to learn, and that is, that it is not possible to make as finely flavored bacon out of hogs fed on frozen wheat as out of hogs fed on good corn.

CLOVES AND THEIR TREATMENT.

THE cloves of commerce are the flower buds of the clove tree. It is probably a native of the Molucca Isles, a group which are known as the Spice Islands, and the chief of these is Amboyna, where the production of cloves is the principal object of attention. The Dutch Government at one time, in order to secure a monopoly in this spice, destroyed the trees in the other Molucca Isles and confined the cultivation of them to the Isle of Ternate; but they are now grown extensively in Sumatra, Bourbon, West Indies, and, in fact, almost all tropical countries, and especially in Zanzibar.

The principal product is the flower bud, which consists of a tube, with the unexpanded corolla forming a round head and having somewhat the appearance of a nail, from whence it gets its name (French glou, a nail). From first hands they are bought in original packages (bales), but they are often afterward picked over and the larger and full unbroken cloves are sold under fancy names and, of course, at fancy prices.

Grinding.—The spice is so rich and so full of oil that some assert that it cannot be ground pure, and give this as an excuse for adding a quantity of mixture to absorb the oil lest the mill clog up. This is all nonsense—"where there's a will there's a way"—still, of necessity, the grinding requires great care, but that is the duty of every manufacturer to bestow, or he is not in his right business. If, however, you have no customers who can either pay for or appreciate a pure article, that is another thing; only be honest about what you do.

For a mixture the most natural things are other suitable parts of the same tree, and the nearest to the buds are the stalks upon which they grow; these are known as "clove stems," and are brought here in bales similar to the buds. They have but little flavor of the cloves, although possessed of considerable pungency and, being very free from oil, make a good absorbent when ground with the cloves, but their color is a light drab, while that of the pure cloves is a very deep brown, and this detracts from the appearance of the ground cloves. If, however, it is convenient to buy these clove stems, a very good article to use with them, or independently of them, is (as for allspice, only roasted a little darker) rye, which may be made exactly the color of cloves and may be toned up with cayenne pepper to supply pungency, which, of course, the rye does not possess.—Spice Mill Companion.

HINTS TO BUYERS.

[This department has become so popular that many more notices than there is space for are received every week. In future only important items of information will be inserted. Contributors are requested to send news only, not puffs of goods they handle, or the arrival of standard goods that everyone has in stock, or that they are offering goods at close figures, or that they have had an unusually large sale this season.]

THE Davidson & Hay, Ltd., have in stock another carload of New Orleans molasses.

S. K. Moyer has a carload of Egyptian onions arriving this week.

W. Ryan Co., Ltd., are experiencing a good demand for their smoked meats.

Lucas, Steele & Bristol handle "Plymouth Rock" gelatine, pink and white.

W. H. Gillard & Co. are offering a few dozen grocers' show cases at a low figure.

Warren Bros. & Co. have another shipment of green Rio coffee arriving this week.

Shipments of imported castile soaps are to hand this week for the Davidson & Hay, Ltd.

A good demand for spiced rolls and shoulder hams is reported by D. Gunn Bros. & Co.

"Plymouth Rock" gelatine, pink and red, is in stock with the Davidson & Hay, Ltd.

The Eby Blain Co., Ltd., are offering canned fruits for the next two weeks as special figures.

T. Kinnear & Co. are in receipt of a shipment of pickles from the United States which can be retailed at 15c. per bottle.

The Eby Blain Co., Ltd., are making a special drive this week in fancy Eleme figs in bags, and Etolia prunes in cases 55 lbs.

The new "Pure Gold" jelly powder, placed upon the market a few days ago, is meeting with good success, a large quantity having been sold already.

Stower's lime juice, lime juice cordial and lemon squash are in store with Lucas, Steele and Bristol. These goods were in demand at the Pure Food Show.

Laporte, Martin & Cie. are offering bargains in Congous, Ceylon and Blend teas this week. They have purchased a large quantity from the estate of T. Doherty & Co.

The fancy assortment of "Circle" tea put up by Lucas, Steele & Bristol consists of 17 lbs. "4 bar" black, 1 and ½ lbs.; 17 lbs. "4 bar" mixed, 1 and ½ lbs.; 17 lbs. "5 bar" black, 1 and ½ lbs. Books with every case.

W. H. Gillard & Co. report a larger sale than ever for their Seville orange marmalade, although last season they disposed of over 5,000 crates. The popularity of this article may be attributed to the fact that nothing but extra standard granulated sugar and Seville oranges are used in its manufacture.

LATE ADVERTISEMENTS.

[The following items arrived too late for insertion in the regular advertising space. Reading notices inserted in this column at 5c. per word.]

W. H. Gillard & Co.: Since the Pure Food Exposition held in Hamilton our sales of Gillard's new pickle and Gillard's new sauce have been trebled. These relishes are manufactured by Gillard & Co., of London, Eng.

The Davidson & Hay, Ltd.: We beg to call attention of buyers to our stock of Ceylon and Assam teas, which is kept constantly replenished by direct importations. Our last shipment of Ceylons was a line of splendid drawing, low-grade teas.

The Eby, Blain Co., Ltd.: We are this week in receipt of some extraordinary values in Ceylon and Indian teas.

The Eby, Blain Co., Ltd.: Our sales of "Kolona" Ceylon tea are increasing every week, and our customers express entire satisfaction in handling it.

STUFFED PARISIAN HOG'S HEAD.

SELECT a well shaped head, cut off about 3 to 4 pounds behind the ears; now remove the bones, care being taken especially above the eyes, where the skin is thinnest and lies right on the bone; do not remove the snout bones, only saw off the hindmost jawbone right behind the mouth. Remove the cheek meat on either side, until with the skin it shows about walnut thickness, or about half an inch thick. Cut off about three inches square from lower cheek at the back to make the head more shapely.

Now sew up from the snout up to the back opening where the head is to be filled, cut around over from the skin to fit the back opening. Now prepare the stuffing as follows:

Good, firm young pork moderately fat is coarsely chopped with the required quantity of salt and allowed to stand 24 hours; use, say, about 10 pounds; chop fine, add four shalots, roasted in butter, rubbed up with a pinch of salt. Spice with 5¼ ounces salt (already used in chopping); add now ½ ounce finely ground white pepper, 77 grains finely ground mace, nice green peeled pistaches, two handfuls; 1 to 1½ ounces nice white Perigord truffles, cut into dice.

Also mix red salted, boiled tongues, cut into dice of half-walnut size; mix all well and fill head with it. Sew the cover on, smoke for two hours, until yellow brown; tie up tightly into a napkin; tie a string around it very evenly from front to rear. Now cook in boiling water 3 to 3½ hours, then allow to cool. Dip the ears in hot water; put a few sticks in front of them to keep them upright in cooling. The head must be of a chestnut brown. Cut out the eyes, fill them with lard, and put in a juniper berry to mark the pupil. Put a lemon and some green bay leaves into the snout and make a nice trimming with red and white jelly and lard.—National Provisioner.

SHE DIDN'T SUCCEED.

Presuming an article on how a dishonest woman attempted to square accounts with her grocer will be of interest, I write this account of the attempt and how it was foiled.

A few years ago my clerk told me that on his route a party had made erasures on her account book, and had substituted goods of less value and had changed the figures of 100 to 10 and 10 to units. I assumed command of the route and visited her, carrying in the goods ordered, and asked for her book. I saw at once the shrinkage. In explanation she said her boys had been playing grocery store and if there was anything wrong she would right it, but I told her it would be righted when I had compared it with my order book. My midnight lamp found me comparing accounts, and the next day found her property attached, which, with a note of $50, was duly collected. Among the many articles changed was 20 yards of bleached cotton cloth at 14c., $2.80, changed 28c. Strip of pork, $1.13, changed to 13c. Her account, deducting credits for cash, for four months, on her book, amounted to $31.15, on the order book, $85.88, making a balance in my favor of $54.73, which she was attempting to embezzle. Suffice it to say the amount of $104.73 was paid in full.—"D. J. B." in N. E. Grocer.

Some time ago a company was formed in Essex to bore for gas. The well has been sunk to a depth of 1,137 feet, and all that has yet been struck is a bed of salt. The well may be abandoned by the company.

Mr. Gunn represented Kingston in the Federal Parliament from 1878 to 1887. In the former year he defeated the late Sir John Macdonald, and in 1883 Hon. Senator Sullivan. Three years ago he retired from the wholesale grocery business into private life. For many years he was a prominent figure in all of Kingston's industries. The announcement of Mr. Gunn's appointment has been received with general satisfaction by both political parties.

COMPARE THE SALES DAILY.

At the close of every day's business, says an exchange, compare the sales with those for the same date last year. If they are better this year it should encourage you to still greater efforts. If not so good it should spur you on to renewed efforts to come out ahead of last year. No business can stand still. It must either advance or decline. A slight advance is cause for encouragement, for it shows progress even though it may be slow. A falling behind should be regarded as a danger signal, for it may be the forerunner of a backward tide, which once it sets in, is almost impossible to stem. Every business man knows it is harder to build up a business that is run down than to build up an entirely new one. See to it that yours does not slip back.

A SHARP TRICK.

A boy brought into my store the following order on a slip of paper :

"Grocer, please send at once—
1 lb. coffee in the bean, best, 35c.
3½ lbs. flour, 13c.
3½ lbs. sugar, 16c.
2 Babbitt's soap, 8c.
F. Mueller, 112 East 54th street.
Please send change for $5; send bill!"

The clerk put up the order, the little boy received $4.28, being the change for $5, and took the goods to the above number. In front of the house a young man met him, took the basket and said to the boy in German : "Here is a $20 bill, give me the change ; you go now and hurry back and get me the other $15, I'll bring the groceries upstairs the while, my mother is sick and she wants to use the sugar."

Our boy came back, handed the $20 to me and asked for the $15 to take back. The $20 bill was one of the Confederate State bills, and I knew at once that we were swindled out of 72c. worth of groceries, $4.28 in change, and a basket.

After this no goods will be sent C.O.D. to strangers.

This will be a strict, standing rule.—Retail Grocers' Advocate.

No Matter What

THE TARIFF is you are compelled to remain in business. Your capital is locked up and cannot be withdrawn; it is therefore necessary to adjust yourself to the new order of things.

Your most necessary requirement at the present moment is judicious advertising. Every branch of trade delayed placing orders until the tariff was brought down. They must now buy, whether the tariff suits them or not. Do you want these orders? An advertisement in this paper will do it. Write us.

EARLY-CLOSING SOIREE.

THE first soiree under the auspices of the Early Closing Association of Montreal, was held in La Monument Nationale, on Wednesday evening. The entertainment consisted of a series of seven tableaux, presented by a strong local company, portraying the principal scenes in the drama "Faust."

The large audience present, amongst which were Prov.-Secretary Atwater, Ald. Renaud, Ald. Grothe, and a number of other prominent people, may be taken as evidence that the citizens of Montreal are in sympathy with the early-closing movement.

The association, which is composed of representatives from all lines of trade, is to be congratulated upon the complete success of its first public entertainment.

The committee in charge of the soiree was composed of the following : Messrs. Poirier, Havard, Levesque, Lavigne, Forget, MacBeth, Seguin, Davis and Fournier.

TOLD ABOUT TEA.

"DO you take sugar—and milk ?" is said to be the correct formula for the tea-maker. To mention cream in connection with tea is not only a vulgarity, but also a proof of ignorance of what is good, since connoisseurs never think of drinking cream with tea. An English writer says that men are more intimately interested than women in the making of tea, more subtly conscious of its merits. Women discriminate less intelligently. Tea to them is plain tea ; tea to a man is China, or Indian, or Ceylon or a blend. The man who takes his tea neat is on the way to be a tea drunkard. In England tea confers a social rank of its own, and the man who sells tea and nothing else stands a rung higher on the social ladder than the man who sells tea and sugar. Scions of noble houses may be "in tea" without shame, and one of the ways open to reduced daughters of aristocracy is the serving of tea in west end shops. The wise tea-maker holds elaborate paraphernalia cheap, scorns copper kettles on tripods, with their tiny spirit stoves that hold too little spirt, silver teapots and all such refinements, knowing that the best tea is made with a black kettle on the fire and an earthenware or china teapot. Dr. Johnson and Hartley Coleridge were among the tea-giants of older times. When the latter was once asked how many cups he was in the habit of drinking, he replied, scornfully : "Cups ! I don't count by cups. I count by pots." Dean Stanley was another great tea-drinker, and Mr. Gladstone's tea-drinking feats are renowned. The late Arthur Cecil, the comedian, used to tell with keen enjoyment of the cannibal tea at Kew, where a sign read : "Tea, plain, 6d ;" "Tea, with shrimps, 9d ;" "Tea, with children, 1s." According to Sheridan Le Fanu, one of the effects of green tea drinking is to be visited at night by an impalpable monkey with red eyes.

POTATO CHIPS.

Potato chips are becoming quite the thing. But there are potato chips and potato chips. Those made by John B. Marshall, of Boston, are potato chips, and known by the name of "Saratoga." Mr. Marshall's product has become the staple chip, most of the leading hotels now using it. Potato chips are good sellers at all seasons of the year, but particularly during the summer season, and every grocer and general merchant throughout the country should keep them in stock. They are put up in bulk and in paper packages, and Mr. Marshall furnishes a neat case for the counter for displaying a sample of the chips.

EDDY ON PULPWOOD.

Mr. E. B. Eddy, of Hull, P.Q., the large manufacturer of pulp and other lines, has written a letter to the press on the pulpwood industry. He points out that the consumption of the United States is about 4,000,000 tons of mechanical ground wood pulp annually, and of this quantity no less than 25 per cent. of this pulp comes from wood, the growth of this country. In the past year about 600,000 cords of pulpwood have been exported to the United States, besides which a quantity of the pulp has been ground here, principally in Nova Scotia. The cost of conversion of these 600,000 cords of wood into pulp, with the freight from the mills to the border, will amount to about $5 per cord, thus depriving us of the circulation of money in labor and freights of some $3,000,000 in the past year.

An export duty on pulpwood of at least $4 per cord, if not $5, would he says, compel the manufacture of pulp in our own country.

HE DOES NOT HANDLE FIREWORKS.

THERE is one storekeeper in this city who, notwithstanding the allurement of large profits, will never sell any more fireworks, and thereby hangs a tale.

This particular storekeeper, whose identity cannot be disclosed, is an extremely careful and cautious man in his business. In the exercise of these qualities he took pains to preserve the surplus stock of last year's fireworks for sale during the jubilee year. In order that the rockets, etc., might be safely preserved he placed the lot in a good-sized trunk and put it in a corner of his bedroom. There the box reposed in safety till one night (or early morning) not long since, when the grocer's boy made up his mind to have some crackers. He remembered the big cannon crackers of last year, knew where they were stored, and was not proof against the temptation to purloin a handful.

So one night recently the daring youth remained awake till he heard the harmonious cadences of the deep bass snore of his pater and the falsetto of his mother, and then prepared for his expedition. Getting out of bed, he crept slowly along the hallway to his parents' bedroom. More than once he felt like abandoning his intended raid. The thumping of his heart and the promptings of his conscience warned him to bed, but he refused to obey, and slowly and silently he entered the room where his father, mother and the firecrakers were. He made his way to the corner where the old trunk was and lifted the lid without trouble. First he thought he would take a handful of whatever kind happened to be on top, but swift as a flash he altered his mind and determined to have cannon crackers. To get these he had to strike a match, which he shaded carefully from the occupants of the bed, who still slept soundly, as storekeepers do. He made a quick survey of the contents of the trunk, and as he grasped the cannon crackers the match burnt his fingers and he dropped it—right into the midst of the explosives. He made a grab for the lighted match, but it was too late. A cannon cracker had been ignited, and with a bang like the bursting of the firmament, it went off.

Who can describe what followed! The father bounded almost to the ceiling and lit on his feet in the middle of the floor as the boy's shirt tail disappeared down the hall. The mother let a shriek out of her that was heard two blocks away and was answered by a Roman candle shooting a blue light at the water jug. As the father shot out of the door after the supposed burglar a skyrocket hit a soft spot in his retreating figure, and a box of serpents began a twisting exercise about the room that brought yell after yell from the frightened woman, who was by this time a target for everything in the trunk except the cannon crackers which boomed away at irregular intervals, interspersed by squibs and rockets and blue lights, till the smoke in the room became so dense that the colors could hardly be distinguished. The mother escaped from the room as the father returned with a jug of water to quell the display. In due time the wreck was cleared away, and the boy settled with on a hard pan basis.

He had reached his room ahead of his father, but so scared was he that he forgot he held a handful of cannon crackers which afforded incontestible proof of his guilt. That is why G— M—, grocer, does not sell any more fireworks.—News, Toronto.

GOOD COLLECTING.

"YES, I think I'm a pretty good collector," said a grocer, who does considerable credit business. "I lose very little through bad debts, for the simple reason that I am very particular whom I trust.

"When people come to me for credit I begin by having a thorough understanding with them that the money must be paid when due, or their credit stops. Not only that. I have also an understanding with them as to whether all of the family are authorized to order goods. This I find to be necessary, as I have had cases of a daughter ordering goods and the mother saying afterwards that she had no right to do so.

"The worst collector imaginable is the grocer who is lenient in the first place, but who afterwards gets frightened and tries to bluff people into paying up. This is just what people want. It gives them an excuse for getting angry and refusing to pay.

"I believe that quietly insisting on prompt payment from the very first is the only way to do business where you can't trust the law to help you. And the proof that my method is successful lies in the fact that I have often had accounts paid by people covered with attachments. Why, I have even collected money from people whose furniture was being carried out of the house."

Moral: Establish a reputation in your neighborhood for being a good collector and see how few people will try to beat you.—The Hustler, in San Francisco Grocer.

MONTREAL GROCERS COMMENDED.

The action of the Montreal Grocers' Association in deciding not to purchase from wholesalers who sell to department stores is called a conspiracy and therefore a violation of the law. That is nonsense. Members of labor unions are allowed to purchase only union-made goods, and to refrain from dealing with firms which handle non-union goods. Haven't retail grocers as much liberty of action as the members of labor unions?—Herald, Hamilton.

CALLING FOR ORDERS.

IT is idle to discuss the relative advantages or disadvantages of the system of calling for orders, at least in quarters where it has taken root as it has in New York, because it is a case of willy, nilly, with the family grocer of moderate capital. If he doesn't follow the custom, there are plenty of others who will, and they will get all the trade of a certain kind.

We will not waste time therefore, in discussing the wisdom of the custom, but we must insist that altogether too much dependence is placed, as a rule, upon the clerks who represent the dealers in the house to house calls. Some of the customers thus supplied rarely if ever call at the store, and the grocers, or some of them, never call at the customer's house, and in consequence the entire traffic may be said to virtually rest upon the shoulders of a young and ignorant clerk — often the youngest and least experienced person in the store.

A wink is said to be as good as a nod to a blind horse, but what sort of a hint should the dealer require who never goes the rounds of his customers, in place of the clerk usually entrusted with the duty?—Merchants' Review.

SMASHING THE DEPARTMENT STORE.

A country grocer in Eaton, O., displays the following card in a local newspaper: "These prices, we believe, knock the department-store rates to smithereens: 1 bushel of potatoes, 15c.; 1 can of corn, 4c.; 1 can of apples, 4c.; 1 can of tomatoes, 6c.; 1 can of pumpkin, 4c.; 1 can of peaches, 7c.; 1 package of pancake flour, 7c.; 8 bars of Jackson soap, 23c.; 1 pound of coffee, 15c.; ¼ pound of pepper, 3c.; 2 pounds of hominy, 2c., making a total of 90c."

There are reasons for it.

FOR WHAT?

For the steadily increasing sales of Brantford Starch throughout the Dominion, from Halifax in the East to Vancouver in the West.

WHAT ARE THE REASONS?

1. We look after the quality closely.
2. We put up our Starch in very attractive packages.
3. We ship promptly immediately on receipt of order.

Our sales for the month of March considerably more than doubled the sales of the corresponding month of last year.

Success with Canned Meats

It is not a matter of chance. The full and habitual satisfaction of your customer; furnishing goods of unvarying excellence; goods that are certain to please to-day, to-morrow, every day—that is the way to win success. Grocers the world over know that canned meats bearing the "Helmet" trade mark are certain to please. They can be depended on for uniformity day in and day out, and they are prized best by customers who use them most. There is a world of satisfaction in selling them, and a good profit for the grocer, of course.

If your jobber does not sell you the "Helmet" brand, write to

Vol. XI. (Published Weekly) MONTREAL AND TORONTO, APRIL 30, 1897 ($2.00 per Year) No. 18

THE NEW TARIFF.

HOW ITS ADVENT IS VIEWED BY THE GROCERY TRADE.

FORTUNATELY for the business of the country it is not very often that a new tariff is a necessity. When there is one it is certain to affect the grocery trade to a greater or less extent. The tariff which made its appearance last week has not, as a rule, made any radical changes in the schedules appertaining to groceries, but still THE CANADIAN GROCER has thought it advisable to secure interviews with as many of the wholesale grocers as possible. Subjoined are these interviews :

Mr. Joseph F. Eby, president of the Eby, Blain Co., Ltd., after consenting to be interviewed, said : "As far as we are concerned, the new tariff suits us very well. The protection to the sugar refineries is still, to my mind, too large. An additional reduction of 10c. would have kept this market in a healthy condition. Up to the present the wholesalers have simply, at inadequate remuneration, been the distributors of sugar."

"Are you satisfied with the tea schedule ?"

"As large importers of tea we are very much pleased that the Government saw fit to leave tea on the free list. Although we would have been materially benefitted, through the enhanced price which would have accrued to the stock we hold, yet ultimately we would have been the losers had a duty been put on tea, for the additional risk would not have been covered by a corresponding increase in profits. Then our package-tea trade, which has increased enormously, would have suffered materially; among other things having necessitated our getting new price labels."

"How about tobacco ?"

"Tobacco being a luxury, the increased duty should be satisfactory to most people. I might say that we were particularly fortunate in having good stocks on hand, so that we shall benefit by the advance."

"About what is likely to be the advance in the price of tobacco to retailers ?"

"The manufacturers say it will make a difference of about 14c. per lb. in "brights" and of 10c. or more in "blacks."

"Unfortunately," interposed Mr. Hugh Blain, the vice-president of the company, "the American Tobacco Co. is an international monopoly. There are no English goods that come into competition with their products. They have got the market to themselves. It is a strong term, but it is true, nevertheless, the American Tobacco Co. is a gigantic monopoly."

"What do you think, Mr. Eby, in regard to the duty on rice ?"

"I think that the half-cent per lb. protection on rice is quite sufficient," concluded Mr. Eby.

Col. John I. Davidson, of the Davidson & Hay, Ltd., in reply to a question said : "As far as our firm is concerned, taken on the whole, the tariff is a very satisfactory one."

"In what respect ?" asked THE GROCER.

"In every respect," he replied, as he swung around in his chair. "I would, however, have liked to have seen the protection on sugar reduced 25c. per 100 pounds instead of 14c. per 100 pounds. The arrangement of the rice tariff is somewhat of a surprise. No one ever expected to see paddy rice put up ¼c. per pound, at least, no one I ever met. What I expected to see was a reduction in the cleaned rice."

"What about teas ?"

"I did not buy teas on the expectation of a duty being put upon them. For my immediate benefit I would like to have seen a duty put upon teas, but for the running of my business I am far better without it. Taking it all round I think the tariff, as far as it relates to the grocery trade, is very satisfactory," concluded the colonel.

Mr. P. C. Larkin, of the Salada Tea Co., said : "I believe as far as our trade is concerned that the effect of the tariff will be favorable by the general improvement in business which will result from the removal of the uncertainty, thus enabling manufacturers and importers to know where they are standing."

"What do you think of the tariff as far as teas are concerned ?"

"Personally we are satisfied that there was no duty put upon teas, although we held large stocks. A considerable part of our business is in the United States, we now having branches in Pittsburg, Buffalo and Boston, the branch in the last named place having only recently been started. We consider, therefore, that we would have been put to a great deal of inconvenience had a duty been put upon teas by the Canadian Government, as all goods would have to be prepared for shipment in bond here for shipment to the United States. This would necessitate keeping a Custom house officer nearly all the time on hand, and would greatly hamper business."

Mr. Wm. Ince, Sr., of the firm of Perkins, Ince & Co., spoke in part as follows : "On the whole I think it should be satisfactory to the country generally, provided the Government can see its way clear to meet all its financial engagements ; but for my part I cannot understand how it is going to make up the deficiency in the revenue except by borrowing, and I do not encourage the principle of incurring one debt in order to pay another. As far as our business is concerned it is difficult at the moment to say what the effect will be. In any case we expect pretty dull times for a little while on account of the accumulated stocks in the leading articles. These accumulated stocks must be pretty heavy both in the wholesale and retail trade."

"What are your views in regard to the duty on rice ?"

"The change in the duty on rice is not certainly meeting expectations, for it immediately had the effect of putting prices up ¼c. per lb. And we fear that the result will be that the rice mills will have to shut down. We consider tobacco a legitimate article upon which to raise revenue as long as any increase in the duty does not facilitate smuggling."

When Mr. Ince was questioned in regard to the tariff as far as it related to teas, Mr. Wm. Ince, Jr., who was present, remarked: "If there are any articles in the grocery trade that should be taxed for revenue purposes I think tea and sugar will bear it as well as anything else."

Mr. Wm. Ince, Sr., endorsed this view, and concluded with the remark: "I think it is, on the whole, a most plausibly arranged tariff."

Mr. A. Jardine, of the Pure Gold Manufacturing Co., in reply to a question, remarked: "The advance in the price of spirits affects our flavoring extract business, to what extent I cannot yet say exactly, not having figured it out. But I should judge that it will be to at least the extent of $600 to $1,000 per year. As you know, all flavoring extracts are held in solution in pure alcohol. Therefore the advance in the price of spirits must necessarily affect that of flavoring extracts. As to our being able to advance the price of extracts I do not think it will be possible for us to do so on account of the adulterated article on the market, together with the keeness of competition. The tariff on spices, as you know, is unchanged."

Mr. J. L. Watt, of Watt & Scott, agents for Mediterranean fruits, said: "All I have to say is that I consider it an excellent tariff. We do not know of any article in the lines in which we are interested that has been injuriously affected. On the contrary, on some of the articles it has made the conditions more favorable for importation."

"Would you mind specifying upon what lines the tariff is more favorable?"

"Well, amongst others might be mentioned rice and raw sugar and dried fruits. Then I understand the duty has been withdrawn on packages. This last named change will be appreciated altogether beyond the actual amount of duty involved. The duty on packages was a most vexatious one. One apparent effect of the new tariff," said Mr. Watt, "appears to be the imposition of a duty of 20 per cent. on tartaric and nitric acid, and some other articles of a kindred nature. These are not mentioned in the tariff, and will therefore, it appears, be subject to a duty of 20 per cent., coming under the unenumerated list."

Mr. Geo. Musson, of Musson & Co., importers of teas, coffees, rice, etc., said: "I think, taking it on the whole, it is a fairly satisfactory tariff. Of course there are not a great many changes. They have made a step in the right direction in regard to rice, but they have not gone far enough. Rice is a staple article of consumption, particularly for poor people, and I think the duty should have been reduced in order that this article of food might be furnished to them at a lower price. Sugar, I think, is all right. In regard to teas, I think it was the proper thing for them not to put a duty on this article. I would say the same in regard to coffees."

Mr. H. P. Eckardt, of H. P. Eckardt & Co., remarked: "I think it is a very reasonable tariff. It does not affect grocery trade to any great extent. The change in tobacco is a most important one. By abolishing the duty on packages a lot of trouble will be avoided. This duty has been a source of trouble, and was a picayune policy on the part of the late Government. For while it did not bring in much revenue it caused a great deal of annoyance to importers."

"How about the tariff on tea?"

"I think that a specific duty on teas would have been desirable, a specific duty of say 5c. per lb. Such a duty would have had the tendency to keep out the low-grade trash, which will now undoubtedly be forced upon the Canadian market to a greater extent than ever before by reason of the new inspection law passed by the United States Congress, and which goes into force May 1. This law calls for a comparatively high standard on teas before they will be allowed into the United States, and, unless our Government takes this matter in hand, this country will be the grand dumping ground for all the rubbish masquerading under the name of teas which is refused admission to the United States. I think," concluded Mr. Eckardt, "that a duty on tea will be advisable only as a preventive for keeping out low-grade, trashy teas."

Mr. Watson, of Kerry, Watson & Co., gave the following opinion: "The tariff to us is very disappointing and not at all what we should look for. The Tariff Commissioners evidently ignored every request made by the drug representatives who waited upon them. I think the reduction on liquid patent medicines from 50 to 35 per cent. is uncalled for and useless, in view of the fact that the Government have increased the duty on alcohol, which is a very important item in the manufacture of that class of goods. United States manufacturers of patent medicines can buy alcohol in the United States at $2.10 a gallon; they can easily afford therefore to pay the 35 per cent. duty, instead of using alcohol made in Canada, which costs $4.60. There was a universal request by the drug trade that the distillers should not receive so great a protection as at present exists on alcohol. They at present charge $1.15 per gallon in bond for spirits that can be laid down from the United States at 30c. per Imperial gallon. The import duty is now $3.96 on United States or German alcohols, which, added to the thirty cents, will make the spirit cost $4.26, while the excise duty, being $3.13, added to $1.15 for the price in bond, makes it $4.28. The addition of 40c. per gallon on spirits affects between 200 and 250 products of our business, thus necessitating a change of price in each of them."

Mr. C. P. Hebert, of Hudon, Hebert & Cie., expressed himself as follows: "The sugar industry is not amply protected by the new tariff. I would have much preferred to see the 64 cents protection maintained, and an ad valorem duty of 40 per cent. imposed on refining sugars. The present duty of 50 cents, indiscriminately of polariscope test, is against the poor, who pay the same as the rich, whereas an ad valorem duty would have been much preferable, inasmuch as the grades to make yellows, while costing a good deal less, pay the same duty as those used in making granulated sugars." Mr. Hebert was somewhat disappointed to note an increase on foreign liquors. He is of opinion that the $2.25 duty was quite sufficient; but he was satisfied with the increase of duty on domestic liquors.

Ross, Hall & Co. said the duty on uncleaned rice being ¾ of a cent, and on cleaned 1¼c., the industry was left in freality without protection. They did not, Mr. Ross added, even keep their promises to the consumer.

Mr. A. Baumgarten, of the St. Lawrence Sugar Refining Co., said that the new tariff was very severe upon the refiners, about 14c. reduction per 100 pounds, and he did not know what the result would be. He did not feel ill towards the Ministers, who had, no doubt, done the best they could, and a great deal had been said against the refiners to influence them. No change in price would be made at present. He could not say if the refineries would have to shut down eventually owing to increased competition.

Mr. T. Labatt, of the St. Lawrence Sugar Refining Co., said in reference to the change in the tariff on sugar: "The change is decidedly unfavorable to the refining interests in Canada. How far the industry will be affected remains to be seen."

Hon. George Drummond, of the Redpath Sugar Refining Co., said: "I prefer to say very little at the present time, but I may state that we are dissatisfied. They have taken more than one-fifth off. It is a reduction of 22 per cent. of our nominal protection. I don't know whether we will be able to stand it or not."

Mr. H. N. Kittson, of W. H. Gillard & Co., Hamilton, said the advance on tobacco would prove unpopular, tobacco being the poor man's friend. The duty of ten cents on raw leaf would be equivalent to 13c. a pound on the finished article.

George E. Bristol, of Lucas, Steele & Bristol, said he was not surprised at the increase in the duties on whiskey and tobacco, although it was no sure thing that they were not as high before as these commodities could stand. He had not expected the reimposition of a duty on tea, but looked for another half a cent a pound on sugar. The slight reduction in the tariff on refined sugar would not affect the price to the consumer, as none is imported to speak of; all it would do would be to reduce the figure to which refiners at certain seasons could afford to put up the price.—Herald, Hamilton.

A HANDSOME CALENDAR.

The British American Bank Note Co.'s calendar is one of the handsomest that has been issued for some time. Upon the face of the calendar are shown some excellent specimens of engraving for postage stamps, bank notes, etc., done by this company. The work is exceptionally good, and the calendar is a handsome ornament for a desk.

KEEN'S ADVERTISING CAB.

Montreal people have recently had a chance of judging as to the original ideas of advertising adopted by the large English concerns. An English hansom cab, very tastefully decorated with the British coat of arms and having the magic words "Keen's Mustard" lettered on the lower half in exactly similar type to those on the tins and boxes, has recently been brought out by Frank Magor & Co., Montreal, the agents for the well-known firm of Keen, Robinson & Co., London, England. The cab is further decorated with the various medals awarded to the Messrs. Keen, and the whole outfit, including harness, horse and driver, is quite in keeping with the very high position held by this firm's manufactures throughout the world. Messrs. Magor's city traveller is using the cab when calling upon his customers soliciting orders. After being in Montreal a month or two, it will be taken to Ottawa, Toronto, Hamilton, etc.

HOW COFFEE CAME TO BE USED.

It is somewhat interesting to trace the manner in which the use of the common beverage of coffee arose, without which few persons in any civilized or even half-civilized country in the world make breakfast. At the time Columbus discovered America it was not known. It grew only in Arabia and Upper Ethiopia.

The discovery of its use as a beverage is ascribed to the superior of a monastery in Arabia, who, desirous of preventing the monks from sleeping at their nocturnal services, and having heard from shepherds that their flocks were more lively after browsing on the fruit of that plant, made them drink the infusion of coffee. Its reputation spread through the adjacent countries, and in two hundred years it reached Paris.

A single plant, brought there in 1714, became the parent plant of all the French coffee plantations in the West Indies. The Dutch introduced it into Java and the East Indies. The extent of the consumption now can scarcely be realized.

CUBA SUGAR CROP.

The present sugar crop of Cuba will not this season reach upwards of 200,000 tons. The plantations that are grinding are utilizing burnt cane, and the need of animals to draw the cane from the field to the mill is a serious drawback. The sugar crop for the season of 1893-94 all over the island reached the total of 1,087,000 tons, while that of the season of 1894-95 was only 1,040,000 tons. Last season's crop, or that of 1895-96, fell to 240,000 tons.

THE YOUNG MAN AND HIS HABITS.

IT is very noticeable in reading biography that the coming peculiarities by which a person becomes distinguished show themselves distinctly in the teens. Most men take their shape before they are twenty-one, that is, their habits of mind and sentiment and action are established. The essential elements of character take form in the youthful period. Of course, the thinking is yet crude, opinions are only outlined, feeling is an impulse, purposes are not well defined, principles know little how to assert themselves, but the consciousness of what one wants to be is distinct. All of us whose years have taught us where we are and what we are remember that we are the legitimate outgrowths of what we were at maturity. We have not surprised ourselves if we have others.

There is a familiar case in modern English biography which finely illustrates this point. It is that of Hugh Miller, the stone-cutter and geologist.

He was born in Scotland in 1802. His father died soon after, leaving him to the care of his mother and two uncles. One of his uncles took much pains to interest him in rocks, minerals, shells, ferns, plants, the sea, the tides, clouds, rain, birds, insects and natural objects generally. The other took equal pains to interest him in history, antiquities, the social customs of the different peoples ancient and modern, which he must learn through books. One taught him to observe nature ; the other to study books and through them to learn of men. They each gave a bent to his mind—a habit of observation and study which he never outgrew, and which together made him one of the most marked men of his age. These early habits gave direction to his life.

At the age of seventeen he was apprenticed to a stonemason to learn the trade of stone-cutting. For some fifteen years he pursued that vocation with skill and industry, traveling through many parts of Scotland to work at his hard and dusty hammering, till he found it was injuring his health, and he gave it up.

But while working at his trade he did not give up his early acquired habits of observation and study. He made the rocks he was cutting yield to him their secrets. He compared them with other rocks to observe their differences. He studied their structure and composition. He made collections of many varieties of rocks, and the minerals, and fossils found in connection with them, and classified them. Then he sought to learn their histories, and the parts they played in the structure of the earth, in the soils, and their relations to vegetation. The fossils led him to study their history and their relations to living species of animals. Wherever he went he carried his hammer and chisel. He visited all stone quarries, mines, cliffs, caves, mountains, and everywhere asked the rocks and soils for their stories. And all this while he worked at his trade. But this was not all. His habit of reading was not laid aside. And reading and observing much led him to writing. His study filled his mind with much that he was glad to write about. The rocks became his friends, and learning from them their histories and qualities he wrote of them with great intelligence and enthusiasm.

As a scientific writer, he surpassed all the men of his time in giving a poetic life, a vivid intellectual glow to the commonly dry subjects of science. Some of his scientific books are almost prose poems. And yet he was accurate and faithful in the highest degree.

All young men cannot be Hugh Millers, but they can be as much benefitted by early-formed good habits as was he. The destructive power of bad habits is seen in the wrecks of manhood all about us ; while the man-making power of good habits, is equally seen in the good men and their grand successes that are the ornaments and glory of all the ages. — Looking Forward for Young Men.

THE TARIFF ON BRITISH GOODS.

NO action on the part of any Canadian Government has probably ever attracted more wide-spread and general attention than the decision of the present Government to give the products of Great Britain a preference under our tariff.

The mere fact that British goods are to be allowed entrance until June 30th, 1898, at one-eighth less than those from any other country, and at one-fourth less after July 1, 1898, is in itself sufficient to attract the attention of other nations, but it is doubly so because of the questions which arise and which must be dealt with as a result thereof.

These questions appertain to the Imperial treaties containing preferential treatment clauses. The nations immediately concerned in these are Belgium and the German Empire, and indirectly a dozen others.

The treaty with Belgium was made in 1862, and Article XV of that instrument provides "that articles the produce and manufacture of Belgium shall not be subject in the British colonies to other or higher duties than those which are or may be imposed upon similar articles of British origin."

The Imperial treaty with the German Zollverein was made in 1865, and clause 7 provides:

The stipulations of the preceding articles I to VI shall also be applied to the colonies and foreign possessions of Her Britannic Majesty. In these colonies and possessions the produce of the states of the Zollverein shall not be subject to any higher or other import duties than the produce of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland or of any other country of the like kind, nor shall the exportations from those colonies or possessions to the Zollverein be subject to any higher or other duties than the exportations to the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

In the face of the two clauses cited it certainly does appear that any advantages which we give to British goods must likewise be accorded to products of Belgium and Germany. But Premier Laurier distinctly stated in the House on Friday that while British goods, under the new tariff, come into the Dominion at the reduced rate, those from Germany and Belgium do not.

These favored-nation-treatment clauses in Imperial treaties have, of late years at any rate, been a source of irritation, not only to Canada, but to most, if not all, of the other self-governing colonies as well.

Five years ago the House of Commons of Canada addressed a memorial to the British Government asking for the abrogation of the favored-nation-treatment clauses of the Imperial treaties. And in 1894 the Colonial Conference, comprising representatives from Great Britain, Canada, New South Wales, Tasmania, Cape of Good Hope, New Zealand, Victoria and Queensland, adopted this resolution:

That this conference is of opinion that any provisions in existing treaties between Great Britain and any foreign power, which prevent the self-governing dependencies of the Empire from entering into agreements of commercial reciprocity with each other, or with Great Britain, should be removed.

It will thus be seen that five and three years respectively have elapsed since the House of Commons and the Colonial Conference took action in the matter, but nothing has been done in the premises by the British Government.

It will be noticed that in the resolution adopted by the Colonial Conference reference is made to reciprocity arrangements between the self-governing colonies. At that time a great deal of doubt existed as to whether these favored-nation-treatment clauses precluded any two of the self-governing colonies from entering into commercial arrangements with each other. But about three weeks after the conference closed Sir E. Gray in the Imperial House of Commons made a statement to this effect in regard to the treaties with Belgium and Germany:

(a) That they do not prevent differential treatment by the United Kingdom in favor of British colonies. (b) That they do not prevent differential treatment by British colonies of each other. (c) That they do prevent differential treatment by British colonies of the United Kingdom.

While this statement removes any doubts as to the right of the colonies to give the products of each other preferential treatment, it also makes the declaration that the colonies cannot give the products of the United Kingdom any preferential rates. This was the finding of the law officers of the Crown, and British statesmen generally have endorsed it.

At the first blush, at any rate, the action of the Dominion Government appears to be contrary both to the reading of the treaties and to the ruling of the law officers of the Crown.

Whether it really is so or not is the knotty problem which is troubling every thinking Canadian.

We cannot conceive that the Government would designedly violate an Imperial obligation. And it is possible it has been guided by one or two things: It may be (1) that the present action has been taken after consultation with the British Government; or (2) upon the view that the preferential clause of the tariff is not a violation of the provisions of the Imperial treaties.

Whatever it may have done in the former respect, the Government evidently intends to consult the Home authorities. Mr. Fielding clearly set this forth during his budget speech. These are his exact words:

We recognize that it is a question that we shall ultimately have to consult with Her Majesty's Government, and I need not say that any view that may be taken by Her Majesty's Government will be considered by the Government of Canada with the respect that is due to any representations that may be made upon any subject, but above all on a question of an international character.

Then as to the other possibility. It must be remembered that no treaty arrangement has been made between Canada and Great Britain. Great Britain is not even mentioned in the reciprocal tariff. British goods are allowed into the Dominion at the minimum tariff simply because the country from which they come complies with the conditions therein laid down. These conditions are not, however, confined to any one country. On the contrary, the provisions of the tariff extend to any and every nation which "admits the products of Canada on terms which, on the whole, are as favorable to the products of Canada as the terms of the reciprocal tariff herein referred to are to the countries to which it may apply."

The move of the Government is a bold one. But most of us like boldness. The people of Great Britain appear to be pleased and The London Times has done the unusual thing of cabling its congratulations to the Government. Canadians themselves only hope that the Dominion authorities will be able to maintain their position.

The treaties in question were made before the Dominion had a being, but they have bound us hand and foot nevertheless. The Motherland has recognized that the principle of so binding her self-governing colonies is wrong by of late years giving them the option of either accepting or refusing new treaties. And since 1880 Canada has declined to accede to no less than eleven of these treaties, acceding at the same time to only two.

The Dominion Government has now, however, severed the gordian knot, which the Imperial authorities have, without avail, been importuned to untie. And as the people of both Canada and Great Britain appear to be pleased thereat, it will obviously be a difficult task to splice it again.

WHAT SOME PEOPLE THINK.

I FIND in going around amongst the trade that the grocers who do not try to compete with the departmental stores are complaining the least. In fact, they say they are losing very few customers, and those that do go generally come back. Here is one example :

A lady went to a well-known departmental store in Montreal and left a large order for groceries, with instructions to send them up the following afternoon without fail. The afternoon came, but not the groceries. The next morning she telephoned about them. They wanted to know if she had the bill, but she couldn't find it just then.

She was told that they could not send the goods unless she produced the bill. Four days afterwards the goods were sent up. In the meantime she had to go to her old grocer and get what she needed.

"Serves me right," she said to me. "I had no business going past the door where I have always been well treated."

This lady will now buy from her old grocer only.

I think a grocer makes a mistake when he attempts to compete with the low prices by cutting on other lines. The man who handles reliable goods and asks a fair profit will always make a living. The man who sells at cost or below can never do so. He may as well go out of business at once.

THE FOLLY OF OVER-CHARGING.

IF a merchant does not make a profit out of the goods he sells it is only a question of time before he will be compelled to go out of business. That is just as certain as it is that a river will run dry if its source is cut off.

But there is a wrong way as well as a right way of securing profit. And to follow the wrong way is almost as bad as to make no profit at all.

One of the ways in which some merchants follow in their desire to make profit is by charging one or two cents per pound more for this commodity, or a dollar or two more for that article than the ruling market price warrants.

Aside altogether from the injustice of such a procedure, it is a most foolish one.

Nine out of every ten of the customers thus taken advantage of will discover the fact before a great while ; and then nine times out of ten there will be a parting of customer and merchant.

We have no reference to the fact that one merchant often finds himself being undersold by another who is cutting prices. We merely have reference to the man who makes a practice of persistently charging his customers in excess of the market price for his wares.

That there are those who are doing it is not suppositious. We know it for a fact, and could give names if necessary.

In these days of keen competition it is not the merchant who exacts for his wares more than the ruling market price that obtains success and earns a competency. It is the merchant who is energetic, up-to-date, rich in ideas, and who turns his stock over frequently.

Verily, he that overchargeth his customers is like unto the man who goeth into his cellar and pulleth the plug out of the tap-hole of his wine cask, for when he overchargeth a customer he certainly releases the plug of confidence that is so essential to the keeping of trade.

THE COMING FRUIT SALES.

The first fruit sales of the season are expected to open in Montreal next week. Four vessels are en route for that port. They are the Fremona, Sir Walter Raleigh, Victoria and Escalona. Two of these vessels are expected next week and the others will follow at intervals of a week or ten days. It is estimated that altogether the four boats will bring between 130,000 and 135,000 packages of oranges and lemons.

THE STRENGTH OF CURRANTS.

WHILE no cables have been received in Toronto from the primary markets in regard to currants for some time, yet evidences of the strength of the market in this commodity are not wanting.

In New York there has been another advance of half a cent per pound.

In London, England, too, the market is developing fresh strength, for not only are dealers there realizing more fully than ever before the certainty of a shortage in supplies, but it is also expected that the stocks there will ultimately be drawn upon to supply the requirements of the principal out-port markets.

A private letter, received in Toronto this week from London, states that the price of currants is likely to advance another 2 or 3s. per cwt. before the new crop comes upon the market.

Some parcels of currants changed hands on "the street" during the past week at enhanced prices, and it is the general opinion that Canada will also experience a shortage before the season closes, as present stocks are unquestionably low.

Stocks in Greece a couple of weeks ago were reduced to about 3,500 tons, and mostly all of that was of inferior quality and suitable only for the European continent for wine making, which practically means there are no currants in Greece suitable for the Canadian market. The London letter already referred to expressed the opinion that Canada's only source of supply for currants of good quality to carry its merchants over till next season was that city.

The price of currants, it may be noted, is about 6 to 7s. per cwt. dearer than a year ago at this time.

ADVANCE IN RICE.

The rice manufacturers have advanced their price ¼c. per lb. at the mill, but the change has not resulted in any general alteration in jobbing prices.

The only advance in these has been a somewhat higher outside figure on the Standard "B" grade, which is now quoted at a range of $3.50 to 3.75.

SUGAR HOLDS STEADY.

BUYERS who expected that the sugar refiners would reduce the price of refined sugar immediately in consequence of the reduction in the duty have been disappointed. On the contrary the manufacturers are firm and have expressed their belief that values will continue as they are for some time.

Considering the price of the raw material they certainly do not have much of a margin to permit of any substantial reduction just now.

These circumstances must be welcome to the many traders who loaded up pretty heavily with sugar during the past three weeks or so. It will give them an opportunity to reduce their holdings and arrange matters in preparation for any disturbance to the market that may result from the recent fiscal changes.

Under the old tariff the refiners had a protection of 64c. per 100 lbs., now the protection is 50c. per 100 lbs.

There have been offers of German sugar at 3¾ to 3⅞c. nett cash laid down Montreal. As far as can be learned no sales have been made. It is said the quality was not anything as good as our own sugar.

THAT SPECULATION IN TEA.

IF there are any persons more dissatisfied with the new tariff than the extreme protectionists, it is the people who have been speculating heavily in tea during the past month or two.

It is well known in the trade that operators in Canada loaded up heavily with the staple, chiefly low-grade Japans and blacks, in the belief that the Government would impose a duty of 5c. per pound on tea, to offset losses in revenue elsewhere.

One Montreal man in fact is generally reputed to have gone in to a figure that is away up in the thousands of dollars. Mr. Fielding has knocked his calculations entirely out of joint, and now the outlook for him is not by any means promising.

It will not be many months before receipts of new crop teas will be arriving in full volume.

Now it is well known that the latter always get the preference over old crop, and as the regular jobbing trade also bought pretty freely lately in addition to the speculators, the chances for the latter to effect a turnover in the interval between now and the arrival of new crop are the reverse of encouraging.

BUSINESS POINTERS.

A shipment of Hubbard's rusks has just arrived for Robert Greig & Co.

H. P. Eckardt & Co. offer 3-lb. tins blue plums, packed in heavy syrup, at $1.40 per doz.

Robert Greig & Co.'s "Crown" extracts are selling well. The shipments for this month alone exceed any preceding three months.

H. P. Eckardt & Co. are in receipt of another car of Heinz pickles, baked beans, etc. This is the ninth car handled by this firm in seven months.

"Tryphosa" jelly powder is having an extensive sale. Robert Greig & Co. are daily in receipt of repeat orders from all parts of the country.

The "Salada" Tea Co. report that although they have greatly increased their staff within the last few weeks, they were compelled to work three nights last week until eleven o'clock and on Saturday they had been unable to get off all orders.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

TORONTO, April 29, 1897.

GROCERIES.

PROBABLY the most striking feature in connection with the wholesale grocery trade during the past week has been the demand for teas. In consequence of the non-fulfilment of the expected duty on tea, the natural expectation was that a pretty dull market would be the after-effect. Whatever may develop in the future, the expectation has not been realized, for within the last few days some nice parcels of tea have changed hands, both in London and spot teas. Another feature is an advance of ¼c. per pound in the price of rice. Trade generally is on the quiet side. In sugars there is scarcely anything doing, although prices appear to be firm. Canned goods are receiving fair attention, and while some low prices are offering on tomatoes it is held that they are of inferior quality. Currants continue strong, with the demand firm. In other lines trade remains much the same as a week ago.

CANNED GOODS.

Although there has been no material change in the situation since a week ago, the demand, if anything, has improved for tomatoes, peas and corn. Some houses are selling tomatoes at less than packers' quotations, but they are claimed to be off brands. Packers' ideas as to price are 75c. We quote standard brands as follows: Tomatoes, 75c.; corn, 55 to 75c.; peas, 75 to 80c. for ordinary; sifted select, 90 to $1; extra sifted, $1.25 to $1.40; beans, 65 to 95c.; peaches, $2.50 to $3 for 3's, $1.65 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.50 to $1.80; strawberries, $1.65 to $1.95, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.40 to $1.70; cherries, $2 to $2.25; apples, 3's, 70 to 95c.; gallons, $1.65 to $2.25; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.50; cohoes, $1.10 to $1.25; canned mackerel, $1.20 to $1.30; lobsters, $2.25 to $2.40 for tall tins; flats, $2.85 to $2.90; ½-lb. flats, $1.60 to $1.65; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.20 to $1.30; 2's, $2.25 to $2.40; 6's, $7.75 to $8.25; 14's, $15 to $16.

COFFEES.

There is not a great deal doing. Jobbers quote green in bags: Rio, 14 to 16c., according to grade; East Indian, 27 to 30c.; South American, 21 to 23c.; Santos, 19 to 22½c.; Java, 30 to 33c.; Mocha, 27½ to 30c.; Maracaibo, 18 to 20c.; Jamaica, 19 to 22c.

SYRUPS.

There are not many syrups offering, and there are not many wanted. We quote: Dark, 23 to 25c.; medium, 28 to 35c.; bright, 32 to 42c.; corn syrup, 3 to 3¼c. per lb.

MOLASSES.

There is not much of interest to note in molasses. The markets are steady, with the demand light. A New York advice states that there are not many more molasses of good quality to be obtained in New Orleans. We quote: New Orleans, barrels, 23 to 35c.; ditto, half-barrels, 25 to 37c.; ditto, fancy, 50 to 55c., in barrels and half-barrels; Barbadoes, 31 to 35c.; half-barrels, 33 to 35c.

SUGAR.

The local sugar market is dull. As the representative of one of the refineries put it: "A good many retailers bought with the hope of an increased duty being put on sugar, and they have been smothered." There has been no change in prices, and the refiners are still firm in their views. The outside markets rule steady. Some cargoes of raw sugar which have arrived in New York have been put into store rather than accept ruling prices. Since last, beet for next month's delivery has advanced slightly in London. Local wholesalers' quotations are: Granulated—St. Lawrence and Redpath's, 4 7-16c. for single barrel lots and 4⅜c. for 5-barrel lots; Acadia, 4⅜c. for single barrel lots, and 4 5-16c. for 5-barrel lots; yellows, 3⅝ to 4⅛c. per lb.; Demerara crystals, 3⅞c.

SPICES.

No features worthy of note have developed during the week. We quote: Pure Singapore black pepper, ground, 11c. in kegs, pails and boxes, and 13c. in 5-lb cans; ditto, whole, 10c. per lb.; pure white pep-

NUTS.

There is little to note. Grenoble walnuts are reported to be a little easier on account of expected large supply. We quote: Brazil nuts, 11 to 12½c.; Valencia shelled almonds, 18 to 22c.; Tarragona almonds, 9½ to 11c.; peanuts, 10 to 12c. for roasted and 7 to 10c. for green; cocoanuts, $4.50 to $5 per sack; Grenoble walnuts, 12½c.; Marbot walnuts, 9½ to 11c.; Bordeax walnuts, 8 to 9c.: Sicily filberts, 10c. for sacks and 10½ to 11c. for small lots; Naples filberts, 11c.; pecans, 12 to 12½c.

RICE, TAPIOCA, ETC.

A little more interest is to be noted in rice, prices being ⅛ to ⅜c. higher for "B" grade, while such imported rices as Patna, Japan and Seeta have advanced about ½c. per lb. in the primary markets. We quote: Rice, Standard "B," 3⅝ to 3⅞c.; Japan, 5c.; Patna, 4¾ to 5¾c.; tapioca, 3¼ to 4½c.; sago, 3½c.

TEAS.

Teas are rather more active this week than was to be expected they would be. There is not, however, what might be termed a big demand. There has been an enquiry particularly for flavory Ceylon teas, and some good purchases have been made in these teas both from London and Colombo. Ruling prices on the Toronto market to retailers are: Young Hyson, 18 to 21c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 14 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 15 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for high grades.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

The currant market continues to gather strength. Stocks of good fruit, suitable for this market, are practically exhausted in Greece, and figures both at home and abroad are higher. New York has advanced ½c. per lb. within the last few days. We mark our quotations up about ⅛ to ¼c. per lb: Provincials, 4¾ to 4⅞c. in bbls.; ditto, half-bbls., 4¾ to 5c.; fine Filiatras, in bbls., 4⅞ to 5c.; do., half-bbls., 4⅞ to 5c.; Patras, 5½ to 5¾c. in bbls., 5½ to 5¾c. in half-bbls., and 5½ to 5¾c. in cases; Vostizzas, cases, 6½ to 8c.

Valencia raisins are still only in light demand. We quote: Off-stalk, 5 to 5¼c.; fine off-stalk, 5¾ to 6c.; selected, 6¼ to 7c.; layers, 7 to 7½c.

Loose muscatel California raisins are still without change, but in New York the demand has begun to improve. We quote: 3-crown, 7½c.; 4-crown, 8 to 8½c.

In figs a light demand is being experienced for Malagas in mats, but other kinds are neglected. We quote: 10 oz., 7½c.; 10 lb., 9 to 10c.; 18 lb., 10 to 12c.; 28 lb., 11 to 13c.; taps, 3¼ to 3½c. net; natural, 4½c. in bags, and 7c. in boxes.

Dates are in fair demand for the season. We quote: 5½ to 6c. for Hallowee and 5 to 5¼c. for Kadrowee.

Prunes are in good demand, all kinds going out. We quote: Bosnias, U's (110 to 113 half kilo), 6 to 6½c.; C's (85 to 90 half kilo), 7 to 7½c. per lb. California, 90 to 100's, 6½c. per lb.; 70 to 80's, 7½c.; 60 to 70's, 7½ to 8c.; 50 to 60's, 8 to 8½c.; 40 to 50's, 9½ to 10½c.; 30 to 40's, 12½ to 13c.; "Ruby" prunes, 7½ to 8c.; French, 4½ to 5c.

California evaporated fruits are in much the same condition as before. We quote: Peaches, 7 to 10½c. per lb., according to quality; apricots, 6½ to 15c.; pears, 5½ to 10½c.; egg plums, 5½ to 11c.; silver prunes, 8½ to 13½c.

GREEN FRUIT.

The feature of the green fruit trade is the higher prices which exist for oranges, quotations being about 75c. above last week's figures. California navel oranges are now out of the market, while Messinas have come in. Valencia oranges are cabled higher from Liverpool, and further advances are anticipated. The local demand is good. Lemons are cheap, and the consumptive demand brisk. Prices are unchanged. The fruit sales will open in Montreal next week. Bananas are active, with the supply good. Pineapples are a little more plentiful and prices are inclined to be easier in consequence. The pineapples coming forward this week are showing better quality. We quote: Oranges—Valencias, ordinary, 420's, $4.50 to $5.50 per case; large 420's, $6.25 to $6.75; Messinas, $3 to $3.50; Mediterranean Sweets, $3.25. Lemons—Messinas and Palermos, $2 to $3 per box; cocoanuts, $3.75 a sack and 60c. per doz. Onions, $3 to $3.25 per bag for Egyptians. Cranberries, Jerseys, $5 per bbl. Bananas, $1.50 to $2. Pineapples, 12½ to 25c. each. Strawberries, 30 to 35c. per quart. Cucumbers, $1.50 to $1.75 per dozen.

APPLES.

A little better demand locally is to be noted, and prices are higher. Exports to Great Britain are gradually getting smaller. Shipments from all ports last week were 8,000 barrels. We quote: Baldwins, $1.50 to $1.75 per bbl.; Spies, $2 to $2.50.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—The market is fully 1c. per lb. lower than a week ago. The cause of this is the increase in the receipts. There are more pound prints of dairy butter than usual coming forward. The demand for butter is fairly good, but stocks are beginning to accumulate a little. Creamery, like dairy butter, is also 1c. lower. We quote: Dairy butter—Tubs, 11 to 13c. for good to choice; low-grade to medium, 7 to 10c.; large rolls, 12 to 13c. for good to choice, and 7 to 10c. for low-grade to medium; pound prints, 14 to 15c. for good to choice. Creamery—Tubs, 17 to 18c.; 1-lb. blocks, 18 to 19c., according to make.

CHEESE—Prices continue fairly firm for September and October makes, but new cheese, on account of freer deliveries, is a little easier. Fodder cheese is quoted by wholesalers at 10 to 10½c., and September and October makes at 11 to 11½c.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

BEANS—Dull. Jobbers, as a rule, quote mixed at 40 to 50c. and hand-picked at 65 to 75c.

DRIED APPLES—Dull and unchanged. Choice are quoted by wholesalers at 2 to 2½c., and fancy at 2½ to 3c.

EVAPORATED APPLES—Still dull. Wholesale quotations are : Quarters, 2¾c.; sliced, 3c.; best brands, 4 to 5c.

HONEY—Quiet. We quote : Comb, 80 to 90c. per dozen for dark and $1.50 to $1.75 for light ; strained, 6 to 7c. per lb.

EGGS—The market is a little easier, prices ranging from 8½ to 9c. The latter is, however, the ruling figure. The demand is fair.

POULTRY—Quiet, with supplies light. We quote : Chickens, 40 to 60c. per pair ; turkeys, 11 to 12c. for bright stock ; geese, 7 to 9c. ; ducks, 60 to 80c.

MAPLE PRODUCTS—The market is oversupplied to such an extent with syrup that dealers are willing to take almost any price. Some are quoting as high as 80c. per gallon for pure syrup, while others, and the majority of them, are willing to accept 60 to 65c. per gallon for what they also declare to be the pure article. There is a great deal of adulterated syrup on the market, especially in small tins. Sugar is quoted at from 7 to 8c. per lb.

POTATOES—Still dull, with sales on track at 18c. per bag, and out of store 25 to 30c. is the idea.

FISH AND OYSTERS.

There are a few fresh trout coming in, and the demand is good. The stormy weather has interfered a great deal with the catch of fresh fish. We quote as follows : Manitoba white fish, frozen, 5½ to 6c. ; ditto in kegs, $4.50 ; frozen trout, 5c. ; ditto in kegs, $4.50 ; pickerel, 6c. per lb. ; haddies, 6c. per lb. ; Labrador herring, $4.50 to $5 per bbl. and $2.75 per half-bbl. ; split herring, $4.50 per bbl. and $2.50 per half-bbl. ; boneless fish, 3½ to 4c. per lb. ; pure cod, 6½ to 6¾c. per lb. ; ciscoes, $1.25 per 100 ; haddock, 4½c. per lb. ; steak cod, 6c. per lb. ; frozen herring, 4c. ; sea herring, $1 per 100 ; fresh water herring (heads off), $2.50 per keg ; smelts, 6 to 9c. Oysters are quoted at $1.30 for standards, and $1.60 for selects.

SALT.

Trade is a great deal better than it was a week ago. We quote at Toronto : In carload lots, $1 per bbl. and 60c. per sack ; in less than carload lots, $1.05 per bbl. and 65c. per sack. At the wells we quote : F.O.B. barrels, 70c. ; sacks 50c. for points west of Toronto, and 45c. for Toronto and points east of Toronto.

PROVISIONS AND DRESSED HOGS.

Since the tariff was brought down prices are firmer, although figures are much as before, except for barrel pork. Stocks of cured meats are light and demand good. There are a few dressed hogs coming forward, but they are being principally taken by butchers at from $6.50 for light weights and $5.75 to $6 for heavy weights.

DRY SALTED MEATS—Long clear bacon, 7c. for carload lots, and 7¼ to 7½c. per lb. for ton lots and cases ; backs, 8c.

SMOKED MEATS—Breakfast bacon, 11 to 11½c. ; rolls, 7½ to 8c. ; hams, large, 10½ to 11c. ; medium and small, 11½ to 12c. ; shoulder hams, 7c. ; all meats out of pickle, 1c. less than above.

LARD—Pure Canadian, tierces, 6¼c. ; tubs, 6½c. ; pails, 6¾c.

BARREL PORK—Canadian heavy mess, $12.50 to $13 ; Canadian short-cut, $13.50 to $14 ; clear shoulder mess, $11 to $11.50.

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN—Receipts of grain are not large, and prices are a couple of cents higher than a week ago. We quote : Wheat, 77 to 78c. for white and 75 to 76c. for red, and 64 to 65c. for goose ; oats, 26 to 27c. ; peas, 41 to 42c.

FLOUR—The improvement in the demand noted a week ago has been maintained and prices are unchanged. We quote in carloads on track, Toronto : Manitoba patents, $4.80 ; Manitoba strong bakers', $4.45 ; Ontario patents, $4.40 to $4.60 ; straight roller, $3.95 to $4, Toronto freights.

BREAKFAST FOODS—Prices are 20 to 30c. per barrel higher on oatmeal and rolled wheat on account of the advance in the raw material. The demand is still light. We quote : Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $3 in bags and $3.10 in bbls. ; rolled wheat, $2.70 in 100-lb. bbls. ; cornmeal, $2.25 to $2.35 ; split peas, $3 to $3.25 ; pot barley, $3 to $3.25.

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL.

HIDES—Are unchanged with cured quoted at 8 to 8¼c. Dealers pay 7½c. for No. 1, 6½c. for No. 2, and 5½c. for No. 3.

CALFSKINS—Market is dull at 7 to 8c. for No. 1, and 5 to 6c. for No. 2. Sheep and lambskins, $1.10 to $1.25.

WOOL— The market is quiet and prices unchanged. Combing fleece nominal at 21 to 22c. and rejections 17c. Pulled supers are 20 to 21c., and extras at 22 to 23c.

PETROLEUM.

American water white is a little lower, but otherwise the market is as before. We quote in 1 to 10 bbl. lots, imperial gallon, Toronto : Canadian, 15c. ; carbon, safety, 17c. ; Canadian water white, 17c. ; American water white, 19c. ; Pratt's astral, 18½c. in bulk.

MARKET NOTES.

Rice is ¼ to ⅜c. per lb. dearer.

Butter is 1c. per lb. lower on account of liberal supplies.

American water white oil is quoted ½c. per gallon lower.

It is reported that sales of new pack lobster in tall tins have been made on the spot at $2.40, which, it is claimed, has cleaned up everything obtainable here at that price.—N. Y. Journal of Commerce.

Arrivals of Sultana raisins at Liverpool from the beginning of the season to April 1st amounted to 593,088 packages, a decrease of 26,200 packages, compared with the imports for the corresponding period a year ago.

It is reported that speculators have come into the market for evaporated apples, and have closely cleaned up the stock. Prices have advanced ⅛ to ¼c. per lb., according to reports gathered from sellers this afternoon.—N. Y. Journal of Commerce.

OUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, April 29, 1897.

GROCERIES.

THE grocery market has ruled quiet since the tariff was brought down, the feverish speculative activity in teas, sugar, wines and spirits, and tobacco having ceased. Buyers who purchased heavily of the two latter lines have made a lucky hit of it, but the same cannot be said of those who have been unlucky enough to load up with a large quantity of tea in the expectation of the imposition of a duty. The purchases were very extensive in this connection, and with the time for the arrival of new crop teas coming nearer the chances of a profitable turnover are materially reduced. The only change so far in price as a result of the new tariff is an advance of ¼c. in rice at the mills, but the fact has not affected the spot jobbing range. Sugar, tea and other staples continue as they were before.

SUGAR.

The market rules firm despite the reduction in the duty, as refiners exhibit no tendency to lower their rates. On the contrary, they were firm this week at former quotations. This decision of the refiners to hold prices steady is a great relief to those traders who loaded up with sugar during the past week or so. It will give them a chance to work off some of their stock before any decline—if a drop is bound to come—is established. The demand, however, is dull at the moment, and granulated is quoted in a jobbing way at 4⅜c., and yellows at 3⅜ to 3½c. In New York raw sugar remains steady, fair refining being quoted at 2 13-16 and centrifugal 96 test, 3¼c. The refined market there is also steady under increasing orders from interior points.

SYRUPS.

The syrup market is featureless and unchanged. A few small lots have been moved at 1⅜ to 1⅞c. per pound at the factory.

MOLASSES.

The molasses market has not exhibited as much activity in a wholesale way as it did last week. Some fair-sized lots of Barbadoes have been put through, however, for import since last report on the basis of 8c. first cost, and round lots of old Barbadoes are offered at 25 to 26c., as to grade. As a result of this the jobbing range on old stock is not quite as high as it was, and 28c. is about as high as a buyer can be induced to go this week. As a matter of fact, though, prices are purely nominal, for there is little or no jobbing business doing.

RICE.

The feature in the rice market is the higher cost at the mills, manufacturers having advanced their prices ¼c. this week. The fact has as yet had no influence on the jobbing price in this province. We quote: Crystal Japan, $5 to $5.25; standard B., $3.50 to $3.75; Patna, $4.50 to $5.25; Carolina, $6.75 to $7.75; choice Bermuda, $4, and Java kinds, $4.25.

SPICES.

There has been no change in spices, both Singapore and black pepper being offered, cost and freight, Montreal, at the same figures as those noted last week. Jobbing demand continues quiet. We quote as follows: Black pepper, 10c.; pure white, 12 to 15c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 20 to 25c.; cloves, 15c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; do., best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 10 to 14c.; nutmegs, 35 to 75c.

COFFEE.

The market has not picked up any in point of activity since the tariff was brought down. Business is dull this week and prices unchanged. We quote: Maracaibo, 15 to 20c.; Santos, 12 to 18c.; Rio, 12½ to 16c.; Mocha, 24 to 26c., and Java, 22 to 27c.

TEAS.

The snap has been taken out of the tea market since the tariff was brought down. As THE GROCER has pointed out from time to time, there was extensive speculation in tea on the expectation of the imposition of a duty. The speculators have calculated without their host and are now left with large holdings of old tea at a period when the arrival of new crop teas is rapidly approaching. Although there is no quotable change, the market exhibits a somewhat heavy feeling. We quote: Young Hysons, 13 to 18c. for low grades, 25 to 28c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 12 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 15 to 21c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 16½ to 20c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for higher grades.

CANNED GOODS.

There is only a small jobbing trade in canned goods and prices generally are unchanged. We quote: Tomatoes, 75 to 85c.; corn, 60 to 90c.; peas, 80 to 90c.; beans, 70c. up; peaches, $1.50 to $1.80 for 2's; raspberries, $1.40 to $2; strawberries, $1.80 to $2.45, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.90 to $2.20; cherries, $2.40 to $2.45; apples, 3's, 85 to 90c.; gallons, $1.55 to $1.65; pumpkins, 75 to 85c.; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.40 to $1.45; "Clover Leaf," $1.35; "Lion," $1.37½ to $1.40; Lowe Inlet, $1.30, in tall tins;

DRIED FRUIT.

There has been little doing in Valencia raisins of any account. Prices are steady: Ordinary off-stalk, 5¼ to 5½c.; fine, 5¾ to 6c.; selected, 6¼ to 6½c., and layers, 6¾ to 7c.

California raisins are inactive and rather easier in tone. Prices range from 6c. for 2-crown up to 8c. for 4-crown, according to quality.

Currants are unchanged at 4 to 4¾c. for Provincials, which are about the only kind offering on the market.

California prunes are about the only stock in which any movement takes place, and values on them range from 6½ to 9c. Austrian and French are largely nominal, although a small quantity is still held here.

Figs are motionless at 8 to 12c., and dates at 5 to 6c.

NUTS.

There is no change in nuts under a small hand-to-mouth movement, except in Grenoble walnuts, which are rather easier as follows: Grenoble walnuts, 10 to 11c.; Brazils, 11c.; almonds, 10 to 10½c.; do shelled, 17 to 18c.; filberts, 8½ to 9c.; peanuts, 7 to 9c.; and cocoanuts, $3.50 to $3.75 per 100.

GREEN FRUIT.

Trade in green fruit has been of a quiet, normal character for the season. Lemons are in fair enquiry and steady, and the same can be said of Messina oranges, which have replaced California fruit. Receipts of pineapples are larger and prices have been shaded, as a result, 4 to 10c. We quote: Messina oranges, $3.50 to $4 per box; lemons, $2 to $3 per box; cranberries, $1 to $6 per bbl.; Malaga grapes, $7.50 to $8; bananas, 75c. to $2 per bunch; pineapples, 10 to 20c. each; asparagus, $4.50 to $5 per dozen; California celery, $1.25 per dozen; southern spinach, $2.50 to $3.

APPLES.

The apple market shows no change since last report. We quote: $1 to $2 per bbl.

DRIED APPLES.

Dried and evaporated apples are dull and purely nominal at 3c. for the former and 3¾c. for the latter.

this week in eggs under increased receipts, and prices are fractionally lower at 9 to 9¼c., with the outside price an extreme figure to-day.

MAPLE PRODUCTS — The demand for maple products was slow, and the market is quiet and about steady. Syrup sold at 4½ to 5c. per lb. in wood ; 50c. per small tin, and 55 to 60c. for large ones. Sugar brought 6½ to 7c. per lb.

BEANS — Business in beans was exceedingly quiet, and prices were nominally unchanged at 55 to 60c. in car lots, and at 65 to 70c. in a jobbing way.

POTATOES—Quiet and unchanged at 32½ to 37½c. in car lots on track.

ONIONS —Canadian red onions are firmly held at $2.50 per bbl.

HOPS—Unchanged at 12 to 12½c. for choice 1896, and at 5 to 6c. for yearlings.

ASHES—Dull. Firsts pots, $3.30 to $3.35 ; seconds, $3 to $3.05, and pearls $4.50.

HONEY — No change, with demand moderate at 8 to 9c. for comb, and extracted 6 to 8c.

TALLOW—Quiet and steady at 1¾ to 2c. per lb.

PROVISIONS.

The provision market was without any change. The demand for all lines at present is limited, and the market is quiet. We quote : Canadian pork, $12 to $13 per bbl.; pure Canadian lard, in pails, 6 to 6½c., and compound refined at 4½ to 5c. per lb.; hams, 10 to 12½c., and bacon, 10½ to 11½c. per lb.

FLOUR, MEAL AND FEED.

There has been some enquiry from abroad this week for Manitoba flour, and one local milling concern put through 2,000 sacks Monday on London account. There was also a good demand from local and country buyers for both Ontario and Manitoba grades, and the market, on the whole, is fairly active and steadier. Sales of some fair-sized lots of straight roller were made at $4 to $4.10 per barrel, and at $2 to $2.10 per bag. We quote as follows : Winter wheat patents, $4.25 to $4.40 ; straight rollers, $4 to $4.10, and in bags, $2 to $2.10 ; Manitoba strong bakers', choice, $4.25 to $4.40 ; outside brands, $4 to $4.10, and spring wheat patents, $4.40 to $4.60.

The demand for feed is fair, but prices are 50c. to $1 lower than they were a week ago. Manitoba bran sold at $11.50 to $12 per ton and shorts at $13, including bags. Ontario white wheat bran sold at $12 per ton, but some low grades are offering at $11.25 per ton in bulk.

In meal a few small sales were reported at $2.70 to $2.80 per barrel, and at $1.35 to $1.40 per bag for rolled oats.

BALED HAY.

The baled hay market has maintained the advance noted in last week's report, and demand since then has been brisk. Car lots of No. 1 sell at $10 to $10.50 and No. 2 $8.50 on track here.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

The cheese market exhibits a rather easier feeling this week, 10c. having been accepted in some cases for lots of 200 boxes.

The easiness in the butter market gives no indication of a let-up. Receipts continue heavy, being over 2,700 packages for the past week. Offers of straight lots of creamery were made to-day at 17c., with demand dull. In fact, offers have been made as low as 16½c. The absence of export enquiry is the depressing feature of the situation, and if the supply continues to increase as it has, further decline seems inevitable.

MONTREAL NOTES.

Cables on molasses from the islands quote the same figure first cost.

The rice mills have advanced their price ¼c. per lb., but there is no change in the jobbing basis here as yet.

Morrow & Ewing are moving this week from their old premises on St. John St. to larger offices at 23 St. Sacrament St.

Ewing, Herron & Co. have removed from their old premises on St. Paul St. to the large building running from 96 to 102 St. Paul St.

Jas. A. Calder, of Campobello, N.B., was in town Thursday and Friday of last week arranging for the handling of his fish products for the season.

Mr. C. B. Knox, the New York manufacturer of sparkling gelatine, was in town this week sampling the trade with his goods and also giving away his cook book of valuable receipts.

The composition offer of McKenzie & Petch, general storekeepers, of Watford, has been effected, and Assignee Clarkson has sent to the creditors 35 per cent. of their claims.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER.

ST. JOHN, N.B., April 29, 1897.

GROCERYMEN are disappointed regarding the tea and sugar duties. City and country dealers had bought largely, and there is no doubt the country will feel the effect of it very much. In tobacco the dealers are in most cases well supplied, and the large profit they will make will in some measure compensate for their disappointment in other lines. At this time of writing it is not known what steps are taken in the new tariff regarding the duty on packages. Our merchants feel very strongly on this, feeling this form of duty should be done away with.

OIL—While the tariff shows a reduction of one cent a gallon on oil, our dealers have not as yet changed their price. In cod oil the demand here is light. It shows a falling off from year to year. There is ample supply, but it is sometimes difficult to get best quality. In seal oil the supply is light and prices are higher. We quote : Best American burning oil, 19½ to 20c.; Canadian, 18¼ to 19c.; prime, 16 to 17c.

SALT—The stock here is ample and prices show no change. We quote as follows: Coarse, 43 to 45c.; Liverpool factory-filled, 90c. to $1; Canadian fine, 90c. to $1 per bag. ; 5-lb. bags, in bbls., $3 to $3.25; 10-lb. bags, in bbls., $2.85 to $3; butter and cheese salt, bulk, $2.60 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c. each ; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c. each; cartoons, $2 per case of 2 doz

CANNED GOODS—There is considerable enquiry for tomatoes, peas and peaches. Lobsters are scarce. In canned meats, though there is no change yet, the feeling is towards higher prices. In salmon the feeling is easy. Prices received from the Coast are well below last year's figures. Demand for salmon is not increasing. Apples keep low. We quote as follows : Corn, 65 to 70c. ; peas, 75 to 80c. ; tomatoes, 80 to 85c. ; gallon apples, $1.75 to $1.80 ;

OUR STANDPOINT

In pushing our biscuits we admit there are already excellent brands on the market. We nevertheless have solid practical reasons for considering that are better, and this view is being convincingly confirmed by daily extensive and extending demands—the true touchstone of merit.

Jamieson's Biscuits

The Manufacturer, R. E. Jamieson, Ottawa

corned beef, Canadian, $2.25 to $2.35; American, 2-lb tins, $2.40 to $2.50; 1-lb tins, $1.30 to $1.50; oysters, 2's, $2 to $2.20; 1's, $1.40 to $1.50; peaches, 3's, Canadian, $2.75 to $3; 2's, $1.75 to $1.85; American, 3's, $2 to $2.25; pineapple, $2.25 to $3; salmon, $1.25 to $1.40; lobsters, $2.20 to $2.25; haddies, $1.15 to $1.25; clams, $5 for 4 doz; chowder, $2.60 to $2.75 for 2 doz.; scallops, $5.50 for 4 doz.; Digby chickens, $1 per doz.; kippered herring, $1.10 per doz.

GREEN FRUIT—There is a good business doing. Oranges are higher. Those selling are almost altogether Valencias. It seems hard to get good Californias. There is a fair movement for "bloods." Lemons keep low, with improved demand. Bananas are having increased sale right along. There is quite a quantity of cranberries here tending soft that could be bought low. In apples, best grades have fair sale. The best are, however, hard to get, as Nova Scotia people are shipping them all to England. Strawberries keep too high for this market. A few greens and rhubarb are being imported. Lettuce has a large sale. In pineapples very few are arriving. We quote: Messina lemons, $2.50 to $3.00; oranges, Valencia, $4 to $4.50; California oranges, $3.50 to $4; bananas, $1.50 to $2.25; apples, $1 to $3 per bbl.; cranberries, Cape Cod, $3 to $7.50 per bbl.; bog cranberries, native, $3 to $4; lettuce, 60c. per doz.

DRIED FRUIT—There is little change. Evaporated apples find a better sale. They are low, but there is a firmer feeling. Egyptian onions found a bare market and command full prices. Bermudas tend lower. They were high. Currants are higher and the market is firm. California prunes keep low and raisins are easy. There is now some demand for evaporated peaches and apricots. The sale is not large at any time. We quote: Valencias, 5¼ to 6c.; California L. M. 3-crown, 7 to 7½c.; London layers, $1.75 to $2; currants, cases, 4¾ to 5c.; bbls., 4¼ to 4½c.; cartoons, cleaned, 7¼ to 7¾c.; bulk, cleaned, 6¼ to 6½c.; prunes, boxes, 5 to 10c.; dates, 4½ to 5c.; dried apples, 3 to 3½c.; evaporated apples, 4⅛ to 5c.; Bermuda onions, $2.25 to $2.50 per crate; Egyptian onions, $3 per crate; cocoanuts, $3.25 to $3.50 per 100 lbs.; figs, 10 to 12c.; Sultana raisins, 7½ to 9c.; Valencias, layers, 6½ to 7c.; Malaga loose muscatels, 6 to 6½c.; 4-crown L. M. Californias, 8 to 8½c.; seeded muscatels, 1-lb. cartoons, 12 to 13c.

SUGAR—The stock here is large. The country buyers are well supplied. Little, if any, change in prices is expected. We quote: Granulated, 4¼ to 4⅜c.; yellows, 3⅞ to 3⅜c.; Paris lump, 5¾ to 6c.; powdered, 5½ to 6c.

MOLASSES—Two cargoes of Porto Rico, which were consigned here, were not offered for sale pending an expected change in duty. The two lots have now been placed. They sold low. A large cargo, a direct purchase, is daily expected; also further arrivals of Barbadoes by steamer shortly. Market is easy. In New Orleans there is really no change, though the tendency is to shade prices. We quote: Barbadoes, 25 to 28c.; Porto Rico, 27 to 28c.; New Orleans, bbls., 26 to 28c.; Antigua, 24 to 26c.; syrup, 36 to 38c.; St. Croix, 23 to 24c.

DAIRY PRODUCE.—Butter is in good demand, particularly best quality. Price is rather firmer. New western butter as yet offers slowly. Eggs, since Easter, are dull. The opening of the river also tends to weaken price. The stock of new cheese is light. There is a fair demand and prices are fully maintained. We quote: Dairy butter, 15 to 18c.; creamery, 20 to 21c.; prints, 20 to 22c.; eggs, 11 to 12c.; cheese, 11 to 11½c.

FISH—The catch of gaspereaux during the past week has been light. These fish are now beginning to come in more freely, and price is rather lower. In dry fish there is but fair movement and price shows no change. Pickled herring have fair sale. Some Shelburne which were offered low found good demand. Smoked herring show no change. In lobsters, a few have been on the market this week. They are small. Halibut is in good supply. We quote as follows: Large cod, $3.25 to $3.50; medium, $2.75 to $3; pollock, $1.15 to $1.25; bay herring, $1.25 to $1.30 per half-bbl.; smoked, new, 5½ to 6½c.; shad, half-bbl, $4.50 to $5.50; boneless, 2½ to 8c.; bloaters, 50 to 65c. per box; Barrington, $3 $3.25 per bbl.; Shelburne, $3.25 per bbl.; lobsters, 4 to 12c. each, small; gaspereaux, 60 to 70c, PROVISIONS—Market in pork seems easy, dealers being anxious to sell. Beef shows no change, but is held firm. Smoked meats are in light stock. Dealers were not expecting the advance of a few weeks ago, and at the higher prices they do not buy freely. Lard shows no change. There is a large stock held. We quote as follows: Clear pork, $14.50 to $15; mess, $12 to $13; plate beef, $12 to $13; hams, 11½ to 12½c.; rolls, 8 to 8½c.; pure lard, 7½ to 8c.; compound, 6½ to 7c.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL—In Manitoba the recovery from the sudden drop was so quick that there has been little change in price here. Ontario flours are rather higher, and held firm by millers, but dealers are not quick buyers, having a lack of confidence in higher prices. Oatmeal is rather higher, as are oats. In cornmeal, prices are same as last week. Beans are held here in large quantities. They show little or no improvement in price, which is low. Feed is high, but not in large sale. Seed is now moving freely. The importations this year have been large. Prices firm. We quote: Manitoba flour, $5 to $5.15; best Ontario, $4.65 to $4.75; medium, $4.35 to $4.45; oatmeal, $3.20 to $3.30; cornmeal, $1.80 to $1.85; middlings, car lots, in bulk, $15 to $16; bran, do, do, $14.50 to $15; hand-picked beans, 85 to 90c.· prime, 70 to 80c.; oats, 32 to 33c.; hay, $11 to $12; barley, $3; round peas, $1.15; split peas, $3.10 to $3.25; yellow eye beans, $1.50; timothy seed, Canadian, $2.20 to $2.40; do. do., American, $1.65 to $2; clover, 9 to 9½c.; alsike, 8½ to 9c.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

The St. John River is now open, and the steamers are having large freights both up and down.

St. John will have an exhibition this fall. The guarantee fund of $4,000 has already been subscribed by the citizens.

Apple shipments continue to go forward from Nova Scotia to the English market via St. John. One day this week 650 barrels were forwarded.

Commercial travelers and others will be pleased to learn that the steamer Prince Rupert is again on the route between St. John and Digby.

THE CANADIAN GROCER has received from Dearborn & Co. their new illustrated price list. It is ahead of anything before gotten out by a St. John grocery house.

Reports from Grand Manan and Deer Island are that the catch of lobsters is so far light. It is thought the sardine factories will open earlier than usual this season.

The handsomest delivery wagon seen here for some time is the new one now used by the Queen Biscuit Co. It is drawn by a matched team of bay horses in silver-mounted harness.

The following changes are reported from Fredericton this spring: John Gibson & Sons, retail grocers, are going to confine themselves chiefly to wholesale trade. H. C. Jewett has moved his grocery to the Gilman corner. W. H. Estey has removed to the Edgecombe block and his old store been taken by W. H. Anderson & Co.

Prince Edward Island Legislature have passed the following: "Resolved, that it is advisable that a bill be passed authorizing the Government to promote the introduction in the province of a first-class cold storage system by some private company by granting aid thereto in the form of an annual rent or bonus or guarantee of a certain rate of interest or profit, or in such other manner as may be deemed advisable, such assistance not to exceed $800 in any one year, and not to be given for more than three years."

A meeting of the fishermen of Charlotte County was recently held at St. Andrews. A standard of measurement was adopted in regard particularly to fresh herring. A Canadian flour barrel was estimated to contain two hundred pounds, five of which are to constitute a hogshead. It was suggested that an export duty be imposed on large herring shipped to the United States or any country exacting a duty on fresh fish. Also recommended that the close season for inshore lobster fishing be fixed from July 1st to October 1st, and that all lobsters caught under ten and a half inches be set free, also female lobsters spawning. That the open season in Grand Manan district be from April 1st to July 1st, and that all caught under nine inches be liberated.

HINTS TO BUYERS.

[This department has become so popular that many more notices than there is space for are received every week. In future only important items of information will be inserted. Three-crown California loose muscatels are in stock with the Davidson & Hay, Ltd.

J. A. McLean reports an increasing demand for Seaforth hams and bacon, for which he is the Toronto agent.

McWilliam & Everist are in receipt of a shipment of pineapples, which is opening up well. The quality of pineapples coming forward lately has been poor.

The Eby, Blain Co., Ltd., report the arrival of a shipment of "East India" pickles, in pints and half-pints. They report that the repeat orders are numerous.

The Davidson & Hay, Ltd., are receiving this week direct importations of Castile soaps, cakes and bars.

The Eby, Blain Co., Ltd., are in receipt of a new clothes line, called the "Alabama" cotton clothes line. It is claimed to be the strongest and most serviceable cord in the market, and sells at a reasonable figure.

Attention of the wholesale trade is drawn to the advertisement of The Alpha Chemical Co., of Berlin, Ont. The firm's motto is: "Good goods at a fair living profit." The Alpha Chemical Co. invites correspondence.

The Eby, Blain Co., Ltd., are offering special value in a club style of French sardines in ¼-lb. tins, key openers, called "Bon Jean." They say that these are superior to any on the market for the money.

THE NEW U.S. TEA REGULATIONS.

NEW regulations have been issued by the Treasury Department, at Washington, under the recent Act in relation to the importation of tea. These regulations set forth in detail the proper treatment of the merchandise. No duty is exacted and the sole object of the Act was the protection of the consumers from the use of unwholesome and fraudulent teas. A board of tea experts selected by the secretary have established a line of standard samples representing the various kinds and grades of admissible teas. Special tea examiners are stationed at New York, Chicago and San Francisco, by whom all imported teas will be compared with the standards and prohibited teas condemned. An appeal may be made by the importers to a board of three general appraisers, which board may procure expert assistance. Condemned teas must be exported within six months or they will be destroyed by the collector. Pending examination the tea will be stored under bond. Teas destined for interior ports will be forwarded without delay, but samples will be sent for comparison to the tea examiner at the nearest port. The standards established by the board comprise the following grades: Formosa, Foochow and Amoy Oolongs, north and south China Congous, Indias and Ceylons, Pingsuey and country greens, pan and basket fired and sun-dried Japans, Japan dust or fannings, Orange Pekoe capers. The leaf must equal the standard in freedom from scum, grit, dust and rice paste and in the purity, quality and fitness for consumption. Extra sets of standards will be distributed at cost to importers and brokers. The Act takes effect on May 1, 1897.

A HEALTHY SIGN.

The Alpha Chemical Co., of Berlin, have had such an increased trade on their "Reliable" French shoe blacking that they have been compelled to discard their present blacking machine and put in one four times as large. They have also introduced steam power to run it. This will enable them, they report, to supply their wholesale customers with goods on the shortest possible notice. Their increased trade in these lines is due to the excellent quality of the goods they manufacture.

CUBA SUGAR CROP.

Cables show that the receipts are diminishing and that the end of the crop season is near at hand. Heavy rains are general all over the island, which has put an end to grinding. The visible production has reached 147,822 tons, against 94,600 tons to the same time last year, and our estimate of 200,000 tons as the total of the crop will probably prove about correct.—Willett & Gray's Circular.

DONT'S FOR GROCERS.

DON'T ask a drummer to call again before leaving town, giving as a reason that you are interested in the goods he is selling, but would like to consider awhile before buying, when you really have no intention of buying, and when he calls the second time find some lame excuse for not buying this trip.

This may not seem to you as an expensive bit of indecision, but it is, as it may cause the drummer to miss his train and lose a day. Now losing a day may not strike you as being a great deal in itself, but it is quite an item to the firm for which he is traveling, in the way of unnecessary expense. First, his hotel bill for one day is at least $2.50. Then his salary (a good salesman gets at least $3 a day), making a visible loss of $5.50, besides the loss of profits on the goods he should have sold in another town. The aggregate is at the very lowest average $15, making an estimated loss for the firm that employs him of $20.50.

I endeavored to explain this to a grocer who caused me to lose a day, and his answer was, "Well, work a little faster in the next town and make up for lost time." Now, my experience has shown me that no salesman can recall a lost day by working fast, for fast working means slighted territory and loopholes for competitors.

Don't give a drummer an order, and as soon as he leaves, send a postal to his house countermanding it. If you do not want the goods don't buy ; this is the better plan.

Countermanding is a trick used by some grocers who claim drummers bother them too much.

I recall one case in particular. It was my first visit and I wanted to call on a grocer whose place of business was on the outskirts of the town, so I enquired the nearest way from a brother drummer who had been working that territory for some time. After pointing out the nearest way, he informed me that if I succeeded in selling a bill I should expect a countermand, as that had been the treatment he received, and that several other drummers had had the same experience. This information left me in an undecided state of mind. At length, however, I determined to give this grocer a trial, and succeeded in selling him a bill and obtaining his signature on the order, at the same time telling him very plainly that if he wanted to countermand to do so at once. He declared he had no such intention. However, I was not quite satisfied, as my drummer friend's words were still fresh in my memory, so I determined to send his order to my house by wire and ordered them shipped the same day. This was expensive, but it answered my purpose, for on the day that he received the invoice for the goods my house received a postal countermanding the same, but as they were already shipped he was compelled to receive them. This was the first and only bill I ever sold him, as I have never visited him since, although I visited the same town several times.

The error committed in my first don't is, I think, unintentional, but the second, to use the Southern expression, "pure cussedness."—Teck in Grocery World.

SHIPMENTS OF JAPAN TEA.

A private circular issued by Smith, Baker & Co., gives the shipments of tea from Japan for the season to March 9, 1897, as follows, compared with the same time in the previous two years : 1894-95, lbs., 45,469,-800 ; 1895-96, lbs., 48,655,200 ; 1896-97, lbs., 42,906,400. The figures for this year show a large decrease, incident no doubt to a smaller crop. The shipments to New York were 6,951,247 lbs., against 9.280,-137 lbs. last year, showing a decrease of over 2,300,000 lbs. There has been a still more remarkable falling off in the quantity of Japan tea sent by the way of San Francisco to Chicago and adjacent cities, the total this year being only 13,970,800 lbs., against 21,634,900 lbs. in 1895-96, and 17,203,600 lbs. in 1894-95. The quantity sent direct to Canada was 10,527,700 lbs., the largest yet reported.

HALIFAX TRADE GOSSIP.

THERE is one item in the new tarift which is not meeting with much favor in Halifax. The reduction in the duty on refined sugar from $1.14 per 100 lbs. to $1 is, from a Halifax standpoint, decidedly unpopular, for the simple reason that the tendency is to injure the West India trade. The Halifax refineries at present buy all the West India sugar brought here. Without return cargoes from the West India islands it is impossible to carry on trade. Under the new tariff the refineries will be compelled to buy beet-root sugar and only the highest grades of raw. The old tariff was not in itself satisfactory to our West India merchants. When the Tariff Commission visited this city it was shown that the duty of 50c. per 100 lbs. on all grades under No. 16 Dutch standard in color bore very inequitably on the lower grades, resulting in the frequent occurrence in the pro ceeds of account sales of many consignments from the West Indies being less than the amount of duty. It was suggested to the Commission that the new sugar tariff be framed on this basis, starting with a fixed rate per 100 lbs. on all sugar testing by the polariscope 70 or under, with an increase of 3.13c. per 100 pounds for each degree. This would virtually mean an ad valorem rate. In addition to the above it was suggested that on all sugars above No. 16 Dutch standard and on all refined sugars an additional duty of 60c. per 100 pounds should be levied.

It will be seen that the new tariff does exactly what the Halifax merchants did not want it to do. Of course, the idea is that the greater interests of the West overshadowed those of the Maritime Provinces. The amount of raw sugar brought to Halifax each year from the West Indies is about 200,000 tons. It is mostly low-grade sugar. Under the present tariff a low-grade article pays as much duty as a high grade. As an illustration : The duty on refined sugars is 1c. per lb. The duty on raw is ½c. per lb. It takes two pounds of some of the low grades imported here to make one pound of granulated. It is contended that the United States, having adopted the polariscope test, and Canada retained the flat duty, the low grades of West India sugar will all go to New York. No one but a Haligonian has any idea what this means to Halifax. The West India trade is all that remains of the great shipping business once carried on here. Our steamers take out their cargoes of fish and bring back sugar. This sugar has always been purchased by the refinery on New York quotations. If the new tariff continues the refiners claim that this trade is lost. The refinery will go to Hamburg for its sugar. It is understood that strong representations will be made to the Finance Minister on this point, and possibly a delegation may proceed to Ottawa.

The decrease on flour will not make a particle of difference. Leading dealers say it will not affect prices one way or the other. It is thought by many that the duty on corn meal should have been raised to 50c., and corn 5c., in the interests of the Canadian farmer.

The decrease in kerosene will help the small dealer and middle man some, but will not affect the consumer.

The increase in the duty on spirits seems to be satisfactory, but the increase on tobacco is not meeting with general favor. On Monday the price was raised. Retailers asked one and two cents per plug advance.

Merchants who laid in large stocks of tea are disappointed. Halifax has enough tea in store to last the province for the next year. Small dealers, those who import in a small way, are happy over the non-disturbance of the duty.

The local elections are over, the tariff has been brought down, the weather is fine and conseq uently the stock reasons given for dulness in trade are removed. It is too early to look for a change in the tenor of trade, but the week opened fairly well. Merchants are getting back to their offices and shopkeepers to their shops and affairs are looking more like business.

Up to a week ago the refinery here could hardly fill the orders which were coming in. Merchants looked for an increase in the duty on sugar and stocked up. The refinery did not take advantage of the rush, but sold at former quotations, viz.: Granulated, 4¼c. and yellows, 3½c. Now the rush is over. Prices remain as above. To-day the refinery is doing little or nothing and will likely have to shorten sail. The refinery at Moncton will not be rebuilt, owing to the change in the tariff.

There is a fair enquiry for creamery butter in prints and tubs, at 21c. Dairy tubs and rolls are scarce. Eastern Townships and Canadian stocks are scarce.

The demand for molasses has been very light, but during the past few days improved somewhat. Two cargoes arrived during the past few days. Fancy Demerara is quoted at 38c.; choice do , 30c.; choice Porto Rico, 28 to 30c.; new Antigua, 24c.; and St. Kitts, 22c.

There is an improved demand for dried fruit. Prunes are selling at 5½c., and dates at 5 to 6c. Valencia raisins are quoted at 6½c. for off stalk. Malaga layers are worth $2, and Imperial cabinets, $2.25. Currants are quoted at 4½ to 4¾c. Evaporated apples are worth 4¾ to 5c., and dried apples, 3c.

Eggs are not over-plentiful, and prices have improved. Good stocks are quoted at 10 and 11c.

The shipment of Ontario beef has stopped, and dealers are looking for better prices. Prince Edward Island prime mess pork is quoted at $12, and mess at $12.50 to $13. It can be bought at lower figures for the cash. A Prince Edward Island dealer who was in Halifax last week could not get an offer. American clear pork is quoted at $14.50. Canadian extra plate beef is worth $10.50 to $11, and Chicago plate $13.50.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. E. Nicholson, commission merchant, Winnipeg, paid THE CANADIAN GROCER a pleasant call this week.

Mr. A. R. Robinson, of New York, representing the Consolidated Tea and Lands Co., and the Amalgamated Tea Estates Co., of India, was in Toronto this week visiting Mr. R. W. Hayter, the representative here of these companies.

MANITOBA MARKETS.

WINNIPEG, April 29, 1897.

THE flood situation at Winnipeg is little changed since last week. The river has risen steadily but very slowly, and, though it now covers the transfer railway track, it has practically done no damage in the city. The same cannot be said of the out-of-town situation; the country from Morris to Emerson is almost entirely under water, and there has been considerable loss of stock. A relief steamer was sent out from Winnipeg last week to take help to any who might need it, and has not yet returned, but has been heard from. It is hoped that by the end of the next three days the water will have reached its limit and will begin to recede. Business in the flooded districts is, of course, simply paralysed, and that affects trade here.

The tariff has outrivalled the flood as a topic of conversation for the last few days. So far the prices have changed little. Prices are as follows :

CANNED GOODS—Unchanged from last week. Tomatoes, best brands, $1.90 per case ; do., good second, $1.80.

GREEN FRUITS—Apples, choice, $4 to $4.25 per bbl.; California oranges, navels, $4.50 to $4.75 per box ; seedlings, $3.50 to $4 ; Messina lemons, $4.50 ; California lemons, $4.50 to $5 ; bananas, $2.50 to $3.25 per bunch ; pineapples, $4 per dozen.

EGGS—Supply increasing, and eggs are being jobbed at 9c.

BUTTER—Supply of dairy fairly free, no accumulated stocks, price 16 to 17c.

CHEESE—None on the market.

TOBACCO—Owing to the tariff changes tobaccos are selling at open prices until the tariff changes are confirmed.

DRIED MEATS—These are especially good stock, and prices are firm at the recent advance. Hams, assorted sizes, 10½ to 11c.; breakfast bacon, bellies, 10½ to 11c.; do. backs, 9½ to 10c.; short spiced rolls, 7½ to 8c.; shoulders, 6½ to 7c.; long clear bacon, 7½ to 8c. per lb.; shoulders, 5¾c.; boneless shoulders, 6½ to 7c.

LARD—Twenty-lb. pails, $1.70 to $1.75, and $4.25 for 50-lb. pails.

SYRUPS—Maple syrup is in good demand and prices are steady. 55c. per small tin, 55 to 60c. per large tin, and 4½ to 4¾c. per lb. in wood.

GLUCOSE SYRUP—Is ½c. higher.

OATMEAL—Prices steady at $2.70 to $2.80 per barrel.

TEA AND COFFEE—Stand at last week's figures.

DO NOT BE DECEIVED

By the misleading advertisements of the National Cash Register Co, of Dayton, Ohio, as they have no patent in Canada, and any person has a right to manufacture and sell the National Cash Register in Canada.

The HAMILTON BRASS MFG. CO., LTD., manufacture all kinds of Cash Registers as manufactured by the National Cash Register Co., and will guarantee protection to every purchaser and user of the Hamilton Cash Register.

When the National Cash Register Co.'s Agent is quoting prices to you, get a description in writing and the number of the Register he is quoting you prices on, then send the number of the Register with the description to the Hamilton Brass Mfg. Co., and they will supply you with the same Register in every respect, from $10 to $100 less than the price quoted you by the National Cash Register Co.'s Agent.

The following are a few of the facts why the Hamilton Brass Mfg. Co. can manufacture and sell the National Cash Register as made in Hamilton, Ont., and called the "HAMILTON" at a lower price than the National Cash Register Co. :

1st. There is no patent in Canada.

2nd. No royalty to pay.

3rd. No duty to pay.

4th. No office rents at Toronto, Montreal, and other places to pay.

5th. No high salaries to President, Vice-Pres. and Sec.-Treas. to pay.

6th. We are satisfied with a fair profit.

7th. We guarantee the very best material and workmanship.

8th. We are taking out every few days total-adding National Cash Registers and replacing them with the HAMILTON Cash Registers.

9th. We have only been manufacturing Cash Registers about one year, and have made and sold over 300 in that time.

10th. We are Canadian manufacturers, with Canadian capital and Canadian labor.

11th. The money paid for a HAMILTON Cash Register remains in Canada, and the Canadian merchants get the benefit of it.

12th. If you pay your money for a National Cash Register made in the United States, the money paid for it is sent to the United States, and the Canadians do not get one cent of it.

13th. The National Cash Register Co. guarantee their Registers for two years only, while the Hamilton Brass Mfg. Co., Ltd., guarantee theirs for five years.

The following is a description of the National Cash Register Co.'s number 13 and 14, and is a copy of their printed description of same.

There are reasons for it.

FOR WHAT?

For the steadily increasing sales of Brantford Starch throughout the Dominion, from Halifax in the East to Vancouver in the West.

WHAT ARE THE REASONS?

1. We look after the quality closely.
2. We put up our Starch in very attractive packages.
3. We ship promptly immediately on receipt of order.

Our sales for the month of March considerably more than doubled the sales of the corresponding month of last year.

Vol. XI. (Published Weekly) MONTREAL AND TORONTO, MAY 7, 1897 ($2.00 per Year) No. 19

THE DEPARTMENT STORE.

THE proposition that I shall try to lay clear to you is that department stores are of great injury to the many in every city where they exist. By department stores we mean stores in which there are departments for the sale of a dozen or so separate and distinct lines of goods. That great collection of shops gathered together under one roof, conducted as a single organization, which seems to exist on a grand scale in almost every large city in the Union.

The clothing store that handles books and tinware, boots and poultry, stoves and candy, drugs and parrots, dry goods and music, groceries and fine arts, and myriads of other lines, and "lops" off by the ears hundreds of other merchants, scattering wreck and ruin to the four winds, and has been a curse in disguise ever since the first was started.

This is the sort of thing we are talking of.

Viewed from a distance, this establishment is a blessing (?). It occupies a big building and pays somebody a big rent; it has several score of salespeople on its several floors, it has several score of packers and shippers, clerks, and delivery wagons, and gives employment in some cases to a couple of dozen cash boys or girls, and several heads of departments, and in this way there is room for from two to three hundred—perhaps in rare New York instances, 1,000—persons.

Pets of the working people are all they who give 500 people employment. Pets indeed! Give 500 people employment, and rob, directly rob, 5,000 other people of employment and reduce thousands of others to half time, or to starvation wages, as I shall presently explain. This life is entirely a human one. We eat and drink and clothe and cover ourselves, and we can manage to do so, by rendering some particular service along that line to some other person who, like ourselves, eats, drinks and clothes himself. Now, the deduction from this is that if each of us can render to the others enough service, we will each obtain our necessaries, and to spare. And will have a comfortable and pleasant existence. If any one man or any set of men gets control of things, he or they will have the luxury, some other, on whom he lives and has his being, the bare necessity, and all the rest want and starvation. If A. B. C. D. E. F. and G. have each a store of some sort, and employ two or three persons apiece in the transaction of their business, and obtain for all, including 25 clerks, a livelihood, it is obvious that if X. opens up an establishment, combining the seven businesses under his one roof in keen competition with them, with his large capital and resources, and causes the seven to lose sufficiently to find business a loss and thus close them out, it is evident that there is a great loss to the community, for one man has succeeded to the business of seven, and perhaps eight or ten clerks in the larger to twenty-five in the smaller. One building is occupied to seven that have been. One owner realizes his rent to seven that have done so. One building is built to seven that have been. Myriads of carpenters, brick and stone masons, plasterers, painters and other craftsmen, and the factories that make this material, and the miners that mine them all are cut in the fact that one man succeeds to the business of seven.

I challenge my opponents to disprove this. I am in this business, and I assert to you without fear of contradiction that the job of building a store for any other than that of a grocer, saloon, druggist or butcher, is a pleasure I have never had, and is one that is so very rare indeed that it is painfully evident. If it were not for the department stores, Easton avenue would not be so bedecked with "For rent" signs and vacancies. Workingmen's "pets" indeed are they that give 500 people employment (and keep them workingmen and servants to their masters all their natural lives). One master mind and 500 subs. What a delicious prospect for the five hundred. Fortunately 400 of the 500 are women, who have no need of prospects.

Their husbands, fathers, brothers might have been working in the stores along Easton avenue and the other thoroughfares, and they might have been taking the world a little easier if it were not for the department stores. As it is, it takes two and three to provide for a family, where formerly, the natural way, one could easily have done so. Better have the three working at one-third each than the one at whole wages. That's one of the department's innovations.

Following is a summary of the vital and hurtful effects of department stores on merchants and people in general.

By means of a large capital and by ability to consume large quantities of goods, a new condition has arisen, in that the establishment is able to buy at lower rates than the jobber, who for countless years has been the go-between from manufacturer and retailer (Rice, Stix & Co., and Ely & Walker).

The Eastern houses, and our own, to a certain extent, are taking to manufacturing for themselves on a large scale, dress making, white goods, millinery, tailoring, hats and caps, boots and shoes, picture framing, printing etc.

They cripple countless merchants in 200 lines of business.

They cripple the real estate market.

They cripple building business, 20 lines.

They cripple the jobbers.

They cripple the manufacturers, 300.

They cripple the independence of countless thousands of merchants.

the battle ; on one side for supremacy, on the other for existence. The twentieth century will determine the survival of the fittest.—Edward F. Nolte, in North St. Louis Despatch.

CAUSE OF LOW COFFEE PRICES.

THE condition of the market for Brazil coffee is attracting universal attention among the members of the grocery trade, and the constant enquiry is, when and where will the declining tendency stop? One of the peculiarities of the situation is that, in face of the excessive crops, a majority of the holders both here and in Brazil seem to have believed all along that prices would advance. While seeking information in regard to the market condition, several importers were interviewed by a representative of this paper, and the replies of all were almost identical. The following statement was made by a member of one of the most prominent coffee importing firms in the city and seems to cover the ground fully :

"The present decline in coffee is quite different from any other that we have had of late years, and only compares with the decline of 1882. Since coffee has been dealt in on the exchanges rapid declines or advances have taken place at times owing to either bull or bear speculation, and in such cases a heavy decline would be checked by the successful bears covering their shorts and a heavy advance by successful bulls selling. Such is not the case, however, this year. Speculation has been lifeless—in fact, less than at any time we remember. The coffee trades, both here and in Europe, have been almost uniform believers in higher prices, and have bought without stint, until everybody is carrying as much stock as he can afford. They cannot easily increase present holdings even if they have confidence in the price, because in most cases their capacity is filled.

"While in former years there have been both bull and bear operators, in Brazil for the past four years there have been only bulls, and people interested in giving out as favorable information as they could in the interest of coffee. I do not believe a single reputable house in Brazil would have willingly misrepresented crop estimates during the financial distress existing there for the past eight months, either for this crop or the next. On the contrary, I believe that the most conservative ones would make as small an estimate as they possibly could compatible with truthfulness and their reputation.

"I believe there is no doubt in the world that the present crop will exceed eight and one-half million (8,500,000) bags, and I have no doubt that the next one is not more than one-half a million (500,000) bags smaller in each place—that is, Rio and Santos—making the total production for two years in Brazil fifteen and one-half millions (15,500,000) bags, or seven and three-quarters millions (7,750,000) bags on an average. The production of other coffees than Rio and Santos will be somewhere between five and one-half (5,500,000) and six million (6,000,000) bags, so that the total production for the current crop will not be less than fourteen million (14,000,000) bags. For the season of 1897-98 the output promises to be not less than thirteen million (13,000,000) bags.

"I believe that the production of mild coffee is about the same as in the past, and, if changed at all, rather on the increase and not on the decrease. As to the present outlook, the visible supply on July 1 will be between four and three-quarters million (4,750,000) and five million (5,000,000) bags, which will increase during the next crop year.

"Now, as you know, the tendency of values of raw materials the world over has been steadily downward. The value of sugar is about one-third of what it was fifteen years ago, iron probably one-third, lard one-third, corn one-third, spices and tea one-third, while wool, cotton and wheat are anywhere from 40 to 50 per cent. less than they were then. Coffee is the only article which has held its own since 1862. In fact, it is higher now than it was then, while the cost of production, transportation and handling it has decreased everywhere. For this reason the only argument in favor of coffee, the price itself, is not absolutely tenable. The price, indeed, is of great consequence as soon as it gets below the cost of production ; but coffee is a long way from that. In Mexico, Central America and Venezuela the farmers still make one hundred (100) per cent., formerly two hundred (200). In Brazil, we are told, the cost of raising coffee is five (5) milreis for the ten (10) kilos. The price to-day is between eight (8) and nine (9) milreis. The idea that speculators will be found to carry the article is not likely to be correct. Why should they do this for coffee, which is much above the cost of production in price, while there are a great many other products, like corn, lard and sugar, which are below the cost of production or at cost?

"As regards the outlook at the present moment, there is a stock in Rio and Santos of over seven hundred thousand (700,000) bags in the hands of dealers, a large number of whom have failed, and nearly all of the others are financially so weak that they are almost helpless. The decline comes from these causes, and is likely to continue. The season of the year—April, May and June—is not at all favorable for handling the actual coffee. It would be quite different if this price existed in September and October, which is at the commencement of the active season. Opinions generally are valueless. It is a market of supplies only. Before we can see a betterment there must be a liquidation of the weak holders in Brazil, Europe and the United States. After this we shall see at what prices the market will settle. Do not forget that from 1882 to 1886 the market remained at lower figures all the time. An article that declines of its own weight has little recuperative power, and on this account we must look upon the general condition with the greatest precaution."—New York Shipping List.

MANUFACTURE OF STEARINE.

FATS, as tallow, palm oil, cocoanut oil, etc., are compounds of glycerine, or, rather, the basic radicle of glycerine, with two or more acids, the so-called fatty acids. The most important of these are stearic acids, the characteristic acid of tallow; palmitic acid, the characteristic acid of palm oil; both these acids are solid. Another acid is oleic acid, which is a liquid acid, present in almost all oils and fats, particularly in the liquid oils, such as olive oil, cotton oil, etc. The combination of stearic acid and glycerine is known as stearine; that of palmitic acid and glycerine as palmatin; that of oleic acid and glycerine as alein. Besides these three acids other fat acids are known to be present in particular oils and fats, as, for instance, linolic acid in linseed oil and rizinoleic acid in castor oil; with these, however, we have no concern at the present moment. When any of the fats named are boiled with a solution of caustic soda, they undergo the operation known as saponification, which is that the fat is decomposed, glycerine is set free, while the fatty acid combines with the alkali to form soap. If now the soap be treated with sulphuric acid it is in turn decomposed, and the fatty acid is liberated in the free condition. When tallow or palm oil are thus treated, there is obtained a mixture of stearic or palmitic acid, with oleic acid, according to the fat used. By maintaining the mixture of fat acids at a moderate heat, just below the melting point of stearic or palmitic acid, these solid acids tend to crystallize out, and then by placing the mass in cloths and subjecting them to pressure, the oleic acid flows out, leaving the solid stearic or palmitic acid behind; this article forms the stearine of commerce. The method of preparing the fatty acid above indicated is at once expensive and roundabout and in practice other and more economical plans are employed. In the manufacturing processes in use to-day one of the principles employed is the one first described by Chevreul, that when fats are heated under pressure with a comparatively small quantity of lime they are completely decomposed into a mixture of lime soap, free fatty acid and glycerine, and by subsequent treatment with a little sulphuric acid is obtained in the free condition.

Stearine manufactured by the lime process is usually known commercially as "saponified stearine" while that produced by the distillation process is known as "distilled stearine"; but from a practical point of view there is no difference between them, both may be used indiscriminately for the same purposes.

The apparatus required for carrying out the "distillation" process, as constructed by a well-known firm of London engineers, consists essentially of two portions, a still and acidifying vessel, with several adjuncts. The acidifying vessel is made of copper, about 7 feet in diameter by 8 feet high, and weighs 39 cwt. The fat is treated in this with from 3 to 6 per cent. of sulphuric acid, the strength of the acid being 1.82 to 1.84 sp. gr. Generally the mixture of fat and acid is heated by a current of superheated steam sent through it. After standing the mass is blown over into a charge tank placed about the still. The still is made of copper, 7 feet 6 inches in diameter and 8 feet deep. It is heated by a furnace, and is in connection with a superheater. Prior to running into the still the mass is boiled with water in the charge tank. This cleanses the fat from all excess of acid, and makes it ready for the still. The fat in the still is subjected to the joint action of direct heat and of superheated steam, it is decomposed, the products passing over into an upright tubular condenser, where they are condensed and fall into a box, there separating into two layers, the upper one of fatty acids, the lower one of water containing the glycerine. The fatty acids are then subjected to hydraulic pressure to separate the solid stearine from the liquid oleic acid.

The "saponification" process is carried on in an autoclave under pressure. The fat is first melted, then mixed in a mixing tank with revolving stirrers, with from 3 to 6 per cent. of its weight of lime previously made into a milk water and sieved from any particles of grit.

The autoclave is a boiler-shaped vessel made of copper, of from three-fourths of an inch to an inch in thickness, sometimes fitted with an agitator, and made large enough to hold three tons of fat. It is supported on one end in a brick-work chamber. When all the fat and lime has been run in, high pressure steam is sent into the autoclave until the pressure reaches about eight atmospheres, the length of time ranging from four to eight hours. Then the passage of the steam is stopped and the contents allowed to rest, when they separate into two layers, the lower one—the "sweet water"—containing the glycerine, the upper being a mixture of fatty acids and lime soap. Both are run out into separate tanks, the sweet water to be treated for glycerine, the fatty acids, etc., into a lead-lined tank. Here it is treated with hot dilute sulphuric acid, which decomposes the lime soap and liberates the fatty acids. These are collected and subjected to hydraulic pressure, as is the case with the distillation process. Also the fatty acids may be further purified by distillation, if necessary.

WHALES ARE HARD TO FIND.

The motive which has begun a new period of Antarctic exploration is very evident and definite indeed. The supply of right whales has practically given out in the North, owing to the over-demand caused by the high price of whalebone. The oil, to be sure, is not worth nearly so much as in the palmy days of New Bedford and her sturdy whalers, by reason of the cheap production of its rival, petroleum. But the bone is sold for $5 a pound, and a right whale may have in his capacious jaws a whole ton of the precious commodity. With each animal furnishing a small fortune for a seafaring man, it is not surprising in these days of harpoon guns and steamships that the Arctic Ocean has been plundered of its whale wealth. So whalers are turning their attention to the waste of unexplored waters. Ross thought he found right whales in 1842, but Borchgrevink and his contemporaries failed to come up with them.—Scribner's Magazine.

READ THIS

Dear Sir, St. Marys, Aug. 3rd 1892.

The following may be of use to you: "A customer of mine, who keeps a butcher shop in this town, bought a 10 cent package of your Fly Pads from me and in ten days killed over a BUSHEL MEASURE OF FLIES" Yours truly,

HINTS TO BUYERS.

[This department has become so popular that many more notices than there is space for are received every week. In future only important items of information will be inserted. Contributors are requested to send news only, not puffs of goods they handle, or the arrival of standard goods that everyone has in stock, or that they are offering goods at close figures, or that they have had an unusually large sale this season.]

WARREN BROS. & CO. are booking an unusually large number of importation orders for their special brand of "Butterfly" Japan tea. The facing label of this brand of tea is handsome and striking this year. Its background is deep red, and the lettering is in black, and the butterfly—the trade mark—is in gold.

Warren Bros. & Co. are offering a line of English camphor in one-ounce blocks.

Buyers of "Circle" tea who have missed getting tea books are requested to advise Lucas, Steele & Bristol.

New season's marmalades (Southwell's) just at hand per Rosarian for Frank Magor & Co., Canadian agents.

"Red, White and Blue" baking powder, one dozen in case, packed in Gem jars, is for sale by Lucas, Steele & Bristol.

A. E. Richards & Co. report the arrival of another shipment of Gaskin's Colonial cocoa. All back orders can now be filled.

"Washington" lye, in 5 and 10c. cans, is for sale with Lucas, Steele & Bristol. It is packed in cases 4 and 8 dozen each.

The F. F. Dalley Co. have up to date this year manufactured and shipped more "English Army" blacking than they did all last year.

Lucas, Steele & Bristol have Pure Gold powdered jellies in following flavors: Lemon, orange, grape, pineapple, raspberry and strawberry.

Robert Greig & Co. are sending an interesting book of puzzles, illustrated in colors, entitled "Fun Among the Matches," on receipt of a three-cent stamp to cover postage.

The demand for Robinson's patent barley and Robinson's patent groats has recently been so great that additional orders have been cabled to the makers for supplies. The Montreal agents, Frank Magor & Co., find that their orders are doubling up yearly.

During spring cleaning and house moving all good housekeepers use extra quantities of laundry blue, and the enquiry this season for Keen's Oxford blue has been phenomenal. Orders for this article have already been booked by Frank Magor & Co., Montreal, from far-off British Columbia in the west to Halifax and St. John in the east.

W. H. Gillard & Co. have again been appointed wholesale agents for Pilgrim Bros. in the sale of their New York ginger ale and other summer beverages. Last season Gillard & Co. sold over 5,000 cases, and this year they anticipate even a larger demand. The manufacturers have put in a complete new equipment of machinery and state that the quality this season will be even better than before.

LATE ADVERTISEMENTS.

[The following items arrived too late for insertion in the regular advertising space. Reading notices inserted in this column at 5c. per word.]

The Eby, Blain Co., Ltd., are offering exceptional values in Ceylon and Indian teas, which they claim defy competitian.

Robert Greig & Co.'s jelly powder, "Tryphosa," is a line that wins instant favor. Repeat orders are received daily.

The Eby, Blain Co., Ltd., report the arrival of a shipment of Clark's canned meats and potted game delicacies for their summer trade.

The Eby, Blain Co., Ltd. report large sales of the celebrated Bensdorp's Royal Dutch cocoa for which they are wholesale agents.

Pratt's Cattle Foot is a certain preventative and cure for hog cholera and other diseases of cattle. Robert Greig & Co. are agents.

"We are making a special drive in California evaporated peaches, apricots, prunes and pitted plums and French prunes. The prices are right," say The Eby, Blain Co., Ltd.

Seville orange marmalade, sold by W. H. Gillard & Co., is becoming well and favorably known with the trade, and enjoys a large sale on account of its absolute purity and delicacy of flavor.

With the hot weather comes a large demand for Stower's lime juice, lime juice cordial, lemon juice syrup, and lemon squash. They are all in stock with the Eby, Blain Co., Ltd. They solicit correspondence.

IT DREW A CROWD.

A curious idea which attracted dense crowds of spectators until the police made the storekeeper take it out of his window was the rude figure of a man whose clothes were made of light burlap, covered entirely with old postage stamps. The pants were blue one-cent stamps, the vest red two-cent, the coat brown five-cent. the collar blue, and the hat brown with a blue and red band; the face was an ordinary mask. This was on Nassau street, in the Tribune building, and may give an idea to some retailer who loves a crowd. Make the burlap suit first, and then paste on the stamps. —Tobacco.

A GROCER WEDS.

A PRETTY wedding took place in Guelph on Monday morning, 26th ult., in the Church of our Lady, when Mr. Thos. P. Heffernan, the well-known grocer on West Market Square, that city, son of Mr. Thos. Heffernan, the late respected collector of Customs, was married to Justinia Hanlon, daughter of Mr. James Hanlon, farmer, Puslinch. The bride looked charming. She was attired in bluet and pink shot silk. The waist was trimmed with chiffon, embroidered with gold, finished with a corsage of white satin, hat and gloves to match. She carried a beautiful bouquet of white roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Julia Hanlon, the bride's sister, was dressed in bluet poplin, the waist being trimmed with shot silk, embroidered with silver. She carried a bouquet of pink roses.

The groom was supported by his cousin, Mr. Wm. Gay, grocer, Guelph. The bride was given away by her brother, Mr. James Hanlon, jr. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Kavanagh. The music at the mass was very fine.

After the ceremony the wedding party drove in carriages to the residence of Mr. Hanlon, where the wedding breakfast was waiting. The room was beautifully decorated with flowers of various hues, Union Jacks, etc. The presents were numerous, useful and handsome. The happy couple left the same afternoon by the 2.50 train for the west amid the well-wishes of their large circle of friends. THE CANADIAN GROCER extends its congratulations.

SUPERB PICKLES.

Williams Bros. & Charbonneau, of Detroit, Mich., are busy with their campaign for 1897. The success which has attended this firm in putting their East India pickles on the market simply shows what can be done with a first-class article well advertised. Orders are constantly coming from all parts of the country, and many cases are now being exported. Every season sees an increasing business, and it is only necessary to try the pickles once in order to make lasting friends. They are profitable goods, too.

CHARACTER IN BUSINESS.

The man who succeeds succeeds for the most part through character, writes E. L. Godkin in The Atlantic Monthly. It is chiefly in character that Mexico differs from the United States, Spain and from England. Not only are all our religions and philosophies really meant to build it up or sustain it, but so, also, are all our social arrangements. In hiring, and contracting, and lending and crediting we rely on character. In nearly every transaction of life it is on character rather than on law that we place our faith.

EXTENDING OUR TRADE WITH THE WEST INDIES.

VARIOUS attempts have been made by Canada during the last few years to extend her export trade with the British West Indies, but the results have not, on the whole, been satisfactory.

There are primarily two causes for this. They are (1) the lower freight rates which are enjoyed by exporters from the United States, and (2) the want of an efficient and reasonably cheap cable service to those islands.

Due largely to the C.P.R. authorities, a remedy for the former difficulty has been secured.

The remedy is in the shape of an arrangement with the Pickford & Black line of steamers running from Halifax and St. John, whereby the latter has agreed to reduce its rates to the figures obtaining on the lines plying between New York and the British West Indies, while the C.P.R. has also fixed a special export rate for Western Ontario, in order to meet the competition of American roads.

Besides what it has done in the way of freight rates, the railway company has also despatched a commissioner to the West Indies, with instructions to ascertain what products of Canada are most likely to sell in those markets, together with the most suitable packages for shipping these goods in.

Of course, the C.P.R. is working in its own interests as well as in those of the country, but its efforts are none the less worthy of commendation. It exhibits enterprise, and enterprise is always laudable.

It is a fact, although perhaps not generally known in the West, that a great deal of Canadian products for the West Indies from as far east as Prince Edward Island, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, are exported via Boston and New York in spite of the fact that all those provinces have seaports at their very doors.

That the West India trade is worth cultivating is obvious. They are large importers of potatoes, fish, flour and provisions, and all these and other things Canada is well able to supply. In flour alone their wants are about one million dollars' worth annually, yet our total exports of this commodity last year were valued at less than five thousand dollars.

Taking our exports of all kinds, they only aggregated $2,810,817. The United States, on the other hand, last year exported to the West Indies goods to the value of $26,541,529. To the British West Indies alone they sent $8,732,477 worth against our $1,627,388 worth. In other words, the United States does about 80 per cent. more trade in the one instance than we do and 120 per cent. in the other.

Canada's chief exports to the British West Indies, according to the latest returns, are: Live animals, $27,496; breadstuffs, $77,037; coal, charcoal, etc., $16,315; drugs, dyes, chemicals and medicines, $20,112; fish, $1,110,721; leather and manufactures of, $16,852; iron and manufactures of, $4,143; musical instruments, $2,205; provisions, $31,339; ships, $5,450; tobacco and manufactures of, $5,497; potatoes, $70,673; wood, $125,916. Compared with the previous year there has been a decline in the exports of all the above articles except leather and manufactures of.

It is about time Canada bestirred herself.

At a meeting of the Stratford (Ont.) Board of Trade held a few days ago the meeting adjourned till May 14 in order to give the members an opportunity of saying whether they wish the board to be continued or not. If Stratford's business men are wise they will answer in the affirmative and then infuse new life into the organization. Stratford can as little afford to be without a board of trade as a man can his right arm.

OUR IMPORTS FROM BRITAIN, GERMANY AND BELGIUM.

THE minimum tariff under which goods of British production are given a preference in the Canadian market is still the subject of a great deal of interest, particularly in view of the fact that the consuls of both Germany and Belgium have instructed importers of goods from their respective countries to pay their duties under protest.

The reason of this action is, of course, based upon the contention that under the Imperial treaties with these countries a British colony cannot give the products of the Motherland a preference in its markets without extending the same to the products of their respective countries.

The countries directly interested in the controversy which has arisen over the action of the Dominion Government are Great Britain, Germany and Belgium. A reference to Canada's trade with these three countries will therefore be timely.

Our aggregate trade last year with Great Britain was $99,670,000; with Germany, $6,688,990, and with Belgium, $1,018,789. Compared with our total trade with all countries Great Britain's is about 43 per cent., Germany's about 2.6 per cent., and Belgium's .4 per cent.

Taking the goods entered for home consumption, as well as their percentage to the whole, we find the following results: Great Britain, $32,979,742, or 29 per cent.; Germany, $5,931,459, or 4.5 per cent.; Belgium, $920,758, or .83 per cent.

The exports of the Dominion were $66,690,288 to Great Britain, $757,531 to Germany, and $98,031 to Belgium. The percentages of these to the total export trade of the country were: Great Britain, 54.54; Germany, .6; Belgium, .08.

Our export trade to Great Britain is a growing one, that to Germany and Belgium is a declining or irregular one. When we consider our import trade we find the opposite conditions obtaining. Our imports of British goods were, with one exception, last year the smallest on record, while those from both Germany and Belgium were the largest on record. Compared with the previous year, the imports of Belgian goods in 1896 were over 100 per cent. larger.

Canada's principal imports, dutiable and free, from the three countries named were in 1896 as follows :

OPENING OF THE TEA MARKETS.

The Japan tea market opened on Saturday last at prices 10 per cent. higher than last year, and ths market for northern China teas will open in about a week, picking having begun a month ago.

Owing to the new tea inspection law in the United States, it has been decided by the growers of Pingsuey teas to reduce the output this season by one-third.

RICE MILLS WILL SHUT DOWN.

IT is now announced as a certainty that unless the Government agrees to allow some modification of the duty on paddy rice the milling of rice in Canada will cease. The Mount Royal Milling Company have announced their determination to this effect.

In the event of the Government refusing to listen to their petition they will go out of the business of cleaning and milling rice, but will still continue trading as importers and brokers.

A deputation composed of Mr. C. P. Hebert, of Hudon, Hebert & Cie., Mr. Ross, of the Mount Royal Milling Company, and several other grocers went up to Ottawa on Tuesday to lay the facts before the Government. They will point out that with the duty as it now is it is utterly impossible to continue the profitable milling and cleaning of rice in Canada.

As a consequence of this uncertainty values on rice are unsettled and jobbers have altered the basis of quotations entirely in this province. The schedule is now arranged as follows :

Combined for the whole of the province of Quebec; ordinary rice, B grade, or any other quality equal or inferior :

	In bags, 250 lbs.	In ½ bags, 100 lbs.	In ¼ bags, 50 lbs.	In pockets, 25 lbs. ½ " 12½ "

10 bags or over.....	3 40	3 45	3 50	3 55

Terms: 30 days or 1 per cent. 10 days in both the Montreal and Quebec districts.

WHO BUYS OLD RUBBER?

A subscriber writes : "Could you give me the address of firms that buy old rubber shoes (manufacturers, not dealers) at Buffalo, N.Y.?"

Remarks.—If any of our readers can furnish the desired information, will they kindly address this paper?—THE EDITOR.

UNPROFITABLE TEA SPECULATION

Private cables received on Monday stated that the Japan tea market had opened strong at an advance of 10 per cent. in prices over last year, while the quality was only fair.

This fact has not prevented a distinctly easier feeling on old crop teas. Speculators who imported round lots in the expectation of a duty have given up hope of finding buyers for all between now and the arrival of new crop, and have re-shipped the bulk back to New York, because they consider the chances better across the lines.

The new U.S. tea inspection law also acted as an incentive for export.

MOLASSES DECLINES.

THE molasses market has been subject to frequent fluctuations this spring at Barbadoes.

Values at the Islands first of all opened at 11c. Then they promptly declined 3c. to 8c. first cost at the plantation. After touching this figure they recovered 1c. and ruled pretty stable for a week or so at 9c. It was at this figure that some of the most important contracts on Canadian account were put through, which is about equivalent to 21c. nett cash ex wharf Montreal.

About four cargoes are, it is understood, on the way for Montreal on this basis, and one or two for Quebec.

Later, however, prices declined to 8c. again, and finally at the close of last week 7c. was cabled from Barbadoes. Although it is claimed that business is difficult to effect at this figure, large jobbing houses in Montreal admit that they have been offered the figure direct.

The jobbers last week arranged their prices on new Barbadoes and Porto Rico to arrive as follows : Fifteen puncheons and over, 25c.; smaller lots, 26c. This is equivalent to a decline of about 1½c. on the basis ex store.

ADVANCE IN TOBACCOS.

A special meeting of the Toronto branch of the Dominion Guild was held on Wednesday afternoon for the purpose of considering the price of tobacco.

The opinion was that the price of all plug tobacco made from foreign leaf, in view of the duty, should be advanced 14c. per lb. making the price of such tobaccos as "Prince of Wales," "Brier," "Myrtle Navy" and "Something New," 62, 61, 74 and 79c., respectively. But it was decided to leave the market an open one until there has been a further consultation with the trade. Cut tobacco has yet to be considered.

The terms will also be changed, and hereafter will be 30 days or 1 per cent. 10 days.

GET OUT THE BRIGADE.

THERE is a time for everything. While a merchant should strive to keep his place of business clean and tidy at all times, there is always a certain time of the year when the broom and bucket brigade should wage a more than usually vigorous warfare against uncleanliness. And that time is the spring of the year.

In the highways and field, in the streets and lanes, the bright sunshine and bustling spring winds clean up the winter's accumulation of dirt and impurities. But in the store, in the cellar and in the storehouses the spring cleaning up process devolves upon the energy of man.

It does not matter whatsoever be the character of the business, the store and warehouse can be and should be cleaned up.

There are two chief reasons for a vigorous spring clean up. The one is that it makes the store and stock more inviting to customers. The other is that it improves the sanitary condition of the premises, making them healthier for those whose duties compel them to remain in them the greater part of each day.

Order out the broom and bucket brigade. Sweep or scrub out every corner, from cellar to garret. And the yard: Rake it up. Get behind the packing cases and clear away the winter's accumulation of dust and dirt. After the cleaning up is done, let there be plenty of ventilation and a liberal use of disinfectants in dark corners and places where filth may have accumulated.

ADVANCE IN PAPER FLOUR SACKS.

Some time ago THE CANADIAN GROCER intimated that it was probable a higher price would be fixed on paper bags.

That has now been partly fulfilled, we understand, an advance of from 10 to 15 per cent. or thereabouts having been made in the price of paper flour sacks by at least one maker.

This maker is reputed to have declared that he has stopped cutting, and that the new net cash price-list which he has issued will be strictly adhered to, the cost of making and printing having been figured down to the lowest point consistent with strength and quality.

Although the cutting on flour sacks was deep, yet it is said not to have been so deep as the cutting on ordinary paper bags, and it is probable that an advance will take place in the latter as well before long.

H. P. ECKARDT & CO.'S FIRE.

THE fire in the wholesale grocery warehouse of H. P. Eckardt & Co., a brief reference to which was made in our last issue, was not extinguished until after two or three hours' hard fighting by the firemen. The fire, however, was confined to the top flat, and the chief damage was therefore done by water, large quantities of which were poured into the building. The front elevation suffered the most, and as holes were quickly cut through the flooring and the water let off, the damage was less than it otherwise would have been.

The arbitrators are busy at work, and until they conclude their labors the exact loss will not be known. Approximately it is estimated at $50,000, and is covered by insurance. The cause of the fire is unknown.

The damaged stock, valued at about $50,000, will be disposed of by auction. The sale will begin on Thursday next, the 13th inst., at 10 o'clock, and will be continued from day to day until the whole stock is disposed of. The stock consists of sugars, teas, coffees, spices, canned goods, tobaccos, etc., and will be sold without reserve.

In the firm's advertisement, which appears in another column, it will be noticed that no reference is made to the date of the sale. The reason for this is that the advertisement went to press before the date of the sale had been fixed.

The firm is at present temporarily occupying No. 9 Front street east, and will remove back to their old premises when they have undergone the necessary repairs.

NEW TEA INSPECTION LAW.

The new tea inspection law adopted by the last Congress went into operation on Saturday last, the 1st inst.

Samples of the standards fixed by the experts have been received by Mr. A. B. Lambe, of Toronto, and those in the tea trade desiring to see them can do so at his office No. 6 Wellington street east. The samples, as a rule, are high.

A well-known tea man, in conversation with THE CANADIAN GROCER, ventured the opinion that the standards would deteriorate from year to year. "You see," he said, "next year's standards will probably be fixed by a comparison with those of this year. By that time, of course, this year's samples will have deteriorated. The test, you know, is made in the cup."

TELL THE TRUTH.

A lady went into a well-known grocery store and asked to see some pineapples. The groceryman showed her the best he had. The lady wanted to know if they were the best that could be got. He said that they were, and it was only once a year they could get this particular kind.

The lady wanted to impress upon the salesman that she wanted an extra fine one, so he requested her to ask Mrs. A——, his wife, if what he said wasn't true. "We have that same kind every week during the season in our house," he said.

When the lady came out she said to herself: "What a liar that groceryman is."

If people when selling goods would tell nothing but the truth it would be far better for their business, and the general public would think a great deal more of them.

RAISINS ON THE COAST.

Referring to the situation of raisins on the Coast, The California Fruit Grower says in its issue of the 24th inst.: "The quantity on hand amounts to about 200 cars, of which the co-ops hold 100 or more cars; the balance is divided between eight or ten holders. What little demand there is calls for 2 and 3-crown goods. Reports reach us from Fresno stating that growers are much alarmed at the appearance of the thrip or vine-hopper in vineyards. These little sap-sucking insects are reported to have settled on the vines in countless numbers and are doing much damage to the new growth. It is a troublesome pest to deal with, but we hope the growers will be more successful in their efforts to rid their vineyards of them than we have been in our experiments during the past three or four years with vine-hoppers in Colusa county. Overland shipments for the month of March were 1,506,000 pounds."

A MERCHANT'S DEATH.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

TORONTO, May 6, 1897.

GROCERIES.

THERE are no striking features to note in the local wholesale market this week, except quietness can be characterized as such. Sugar is positively dull, although there has been no change in quotations, and the refiners claim to be firm at present figures. Canned goods rule steady with demand fair for the season. Lobsters are scarce on spot. Rio coffees are a little better in price in New York, but locally there is no change, and there is not much business doing. Quite a few syrups are selling, but there is not much doing in molasses. Further strength is to be noted in Singapore black pepper. Currants are stronger, prices being cabled 1s. 9d. higher from Patras. The tea market is quiet. A cable received this week announces the opening of the Japan tea market at 10 per cent. higher than last year. Tobaccos are from 4 to 14c. per lb. higher. Payments are rather slow.

CANNED GOODS.

It has been the opinion that all the low-priced corn had been cleaned out. We, however, this week hear of some further transactions in this particular quality of corn at low figures. Generally speaking, the price of canned vegetables continues steady. Peas are getting scarcer. An evidence of this is seen in the fact that some of the wholesalers have been trying during the week to secure supplies from their confreres. Canned lobsters are scarce, there being practically nothing on this market but a few half-pound tins. Canned salmon is only receiving moderate attention. We quote: Tomatoes, 75 to 80c.; corn, 50 to 75c.; peas, 75 to 80c. for ordinary; sifted select, 90 to $1; extra sifted, $1.25 to $1.40; beans, 65 to 95c.; peaches, $2.50 to $3 for 3's, $1.65 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.50 to $1.80; strawberries, $1.65 to $1.95, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.40 to $1.70; cherries, $2 to $2.25; apples, 3's, 70 to 95c.; gallons, $1.65 to $2.25; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.50; cohoes, $1.10 to $1.25; canned mackerel, $1.20 to $1.30; lobsters, $2.25 to $2.40 for tall tins; flats, $2.85 to $2.90; ½-lb. flats, $1.60 to $1.65; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.20 to $1.30; 2's, $2.25 to $2.40; 6's, $7.75 to $8.25; 14's, $15 to $16.

COFFEES.

A great deal of coffee having been bought before the tariff went down, there are naturally not many transactions in this commodity at present. Retailers have, however, been fair buyers during the week. Rios are slightly higher in New York. Jobbers quote green in bags: Rio, 14 to 16c., according to grade; East Indian, 27 to 30c.; South American, 21 to 23c.; Santos, 19 to 22½c.; Java, 30 to 33c.; Mocha, 27½ to 30c.; Maracaibo, 18 to 20c.; Jamaica, 19 to 22c.

SYRUPS.

Quite a few syrups have been sold by the wholesalers during the week. We quote: Dark, 23 to 25c.; medium, 28 to 35c.; bright, 32 to 42c.; corn syrup, 3 to 3¼c. per lb.

MOLASSES.

There is not much doing. We quote: New Orleans, barrels, 23 to 35c.; ditto, half-barrels, 25 to 37c.; ditto, fancy, 50 to 55c., in barrels and half-barrels; Barbadoes, 31 to 35c.; half-barrels, 33 to 35c.

SUGAR.

The sugar market, both at home and abroad, is dull. In New York a good many raw sugars are coming forward, while in refined the demand is limited and stocks are accumulating. In London on Friday last beet advanced ¼d., but two days after this gain was lost. In Canada refiners' views as to price are unchanged, they still being steady at last week's quotations. Local wholesalers' quotations are: Granulated—St. Lawrence and Redpath's, 4 7-16c. for single barrel lots and 4⅜c. for 5-barrel lots; Acadia, 4⅜c. for single barrel lots, and 4 5-16c. for 5-barrel lots; yellows, 3⅝ to 4⅛c. per lb.; Demerara crystals, 3⅞c.

SPICES.

There has been another advance in Singapore black pepper, and prices are now about 2½c. per lb. above the lowest point. Locally, the spice trade is quiet and prices unchanged. We quote: Pure Singapore black pepper, ground, 11c. in kegs, pails and boxes, and 13c. in 5-lb. cans; ditto, whole, 10c. per lb.; pure white pepper, ground, 18c. in kegs, pails and boxes and 20c. in 5-lb. cans; ditto, whole, 15 to 17c., according to quality; pure Jamaica ginger, 23 to 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 23 to 25c.; do. best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 14 to 18c.; cassia, 20 to 25c. per lb. for ground and 40c. for Saigon.

NUTS.

Business is quiet and featureless. We quote: Brazil nuts, 11 to 12½c.; Valencia shelled almonds, 18 to 22c.; Tarragona almonds, 9½ to 11c.; peanuts, 10 to 12c. for roasted and 7 to 10c. for green; cocoanuts, $4.50 to $5 per sack; Grenoble walnuts, 12½c.; Marbot walnuts, 9½ to 11c.; Bordeax walnuts, 8 to 9c.: Sicily filberts, 10c. for sacks and 10½ to 11c. for small lots; Naples filberts, 11c.; pecans, 12 to 12½c.

RICE, TAPIOCA, ETC.

Rice is unchanged at the recent advance. We quote: Standard "B," broken lots, 3⅞c.; 1 to 5 sacks, 3¾c., and 5 sacks and over, 3⅝c. per lb.; Japan, 5c.; Patna, 4¾ to 5¾c.; tapioca, 3¼ to 4½c.; sago, 3½c.

TEAS.

The most interesting feature at the moment is the opening of the tea market in Japan on Saturday last. The cable announcing the fact states that the opening price is 10 per cent. higher than the opening price a year ago, and that the quality of the tea is fair. A few orders for direct shipment of tea have been placed during the past week. In Ceylon teas, suitable medium grades have been sold. Generally speaking, the market is dull. Ruling prices on the Toronto market to retailers are: Young Hyson, 18 to 21c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 14 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 15 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for high grades.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

The week has experienced another advance in the primary market, a cable received in Toronto this week noting an advance of 1s. 9d. per cwt. in Provincials, making the laid-down price in Toronto equal to 5c. per lb. We quote: Provincials, 4¾ to 4⅞c. in bbls.; ditto, half-bbls., 4¾ to 5c.; fine Filiatras, in bbls., 4⅞ to 5c.; do., half-bbls., 4⅞ to 5c.; Patras, 5½ to 5¾c. in bbls., 5½ to 5¾c. in half-bbls., and 5½ to 5¾c. in cases; Vostizzas, cases, 6½ to 8c.

Valencia raisins are dull and unchanged. We quote: Off-stalk, 5 to 5¼c.; fine off-stalk, 5¾ to 6c.; selected, 6¾ to 7c.; layers, 7 to 7½c.

California loose muscatel raisins are quiet and unchanged. We quote: 3-crown, 7½c.; 4-crown, 8 to 8½c.

In figs the demand is still confined to mat figs. We quote: 10 oz., 7½c.; 10 lb., 9 to 10c.; 18 lb., 10 to 12c.; 28 lb., 11 to 13c.; taps, 3¼ to 3½c. net; natural, 4½c. in bags, and 7c. in boxes.

Dates are a little easier in London and New York. They are dull and unchanged here. We quote: 5½ to 6c. for Hallowee and 5 to 5¼c. for Kadrowee.

A stronger feeling obtains in regard to California prunes on account of the smallness of stocks in the primary market. Some advices from California state that not more than thirty carloads of this fruit remain there. On the local market the demand for prunes continues comparatively light. We quote as follows: Bosnias, U's (110 to 113 half kilo), 6 to 6½c.; C's (85 to 90 half kilo), 7 to 7½c. per lb. California, 90 to 100's, 6½c. per lb.; 70 to 80's, 7½c.; 60 to 70's, 7½ to 8c.; 50 to 60's, 8 to 8½c.; 40 to 50's, 9½ to 10½c.; 30 to 40's, 12½ to 13c.; "Ruby" prunes, 7½ to 8c.; French, 4½ to 5c.

California evaporated fruits are quiet and

GREEN FRUIT.

Stocks of oranges on the local market are light, with prices higher and demand good. Lemons continue in good demand, with prices unchanged. Bananas are much higher, while the demand is increasing. The outlook is for a firm market for some time to come. Pineapples are in liberal supply and the demand is good, with prices lower. Egyptian onions are dearer in England, and the prices ruling at auction in New York are equal to the figures wholesalers are getting here. We quote: Oranges—Valencias, ordinary, 420's, $5 to $5.50 per case; large 420's, $6.50 to $7; Messinas, $3 to $3.50; Mediterranean Sweets, $3.50. Lemons—Messinas and Palermos, $2 to $3 per box; cocoanuts, $3.75 a sack and 60c. per doz. Onions, $3 to $3.25 per bag for Egyptians. Cranberries, Jerseys, $4.50 per bbl. Bananas, $1.75 to $2.25. Pineapples, 10 to 20c. each. Strawberries, 30 to 35c. per quart. Cucumbers, $1.50 to $1.75 per dozen.

APPLES.

There have been some shipments of apples from Toronto this week for the Chicago market. We hear of one carload of Spies changing hands on this account at $3 per bbl. Locally, there is an active demand for good stock, and prices are tending upward. We quote: Baldwins, $1.50 to $1.75 per bbl.; Spies, $3.25 to $3.50 for No. 1 stock, and $2 for No. 2.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—Receipts of large roll butter are heavier than usual, due to the early spring. Although the demand is good, prices show a further decline of 1c. per lb. More or less grass butter is now coming forward. Creamery butter, while easier in sympathy with the dairy article, is quotably unchanged. We quote: Dairy butter—Tubs, 10 to 12c. for good to choice; low-grade to medium, 7 to 9c.; large rolls, 10 to 12c. for good to choice, and 7 to 9c. for low-grade to medium; pound prints, 12 to 13c. for good to choice. Creamery—Tubs, 17 to 18c.; 1-lb. blocks, 18 to 19c., according to make.

CHEESE—Old cheese is in light supply, and the demand is good at 11 to 11½c. per lb. The English market is lower. Most of the fodder cheese on the market costs about 10¼c. delivered, but that which is coming forward this week costs about ¼c. less. Jobbers are quoting 10½ to 10¾c.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

BEANS—These are as dull as ever. We quote mixed at 40 to 50c. and hand-picked at 65 to 75c.

DRIED APPLES—There is no consumptive demand for them. Jobbers are offering what are good stock at 1½ to 2c. per lb., and cannot get purchasers. There are a good many being put into cold storage by speculators, but their idea as to price is from 1 to 1½c. per lb.

EVAPORATED APPLES—There is no demand, and in the absence of a demand there is practically no basis for price. Wholesale quotations are : Quarters, 2¾c.; ordinary sliced, 3c.; best brands, 4 to 5c.

EGGS—Receipts during the week have been light, and the market up to the time of writing is almost bare. Prices are higher, at 9½ to 10c., and the demand is fairly good.

HONEY—Quiet. We quote : Comb, 80 to 90c. per dozen for dark and $1.50 to $1.75 for light ; strained, 6 to 7c. per lb.

MAPLE PRODUCTS—Stocks of maple syrup are still excessive, and prices are gradually working downwards. The ruling prices for good syrup are : 5-gallon tins, 60 to 65c. per gallon ; 1-gallon tins, 65 to 70c. per gallon.

POTATOES—Have taken a slight turn for the better, deliveries being lighter on account of the farmers being engaged in seeding. It is thought, however, that the improvement is only temporary. Carload lots on the track are worth 20c., and out of store, 25 to 30c. per bag is quoted. A carload was sold at 25c. delivered.

FISH.

The first month without a "r" has come in and there are no more oysters. Haddies are firmer. Fresh water fish is in better supply. We quote as follows: Pickerel, 6c. per lb. ; haddies, 7½c. per lb. ; Labrador herring, $4.50 to $5 per bbl. and $2.75 per half-bbl. ; split herring, $4.50 per bbl. and $2.50 per half-bbl.; boneless fish, 3½ to 4c. per lb.; pure cod, 6½ to 6¾c. per lb. ; ciscoes, $1.25 per 100 ; fresh water herring (heads off), $2.50 per keg.

SALT.

Trade is fair and prices the same as before. We quote as follows at Toronto : In carload lots, $1 per bbl. and 60c. per sack ; in less than carload lots, $1.05 per bbl. and 65c. per sack. At the wells we quote : F.O.B. barrels, 70c.; sacks 50c. for points west of Toronto, and 45c. for Toronto and points east of Toronto.

PROVISIONS.

The demand is increasing for smoked meats. An easier feeling exists in regard to lard, and round lots could be secured at less than quotations.

DRY SALTED MEATS—Long clear bacon, 7c. for carload lots, and 7¼ to 7½c. per lb. for ton lots and cases ; backs, 8c.

SMOKED MEATS—Breakfast bacon, 11 to 11½c.; rolls, 7½ to 8c. ; hams, large, 10½ to 11c.; medium and small, 11½ to 12c.; shoulder hams, 7c.; all meats out of pickle, 1c. less than above.

LARD—Pure Canadian, tierces, 6¼c.; tubs, 6½c.; pails, 6¾c.

BARREL PORK—Canadian heavy mess, $12.50 to $13; Canadian short-cut, $13.50

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN—Receipts of grain on the street continue light. We quote: Wheat, 78 to 79c. for white and 76 to 77c. for red, and 62½ to 64c. for goose; oats, 26 to 27c.; peas, 42 to 43½c.

FLOUR—Prices are from 10 to 20c. per bbl. lower and the demand has eased off. We quote in carloads on track, Toronto : Manitoba patents, $4.60; Manitoba strong bakers', $4.25; Ontario patents, $4.30 to $4.50; straight roller, $3.80 to $3.90, Toronto freights.

BREAKFAST FOODS—Business is quiet and prices unchanged. We quote : Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $3 in bags and $3.10 in bbls.; rolled wheat, $2.70 in 100-lb. bbls.; cornmeal, $2.25 to $2.35; split peas, $3 to $3.25; pot barley, $3 to $3.25.

PETROLEUM.

Prices are from ½ to 1½c. lower. We quote in 1 to 10 bbl. lots, imperial gallon, Toronto : Canadian, 14½c.; carbon, safety, 16½c.; Canadian water white, 17c.; Americanwater white, 17½c.; Pratt's astral, 17c. in bulk.

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL.

HIDES — Are unchanged, with cured quoted at 8 to 8¼c. Dealers pay 7½c. for No. 1, 6½c. for No. 2 and 5½c. for No. 3.

CALFSKINS—Market is dull at 7 to 8c. for No. 1, and 5 to 6c. for No. 2. Sheep skins, $1.25 to $1.50. Lambskins, 20c,

WOOL— The market is quiet and price unchanged. Combing fleece nominal at 21 to 22c. and rejections 17c. Pulled supers are 21½c., and extras at 22½ to 23½c.

MARKET NOTES.

Eggs are dearer and butter cheaper.

Flour is from 10 to 20c. per barrel lower.

Coal oil is from ½ to 1½c. per gallon lower.

Beet sugar declined ¾d. in London on Monday.

Provincial currants are cabled 1s. 9d. dearer in Patras.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, May 6, 1897.

GROCERIES.

THE grocery business during the past week has exhibited a noticeable shrinkage in volume compared with the demand that prevailed eight or ten days ago. At the moment, practically no new orders are coming in, what movement there is being on account of orders placed some time ago and held back for water freights. Aside from these, the demand is of the smallest hand-to-mouth character. Values in many cases are unsettled. Sugar rules steady, but the same cannot be said with regard to syrups and molasses, jobbers having re-adjusted prices for the latter on a lower basis. Tea also is unsettled, while manufacturers have refused to quote domestic milled rice for future shipment. As a consequence of this decision on their part, values in a jobbing sense are difficult to fix. Tea is easy in tone, also under decreased demand, and the grocery market, as a whole, is the reverse of active.

SUGAR.

There is only a small hand-to-mouth trade doing in refined sugar this week, as both jobbers and retailers are pretty well stocked with the staple. Most of the orders now going forward represent old business also, the goods having been held back for water freights. Prices generally are steady, and there does not appear to be any immediate prospect of alteration. The offers of German sugar referred to last week have exerted little influence. In fact, unless the difference in the price is radically in favor of the foreign article, it has been the experience of the trade here that Canadian consumers will pay more for the domestic yellow article owing to the great superiority in quality. In New York there has been but slight change in the situation and the same is the case abroad. In a jobbing way we quote: Granulated, 4¼ to 4⅜c., and yellows, 3⅜ to 3½c.

SYRUPS.

Business in syrup continues quiet and the market is entirely without feature. Prices continue nominally unchanged at 1⅜ to 1⅞c., as to grade.

MOLASSES.

The most interesting fact about molasses has been another slump in Barbadoes at the islands, where it is offered first cost at 7c., a decline of 1c. Demand continues light and no large contracts have been put through lately for importation. The jobbers at a meeting held last Friday fixed the price to arrive on both Porto Rico and Barbadoes as follows: 15-puncheon lots and over, 25c.; in any less quantity, 26c. This represents a decline of about 1½c. on the basis ex store.

RICE.

The local rice market is in a very unsettled state as a consequence of the tariff changes, and it is quite likely that the milling of rice will cease in Canada as a consequence of them. Prices, therefore, have been thrown into complete confusion, and at present the jobbers in this province are only quoting ordinary rice, B grade, or any other quality equal or inferior as follows: Bags, 250 lbs., 1 to 4 bags or equal to $3.50; 5 to 9 bags, $3.45; 10 bags or over, $3.40. Half-bags, 100 lbs., 1 to 4 bags, $3.55; 5 to 9 bags, $3.50; 10 bags and over, $3.45. Quarter-bags, 50 lbs, 1 to 4 bags, $3.60; 5 to 9 bags, $3.55; 10 bags or over, $3.50. Pockets, 12½ to 25 lbs.; 1 to 4 bags, $3.65; 5 to 9 bags, $3.60; 10 bags and over, $3.55.

SPICES.

Business in spices continues quiet, enquiry only being for small lots to fill actual requirements. We quote: Black pepper, 10c.; pure white, 12 to 15c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 20 to 25c.; cloves, 15c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; do., best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 10 to 14c.; nutmegs, 60 to 90c.

COFFEES.

The coffee market has been extremely quiet this week, as buyers are stocked up pretty well. We quote: Maracaibo, 15 to 25c.; Santos, 12½ to 18c.; Rio, 12 to 16c.; Mocha, 24 to 26c., and Java, 24 to 27c.

sented an easier feeling since last week. In fact, speculators who brought round lots on here in bond, in the expectation of a duty, have shipped it back again, concluding that with the new crop season near at hand it stood a better chance across the lines than here. Advices from primary markets on new crop teas, however, are strong, cables received this week stating that the market in Japan had opened at an advance of 10 per cent. on last year. We quote: Young Hysons, 13 to 18c. for low grades, 25 to 28c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 12 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 15 to 21c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 16½ to 20c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for higher grades.

CANNED GOODS.

There has been no material change in the situation of this market. We quote: Tomatoes, 75 to 85c.; corn, 60 to 90c.; peas, 80 to 90c.; beans, 70c. up; peaches, $1.50 to $1.80 for 2's; raspberries, $1.40 to $2; strawberries, $1.80 to $2.45, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.90 to $2.20; cherries, $2.40 to $2.45; apples, 3's, 85 to 90c.; gallons, $1.55 to $1.65; pumpkins, 75 to 85c.; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.40 to $1.45; "Clover Leaf," $1.35; "Lion," $1.37½ to $1.40; Lowe Inlet, $1.30, in tall tins; cohoes, $1.05 to $1.15; canned mackerel, $1.25; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.20 to $1.25; 2's, $2.15 to $2.25; 6's, $6.75 to $7; 14's, $14 to $15; lobsters, $8.50 to $11 per case; French sardines, $10.25 to $11 extra brands; ordinary brands, $8 to $9; Canadian brands, $4.25.

DRIED FRUIT.

There is little doing in Valencia raisins, either layers or off-stalk, and prices are nominally unchanged: Ordinary off-stalk, 5¼ to 5½c.; fine, 5¾ to 6c.; selected, 6¼ to 6½c., and layers, 6¾ to 7c.

California loose muscatels are quiet, as noted last week, at 6 to 8c., according to grade.

The currant market is strong at primary centres, but the fact attracts little interest here. We quote: Provincials, 4 to 4¾c.

Prunes continue much as they were. Californias range from 6½ to 9c., and Austrian and French continue greatly nominal.

Figs range from 8 to 12c., as to grade, and dates 5 to 6c.

NUTS.

There is little to report in this market. We quote: Grenoble walnuts, 10 to 11c.;

GREEN FRUIT.

The main feature of the week has been the firm feeling in lemons, which are cabled 4s. higher in England, and prices here have ruled higher. With the auction sale next Tuesday of the Fremona's cargo there will have to be an entire re-adjustment of prices. We quote: Messina oranges, $3.50 to $4 per box; lemons, $2 to $3 per box; cranberries, $1 to $6 per bbl.; Malaga grapes, $7.50 to $8; bananas, 75c. to $2 per bunch; pineapples, 10 to 20c. each; asparagus, $4.50 to $5 per dozen; California celery, $1.25 per dozen; southern spinach, $2.50 to $3.

APPLES.

The apple market remains much the same except that the stock of inferior goods has been pretty well cleaned up, which has imported a firmer tone to the more desirable stock. We quote: $1 to $2 per bbl.

DRIED APPLES.

Continue dull and nominal. Dried 3c., and evaporated, 3¾c.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—There was no change in the situation of the egg market, prices being fairly steady under a good demand for small lots at 9 to 9¼c. per dozen.

MAPLE STOCK — The demand for maple products was slow, and the market is quiet and steady. Syrup sold at 4½ to 5c. per lb. in wood; 50c. per small tin, and 55 to 60c. for large ones. Sugar brought 6½ to 7c. per lb.

BEANS — Business in beans is dull and prices are nominally unchanged at 55 to 60c. in car lots, and at 65 to 70c. in a small way.

POTATOES—A few car lots continue moving at 32½ to 37½c., according to quality.

ONIONS—Canadian red stock is steady and unchanged at $2.25 to $2.50 per bbl.

HOPS—Quiet and steady. Choice Canadian 12 to 12½c., and yearlings 5 to 6c.

ASHES—Steady, with receipts light. First pots sell at $3.30 to $3.35, and seconds, $3 to $3.05; pearls, $4.45 to $4.50.

HONEY—Unchanged at 8 to 9c. in the comb, and 6 to 8c. extracted, according to grade.

TALLOW—As last reported, 1¾ to 3c. per lb., according to grade.

PROVISIONS.

The provision market is without any new feature. The demand is chiefly for small lots, and the market is quiet and steady. We quote: Canadian pork, $12 to $13 per bbl.; pure Canadian lard, in pails, 6 to 6½c., and compound refined at 4½ to 5c. per lb.; hams, 10 to 12½c., and bacon, 10½ to 11½c. per lb.

FLOUR, MEAL AND FEED.

The demand for Manitoba grades of flour has been good, both from local and country buyers, and a fairly active trade done at steady prices. We quote: Winter wheat patents at $4.25 to $4.40; straight rollers, $4 to $4.10, and in bags, $2 to $2.10. Manitoba strong bakers', choice, $4.25; outside brands, $3.90 to $4.10, and spring wheat patents, $4.40 to $4.60.

Feed has declined, business being quiet. Manitoba bran is selling at $10.50 to $11, and shorts at $11.50 to $12 per ton, including bags. Ontario bran is quoted at $10.50 per ton, in bulk.

In oatmeal the feeling is steady, but sales are slow at $2.70 to $2.80 per barrel, and at $1.35 to $1.40 per bag for rolled oats.

BALED HAY.

There has been a good demand for baled hay, and No. 1 is held firm at $10 to $10.50, with No. 2 at $8.50 per ten car lots on track.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

The cheese market remains much the same, bnt the bear party are banking a good deal on the marked increase in the receipts during the past few days, over 5,000 boxes being received last week, while 1,400 odd were posted on 'Change Monday. At the wharf Monday morning only 150 boxes arrived by boat from the French sections. These were consigned to parties here. There was no quotable change in prices, 10 to 10½c. being the range, but the public cable dropped to 44s. 6d. This has no significance, however, as private cables have been quoting that figure for some time now.

Butter continues to decline, and to-day 15½c. is the top price for creamery in jobbing lots, although small select parcels might command more. The continued absence of demand in this market is a surprise to many who expected that around 15c. there woul be a call for butter.

MONTREAL NOTES.

Canadian rice manufacturers are not quoting futures on the domestic milled rice.

Cables from Barbadoes note a decline of 1c. in the first cost of that molasses last week to 7c.

The wholesale grocers have readjusted prices on molasses, and are now quoting prices to arrive.

The green fruit ex Fremona, details of which have already appeared, will be auctioned here on Tuesday next. The goods are said to be in excellent condition.

Speculators who imported round lots of low-grade teas in bond here, in the expectation of a duty being imposed, have been compelled through lack of buyers to re-ship them back to New York.

The E. B. Eddy Co.'s Montreal branch on St. James street has been found inadequate to the demands made upon it for space, and on the 1st inst. they moved into the large and spacious premises at 61 Latour street, corner of St. Genevive. These premises occupy four floors, covering a space of about 40,000 feet. A complete stock of all lines manufactured by the E. B. Eddy Co. is carried here.

A Detroit despatch, under date of May 2, says: "The new law covering importation and examination of teas went into effect yesterday, and local importers are surprised and disappointed to find that, according to its provisions, samples of all teas received in Detroit in bond must be sent to New York, Chicago or San Francisco for examination, instead of being examined here, as heretofore."

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER.

ST. JOHN, N.B., May 6, 1897.

THE CANADIAN GROCER is receiving great praise. "The best thing out on the new tariff," is what is heard from all who were fortunate enough to receive the tariff number. Dealers find country collections dull. The city wholesale trade is feeling the effect of large stocks on hand. As yet but few changes have taken place in prices. Tobacco is the most affected, of course. Some are charging the full 14c. extra, subject to a rebate if factory should not advance that much. Others are only charging 10c. advance. Rice has been advanced ⅜c. Country dealers are much surprised that cornmeal is not 15c. per bbl. less, but so far there is no change. Business on the St. John River is active, the steamers now making regular trips.

OIL—While at this season the demand for burning oil is light, just now it is better than it would have been but for the expected change in duty. Now that the change has been made people are buying more freely. In lubricating there is a large demand. We quote: Best American burning oil, 18½ to 19c.; Canadian, 17¼ to 18c.; prime, 14½ to 16c.

SALT—Prices continue easy with good stocks on hand. In Canadian salt the demand is better. We quote: Coarse, 43 to 45c.; Liverpool factory-filled, 90c. to $1; Canadian fine, 90c. to $1 per bag.; 5-lb. bags, in bbls., $3 to $3.25; 10-lb. bags, in bbls., $2.85 to $3; butter and cheese salt, bulk, $2.60 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c. each; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c. each; cartoons, $2 per case of 2 doz

CANNED GOODS—There is a fair, steady business doing. Retail prices are kept low, particularly in the staples. Peas are being sold at retail as low as three cans for 20c. Some nice American peaches are here, Baltimore pack. They are offered low. In pineapples there is an improved demand. Jobbers are looking for tomatoes and peas. They are getting scarce here, and price tends upward. Gallon apples dull. We quote: Corn, 65 to 70c.; peas, 75 to 80c.; tomatoes, 80 to 85c.; gallon apples, $1.75 to $1.80, corned beef, Canadian, $2.25 to $2.35; American, 2-lb tins, $2.40 to $2.50; 1-lb tins, $1.30 to $1.50; oysters, 2's, $2 to $2.20; 1's, $1.40 to $1.50; peaches, 3's, Canadian, $2.75 to $3; 2's, $1.75 to $1.85; American, 3's, $2 to $2.25; pineapple, $2.25 to $3; salmon, $1.25 to $1.40; lobsters, $2.20 to $2.25; haddies, $1.15 to $1.25; clams, $5 for 4 doz; chowder, $2.60 to $2.75 for 2 doz.; scallops, $5.50 for 4 doz.; Digby chickens, $1 per doz.; kippered herring, $1.10 per doz.

OUR STANDPOINT

In pushing our biscuits we admit there are already excellent brands on the market. We nevertheless have solid practical reasons for considering that are better, and this view is being convincingly confirmed by daily extensive and extending demands—the true touchstone of merit.

Jamieson's Biscuits

The Manufacturer, R. E. Jamieson, Ottawa

nas are perhaps the most active in demand. Some Valencia oranges, which have lately arrived, are very fine. The price tends higher. Californias are a little higher and are scarce. In lemons there is no change. Price keeps low and market is easy. The demand is improving. Strawberries are again on the market. Season for cranberries is about over. Apples are dull. There is a little demand for best stock at good prices. Pines have a limited sale. We quote : Messina lemons, $2.75 to $3.50; oranges, Valencia, $4 to $5 ; California oranges, $4 to $5 ; bananas, $1.50 to $2.25 ; apples, $1 to $3 per bbl. ; cranberries, Cape Cod, $3 to $7 per bbl.; bog cranberries, native, $3 to $4 ; lettuce, 60c. per doz. ; pines, $2.10 to $2.40 per doz.

Dried Fruit — There is but little sale for raisins. The market is easy. Those chiefly selling are California loose muscatels. Currants kept high and firm. The demand for cleaned, particularly in cartoons, is good. California prunes keep low. They show fair sale. They are chiefly sold here in 25c. boxes, sizes running 60-70 and 90-100. The latter most largely. Onions sell freely and keep well up in price. Bermudas, which have been high, will be lower upon arrival of steamer now about due. The chief sale now is for Egyptian. We quote as follows : Valencias, 5¼ to 6c.; California L. M. 3-crown, 7¼ to 7¾c.; London layers, $1.75 to $2 ; currants, cases, 4¾ to 5c.; bbls., 4¼ to 4½c.; cartoons, cleaned, 7¼ to 7¾c.; bulk, cleaned, 6¼ to 6½c.; prunes, boxes, 5 to 10c.; dates, 4½ to 5c.; dried apples 3 to 3½c.; evaporated apples, 5c. ; onions, $1.40 to $1.50 per crate ; cocoanuts, $3.25 to $3.50 per 100 lbs.; figs, 10 to 12c.; Sultana raisins, 7½ to 9c.; Valencias, layers, 6½ to 7c.; Malaga loose muscatels, 6 to 6½c.; 4-crown L. M. Californias, 8¼ to 9c.; seeded muscatels, 1-lb. cartoons, 12 to 13c.

Sugar—The market keeps firm, with dealers selling at refiners' prices. There is a large stock, but at the present price it pays a fair profit, though it would not have been on hand but for expected advance in duty. As yet the reduction in the duty on refined sugar has not affected the market. The expense of carrying the stock will tend to an easy local market. Demand is not large. We quote: Granulated, 4⅛ to 4⅜c.; yellows, 3⅛ to 3¾c.; Paris lump, 5¾ to 6c.; powdered, 5½ to 6c.

Molasses—The market is not in a good state, and it is expected it will continue unsettled, with prices ruling low. Quality of both Barbadoes and Porto Rico so far received this season is good. Considerable new molasses has come forward and quite a large quantity is due. Last year was the first in which any large quantity was ever consigned here. It broke the market. The same thing is happening this year. There is still some demand for New Orleans. We quote : Barbadoes, 25 to 27c.; Porto Rico, 27 to 28c.; New Orleans, bbls., 25½ to 27c.; Antigua, 24 to 26c.; syrup, 36 to 38c.

Dairy Produce—Butter is in fairly good demand if quality is right, but it is difficult to work prices up. As yet about the only butter coming from Western Canada is creamery. It has not been offering very freely. In eggs, trade is dull and prices are easy. Cheese keeps firmer than was expected. Market was about bare here, and stock is still very light. Our own factories are not yet making, and only a limited quantity is being offered from the west. Twins and cheese of about 50-lbs. are most in demand. We quote : Dairy butter, 15 to 18c.; creamery, 20 to 21c.; prints, 20 to 22c.; eggs, 11 to 12c.; cheese, 11½ to 12c.

Fish—In fresh fish there is a good business doing, particularly gaspereaux and halibut. The former are very largely used for bait, but they are chiefly packed and sold as alewives and shipped south. St. John harbor is where they are most largely caught. It is a very large business during the season. Shad and salmon are also largely caught in the harbor, but as yet only a stray fish has been caught. In pickled and dried fish prices keep low and the demand dull. There is a fair sale for smoked herring. Our fishermen spoil their own market by selling the fish fresh very low to American dealers, who smoke them and fill the American markets. Lobsters continue scarce, and the few that come here are very small. We quote: Large cod, $3.25 to $3.30; medium, $2.75 to $2.80; pollock, $1.15 to $1.25; bay herring, $1.25 to $1.30 per half-bbl.; smoked, new, 6 to 7c.; shad, half-bbl., $4.50 to $5.50; boneless, 2½ to 8c.; bloaters, 50 to 65c. per box; Barrington, $3.25 per bbl.; Shelburne, $3.50 per bbl.; lobsters, 4 to 12c. each, small; gaspereaux, 50 to 60c. per 100; halibut, 7 to 8½c. per lb.

PROVISIONS—Lard has gone off in price somewhat. The stocks here are large. It was, however, bought low. Clear pork is low, and holders are inclined to shade prices. Mess pork is held firm. Beef shows a fair demand, and prices tend higher. The demand for smoked meat is fair, with prices quite firm. We quote: Clear pork, $14.50 to $15.50; mess pork, $12.25 to $13; plate beef, $12.25 to $13; hams, 11½ to 12½c.; rolls, 8 to 8½c.; pure lard, 7½ to 8c.; compound, 6½ to 7c.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL—There is but a fair general demand. Oatmeal is firmer. This market is well supplied. The sale of corn flour in bags, spoken of in these reports some time ago, does not show much life here. The first coming sold quite freely, but now it sells slow. Beans are rather firmer. Oats keep well up to quotations. There is a light sale. Seeds have large sale. Outside prices are higher. Local prices firmly held. Hay tends higher. We quote: Manitoba flour, $5 to $5.15; best Ontario, $4.60 to $4.65; medium, $4.30 to $4.40; oatmeal, $3.25 to $3.30; cornmeal, $1.80 to $1.85; middlings, car lots, in bulk, $15 to $16; bran, do, do, $14.50 to $15; hand-picked beans, 85 to 90c.; prime, 70 to 80c.; oats, 32 to 33c.; hay, $11.50 to $12.50; barley, $3; round peas, $1.15; split peas, $3.10 to $3.25; yellow eye beans, $1.50; timothy seed, Canadian, $1.90 to $2.30; do. do., American, $1.65 to $1.80; clover, 9 to 9½c.; alsike, 8¾ to 9c.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

A. H. Sawyer, of Benton, is retiring from business.

Hall & Fairweather received a shipment of Schepp cocoanut this week.

C. & E. Macmichael received a shipment of Robinson's patent barley in 1-lb. tins this week.

The catch of gaspereaux in the harbor during two days of last week ran as high as 200,000 fish.

The Harvey creamery, York county, was burned during the week. They have not yet decided regarding rebuilding.

The last winter port steamer to leave St. John was the Beaver Line steamer Myrtledene, for Liverpool. Her cargo was valued at $53,000, $13,000 of which was American goods.

Maple sugar is being offered freely. One maker, Alex. B. Bannister, of Albert Co., had 900 pounds in the market one day this week. Our own province sugar is very much preferred to that coming from Quebec. It sells at about 10c. per lb.

The merchants and others interested in the welfare of Sussex are forming a board of trade. A large business is done there, and a board of trade should give a good account of itself.

Mr. Diamond, of Diamond & Onyx, Philadelphia, called on THE GROCER this week. Mr. Diamond has many friends here, and does a large business in blacking, blueing and shoe dressing.

A dealer in Fredericton was much surprised to find in an entry of English goods made since the change of tariff that, after deducting the one-eighth, he still had to pay rather more than under the old duties.

Shipments of lobsters are light this season. A small cargo of 2,000 was lately shipped from Grand Manan to Portland, Maine, also during the week some 750 from Musquash. Where the fish are a good size they bring high prices.

TRADE CHAT.

A NORWALK, Ct., grocer advertises that he keeps three brands of eggs in stock—eggs for boiling purposes, eggs of earlier vintage for scrambling and last summer's left-overs for theatrical purposes. In Danbury they also keep three kinds of hen fruit—fresh country eggs, limed eggs and china eggs.

The Sydenham Canning Works, Wallaceburg, Ont., were destroyed by fire on the 28th ult. The loss is about $7,500.

The police of Winnipeg are enforcing the bylaw lately passed against merchants displaying their goods on the sidewalks in front of their stores.

Ross Eckhardt has resigned his position as traveler for the Hudson Bay Co., and will go to the Yukon country with James Macaulay.—Free Press, Winnipeg.

The merchants of Wyoming have decided to close their stores at 7 p.m. every evening in the week except Wednesday and Saturday during the summer months.

A train of 35 cars of salt, manufactured at the Canadian Salt Works, Windsor, left for the Northwest Tuesday morning. It is the first entire salt train that has ever left Windsor.

A Minneapolis woman pinned a note on her door telling the grocery man where to find the key. A burglar happened along first and took everything except the cook stove and the family cat.

Shipments of wheat from Fort William last week were heavy, aggregating 482,000 bushels, while receipts were 140,000 bushels. The quantity still remaining in store on Saturday was 3,250,000 bushels.

Mrs. Slopeigh : Can you show me some beets to-day ?

Mr. Green (the grocer, to his bookkeeper) : Here, William, show the lady your books ! —Yonkers Statesman.

Prince & Skelton, Battleford, N.W.T., have already purchased seven hundred head of cattle for export, not including some bought through agents. Prices are about the same as paid last year. They will make their first shipment in July.

The merchants of Russell, Kenmore, Vernon and Marvelville, also J. L. Rolston, P. Saver & Co., A. York, James Simpson and John A. McGregor, of Metcalfe, have decided to close their stores at 6.30 p.m. on Tuesday and Friday evenings during the months of June, July, August and September. A contract has been signed to this effect, leaving the party breaking it liable to a penalty of $25.

The shipments of salt from the Mersey during the month of February show a considerable falling off as compared with February of last year, the large increase to the United States, British North America, Africa and Australasia being more than neutralized by the very heavy decline in the shipments to Calcutta. The February shipments to the United States amounted to 11,248 tons, against 8,156 tons in February, 1896; those to British North America being 1,610 tons, compared with 620 tons. The total shipments for the month amounted to 30,137 tons, against 35,956 tons in February, 1896.

CO-OPERATION THROUGHOUT.

Even in small establishments I believe it is a good idea to have a little printed booklet containing rules and suggestions for employes, says a writer in an exchange. I believe something of this sort is a first-rate thing. The better employes understand the ideas of their employer, the better they will do their work. The more they know of the organization of the business and the objects sought by it the more interest they will take in it. Even the least important employe of a retail store ought to be kept posted as to the advertising that is being done and the various happenings in all parts of the store. This diffusion of knowledge in the store itself is as much a part of the advertising as the publication of store news in newspapers.

MANITOBA MARKETS.

WINNIPEG, May 6, 1897.

THE flood is exhausted as a topic of conversation, and the water is receding rapidly, although in the Morris and Emerson districts it will probably be ten days before the water is again within the ordinary bounds. Business has brightened somewhat, probably owing to confidence being now restored with regard to a flood and the declaration of what the tariff is to be. To these causes might also be added the exceptionally fine weather. The trees are budding, lawns are taking on a pleasant greenness, and everywhere in the city are indications of coming summer. The season so far is nearly three weeks in advance of last year. Throughout the province large areas of seeding are finished, and spring work of all kinds is well advanced. Prices are somewhat changed from last week.

BUTTER—Supply is increasing. At the present time there is just about sufficient to meet the ordinary requirements of the market, but as soon as the creameries open there will, without doubt, be plenty of stock. Prices range about the same as last week, 16 to 17c.; fancy grades, 18c.

CHEESE—Market is very scantily supplied, and those houses holding this article do not seem inclined to sell except at a reasonable advance of the prices paid last fall. September make is worth fully 10c., with small cheese at 10½c.

EGGS—Eggs are coming in more plentifully, and are jobbing at 9c.

DRIED MEATS—Market firm, stocks not heavy, and there is little likelihood of a reduction in these commodities. Hams, assorted sizes, 10½ to 11c.; breakfast bacon, bellies, 10½ to 11c.; do. backs, 9½ to 10c.; short spiced rolls, 7½ to 8c. per lb.; shoulders, 6½ to 7c.; long clear bacon, 7½ to 8c. per lb.; shoulders, 5¾c.; boneless shoulders, 6½ to 7c.

LARD—Remarks in regard to cured meats apply with equal force to lard. Market is firm at last week's prices, and there is little likelihood of changes in prices, and certainly none of a decrease. We quote: 20-lb. pails, $1.70 to $1.75, and $4.25 for 50-lb. pails.

SYRUPS—So far there is apparently no change in the syrup market. Buyers here do not know what effect the change in tariff will have on Canadian refinery sugar goods. The ½c. rise in glucose syrup still holds. Maple syrup continues to come in very freely, and there are indications of a slight decline from last week's prices, but it is scarcely definite enough to quote. Last week's prices were 55c. per small tin, 55 to 60c. per large tin and 4½ to 4¾c. per lb. in wood.

TEA AND COFFEE—There is some surprise expressed here at there being no duty placed upon these articles. It was very generally anticipated, and some wholesale merchants bought large supplies in the belief that duty would be added It is not thought here that sales will be much effected, however.

SUGAR—Sugar remains practically unchanged, but owing to the removal of the duty of 14c. German granulated is now being offered on this market. Whether German granulated will be taken up by the wholesale trade is an open question. The experience of those who purchased this article in the past inclines some of the buyers to be skeptical as to its having a ready sale. Granulated now stands 5⅛c., yellow at 4 to 4⅛c.

CANNED GOODS—These show little, if any, change from last week's market. Stock of corn is at present heavy, but there is no indication of any change in price. Tomatoes will undoubtedly go higher. To-day they stand at $1.90 per case. Peas are none too plentiful, but as there are only two months until fresh packs come in, there is not much likelihood of a change in price. They are now selling at from $1.70 to $1.75 per case. Canned fruits are unchanged and slow sale at present.

TOBACCO—The market here is demoralized. Nothing really definite is known as to what the manufacturers' advance will be. If the manufacturers put up the price 14c. per lb. it is certain that the retail dealer cannot sell the ordinary plug—3 to the lb. —for less than 30c. If, however, the manufacturers are content with an advance of 10c. the retailers could then sell the ordinary plug at 25c. and make more money than some of them have been doing selling these plugs at 20c. While the trade is in somewhat of a quandary sales are being made in all cases subject to an amendment of price.

CEREALS—Oatmeal is still $2.70 to $2.80 per bbl., and beans are very low, hand-picked only fetching $1.10 per bush.

RICE—Jobbers cannot get prices on Rangoon rice at present.

DRIED FRUITS—Currants have stiffened, and are a little higher owing to the trouble in Greece. Stocks are not heavy. Price about 6⅛c., a reasonable figure considering the outlook. Raisins are firm at $2.20 per box for Valencias; prime off-stalk, $1.80 to $1.90 per box. New figs, in 12-lb. boxes, $1.50; 35-lb. boxes, 16c. per lb.

POTATOES—Potatoes are growing scarce and are bringing 40c. per bushel for fancy lots of Early Rose and Beauty of Hebron.

ONIONS—Are very scarce and are worth 4c. per lb. A carload of Egyptian onions is expected this week, these will sell at 5c. per lb., and in 5-sack lots at 4½c.

GREEN FRUIT—Navel oranges are out of the market. California seedlings, $3 per box; Med. sweets, $4.25; lemons, fancy Messinas, 360s, $4.25. Apples, Spies, $4 per bbl., fancy stock, but will not keep well. Bananas, $2 to $3 per bunch. Strawberries, cases of 24 quarts, $6. Strawberries are retailing at 30c. per box.

E. M. Bernard, the Toronto agent, received the following on May 3 by cable from Bernard & Co., Yokohama: "Tea market opened. Prices about 10 per cent. higher than last year. Quality fair."

HALIFAX TRADE GOSSIP.

There is a more hopeful feeling displayed in trade circles, and business in most lines shows an improvement. The way ports are opening up, and fishing vessels are arriving for supplies.

The delegation from the Board of Trade, to protest against the change in the sugar duties, left for Ottawa on Monday. T. M. Cutler, secretary of the Acadia Sugar Refinery Co., is now in Ottawa on the same mission.

Tobacco has advanced here, but protestations are not loud. The change in the sugar duties is the bone of contention, as it directly affects the trade of the port.

There have been some arrivals of molasses, but trade in that article is not improved. The quotations are: Antigua, 24c.; St. Croix, 25c.; Porto Rico, 29 to 31c.; Trinidad, 26c.; Barbadoes, 26c.: Demerara, 39c.; St. Kitts, 22 to 25c.

There is some activity in fishstuffs. The steamer Tyrian is now loading for the West Indies, and will take a valuable cargo. Vessels are fitting out for the banks, and the fleet will be larger than usual. Smoked herrings have dropped 2c. per box. Quotations are: Dry cod, ex vessel, shore, $2.50 to $3.50; small bank, $2.50 to $2.75; large do, $3 to $3.25; bay, $2.25 to $2.50; Labrador, $2.75; haddock, $1.75 to $2; hake, $1.75; pollock, $1.50; shore cod, from store, large, hard, $4 to $4.50; herrings, Bay of Islands, split, No. 1, $1.50; Labrador, No. 1, $6; do, No. 2, $4; shore, No. 1, large, split, fat, $3.25 to $4; round shore, No. 1, $2; alewives, No. 1, $2.75; mackerel, No. 1, $15.50; No. 2, $13.50; No. 3, fat, $9; No. 3, large, $5.50; salmon, No. 1, $17; No. 2, $15; No. 1, small, $13; No. 3, large, $11; No. 3, small, $9.

Flour dealers are quoting higher prices, though there is no improvement in trade, The American article has been coming in rather freely during the past week, owing to dealers being unable to get orders filled promptly at Canadian mills. Quotations are as follows: Hungarian patent, Manitoban, $5.15 to $5.25; Manitoba strong bakers', $4.90 to $5; Canadian pastry, $4.90 to $5; 75 p. c. roller patents, 4.50 to $4.60; 80 do, $4.40 to $4.50; 90 do, $4.30 to $4.35; straight, $3.95 to $4.25; extra, $3.90 to $4.05. Pillsbury's best is quoted at $5.

Dried fruits are in fair demand. Dates are worth 5 to 6c.; off stalk Valencia raisins are quoted at 6 to 6½c.; Californias at 6½ to 7½c. for 3 and 2-crown layers; Malaga layers, $2 and Imperial cabinets, $2.25.

Cheese is reported a shade lower for new, old having been about all used up. The quotation is 11½c., and 11¼c. for large orders.

The provision trade is fairly good. Pork is reported firmer, sales of P.E.I. mess having been said to be made at $13. P.E.I. clear is quoted at $14.75 to $15. Canadian extra plate beef is quoted at $10.50 to $11, and Chicago plate at $13.50, duty paid. Hams are stiffer, the quotation being 12c. for large and 12½ to 12¾c. for small. Roll bacon is worth 8½ to 9c. Side bacon sells slowly at 10½c. Choice Canadian beef is selling at 8½ to 9½c., and native cattle at 8c. Spring lambs are in good demand at $4. Veal is plentiful at 5c.

A lot of new grass dairy butter has been received from the Eastern Townships, which is jobbing at 16 to 17c. in tubs. Native creamery is in good demand at 19c. in tubs and 20c. in prints. Prices may be shaded before the end of the week

Good apples are hard to get, and $2.50 is readily obtained.

There is good enquiry for green fruits of all kinds. Lemons are quoted at $2.50 to $3. Oranges are advancing, $4 being asked for ordinary Valencias of 420 count and $5 for large. Californias, 126 count, are worth $5, and 150 count, $5.50. Cape Cod cranberries are selling at $2.25 per bag of one bushel. Egyptian onions are quoted at 3c. American strawberries, in very limited quantities, have been received, but are not quotable.

Canned goods are in good demand, without change in quotations.

There are reasons for it.

FOR WHAT ?

For the steadily increasing sales of Brantford Starch throughout the Dominion, from Halifax in the East to Vancouver in the West.

WHAT ARE THE REASONS ?

1. We look after the quality closely.
2. We put up our Starch in very attractive packages.
3. We ship promptly immediately on receipt of order.

Our sales for the month of March considerably more than doubled the sales of the corresponding month of last year.

Wheat Farina

You won't have to ask your customers to experiment with "something new" when you sell them "Wheat Farina." It has been on the market long enough to advertise its good qualities itself. Known to some people as Wheat Germ, Wheat Grits, and Wheatlet. As a Porridge it makes a delicious breakfast dish. It makes nice puddings also. It is the standard preparation of its class.

Success with Canned Meats

It is not a matter of chance. The full and habitual satisfaction of your customer; furnishing goods of unvarying excellence; goods that are certain to please to-day, to-morrow, every day—that is the way to win success. Grocers the world over know that canned meats bearing the "Helmet" trade mark are certain to please. They can be depended on for uniformity day in and day out, and they are prized best by customers who use them most. There is a world of satisfaction in selling them, and a good profit for the grocer, of course.

If your jobber does not sell you the "Helmet" brand, write to

RETAIL TRAFFIC.*

By J. W. Hammond.

MR. PRESIDENT and members of the Retail Grocers' and Merchants' Association of Illinois: The subject given me, "Retail Traffic," is an old one, and one from which many of you have listened to good addresses, both at Springfield, also at Edwardsville.

I fear it will be a tiresome task for you to listen to what I may offer, inasmuch as I doubt my ability to furnish you with anything new or instructive. But having been appointed by our worthy president as a member of the Committee on Retail Traffic, to make an address on this subject at this, our fourth annual convention, held in this, the Gem City of the West, if you will bear with me a few minutes, I will, as briefly as possible, give you the few ideas that come to my mind.

In the first place, "Retail" means the selling of commodities in small parcels or quantities. "Traffic" means the passing of goods from one person to another for money or its equivalent.

Thus we find our subject a broad one. Not confined to grocers alone, but embracing all lines of retail business, the dry goods merchant, the clothing merchant, the boot and shoe merchant, the hardware merchant, the druggist, the jeweler, the book and stationer, the news dealer, the hat and cap dealer, the baker, the butcher, the fuel and feed dealer, and many others as well as the 13,000 grocers scattered over this great state of Illinois. Of this number, 4,000 are located, and are doing business, in the city of Chicago alone.

The incentive for which all these varied lines of retail business are conducted is for the purpose of an expected margin of profit —when the year's business is concluded. In order to get this profit, it is necessary, at whatever price goods are bought, they must bring a higher price when sold, otherwise there can be no profit.

Before engaging in any line of business a person selects, first, a location, ascertains the expense for rent, light, fuel, stationery, etc. These items of expense can be figured almost to a certainty. The expense for salaries paid to clerks comes in later, and the number of clerks employed, and the salaries paid, depend upon the volume of business that may be done.

Another item of expense is for advertising. No matter how small the village or how large the city, every retail merchant is compelled to advertise in some way—more or less. A show window, filled with attractive goods and arranged in good taste, is a good outside advertisement. A well selected stock of goods, a neat and tidy store, with everything well arranged, first-class fixtures, etc., is a good inside advertisement, and will attract the attention of customers as much, or more, perhaps, than a well-worded newspaper advertisement. We find many ways of advertising, and hardly ever know what advertisement pays us best.

But advertising alone will not make business a success. It will not sell the goods—it only brings the people to your store.

When a selection has been made as to location, stock must be bought. The only suggestions I can give in regard to the purchase of stock are:

First—Know your business.

Second—Buy your stock right.

Third—Mark your goods to sell at a profit.

A careful buyer will not buy speculatively —but will buy only as his trade and sales demand.

Times are hard and we should be satisfied with a small profit after expenses are paid. Every family in every community, no matter how rich or how poor, require at the hands of the grocer the substantials of life, and we find two classes of people who buy the luxuries. One, the liberal buyer, with plenty of money, who always wants the best and is willing to pay for it. The other, the liberal buyer, with a bold face, assuming that none could doubt his ability to pay—convincing the proprietor with his smooth talk that his credit is almost unlimited—he always wants the best—is willing you should make a good profit—but who never pays!

These never-pay customers are a curse to any business, and are the ones we all desire to rid ourselves from. No town—no city—has enough of these good-pay customers to satisfy our desires. We all try hard to gain such patrons. To gain such we must give good goods. Fair, honest treatment at all times will soon gain their confidence. With their confidence once gained, you have a fair show for their constant patronage. When once they come to your store, proper treatment, the right kind of goods and the right price will bring them back again when in need of anything in your line.

Good clerks are as essential to a good business as is a good proprietor with a well-selected stock of goods. The business world is in especial need of faithful, honest, competent, gentlemanly clerks. Such clerks are in demand everywhere. No one wants the careless, the slovenly, the rude, the impudent clerk. For such we have no need. Neither have we need for the lazy clerks, who, like the lazy school teachers, are generally incurable.

Deceive no customer in regard to quality or quantity. This rule should apply to proprietors as well as clerks. If customers base their purchases upon their own judgment it is usually best to let their experiences be their teacher.

There may be a difference as to the commercial value of customers, but a good clerk will always show the same courteous treatment to the poor as well as the rich, and answer all their enquiries in a gentlemanly way, without insult to any one, and in no case in anger.

A good clerk will keep stock clean and inviting, pay attention to customers and try to please them. Try at least to leave no bad impression on their mind—otherwise they may never call again.

Those of us who sell goods on time have our credits to watch, and in these times of low prices for farm products—with the many idle wage-earners—we must watch our credits closely, otherwise we can easily lose one or more years of hard-earned profits—and not only our profits, but our capital as well. It seems rather discouraging to those of us who do a credit business to know that our State Legislature, while adopting a scale of weekly payments for the laborer, (except in case of railroad companies), still allows the laborer the exemption as though he were paid by the month. ($50 in wages is exempt.) This scale of weekly payments makes weakly payments for the grocer, and in many cases so weak they amount to nothing at all. While we have many friends among our State Senators and Representatives, we have not enough, at least we never have had enough, to pass a law allowing us, as creditors, any portion of a debtor's wages, except, as has been stated, $50 in cash is always exempt from garnishment.

While I do not think our law-makers dishonest, I do think the exemption law tends to make the people dishonest. We could make honest people ourselves if our Legislature would abolish all laws for the collection of debts. I, for one, would favor it.

National, state, county and city salaried officers are by law exempt from garnishment. Are our law-makers better, or are they worse than other people, that they need this protection? Laws good enough for them should be good enough for the people who, by their votes, place them in power. They make the laws, we have no voice—except to vote.

"Of tariff and silver
There are many views;
But the poor-pay account
Gives all merchants the blues."

In the collection of our just dues we should have some protection, or none at all.

The officers of our State Association have spent much of their valuable time and a good deal of their hard-earned money trying to get a just and equitable exemption law passed. In this work they have been helped by some of our local organizations. So far, nothing has been accomplished. If we could collect a portion of a debtor's claim. no matter how small, it would relieve the monotony of losing the whole account.

If we can get no relief as has been asked, sooner or later we will be forced to adopt the jobbers' method. They, before opening an account, compel the creditor to answer a catechism of questions. The credit man of the house learns how much he owns—he learns how much he owes. And more—he knows his habits, as well as his financial strength. The answers given determine, to the satisfaction of the credit man of the house, whether he is worthy of credit or not.

Those of us doing business in the country towns and in smaller cities find it difficult to do a strictly cash business. While our competition is sharp, I see no other way than to watch our credits closer. Push our business harder. Push our competitors harder. Push our employes harder, and make a strong push all along the line to make a profit sheet worthy a showing. The reason some merchants do not succeed is because they try to use a "pull" when a "push" is necessary.

It will be found just as necessary to cater to the trade if established in the year 1800 as if started last month. Age may be entitled to reverence, but it is not likely to make a very heavy bank account unless backed by something more substantial. Don't get the notion in your head that because your store was established way back in the sixties people will buy from you solely on that account. Pride of ancestry in storekeeping plays no very important part in the minds of the public to-day. The majority of people don't care a rap whether a store was organized 25 years ago or last week, so long as they get what they want. None of us can sit in contentment on the laurels of the past generation.

Daily experiences in a retail business, if taken advantage of and thought over, are a means of education of a practical kind which can be gained in no other way.

If each town in our state would form an organization (not necessarily a grocers', for we are all interested parties as regards many points) much can be accomplished. In smaller towns include every retailer, at least invite them to join. The smaller the town the more necessity to organize. And why? It enables cach merchant to have the experience of his neighbors in giving credit, and in this way helps him sift out the poor payers. In numbers there is strength. Towns can form companies; companies form regiments, and regiments form brigades.

A NOVEL ADVERTISEMENT.

The E. B. Eddy Co.'s advertisement in this issue deserves special notice, not only on account of its "get up," which is certainly novel and unique, but because the collection of stamps shown thereon indicates in a measure, not only the magnitude of this concern, but the length of time Mr. Eddy has been in business. We understand the stamps from which this photographic half-tone is made all came off letters and documents of the company. Almost every denomination is shown, from the little half-cent postage stamp to the robust, substantial $3 bill stamp. Observe also the old 5c. Province of Canada "Beaver" stamp shown alongside of the most recent issue of "Queen's Head" 20c.

The moral which is sought to be inculcated by this advertisement is to stick to a good thing till you "get there" the same as the postage stamp sticks to a letter till it "gets there." The advice is good and deserving of the consideration of all people in business, and of some people who are not now in business, but might be if they had stuck to it as this recommends.

BRITISH SEA FISHERIES IN 1896.

A PARLIAMENTARY paper has just been issued containing statistical tables and a memorandum relating to the sea fisheries of the United Kingdom in 1896, together with a return showing the quantity of fish carried by railway from each of the principal ports in each year from 1891 to 1896 inclusive. The statistics are, throughout, exclusive of all fish imported from foreign countries.

The total quantity of fish landed in England and Wales, exclusive of shell fish, amounted in round figures to 377,000 tons, worth at the time of landing £5,167,000. The shell fish landed were worth £343,000. The value of the fish shows a slight increase on that in 1894 and 1895. In Scotland, 6,138,000 pennyweight were landed, the value being £1,569,000, to which must be added £78,000, the value of the shell fish landed. The figures for Ireland show a total of 843,000 hundredweight, valued at £266,000, or including shell fish, £279,000. Both in Scotland and in Ireland, as compared with 1895, there was an increase in the quantity and a decrease in the value of the fish landed. In the whole of the United Kingdom approximately 726,000 tons were landed, the value being £7,436,000, inclusive of shell fish. This compares with £7,600,000 in 1895. In 1894 the French sea fisheries were worth £4,681,000 and the Canadian £4,317,000, while in 1895 the Norwegian sea fisheries were worth £1,234,000. In the three years 1889-'91 the average yearly value of the sea fisheries of the United Kingdom was £6,620,000, while in the three years 1894-'96 it was £7,432,000. Soles and turbot have slightly increased in quantity, but have fallen in value. Haddock and hake have increased both in quantity and in value, but herrings and mackerel have increased in the former respect and decreased in the latter. The number of oysters taken in England and Wales has risen from 25,276,000 in 1895, to 29,192,000 in 1896, the value rising from £78,000 to £91,000. Lobsters have also increased from 677,000, worth £30,000, to 932,000, worth £46,000, and crabs from 4,501,000, worth £55,000, to 5,030,000, worth £61,000. Lobsters are landed in Scotland on an average to the value of about £28,000 a year, and in Ireland to the value of about £7,600 a year. Oysters in Scotland average about £1,200 a year, and in Ireland about £1,400 a year. With regard to the trade at individual ports, more fish were landed at Grimsby and Hull than in any previous year. The figures for the chief ports in tons are : Grimsby, 86,000 ; Hull, 53,000 ; London, 52,000, and Lowestoft and Yarmouth, 31,000 each. The total imports of fresh and cured fish were 2,458,643 hundredweight, worth £2,978,471, in 1895, and 2,619,235 hundredweight, worth £3,212,712, in 1896. The re-exports of fish imported amounted to 327,944 hundredweight, worth £524,795, in 1895, and 346,154 hundredweight, worth £576,636, in 1896. In 1895 1,425,115 hundredweight of herrings, worth £1,626,889, were exported, chiefly to Germany, and 1,375,056 hundredweight, worth £1,328,656, in 1896, the exports to Germany showing a considerable falling off. The value of other descriptions of fish exported was £655,517 in 1895, and £680,491 in 1896. The value of the fish imported into this country and retained from home consumption now exceeds £2,600,000 a year, having increased from £2,112,000 in 1889. On the other hand, the total value of Brttish and Irish fish exported from this country, which for many years averaged about £1,700,000 a year, rose in 1896 to £2,009,000. The total value of the fish consumed in the United Kingdom has risen from £6,365,000 in 1889 to £8,063,000 in 1896.—London Times.

MAYOR BOULTER.

Mr. Wellington Boulter, of W. Boulter & Sons, is now chief magistrate of a town as well as head of a canning firm, he having the other day been elected Mayor of Picton, Ont. Mayor Boulter is an energetic and enterprising business man, and if he exhibits the same enterprise in his new office as he has in his own business the town of Picton should be a gainer thereby.

THE SUCCESSFUL BUSINESS MAN.

I DO not know a more melancholy example of the human race than what is known as the highly successful American business man ; the sort of man who "opens his daily life with his office key and closes it with a letter for the late mail," writes F. Hopkinson Smith in Business. He has, of course, secured what nine-tenths of the young men of this country wish they had—business success, a large amount of securities, ample provision for his family and a certain power in the commercial world. If he has escaped pitfalls and thus saved his character he has certainly incurred the envy of a large proportion of fellow men differently situated. To regain the good feeling of his fellows he has one thing left, and that is to turn philanthropist. In doing this he can recover, to a certain extent, that portion of the respect of his fellow human beings which is worth the having ; but, as far as he is concerned, there is no other course left for him in life except either to keep on the same treadmill, accumulating and perhaps dispensing, or accumulating and becoming a miser, or to give it all up and begin to learn to live anew. If his life permits, that is, if it has not been worn out by too close application to work, he may probably before he is 60 go to the school of common sense and learn the joys of outdoor life—of flowers, music, art, literature, sympathy with his kind, a tender appreciation of everything there is in the world that makes life worth living. If he learns that successfully, the last ten years of his life—between 60 and 70—may be passed in comparative comfort. But how much wiser it would have been if, after he had accumulated enough money to pay his bills and keep his family—not in luxury, which, ten chances to one, would ruin his sons and injure the future of his daughters—he had packed away, both in his heart and theirs, the love for the things which would have made, not only the last ten years but all the years of his life lovely and happy ! In other words, to sum it all up, I would rather have my little piece of pie every day I live than wait until I am so old my teeth won't chew it.

[This department has become so popular that many more notices than there is space for are received every week. In future only important items of information will he inserted. Contributors are requested to send news only, not puffs of goods they handle, or the arrival of standard goods that everyone has in stock, or that they are offering goods at close figures, or that they have had an unusually large sale this season.]

THE jelly powder put upon the market a few weeks ago by the Pure Gold Manufacturing Co. has taken remarkably well, and the firm is in receipt of a number of repeat orders. "Our travelers say it is one of the best lines we have ever brought out," remarked a member of the firm.

The Davidson & Hay, Ltd., offer "sifted select" canned peas.

"Plymouth Rock" gelatine is for sale by the Eby, Blain Co., Ltd.

The Davidson & Hay, Ltd., have just received a shipment of choice layer Valencias.

T. Kinnear & Co state that their stock of canned meats, etc., for the picnic season is complete.

Robert Greig & Co. are placing on the market this week two new lines made by Lorimer & Co., London, viz.: a rennet powder and "Sandringham" sauce. Both of these lines have become popular in England.

"Royal" salad dressing in stock with the Davidson & Hay, Ltd.

A shipment of Demerara sugar arrived this week for the Eby, Blain Co., Ltd.

T. Kinnear & Co. are offering a bright syrup in half-barrels at a low price ; also a dark syrup in half-barrels.

The Davidson & Hay, Ltd., are in receipt of another shipment of Brown & Polson's (English) corn starch.

Stower's lime juice, lime juice cordial, lemon juice syrup and lemon squash are for sale by the Eby, Blain Co., Ltd.

T. Kinnear & Co. have still in stock a few "U" and "C" Sphinx prunes, which they are offering at reasonable prices.

W. H. Gillard & Co. are selling a line of rat and mouse traps, which are as unique as they are death-dealing. They never miss fire.

W. H. Gillard & Co. are sending out on an average of 150 cases a day of the New York ginger ale, for which they had such a large run last season. "It looks as though all former sales would be put in the shade this year, now that the real merit of this summer beverage is becoming well known and appreciated by consumers," said a member of the firm.

Owing to the high price ruling for regular hams, D. Gunn Bros. & Co. are experiencing an active demand for their shoulder or picnic hams.

The Eby, Blain Co., Ltd., claim that they are offering special values in canned meats, potted meats, and fish and game delicacies for the next two week.

Robert Greig & Co. have just received a shipment of Keopff's family gelatine, red and white, in ounce packages, and can now fill all orders without delay.

The Eby, Blain Co., Ltd., report the arrival of a shipment of Paterson's Worcester sauce. They say that this sauce is becoming very popular ; it is a good article at a moderate price.

T. A. Lytle & Co are putting upon the market "Sterling" brand pickles in bottles, chow and mixed. "They equal imported pickles in every respect," say the firm.

The Eby, Blain Co., Ltd., are in receipt of a shipment of the "Dog's Head" brand of cove oysters in 1 and 2-lb. tins. They also carry Booth's "Oval" brand and "Town Talk" lunch oysters in stock.

LEMONS IN THE STATES.

THE market for lemons is in an interesting position. The prospect of a large increase in duties has stimulated speculative interest, and added to this the real wants of consumption have created an active demand which, coming after a long period of inactivity would, even under ordinary conditions of supply, cause a stronger feeling. Apart from the increasing interest of consumers it is claimed that the statistical position at the present time is a sufficient warrant for higher prices. While the receipts so far this season are somewhat in excess of those for the corresponding time last year, being in round numbers 926,000 boxes for 1895-1896, against 1,162,000 for 1896-1897, the stock afloat is said to be fully 50 per cent. less than it was at this time a year ago.

Latterly there has been some speculative interest shown, based on the tariff possibilities and the strong statistical position, but no great amount of business has resulted so far as can be learned. Consumers have been buying more freely, and while, as a rule, most of them consider only immediate needs, there are quite a number who are placing orders in anticipation of a further advance in prices. At the recent auction sales brokers have had a larger number of orders to fill than for a long time past, and their limits indicate that the intending buyers really need the stock. It is reported that quite a large number of orders have been received by brokers and jobbers here from points which usually rely upon receipts at the outports. At to-day's auction sale such orders, it is reported, in connection with the demands of the local trade, caused a further advance in prices.

It is asserted by some of the handlers of Sicily fruit that if duties are increased to the limit now proposed many of the Sicily shippers will be unable to send anything more to this market. In fact, it is asserted that only a comparatively few of those now engaged in packing and shipping fruit to the United States are in a position to secure the necessary advances from bankers to enable them to continue in business, even under present conditions.—N.Y. Journal of Commerce.

CATTLE-SHIPPING REGULATIONS.

An order-in-council has been issued by the Dominion Government repealing the regulations governing the shipping of live stock to Europe and substituting for them the following :

No. 2. Fat cattle carried on the upper or spar deck, or any other deck, must be given a space of 2 feet 8 inches clear in width, by 8 feet clear in length, each, and not less than 6 feet 3 inches in height (but pens for sheep shall not be less than 7 feet in height, divided into two compartments 3 feet 6 inches in height each); and in no case shall more than four head of cattle be allowed in each pen, except at the end of a row, where five may be allowed together ; provided, however, that five cattle, each 1,000 pounds weight or under, commonly known as "stockers," may be carried in a pen instead of four fat cattle.

As regards space for sheep, not more than 8 or 10 sheep will be counted equal to one fat ox, according to the discretion of the inspector. Cows in calf are to be given the same space as fat oxen.

United States cattle shipped from any port in Canada, carried on the upper or spar deck must be allowed a space of 2 feet 6 inches in width, by 8 feet in depth, per head, but such United States cattle, when so shipped between decks, must be allowed a space of 2 feet 8 inches in width, by 8 feet in depth, except in the case of regular cattle ships with satisfactory ventilation, which may fit with an allowance of 2 feet 6 inches in width. No more than four (4) head of cattle will be allowed in each pen, except at the end of a row, where five may be allowed together. Provided, however, that cattle under 1,000 pounds in weight may be allowed a width of 2 feet 3 inches.

To the Grocery Trade

We are now putting in a new stock and after our Salvage Sale is over will be ready for business again. We beg to thank our friends for the leniency which they have extended to us during the interruption to our business caused by the late fire, but we can now confidently solicit business with the guarantee that orders will have prompt attention.

Our travellers will be on their respective routes next week.

Yours truly,

H. P. ECKARDT & CO.

Very Good Lard

Rose Brand Lard is better than simply "Good." There are enough "good" Lards. Rose Brand is in a class by itself. Careful tests have proved adulteration amounting to as much as 25% in so-called Lards. No alum —salt—starch—carbonates of soda or pot-ash in "Rose Brand." It is just pure lard, tried out in open kettles from the finest leaf.

"ROSE BRAND"

Packed in 1, 2, 3, 5, 10, 20 and 50-lb. pails for family trade.

THE MINIMUM TARIFF.

JUST as it follows that Great Britain will derive the greatest benefit under the new minimum tariff of the Dominion so does it that the United States will receive the greatest harm. This is obvious.

Of our total imports of $67,239,759 worth of dutiable goods during the fiscal year 1896, $24,366,179 came from Great Britain, and $29,101,646 from the United States.

These figures, it should be stated, include the ale, spirits, wines, sugars, molassses and tobaccos imported, which are excluded from the operations of the minimum tariff. Of these excluded articles $612,720 worth came from Great Britain and $703,055 from the United States.

The amount of duty last year collected on the imports from these respective countries was $7,358,514 and $7,767,992.

These figures are significant in that they reveal the fact that for the first time on record the revenue received from the products of the United States exceeded that obtained from products of Great Britain.

As far, however, as percentages of duty paid to value of goods imported are concerned the greater share was borne by British goods to the extent of about 3½ per cent., the duty on dutiable imports from Great Britain being 30.19 per cent. and on those from the United States 26.69 per cent.

Now, supposing that during the next fiscal year the dutiable imports from both countries were the same as during the year to which the above figures relate, the duty collected on British goods would be about .27 per cent. less than that collected upon United States goods, instead of being 3½ per cent. greater, as during 1896. After July 1, 1898, when the difference in the duty collected on British goods will be one-fourth less than on the products of the United States, the advantage to the products of Great Britain under our minimum tariff will of course be more marked.

The following table gives the chief dutiable imports appertaining to the grocery trade into Canada from Great Britain, the United States and all other countries:

Although the importation into Canada of the products of the United States will be necessarily carried on under a greater disadvantage compared with the products of Great Britain, yet the invitation to share in the benefits of the minimum tariff is extended to the United States and any other country willing to comply with certain conditions relative to the entrance of Canadian products into their markets. There could be nothing fairer than that.

WANT TO BUY OUR CURRANTS.

An enquiry of an unusual character was received in Toronto this week. It was from England, and was for several hundred barrels of currants. So far the order has not been filled.

This testifies probably more strongly than anything else has heretofore during the present campaign as to the strength of the currant market.

Some weeks ago it was noted in these columns that stocks of currants in London, Eng., were likely to be drawn upon in order to supply the demand in other places. And here we find England trying to draw upon Canada for supplies.

Prices have within the last few days advanced another ¼ to ½c. per pound in New York, and quotations here are higher than a week ago.

Currants are good property these days.

DUTY ON TEA IN THE STATES.

THE United States tariff bill, as presented to the Senate last week by the Finance Committee of that body, contains a clause fixing a duty on tea of ten cents per pound until January 1, 1900. After that date the commodity is again to be placed upon the free list.

Whether this clause will be adopted by the Senate and concurred in by the House remains to be seen.

The proposition has the hearty endorsation of the grocery trade generally, but there appears to be little hope that it will be found in the tariff as finally adopted. Indeed, a great deal of surprise was expressed that the clause should have ever been reported by the committee.

The final settlement of the question as to whether or no there shall be a duty on tea going into the United States is not without interest to Canadians.

During the fiscal year ending June 30, 1896, Canada exported to that country 223,266 pounds of tea, valued at $39,874. And the present year will unquestionably witness a much larger exportation, for not only have some of the package tea houses in Canada been vigorously pushing their goods in several of the cities in the United States, but large quantities of bulk teas have gone forward.

On account of the possibility of a duty being put on, a great many teas have been sent from Canada to the United States during the past week.

The bulk of the shipments, as far as the Toronto market is concerned, have been of Japan growth, although a good many China greens and a few Congous have also gone forward. Besides these a few parcels of Indian and Ceylon teas have been picked up as well.

While the recommendation of the Finance Committee may not be adopted, the tea men across the border are evidently determined to be on the safe side should the possibility become a reality.

This demand from the United States has helped the wholesale men, as well as those holding consigned lots, to reduce the abnormal stocks which the expectation that a duty would be put on teas by the Dominion Government had induced them to gather up. This is about the only favorable feature of the situation as far as Canada is concerned.

THREE MONTHS OF TEA TRADE.

THE quantity of Indian and Ceylon tea taken by the North American continent during the first three months of the present year shows that the popularity of British grown tea in that part of the world is still on the increase.

The transhipments of Indian tea from the United Kingdom to the United States during the three months were 1,051,974 pounds and to Canada 727,835 pounds. Re-exports from the United Kingdom to the United States were 156,214 pounds and to Canada 695,532 pounds. The total of transhipments and re-exports were, therefore, 2,631,553 pounds compared with 1,294,054 for the same period in 1896 and 752,047 in 1895.

The transhipments of Ceylon tea during the three months were 543,189 pounds to the United States and 139,326 to Canada, while the re-exports were 307,683 and 667,398 pounds respectively. These, with the direct exports of 100,769 pounds via China to North America, make the total 1,758,365 pounds, against 1,050,884 pounds in 1896 and 714,168 pounds in 1895.

Watered stock may be pleasant to sail upon in times of prosperity, but it is decidedly unpleasant to float upon when commercial storms are raging.

CANADA MISREPRESENTED AGAIN.

We observe that arches are to be erected in London in connection with the Queen's Jubilee. Each colony is to have one, typical of its resources and character. According to one of our London exchanges, the Canadian arch is to be built of blocks of imitation ice, surmounted by artificial snow.

We once before drew attention to the fact that in the Lord Mayor's procession, some years ago, Canada was represented by an artificial iceberg, beside which stood an Esquimaux, wrapped in furs, leaving only his face exposed. The London representative of this paper went before the authorities in London and showed them how unfair to Canada it was that the Dominion should be represented in this way. It was without avail. They knew better. Thousands of people who viewed the procession went away with the idea that Canadians dressed in furs all the time, and lived on icebergs.

Surely the Government is not going to allow Canada to be misrepresented in the Jubilee celebration by more ice and snow. We do not wish to give the idea that this is a country of everlasting summer, but let our friends at home show us in our summer clothes on this occasion.

Energy is a good business builder when used with the mortar of common sense.

THE NEW ALMOND CROP.

Mr. R. F. Bevan, of W. C. Bevan & Co., Malaga, Spain, spent a few days in Toronto this week. Mr. Bevan is in Canada in the interests of his firm. While in Toronto he was accompanied in his visits to the trade by Mr. J. L. Watt, of Watt & Scott, his firm's representatives.

"I cannot say anything in regard to Valencia raisins," he said in reply to a question. "We do not know anything of the crop until July. As to almonds, we expect them to be a little smaller than last year. Last year, you remember, they were exceptionally good. But whatever the quality of the fruit may be, it makes no difference in the sizes the grocers receive. They always get the same sizes. Almonds are not like Valencia raisins. You see, after the almonds come to us, we pick them over and grade them, taking out the faulty ones. We shall probably have more faulty almonds than last year, but the grocery trade will know nothing about that."

TRADE IN NORTHERN ONTARIO.

THE CANADIAN GROCER is in receipt of a communication from J. Parkinson, general merchant, Trout Creek, Ont., in which he says: "I have had a very good trade during the winter. A large quantity of saw logs, pulp wood and tan bark has been got out during the winter in this section. During the past winter wages were not so good as in former years, which caused a smaller circulation of money. Still there has been a large amount of money paid out. River driving has begun and the mills have started to run. This will cause a large amount of money to be paid out during the summer, and keep trade moving nicely. We have the gold excitement here, too, and perhaps we shall get more of that precious stuff than we shall know what to do with. Spring is here and seeding is going on. The prospects are for a good season's trade."

A SLEEPY BOARD OF TRADE.

SEVERAL weeks ago the Retail Grocers' Association of Toronto deputed its secretary to correspond with the Board of Trade in regard to the law protecting civil servants from being compelled to pay debts incurred by them, and enlisting its co-operation in securing an amendment to the same. But, not only has the board taken no action in the matter, but it has not yet even acknowledged the receipt of the correspondence. The reason forsooth seems inexplicable.

The name "Board of Trade" is synonymous for all that appertains to good business ethics. And one of the tenets of good business ethics demands prompt acknowledgment of correspondence. Another equally strong is, "Do not put off till to-morrow what you can do to-day."

Peradventure those whose duty it is to attend to matters of this kind are gone a-hunting, or, perhaps, it may be a-banqueting. They often do. We have not heard of any of them marrying a wife lately.

But, whatever they may be doing, they are not attending to their business.

The Retail Grocers' Association had a perfect right to seek the co-operation of the Toronto Board of Trade in endeavoring to secure the removal of an evil which is a source of loss to the business community. And the least the Board could have done was to have treated its sister organization with courtesy, even if it withheld its co-operation.

The trouble with the Toronto Board of Trade is that it is suffering from an attack of inertia. And inertia, you know, is followed by atrophy, and atrophy by death.

The fields of trade contain many weeds, but the laborers are few. And when a laborer of the size and importance of the Toronto Board of Trade is sleeping instead of working, the task of the other and smaller laborers is obviously made more difficult thereby.

By way of contrast, it may be noted that the members of Parliament for Centre and East Toronto have already taken up the cause of the merchants in this particular.

A honey trust, controlling 90 per cent. of the output on the Pacific Coast, has been formed in the United States. The members of the trust are bent on improving "each shining hour" to their own advantage.

GROCERS' ASSOCIATIONS.

THE TORONTO ASSOCIATION.

AT the regular meeting of the Retail Grocers' Association of Toronto, held on Monday night, a suggestion sent in by the City Travelers' Association for a joint picnic was concurred in and the Executive Committee instructed to make arrangements as to date, etc. The picnic will be held either at the Island or at Exhibition Park.

President Bond was in the chair, and among those present were the following : Vice-President W. H. Marmion, T. Clark, F. S. Roberts, A. R. Williamson, Thos. Dowswell, Frank W. Johnson, J. A. Johnson, F. Squires, T. Nolan, Robt. Mills, Vanloon, F. Brazill, D. Bell, R. Davies and A. G. Booth.

Communications were received from Messrs. John Ross Robertson and W. Lount, M.P.'s for East and Centre Toronto respectively, in regard to the movement to have the law shielding civil servants who refused to pay their debts amended. Both gentlemen promised to give the movement their support. "Will do all I can," wrote Mr. Robertson. "I will be only too willing to help you," indited Mr. Lount.

The coupon system was discussed at considerable length, but no decision was arrived at. The majority of those present appeared to disapprove of the idea.

Secretary Ed. Hawse submitted the name of B. E. Armstrong, 786 Queen street west, for membership, and it was accepted.

The association adjourned at 10.30 p.m.

THE MONTREAL ASSOCIATION.

A meeting of the Montreal Grocers' Association was held Thursday night, the 6th inst., the president, Mr. S. D. Vallieres, in the chair. The committee appointed to ascertain if any of the wholesale houses or manufacturers who had pledged themselves not to sell to departmental stores were doing so, reported that they found they were keeping their word.

A circular was submitted giving the names of 64 wholesale firms and manufacturers who had undertaken to protect the retail grocers against departmental stores by not selling to them directly or indirectly and agreeing to help to the fullest extent in their power the legitimate retail grocery trade. Since then three more firms have sent in their names to the president, only leaving four firms who will not agree not to sell to departmental stores. Their reason for not signing is that they do very little business in Montreal, their trade being entirely with the country merchant.

It was decided to hold the annual picnic on July 14. A committee of sixteen was appointed to select the place at which the picnic should be held. At their next meeting the committee will give a report on the various places where a good time may be spent.

THE HAMILTON ASSOCIATION.

The Retail Grocers' Association of Hamilton have decided to hold the annual picnic this year on July 21.

The sum of $1,880 was expended on the Pure Food Show, and the sum of $640 remained as a surplus. The Retail Grocers' Association will receive one half of the surplus.

PACKING BUTTER.

D. Gunn, Bros. & Co. are preparing a circular for distribution among country merchants advising them from this out to pack their butter in tubs, and to put into each tub nothing but a uniform grade of butter.

"It is very important," said a member of the firm, "that extra care should be taken by the country merchant in the packing of his butter. It is only by so doing that he can secure good prices. I would like to recommend, too, that the butter be packed in those 56-pound square packages, the same as used for export, instead of in tubs."

It is well that the trade should read, mark and inwardly digest what D. Gunn, Bros. & Co. have to say in regard to packing butter.

THE FREMONA'S FRUIT.

THE first fruit sale for the season of 1897 was held on Tuesday in the new premises of the Montreal Fruit Auction Company, at the corner of Murray and Wellington streets, which is now under the management of Mr. Richard C. Warminton. The sale was probably the longest of its kind ever held in this city, as it started sharp at 1.30 p.m. and the auctioneer did not draw his last bid until 9 p.m., making seven hours and a half of a straight sitting. Mr. C. E. Thurston was, as usual, the auctioneer, and disposed of the large cargo of fruit, which amounted to about 70,000 boxes, in all. The attendance of buyers was very large, including a number from the United States, Western Ontario and the province of Quebec. The bidding was brisk, especially for lemons of sound quality from American buyers, and fully 60 to 70 per cent. of the 48,000 boxes offered were bought for shipment to the States. The result of the sale, taken from the standpoint of a U.S. buyer, shows that ordinary lemons went very low compared with the markets at the different United States auction ports, but good stock was well sustained. The range on goods of fine quality was from $2.25 to $2.90 per box, and beyond any doubt this quality will be found very cheap in a few weeks, especially combining hot weather with the new proposed tariff in the States. The strength developed on oranges is due to the fact that California navels are exhausted and seedlings are not giving general satisfaction, so the small parcel of foreign oranges here and en route must necessarily bring prices not thought of a few weeks ago. There was a good demand from Americans for oranges, and fully 30 per cent. of the 7,069 boxes and 8,983 half boxes was purchased for shipment to United States ports. Messina, Palermo and Catania sold at $1.50 to $3.60 per box, and at $1.30 to $1.75 per half-box. Sorrentos sold at $1.80 to $3 per box, but the bulk were taken at $2.30 to $2.80.

The following is a list of the buyers present : Messrs. Charles Parsons, New York; D. E. Evans, Chicago ; R. A. Tucker, New York ; Elsden A. Morris, New York ; S. Saitta, New York ; M. J. Andrews, jr., New York ; T. Hulbert, New York ; A. Zucca, New York ; F. R. Franke, New York ; — Ralyea, New York ; —Hanson, Boston ; G. N. Emery, Boston ; J. Wilkinson, Philadelphia ; J. W. ONTARIO MARKETS.

TORONTO, May 13, 1897.

GROCERIES.

TRADE in three of the chief grocery staples, namely, tea, coffee and sugar, is quiet. And as there is really no active demand for any other of the lines appertaining to a grocer's stock the volume of business is necessarily rather light. One of the features of trade during the week has been the selling of sugars by speculators who bought in anticipation of an increase in the duty on this commodity. The other is the shipment of tea to the United States from the Toronto market. Canned goods are in fairly good demand at steady to firm prices. Currants are firmer and in good demand. There is a fair enquiry for Valencia raisins of good quality, but they are scarce. Sicily filberts are dearer. Payments are not as satisfactory as they might be.

CANNED GOODS.

Both salmon and sardines are beginning to move a little better. Tomatoes and peas are in good demand at firm prices. The demand for corn is, if anything, a little better, but prices are much as before. There is a little more enquiry for canned fruits, but the volume of business does not amount to much. We quote: Tomatoes, 75 to 80c.; corn, 50 to 75c.; peas, 75 to 80c. for ordinary; sifted select, 90 to $1; extra sifted, $1.25 to $1.40; beans, 65 to 95c.; peaches, $2.50 to $3 for 3's, $1.65 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.50 to $1.80; strawberries, $1.65 to $1.95, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.40 to $1.70; cherries, $2 to $2.25; apples, 3's, 70 to 95c.; gallons, $1.65 to $2.25; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.50; cohoes, $1.10 to $1.25; canned mackerel, $1.20 to $1.30; lobsters, $2.25 to $2.40 for tall tins; flats, $2.85 to $2.90; ½-lb. flats, $1.60 to $1.65; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.20 to $1.30; 2's, $2.25 to $2.40; 6's, $7.75 to $8.25; 14's, $15 to $16.

COFFEES.

There is not a great deal doing. At the time of writing the outside markets are showing a little more firmness in Rio coffees. Jobbers quote green in bags: Rio, 14 to 16c., according to grade; East Indian, 27 to 30c.; South American, 21 to 23c.; Santos, 19 to 22½c.; Java, 30 to 33c.; Mocha, 27½ to 30c.; Maracaibo, 18 to 20c.; Jamaica, 19 to 22c.

SYRUPS.

There are a few syrups offering, but the demand is light. We quote: Dark, 23 to 25c.; medium, 28 to 35c.; bright, 32 to 42c.; corn syrup, 3 to 3¼c. per lb.

MOLASSES.

The market in New Orleans is more active and prices are being maintained. Locally there is nothing new to note, business being quiet. We quote: New Orleans, barrels, 23 to 35c.; ditto, half-barrels, 25 to 37c.; ditto, fancy, 50 to 55c., in barrels and half-barrels; Barbadoes, 31 to 35c.; half-barrels, 33 to 35c.

SUGAR.

The feature of the local market, which has had a somewhat disquieting effect, is that holders who bought a few weeks ago on speculation have been unloading at figures slightly under those obtaining with the refiners. These were only granulated sugars, however. Yellows are none too plentiful. The refiners have made no change in their figures, but they are doing little or no business. Since our last refined sugars have been advanced 1-16c. per lb. in New York, and the market appears to be steady at the higher figures. Beet for next month's delivery declined ¾d. in London on Friday, but the market has since ruled steady. Local wholesalers' quotations are: Granulated—St. Lawrence and Redpath's, 4 7-16c. for single barrel lots and 4⅜c. for 5-barrel lots; Acadia, 4⅜c. for single barrel lots, and 4 5-16c. for 5-barrel lots; yellows, 3⅝ to 4⅛c. per lb.; Demerara crystals, 3⅞c.

SPICES.

Business is quiet with prices steady and unchanged. We quote: Pure Singapore black pepper, ground, 11c. in kegs, pails and boxes, and 13c. in 5-lb. cans; ditto, whole, 10c. per lb.; pure white pepper, ground, 18c. in kegs, pails and boxes and 20c. in 5-lb. cans; ditto, whole, 15 to 17c., according to quality; pure Jamaica ginger, 23 to 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure

NUTS.

A cable advice from Italy announced an advance of about 1s. 3d. in the price of Sicily filberts compared with the figures ruling a month ago. We quote as follows: Brazil nuts, 11 to 12½c.; Valencia shelled almonds, 18 to 22c.; Tarragona almonds, 9½ to 11c.; peanuts, 10 to 12c. for roasted and 7 to 10c. for green; cocoanuts, $4.50 to $5 per sack; Grenoble walnuts, 12½c.; Marbot walnuts, 9½ to 11c.; Bordeax walnuts, 8 to 9c.: Sicily filberts, 10c. for sacks and 10½ to 11c. for small lots; Naples filberts, 11c.; pecans, 12 to 12½c.

RICE, TAPIOCA, ETC.

TEAS.

The feature of the tea trade the past week has been the purchase of teas for shipment to the United States in anticipation of a duty being put on there. This subject is dealt with more fully in our editorial columns. Locally, there is a demand for suitable Indian and Ceylon teas of good flavory quality, but the market generally is quiet in all kinds of teas. Ruling prices on the Toronto market to retailers are: Young Hyson, 18 to 21c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 14 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 15 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for high grades.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

Local wholesalers have again marked their figures up on currants, and they are experiencing a good demand. New York has advanced ¼ to ½c. per lb. As noted in our editorial columns, an enquiry has been received in Toronto from England for several hundred barrels of currants. We quote as follows: Provincials, 4⅞ to 5c. in bbls.; ditto, half-bbls., 5c.; fine Filiatras, in bbls., 5 to 5⅛c.; do., half-bbls., 5 to 5⅛c.; Patras, 5¾ to 6c. in bbls., 5¾ to 6c. in half-bbls., and 5¾ to 6c. in cases; Vostizzas, cases, 7 to 8c.

Valencia raisins of good quality are scarce and there is an improved enquiry for them. In London, England, Valencia raisins are fully 1s. per cwt. cheaper for the lower kinds of selected fruit, and 2s. per cwt. cheaper for the better grades. Locally we quote: Off-stalk, 5 to 5¼c.; fine off-stalk, 5¾ to 6c.; selected, 6¾ to 7c.; layers, 7 to 7½c.

California loose muscatel raisins are quiet and unchanged. We quote: 3-crown, 7½c.; 4-crown, 8 to 8½c.

Figs are quiet and nominally unchanged. We quote: 10 oz., 7½c.; 10 lb., 9 to 10c.; 18 lb., 10 to 12c.; 28 lb., 11 to 13c.; taps, 3¼ to 3½c. net; natural, 4½c. in bags, and 7c. in boxes.

Dates are quiet and unchanged. We quote: 5½ to 6c. for Hallowee and 5 to 5¼c. for Kadrowee.

California evaporated fruits are experiencing a small but steady demand. We quote: Peaches, 7 to 10½c. per lb., according to quality; apricots, 6½ to 15c.; pears, 5½ to 10½c.; egg plums, 5½ to 11c.; silver prunes, 8½ to 13½c.

Prunes are dull. We quote: Bosnias, U's (110 to 113 half kilo), 6 to 6½c.; C's (85 to 90 half kilo), 7 to 7½c. per lb. California, 90 to 100's, 6½c. per lb.; 70 to 80's, 7½c.; 60 to 70's, 7½ to 8c.; 50 to 60's, 8 to 8½c.; 40 to 50's, 9½ to 10½c.; 30 to 40's, 12½ to 13c.; "Ruby" prunes, 7½ to 8c.; French, 4½ to 5c.

GREEN FRUIT.

Oranges are in good demand and highe in price. The lemon market is strong and higher prices are likely to rule. One bullish feature of the situation is the liberal buying in the United States, dealers there desiring to lay in good stocks before the new tariff goes into force. Lemons sold at auction in New York at $3 to $4 per box. Bananas are firm and likely to remain so until berries come in. Large quantities of pineapples are arriving and the demand for them is good. Florida tomatoes are on the market, but they are only coming forward in small express lots. The onion market is firm in Liverpool. Asparagus is in liberal supply, and the demand has been good. We quote: Oranges—Valencias, ordinary, 420's, $6 to $6.50 per case; large 420's, $7 to $8; Messinas, $3.50 to $4; Mediterranean Sweets, $3.50 to $4. Lemons—Messinas and Palermos, $2 to $3 per box; cocoanuts, $4.25 a sack and 60c. per doz. Onions, $3 to $3.25 per bag for Egyptians. Cranberries, Jerseys, $4.50 per bbl. Bananas, $2 to $2.25. Pineapples, 10 to 20c. each. Strawberries, 18 to 22c. per quart. New cabbage, $3.50 per crate. Tomatoes, $4 to $4.50 per case of six baskets. Asparagus, 30 to 40c. per dozen bunches.

APPLES.

Apples are hardly doing as well as they were a week ago. There are a good many coming into the market by farmers' wagons, but deliveries by train are not as large as they were. Fancy Spies are selling at $3.50 per barrel, and other kinds of apples at from $1 to $2 per barrel.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—Deliveries are still large and prices, if anything, are easier. Dairy pound prints are difficult to sell because of the liberal supply of large rolls. Creamery butter is plentiful and easy in price. We quote: Dairy butter—Tubs, 10 to 12c. for good to choice; low-grade to medium, 7 to 9c.; large rolls, 10 to 12c. for good to choice, and 7 to 9c. for low-grade to medium; pound prints, 12 to 13c. for good to choice. Creamery—Tubs, 17 to 18c.; 1-lb. blocks, 17 to 19c., according to make.

CHEESE—A good deal of new cheese is coming forward, and, as the demand is light, dealers are looking for lower prices. New is quoted at 10 to 10¼c. and old at 11 to 11½c. per lb.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

BEANS—The market is in much about the same condition as about a week ago. We quote mixed at 40 to 50c. and hand-picked at 65 to 75c.

DRIED APPLES — The market is flat. There are practically no quotations because there is no buying. Jobbers are quoting nominally 1½ to 2c. per lb. for good fruit. Retailers are selling at 2c. per pound.

EVAPORATED APPLES—Some improvement is to be noted in evaporated apples, both as regards business and prices. This is due to the season for green apples drawing to a close, and to the fact that some lots are being put into cold storage. Wholesale quotations are: Quarters, 3 to 3½c.; ordinary sliced, 3½ to 5c.

EGGS—Deliveries have been heavier, and as the demand has been less active prices are easier at 9 to 9½c. Although these are the ruling quotations, as high as 8¾c. f.o.b. is being asked at some points in the country.

HONEY—Quiet. We quote: Comb, 80 to 90c. per dozen for dark and $1.50 to $1.75 for light; strained, 6 to 7c. per lb.

MAPLE PRODUCTS—The market is dull in regard to maple syrup, and sugar is not much wanted. The ruling prices for good syrup are: 5-gallon tins, 60 to 65c. per gallon; 1-gallon tins, 65 to 70c. per gallon; sugar, 6½ to 7½c. per lb.

POTATOES—Are a little firmer. As high as 20c. f.o.b. is being obtained at some points. On the track here there have been sales at 23c. per bag. The improvement, however, is thought to be only temporary. Out of store 30c. is quoted.

FISH.

The market is now liberally supplied with fresh fish, mostly trout, whitefish and herring, with a few perch and pike. There is quite enough for the demand. The season is about over for Labrador herring, and the trade, being anxious to get rid of present stocks, have reduced prices. We quote: Pickerel, 6c. per lb.; pike, 5c. per lb.; whitefish, 7½ to 8c.; trout, 6½ to 7c.; perch, 4c. per lb., $3 to $4 per 100 lbs.; haddies, 7½c. per lb.; Labrador herring, $3 to $4 per bbl. and $2.25 per half-bbl.; split herring, $4.50 per bbl. and $2.50 per half-bbl.; boneless fish, 3½ to 4c. per lb.; pure cod, 6½ to 6¾c. per lb.; ciscoes, $1.25 per 100; fresh water herring (heads off), $2.50 per keg.

SALT.

Trade is fair and prices unchanged. We quote at Toronto: In carload lots, $1 per bbl. and 60c. per sack; in less than carload lots, $1.05 per bbl. and 65c. per sack. At the wells we quote: F.O.B. barrels, 70c.; sacks 50c. for points west of Toronto, and 45c. for Toronto and points east of Toronto.

PROVISIONS.

The demand for smoked meats is good, with prices firmer.

DRY SALTED MEATS—Long clear bacon, 7 to 7¼c. for carload lots, and 7½c. per lb. for ton lots and cases; backs, 8c.

SMOKED MEATS—Breakfast bacon, 11 to 11½c.; rolls, 7½ to 8c.; hams, large, 10½ to 11c.; medium and small, 11½ to 12c.; shoulder hams, 7½c.; all meats out of pickle, 1c. less than above.

LARD—Pure Canadian, tierces, 6½ to 6¾c.; tubs, 6½ to 7c.; pails, 6¾ to 7¼c.
